THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

This is Arbor day, are you going to plant a tree.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rhoads are rejoicing over the arrival in their household of a darling baby boy.

Don't forget that the location of the Ladies' Auxiliary country store has been changed from the Petriken hall safe to the Eagle block, on Allegheny street.

Mr. George Kieman, the celebrated impersonator and compeer of Leland Powers will give an entertainment in Petriken Hall Friday evening Oct. 29th.

Hiram Lee, who moved from Centre county to Iola, Kansas, last spring and found that the climate there did not agree with his health, has finally located at Milroy.

Cards are out announcing the coming marriage of Mr. J. M. Bricker, of Buffalo Run, to Mrs. Susie Williams, which will be celebrated on the evening of October 26th.

If you want to see the Yiddish girl go to Garman's next Monday evening and see how Rachel Goldstein looked when she landed in New York and how she looked three years later.

Mr. John J. Bower, who has been confined to his home on East Linn street the past three weeks with a severe attack of pneumonia, has recovered sufficiently to be out and around again.

Miss Lydie Thomas entertained a party of twelve—six young men and six young ladies—at the Country club, Wednesday evening, in honor of Miss Breese, who has been visiting in town since last Saturday.

The cards which Mrs. Henry C. Quigley and Miss Mary Blanchard had sent out for a tea from 3 to 5, at the Country club, for Thursday afternoon, were recalled on Tuesday because of the serious illness of Mr. Quigley.

Harry Haagan, formerly employed at the Central railroad of Pennsylvania freight station, has resigned his position there and accepted the clerkship at the Pennsylvania freight station made vacant by the resignation of Warden Willard.

Mr. M. B. Garman's stallion, "Kansas Chief," won second money in the 2:24 pace at Clearfield, on Tuesday, while fourth money was taken by Mr. M. Fauble's "Charm." "Kansas Chief" won the first heat in a 2:26 1/2 gait.

Friday, of last week, Mrs. Ambrose Stoteman was taken to the Bellefonte hospital where she underwent an operation for a very serious ailment. The operation was a success and we are glad to say, Mrs. Stoteman is now on the road to a sure recovery.

Henry C. Quigley Esq. was brought home from the "House of Lords," where he was a member of a hunting party, on Monday evening, suffering with a bad cold and high fever. Tuesday morning pneumonia developed and he is in a serious condition now.

The Bellefonte Academy foot-ball team last Saturday afternoon defeated the Altoona High school eleven by the score of 28 to 0. The feature of the game was Roelof's eighty-yard run for a touch-down. The Academy team this year gives promise of being a winner.

Mr. Harry Love, who the past couple years has been one of the very obliging and efficient salesmen in the store of Sim, the clothier, resigned his position there last Saturday and on Monday went to Altoona where he has accepted a similar position in a large clothing store.

The mission which was to have been held in St. John's Catholic church next week and the week following has been postponed until in February owing to the fact that extensive repairs are to be made to the interior of the church. The walls will be newly frescoed and a new altar will be built.

Mr. W. A. Bowen, assistant State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has been in Bellefonte this week making a canvass in the interest of the Bellefonte new Y. M. C. A. building, and he has met with a certain measure of success so that it is possible that work on the building may be resumed next week.

Milton Kerns, who purchased the Graham barber shop about two weeks ago, suffered with a very sore hand all of last week and in consequence his shop was closed. The afflicted member has about recovered and Wednesday Mr. Kerns opened up for business. His shop has been repaired throughout and now presents a very inviting appearance.

Our good friend, Mr. Emanuel Noll, is very much elated over the receipt of a copy of the book of Gen. Longstreet's life, as edited by his wife, Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet. The book is entitled "Lee and Longstreet at High Tide," and is replete with interesting events in the life of the southern General.

When the appointments were read at the closing session of the Pittsburgh A. M. E. conference, at Uniontown, on Monday, it was found that Rev. J. E. Morris was returned to the Bellefonte charge. Rev. Morris has been very successful in his labors here the past year and the Bellefonte brethren are pained with his return.

GREEN AND DILLEN CASE ARGUED.

At a special session of court held, on Tuesday, Judge Love heard argument in the case of Ira Green and William Dillen, convicted at the August term of court for the murder of turn-key Jerry Condo.

Argument was to have been heard two weeks ago but the attorneys for the defense asked for a continuance on the grounds that they had not had sufficient time in which to secure all the testimony they needed.

When court convened, on Tuesday, ex-judge A. O. First, one of the counsel for the defendants, again asked for a continuance, first, because he had a bad cold and was in no condition physically to do justice to his client's cause, and second, because the depositions taken in securing evidence to substantiate several of their reasons for wanting a new trial had not been paid for as no arrangement had been made with the county commissioners for the witness fees, and he asked the court for an order on the commissioners to pay the witnesses. Judge Love in reply said that he never heard of a case where parties wanting a new trial asked that their expenses be paid by the county and that he could not grant the order. And as to another continuance of the case, it had already been continued too long and that argument must be made that day.

Mr. First made the argument for the prisoners, speaking over an hour and confining himself closely to the reasons for a new trial as published in the WATCHMAN a month ago. District Attorney N. B. Spangler made the argument for the Commonwealth. He was very brief, talking only about fifteen minutes.

At the conclusion of the argument Judge Love took the papers in the case for examination and consideration. It is quite likely the court's decision will be handed down within a week, when, if a new trial be refused, the prisoners will be sentenced.

ALMOST ASPHYXIATED.—Ambrose Ray, a brother of S. D. Ray, Esq., was so nearly asphyxiated with coal gas last Friday night that it required the most strenuous measures on the part of the attending physicians to revive him, which was done only after several hours of hard work. Mr. Ray has a furniture repair shop on East Howard street in the rear of which is a room which he has comfortably furnished as a sitting and bed room combined, taking his meals at his brother's house.

Ambrose is usually an early riser and around in time for breakfast. Last Saturday morning, however, when the family of S. D. Ray were ready for the morning meal Ambrose had not appeared. Merely thinking that he had overslept himself they ate their breakfast and Mr. Ray went to his office. Eight o'clock came and Ambrose had not appeared. Beginning to feel some alarm Mrs. Ray sent one of her daughters up to see what was wrong.

The girl found the doors of Ambrose's shop locked, all the windows fastened and the curtains drawn and though she called loudly and knocked on the doors and windows there was no answer from within.

When the girl returned and told her mother the conditions, as she found them, Mr. S. D. Ray was hastily summoned and he, making his way to the shop as quickly as possible, broke open the door and was almost overcome by the rush of gas from within. As soon as he could do so Mr. Ray made his way to the rear room and carried his brother into the fresh air, sending a hurry call for the doctor, and it was almost noontime before Ambrose was fully revived.

It appears that he had gone to bed as usual after fixing the fire so it would keep till morning. Sometime during the night the stove pipe came apart, thus allowing the smoke and gas to escape into the room, soon filling the compartment and overpowering the unconscious sleeper. Had Ambrose not been discovered when he was it would in all probability have been too late to have saved his life.

MRS. LOWERY'S SURPRISE.—It isn't often that husbands are thoughtful enough to plan anything unusual in the way of a surprise for their better-half and when an incident of that kind does occur it is all the more gratifying to the party most interested. Last Friday was Mrs. Henry Lowery's forty-second birthday anniversary and in honor of the event her husband and daughters arranged a surprise party for that evening. Not dreaming of anything of the kind Mrs. Lowery was almost overcome with pleasurable emotion over the kind thoughtfulness of her husband and children and it is hardly necessary to say that the evening was a most enjoyable one for all.

The guests present were Rev. J. A. Wood and wife, C. C. Shuey and wife, J. I. Olewine and wife, M. I. Gardner and wife, J. P. Smith and wife, John Meese and wife, Christ Beezer and wife, J. W. Barnhart and wife, James S. Lowery and wife, Wm. Reed and wife, Morton Smith and wife, O. A. Kline and wife, Samuel Saxton and wife, Edward Gehret and wife, W. G. Saxton and wife, H. E. Saxton and wife, A. C. Smith and wife, Mr. J. M. Bricker, Mesdames Mary A. Love, S. T. Showers, Susie Williams, J. L. Nighthart, C. L. Krider, L. H. Musser. Misses Carry Waddle, Lillie Taylor, Allie Williams, Adeline Woodring, Nellie Stevens, Lillie Williams, Lotta Bricker, Marion Smith, Helen Love and Mr. Donel Saxton.

Last Friday afternoon as the local freight train for Tyrone was being made up in the yards near the old nail works, the yard engine ran into the caboose of the freight train and piled the same on top of a flat car. Nobody was hurt but the caboose was pretty badly demolished and it was necessary to call out the division wreck train from Tyrone to clear the track.

Tomorrow is the last night to see the Wild & Rich company at Garman's.

On account of a scarcity of water several of the departments of the Pennsylvania railroad shops in Altoona were closed on Wednesday.

Last week's strike of the Lehigh Coal company's miners in the Snow Shoe district was of short duration. The little difference was amicably adjusted and the miners returned to work Monday morning of this week.

On Beaver field last Saturday the State College foot-ball team defeated West Va. University by the score of 34 to 0. Today the State team departed for Pittsburgh where they play Washington & Jefferson tomorrow.

We wish to call special attention to the advertisement of the sale of the general merchandise of the late J. W. Stover, of Millheim, which appears on page 3 of this issue. It might be an opportunity that some are looking for a nice business to take advantage of.

We ask all our readers to remember that the country store to be conducted by the ladies' auxiliary of the Bellefonte hospital will be open all week in the vacant store room in the Eagle block. If you have not already contributed something go and do so at once.

Among our very profitable correspondents within the past week have been Mr. Thos. K. Henderson, of Warriorsburg; Mrs. J. W. Cruickshank, of Long Beach, Cal.; Mrs. E. Farey, of Los Angeles; all of whom are Centre Countians either by birth or friendship and appreciate the weekly visits of their old friend, the WATCHMAN.

John H. Bitner, the 19-year-old son of William Bitner, of Tusseyville, in a fit of temporary derangement left his home on Monday night and wandered through the valley until Wednesday noon when he was discovered two miles west of Centre Hall by James Spangler. The young man is a school teacher and has been teaching the school at the Loop. No explanation can be given of his unfortunate affliction.

Every one of the eighty colts at the Gentzle & Beezer sale at the Haag house stables on Tuesday were sold, and it took auctioneer W. F. Smith, of Millheim, just two hours and fifteen minutes to get rid of them, and that at very good prices. One team of yearlings brought $160 while a pair of weanlings sold for $70. The average price received for the yearlings was $53 72 and for the weanlings $28.80.

The barn on the Jacob Reed farm, in Haines township, was destroyed by fire on Monday evening together with two calves, sixteen head of sheep, 560 bushels of wheat, 720 bushels of oats, all the hay crop and farm implements. The farm was occupied by the Homan brothers, who had no insurance. Mr. Reed had $975 insurance on the buildings. The total loss is placed at $3,500.

In honor of the Blanchard girls who are here from Chicago for a month's visit, Mrs. Geo. D. Green, of Look Haven, and Miss Betty Breese, of Downingtown, who are also visiting in town, there was a little party at Laird Curtin's cabin along the Bald Eagle on Monday; Miss Ellen Valentine gave a dinner Tuesday evening and Miss Lydie Thomas entertained at a bridge party at the Country club Wednesday evening.

Max Liveright, the wholesale clothier of Philadelphia, who is well known here, had to pay $2,500 damages to Louis Becker, of that city last week. Becker had brought suit against the merchant for assault which occurred on January 23rd last. In a business dispute an umbrella tip was pushed through Becker's chin. The latter said it was intentional, while Liveright protested that it was an accident. The court didn't have much faith in the accident theory, however.

The hunting season for small game opened last Saturday but up to this writing there has been no surplus of game noticeable in Bellefonte. In fact hunters who have been out—and about every man who owned or could borrow a gun has been out—declare that they never saw game as scarce as it is so far this season. Reports have been received of the killing of perhaps a half dozen wild turkeys, a couple dozen pheasants, an aggregate of possibly one hundred squirrels, but not one quail.

The social doings that have been and are to be in West End is making it, at present, gay enough to perfectly accord with this the gayest season of the year. Last Friday evening Mrs. Geo. Grimm gave a card party. Saturday afternoon Mrs. Ross Parker entertained with cards. Tuesday evening Miss Carrie Harper had a Plover party. On Friday evening Mrs. Witmer Smith entertained in honor of Mrs. Shope, of Mifflinburg, and Mrs. Scott, of Brookville. Several other card parties are arranged for but the dates have not, as yet, been definitely settled.

Job, of Biblical fame, got his reputation for patience because of the numerous boils from which he suffered but we'll wager a little red apple he never would have had the expression of martyrdom that has characterized the features of Mr. Emil Joseph the past week because of the beautiful Job's comforter he is wearing on the bottom of his chin. The big slump in steel wasn't in it for a minute as a woe-begone expression maker and it would take as much as another soar of Rook Island and a big snow storm to bring even the faintest semblance of a smile on his face. Our sympathy is extended.

ANOTHER OF HIS GOOD ACTS.—Few of us appreciate the pleasure others find in doing good turns to those about them. There are those in this world whose principal enjoyment is in trying to make someone happy—not very many of them, to be sure, but there are such, and of them is big-hearted, clever, John Uzzle, of Snow Shoe. When he is not sending trout, a venison or some other kind of game to his newspaper friends, or running his legs off trying to do a kindness to someone in need, he keeps himself busy thinking what he can do that his neighbors or friends will enjoy and when he once thinks it out, it goes no matter what the cost or trouble to himself may be.

His latest in this line was an entertainment and supper for the entire lodge of Odd Fellows at Snow Shoe. This was given at Mr. Uzzle's home on Thursday evening of last week and was attended by almost the entire membership of the lodge accompanied by the ladies of their families. When Mr. Uzzle gives an entertainment it means more than an ordinary supper. It means everything that is good, and as much of it as everybody wants and that was just the condition on this occasion. It was a great lay-out. Nothing that any appetite could wish but was there to be partaken of and in such abundance that there will be no excuse for Snow Shoe having a hungry Odd Fellow for the next month.

After the supper the Misses Uzzle entertained the party with most excellent music until late in the evening when the party adjourned feeling that it was good to live in a community with such a wholesome citizen and such accomplished ladies as is Mr. Uzzle and his popular daughters.

SEVERELY INJURED.—Saturday evening when Randolph Hoy was on his way from State College to Bellefonte he met with a most painful accident: He was driving a rather fractious horse and when about three miles out of Bellefonte he met Prof. Foss in his automobile. The horse began to shy and Mr. Hoy attempted to jump from the vehicle and hold the horse by the bridle. Just when he made the leap the horse jumped and instead of alighting on the ground ran full stride the wheel and was thrown to the ground. He pluckily held to the lines, however, until the automobiling party went to his assistance. Though the flesh was badly torn on both limbs Mr. Hoy got into the buggy and drove into Bellefonte alone. He went to his room in the Bush House where a physician dressed his injuries and on Sunday, though feeling very sore he was out and around, returning to college, Monday morning.

THEIR FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY.—Wednesday of last week Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Murray, of Centre Hall, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary in an unique way. They leisurely drove from Centre Hall to Bellefonte and return, covering the same road they did on the day of their marriage fifty years ago and noting the many and wonderful changes and improvements wrought in a half century of time. Mr. and Mrs. Murray have lived continuously in Centre Hall the past fifty years and during that time have enjoyed the respect and confidence of every resident. They saw Centre Hall grow from a hamlet to the most important town on the South side of Centre county. Mr. Murray has been a progressive citizen. During his early life he conducted a wagon-maker shop, then took up the general agency for the first mower and harvesting machines, and later, about 1875, he purchased the drug store which he has since conducted in a most successful way.

UNDER $1,000 BAIL FOR TRIAL.—In last week's WATCHMAN was given the particulars of the shooting of Constable Henry Montgomery by Mrs. Mary A. Reed, of Buffalo Run. Saturday morning she appeared before Justice John M. Keichline in this place, for a hearing in the case against her of the Bellefonte Central railroad Co. The evidence was strong in favor of the company and Mrs. Reed was held for trial in court. At the conclusion of the hearing she was again arrested on a warrant sworn out by Mr. Montgomery charging her with shooting at him. On this case Mrs. Reed waived a hearing and was also held for trial, $500 bail in each case being asked and furnished. Mrs. Reed, who is a woman about sixty years of age, now expresses sorrow for what she did, but says she will be in court for trial if she is living.

HOWARD CREAMERY BUILDING BURNED.—Several weeks ago the new creamery, owned by David Wilson, at Howard was totally destroyed by fire, the second time it was burned in less than eighteen months. Mr. Wilson at once put a large force of men to work on the erection of a new building which was about completed, though no machinery had yet been installed when, last Thursday night, it was again burned to the ground. There seems to be little question but that all the fires, and especially the last two, where the work of an incendiary. It is not known if the last building destroyed was insured or not.

THE BELLEFONTE TRUST COMPANY TO ORGANIZE SATURDAY.—A meeting of the stockholders of the new Bellefonte Trust company, which will succeed to the banking business of the Jackson, Hastings & Co's bank, has been called for tomorrow, October 22nd, at which time a complete organization of the company will be made, which will include the election of officers, etc. The charter for the new company has been granted and as soon as an organization is perfected the business will be conducted under the new firm name.

News Purely Personal.

Mr. Peter Collins, of St. David's, is visiting his sister, Miss Sarah Collins, of this place.

Mr. John Powers, of Bryn Mawr, is in Bellefonte visiting his old home friends.

Mr. Al Walters, Millheim's hustling banker, transacted business in Bellefonte on Wednesday.

Miss Minnie Saook, of Millheim, has come to Bellefonte to make her home during the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Segner, of Shingle town, spent Tuesday in town doing some shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Curtin, of Roland, left on Tuesday afternoon for a visit of a few days in Philadelphia.

Former Judge Cyrus Gordon came over from Clearfield on Monday to transact some business in his mother town.

Mrs. Lester Sheffer and children have returned to their home in Milroy after a pleasant visit with friends in Bellefonte.

Wilbur Burkholder, assistant to agent H. L. Hutchinson of the P. R. R. at this place, left for St. Louis on Tuesday; anticipating much pleasure out of a visit to the exposition.

After a fortnight's visit at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. V. Pugh and other friends in Bellefonte, Mr. Bond Valentine departed Monday morning for his home in Philadelphia.

Hon. Wm. M. Allison, of Spring Mills, was a Bellefonte visitor on Monday. As Mr. Allison is not in politics now it may be inferred that his trip was one of a purely business nature.

Mrs. H. C. Holloway, wife of Rev. Holloway, returned on Monday from a visit to the St. Louis exposition and the reverend gentleman says he will now have a course of lectures enough to last all the winter.

Capt. W. C. Patterson, of State College, spent a few minutes between trains in Bellefonte last Saturday morning on his way to Pittsburg where he spent several days in the transaction of important business.

Our good old friend Samuel Sproul, of Mingo- ville, was in town looking around on Wednesday, intending to do some business on Wednesday. Mr. Sproul is one of those even tempered gentlemen who do not show the advance of years.

That bustling insurance agent, J. S. McCargar, is transacting business in Pittsburg this week, and don't be surprised if some of these days he comes around and tells you of another nice present won for writing the most insurance.

Mrs. Templeton Cruse and little son Andrew, of Wilkinsburg, arrived in Bellefonte last Friday for their semi-annual visit with friends here and with Mrs. Cruse's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Musser, of Millheim.

Arthur Darrach, who the past year worked for the Bellefonte Electric company as lineman, resigned his position last week and went to Bel- wood where he accepted a similar job with the electric light company there.

Miss Nan Snyder, who had been a guest of Louise Calloway for a week, left for Jersey Shore, on Tuesday. She will visit at her former home here and in Williamsport for a few days before going on to New York to resume her work as a trained nurse.

Our old friend Frederick Bartley, of Curtins Works, was in town last week looking so hale and hearty that we could not help remarking that transplanting has had little effect in his case. In fact he looked even healthier than he did when living down in Nittany valley.

John Furst, son of Hon. A. O. Furst, left for Pasadena, Cal., on Monday afternoon. He is going to the Slope with the hope of finding permanent employment in that congenial climate. He joined Dr. and Mrs. T. R. Hayes in Chicago, Tuesday evening, for the journey together.

Mr. Edward Lucas who a number of years ago was a clerk in Samuel Lewins' store on Allegheny street but who now is manager of Fabian's gents' furnishing store, on Eighth street, Philadelphia, arrived in Bellefonte on Sunday and spent the day in greasing old friends hereabouts. Monday he departed on the Lewisburg train for Penns Cave for a week's visit with his parents.

After accompanying her sister, Mrs. Louis Wetzel and family to Toledo, O., and seeing that they were comfortably settled in their new home and paying a visit to friends in Niles, Mich., Mrs. C. U. Hoffer returned to Bellefonte last Friday, spent the night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Gerberich, and left for her home in Phillipsburg on Saturday.

Mr. Howard Wellington Pletcher came all the way from Buffalo, N. Y., where he is now located, to Bellefonte to act as lighting-slinger and all-around right hand man for agent Harry Hutchinson at the Pennsylvania passenger station, during the absence of operator Ferguson at the world's fair. The wheel of time brings changes everywhere but Mr. Pletcher does not seem to have changed a hair since he did the regular trick here about five years ago.

Mr. Walter G. Darlington, the man who guides the helm over the political page of the Philadelphia Sunday North American, was a Bellefonte visitor between trains on Wednesday.

Mr. Darlington, who is an apt and most versatile writer, was on a flyer through the State studying the political situations in local districts. He came here from Altoona, where he had been getting a lead on the congressional fight in the Blair-Bedford district and trying to size up the senatorial and legislative candidates as to their ideas about "press muzzling," to pick up a few facts on the present status of the judicial fight in Centre county—and when last seen, he had the facts.

Mr. Steele C. Hunter and his brother, Mr. William Hunter, of Axe Mann, departed on Wednesday for a ten day's visit in Pittsburg where a son and two daughters of Mr. Steele Hunter reside. When we saw the two gentlemen, who look enough alike to be twins let alone brothers, going to the train and learned that they were really going away from Bellefonte for a week or ten long days—an epoch of very rare occurrence in the lives of either—the first thought was that something unusual was sure to occur and we only hope, if such is the case, that it will not be of a calamitous nature nor that anything may befall the two gentlemen to mar the pleasure of this trip.

Mr. Daniel W. Remer, who the past eighteen months has been head clerk in Krümmers' drug store, gave up his job on Wednesday and went forth to find "new worlds to conquer." In saying and we do not mean that Dan resigned his position without having anything else in sight as that is not the case. He has five very flattering offers from responsible drug firms in Philadelphia and it only remains with him to select the one most suited to his fancy. Mr. Remer made many friends while in Bellefonte by his ever pleasant and congenial manner and in his clerical duties in the drug store one could travel a long way and not find one more able and efficient. Mr. Remer went from here to Paton where he attended a dance last night before going to Philadelphia.

Rev. J. A. Wood, Jr., returned last Friday from a four day's pleasant sojourn among his old parishioners in Curwensville, it being just five years since he was pastor of the M. E. church in that place. On Sunday he preached a very inspiring and eloquent sermon to the Bellefonte brethren and they turned out very largely to hear him. Just forty-one Logan's were present in uniform while quite a number were present in civilian clothes. Before going to the church they took up a little collection and put five dollars in an envelope and marked it personal, as a gift to the pastor, while the collection plate when passed around in the church was just nine dollars richer because of the presence of the fire ladies. In addition to the Logan's a large number of the Unadies were also present.

Mrs. Rose Lyon, nee Sternberg, of Philadelphia, is visiting Bellefonte friends.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Jas. Woomer departed for her old home in Toga, called there by the very sudden death of her father.

Mrs. C. G. McMillan, after a visit of six weeks with Mrs. J. L. Spangler, left for her home in Dayton, on Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Natt and Mrs. Abram Valentine returned home Wednesday evening after a long visit with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Valentine in Crafston.

Mrs. W. C. Stine, our former neighbor on Thomas street but now a resident of Tyrone, was in town on Tuesday, to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law.

Miss Louise Harper arrived home last evening, after a visit of several weeks in Philadelphia and other cities on her return from accompanying her sister Jennie to school "down east."

Mrs. Richard Gensalus, with her daughter, Mrs. Pemberton and son Harry, are off one or two weeks visit with friends in Tyrone, Bellport, Altoona and other places and Dick looks as forlorn as mortal can.

Mrs. Sarah Furey Walz, of Pleasant Gap, so regulates her timely visits to the WATCHMAN that she is never indebted to it for anything but the news it contains. She was in town over Sunday on her way home after several weeks of a visit with Mrs. Georgiana Dale, at Lemont.

A. Trade Bidwell, who is now a student of Uncle Sam at the Naval Academy, Annapolis, surprised his friends here by a brief visit home on Wednesday, returning Thursday morning. It speaks well for the Bellefonte schools and for the young man in particular to know that in his entire class Cadet Bidwell stands first in algebra and third in French while his full rating is above the average.

Mrs. Miller after a long visit with her mother, Mrs. Patsy Stuart, returned to Hagerstown, Md., on Wednesday. It is not always that one's expectations in doing good are realized as were Dave Stuart's in his big pumpkin fight, while he does not acknowledge it, that doubtless was the reason he gathered together a house full of visitors at fair time to witness his blazing triumph.

Miss Martha McWilliams, an old Ferguson township resident but who now makes her home in Philadelphia with her sister Mrs. Stevenson, came down from Tyrone, where she had been visiting, to spend yesterday and today with Dr. and Mrs. Van Trice. The comforts and luxuries of city life are never so much appreciated and their indispensability realized as when one is accustomed to them has to be accommodated to all sorts of means of transportation, roads etc. When our county takes advantage of the Grant Road Bill and we all invest in automobiles as we doubtless will when the highways are such as to make it advisable, then can Miss McWilliams and everyone else hope to comfortably travel to see all old friends in any part of the county.

RACHEL GOLDSTEIN.

"Rachel Goldstein," or "The Struggles of a Poor Girl in New York," which is announced for presentation at the Garman opera house next Monday evening, Oct. 24th, tells the story of a young Yiddish girl, who, emigrating to America with her father, meets with many startling adventures. In the end the girl develops into an accomplished and beautiful young woman and marries the man of her choice. In the play there is a storm at sea, a thrilling murder, a horse-whipping scene, and the sensational death of the female villain. These exciting incidents are relieved by comedy, which is really funny, and a love story which is so true and sincere that it goes at once to the hearts of the audience. Rachel Goldstein will be played by Miss Louise Beaton, a young actress who has attracted much favorable comment by her previous good work, and a strong supporting company. The scenic effects are on an unusually elaborate scale, and include a sensational storm at sea, Longacre Area Square at night, the Steeplechase Deck, the S. S. "Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse," Herald Street on a busy day, the front of the Hoffman House and the famous Flatiron Building in the distance as well as a mansion on Riverside Drive.
