

The "Tip" in Europe.

Lydia K. Commander writes: I have just returned from a trip through Europe, where I naturally made frequent comparisons between the manners of the foreign worker and that of his American brother.

One of the most noticeable differences is the constant presence of the man with his hand out for a tip. When you leave the steamer fully ten people expect to be "remembered."

At every hotel from eight to a dozen tip-hunters shadow the departing guests, and he is expected to go the rounds.

Nor is this all. If you hire a carriage you are expected to tip the driver. If you ask the street car conductor a question, or request him to call your street, you must give him a fee.

But it was, after all, the small tips that shocked me most. To think that men, full grown, white, civilized, free men—no children nor Filipinos nor savages nor slaves—would take a one-cent charity and say "Thank you" for it!

It made me heart-sick and ashamed to see it. I blushed to think that they had not the self-respect to blush for themselves.—American Federationist.

Conservation of Alaskan Forests.

It is up to the Government to determine upon a policy for the conservation of the forests of Alaska. The timber resources of the Territory are rich and extensive. But the lumbermen of the Northwest are looking for new fields to invade, and their eyes are turned covetously toward the Alaskan timber lands.

Cost of Living in England.

Most of the houses on and near the sea are larger than the most of American houses, and the arrangement much more agreeable and sensible than that of our average houses.

Sleep Without Wool.

The Department of Agriculture has recently imported five wool-less sheep—four ewes and a buck—for use in the extreme Southern states. A heavy crop of wool is a burden in hot, dry districts, resulting in a direct ill effect on the quality of the mutton.

A FRIGHTENED HORSE.—Running like mad down the street dumping the occupants, or a hundred other accidents, are every day occurrences. It behooves everybody to have a reliable Salve handy and there's none so good as Becklen's Arnica Salve.

Sentiment in a Room.

The Upholsterer and Interior Decorator in a brief statement strikes at the heart of the trouble with the average decorator. "He puts no heart into his work," is the accusation.

For the Baby Who Creeps.

Some clever woman has devised a practical little garment for a baby to creep in whereby his little clothes are kept clean and free from wear.

Necessaries for the Mending Basket.

A pair of shears, a pair of scissors, a yard tape measure, a small pin cushion filled with pins, a needlebox containing assorted darning needles, assorted sewing needles, a tape needle and a bodkin; rolls of tape of different widths in gray, white and black; three small boxes containing different sorts of buttons, a card each of white and black hooks and eyes, darning cotton of different colors for hose and gloves, a hose and glove darning, a thimble and a box of common starch for perspiring fingers—all these are of use in the mending basket.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Using Old Lace.

A rapid and easy way of embroidering and one which enables a woman to use up odds and ends of old and new lace, especially in floral design, is to cut the leaves from the net foundation and apply on a cotton, wool or silk gown.

Look After the Quiet Child.

A child who is always quiet should be watched carefully, for it is quite an unnatural state of affairs and shows that something is wrong. Those who go much among the schools of the very poor know that it often means lassitude from want of proper nourishment.

Spoiling the Cheeks.

It is a well known fact that resting the cheek in the warm palm of the hand rapidly assists the fading of that cheek, but a doctor declares that this injury is not so rapid as that suffered by repeated kisses.

Man's Favorite Women.

If the man who represented the majority of men were asked what he most liked in woman his answer would be: "Give me beauty, all beauty, to walk and to frivel with; sympathy, all sympathy, to talk and to live with!"—Chic.

You will find as you look back upon your life that the moments that stand out, the moments when you have really lived, are the moments when you have done things in a spirit of love.—Woman's Life.

Sheets of plate glass the exact size of the tops are often seen fitted to highly polished mahogany tables, washstands, bureaus and chiffoniers to prevent scratching.

If you will rub the mouth of the cream pitcher with a speck of butter the cream can be poured without dripping on the cloth.

—Hello, you look busy! What are you doing? asked a man, represented in Moonshine as looking over the wall of his neighbor, a suburban gardener.

Planting some of my seeds, said the owner of the garden, shoving his spade into the ground.

It looks to me, said the neighbor, suspiciously eyeing an object on the ground, as if you were planting one of my hens' feet.

Well, that's all right, replied the man with the spade. The seeds are inside. How ABOUT IT? Mr. F. P. Green says it costs nothing if it does not cure. Lungs weak as a result of lingering cough; nerves exhausted fighting the severe colds of winter; energy gone. For these conditions physicians prescribe Vin-t-e-na. Why not try it on your guarantee? Here is our Challenge.—Buy a bottle of Vin-t-e-na, take as directed, and if, after a few days, you do not feel greatly benefited, if you do not feel that it has strengthened your nerves, produced restful sleep, improved your digestion, and in fact made you feel that life's worth living, your money will be promptly refunded. Mr. Green gives his guarantee with every bottle. —Kindness thrives on kindness.

PROPER CORSETS.

One Reason Why the Frenchwoman Always Looks So Trim.

It is a well known fact that Frenchwomen spend about three times as much money on their corsets as American women do. At first one is apt to call this expenditure extravagant, but on due consideration it appears that a well turned out corset is an economy.

CULINARY CONCEITS.

A little lemon juice added to the water for mixing pastry improves the flavor and helps to make it light.

Just a squeeze of lemon juice added to sauces, soups, gravies or stews after cooking brings out the flavor wonderfully and is a great improvement.

Fried potatoes will be tough if washed after being cut, and potatoes will be dark if fried in boiling fat, but light golden brown if cooked for five minutes in hot fat.

Cold meat, chopped fine, covered with mayonnaise dressing and decorated with hard boiled eggs and parsley, makes a delicious supper salad when laid on nice crisp lettuce leaves.

Meat should never be washed before cooking. If it has any appearance of being handled or not quite fresh it ought to be scraped with a knife and then wiped with a cloth dampened with vinegar.

Laughs.

—At a dinner given to Sir Alfred Harmsworth in commemoration of his recent knighting one of the editors of a London paper said of the guest of honor:

Our friend Harmsworth, as a schoolboy, was shy and quiet. One day, to his horror, an inspector called him up before the class.

You appear to be a clever lad, the inspector said, what do five and one make?

Come now, said the inspector. Suppose I gave you five rabbits, and then another rabbit, how many rabbits would you have?

Seven, said Harmsworth. How do you make that out?

I have a rabbit of my own at home.

A teacher in a Texas public school received the following letter:

Sir: Will you in the future give my son easier some to do at nites? This is what he's brought home two or three nites back: If fore gallons of here will fill thirty to pint bottles, how many pints and half bottles will nine gallons of here fill? Well, I tried and could make nothing of it at all, my boy cried and laughed and sed he didn't dare to go bak in the mornin' without doing it. So I had to go and buy a nine gallon keg of here, which I could ill afford to do, and then we went and borrowed a lot of wine and brandy bottles. We fill them, and my boy put the number down for an answer. I don't know whether it is right or not, as we split some while doin' it.

P. S.—Please let the next some be in water, as I am not able to buy more here.

—A well known electrical man who is very fond of honey, visited a neighboring city recently, and at one of the hotels he was served with some delicious honey. He enjoyed it so much that he told his wife all about it when he returned home.

On the next trip to the city she accompanied him. They visited the same hotel, and when the noon meal was being served he said to his wife that he hoped they had some more of that honey. It did not appear and the electrical man therefore beckoned to a waiter and said:

Say, Sambo, where is my honey? He was almost paralyzed when that worthy grinned and replied:

She don't work here any more, boss. She done got a job at the silk mill. The wife received a handsome new dress before they returned home, after making a solemn promise not to tell the story.

Kitchen Helps.

A wide and shallow teakettle is a good thing to have in the kitchen. It boils water in a hurry.

To keep new tin dishes and pans from rusting them over with lard and heat them in the oven.

The taint of fish may be removed from the blades of knives and the prongs of forks by rubbing them with a piece of lemon peel.

A kitchen table, after scrubbing and rinsing, is greatly improved by having boiling water poured over it. This scalds and whitens the wood.

Stained enameled saucers may often be made to look like new by boiling them out with water to which a little chloride of lime has been added.

Kitchen knives can be sharpened very satisfactorily upon the edge of a common milk crock or any other stone jar. It is gratifying to note the way they will cut up a chicken or slice bread after just a few whet.

Money is often best invested when given away.

Home, the Haven of Rest.

While the women's club movement has been of distinct advantage in some ways, its tendency has been to overdo the matter, and many homes as well as their mistresses have been actually "clubbed" to death. Women, as a rule, are extremely conscientious. If they are in a club they wish to do their share of the work. A man goes to his club for rest or pleasure; a woman to work, either for others or else for the very work's sake.

The Unwashed Abyssinian.

The Abyssinian practically has little love for cleanliness. The natives live in indescribable squalor of religious reasons. To go unwashed they regard as emblematic of piety. One of their chief saints is Isthathios, who is said to have crossed the Jordan secure from wetting because of his greasy skin.

Pennsylvania Railroad's Winter Excursion Route Book.

In pursuance of its annual custom, the passenger department of the Pennsylvania railroad company has just issued an attractive and comprehensive book descriptive of the leading Winter resorts of the East and South, and giving the rates and various routes and combinations of routes of travel. Like all the publications of the Pennsylvania railroad company, this "Winter Excursion Book" is a model of typographical and pictorial work.

Medical.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Belleville readers.

James Hassie, farmer, living at Jersey Shore, Pa., says: "I seemed to be unable to find anything to give me relief from backache. I tried all of our home remedies and consulted physician to grow weaker and more painful. At length I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly spoken of and I made up my mind to try them. I went to Lock Haven and Mr. Mason, the druggist, told me that I could not find any better medicine. I got a box and began using them, and inside of forty-eight hours I felt decided improvement. I was cured in a short time and have never had backache since. That is proof enough for me of the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Plenty more proof like this from Belleville people. Call at F. Potts Green's drug store and ask what his customers report.
