The Bellefonte Academy football team went to Bellefonte on Thanksgiving day where they played a game with the strong Bellefonte eleven, neither side scoring. Tomorrow Bellefonters will have an opportunity of witnessing a game at the fair grounds between the Academy and Phillipsburg teams. This will probably be the last game of the season, and everybody should go.

Merrill, of Lock Haven, during the past season started in seventeen races winning six firsts, three thirds and two fourth moneys and finishing outside the money six times. He started in forty-five heats, won twelve, five of which were done in 2:10 and better. His total purse winnings were $6,525 and his record at the end of the season 2:08. The horse will be wintered in Indiana where his trainer and driver, Richard Wilson lives.

Some time ago Roland Spicer, a driver employed by R. B. Taylor, in his coal yard, lost his watch in one of the big piles of coal. He hunted for it time and again but always in vain. The other day Mrs. W. Miles Walker was emptying a bucket of coal into the stove when she saw something glisten which she at first took to be a tin box lid, but which on closer examination proved to be a silver watch—Mr. Spicer's long-lost time-piece. The watch was returned and Spicer has been shaking hands with himself ever since.

DORWORTH—CRIDER.—The wedding bells rang out merrily Wednesday evening when Mr. Charles E. Dorworth and Miss May Sullivan Crider were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Crider, of east Linn street. The nuptial ceremony took place promptly at 7 o'clock and was witnessed by only the relatives of the contracting parties and a few intimate friends. The interior of the Crider residence was tastefully decorated with palms, evergreens and potted plants while the spacious east parlor, in which the ceremony took place, had been specially arranged for the occasion.

Promptly at the appointed hour Miss Nancy Conright, of Beverly, N. J., began the beautiful wedding march by Lobengrin. This was the signal for the Rev. John A. Wood, Jr., of the Methodist church, who officiated, and Rev. William Laurie, of the Presbyterian church, who assisted in the ceremony, to take their places at the marriage altar, and almost simultaneous the wedding party appeared, entering in the following order:

First came the groom accompanied by his only brother, William J. Dorworth, as best man entering from the dining room. Then followed the maid of honor, Miss Mary Isabel Crider, a sister of the bride, attired in a gown of point-de-sprit and carrying a shower bouquet of pink roses preceding the bride and her father, Mr. F. W. Crider, who came down the long stair case and proceeded through the hall to the arch of the parlor where they were met by the groom and his best man. The bride wore a gown of white chiffon cloth heavily trimmed with Duchess lace a tulle veil with a beautiful fleur-de-lis pin of pearls and diamonds, the gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. The ring ceremony was used by the officiating ministers.

Immediately following the ceremony and congratulations of the friends an elaborate wedding dinner was served. The wedding reception began at 8 o'clock, the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Crider and Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Dorworth receiving the several hundred friends who came to tender congratulations and good wishes to the young couple. It was after 10 o'clock when the bride and groom, in their own car and the visiting newspapermen in another car departed on a special train for Tyrone and the east.

The groom is a son of Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Dorworth, of this place, and is a graduate of the Bellefonte Academy. Early in life he showed a penchant for newspaper work, frequently contributing news items to the various papers of the town. He got his first real newspaper training in the campaign of 1894 when he accompanied the Hastings party throughout the State in the interest of the Philadelphia Inquirer. In the fall of 1895 he became local editor of the Daily News, in this place, a position he filled for over a year. From Bellefonte he went to Harrisburg as a stenographer in one of the department offices and a year or so later accepted a position as reporter on the Philadelphia Press. Since that time he has been employed continuously either on the Press or the Pittsburg Times and now holds the very responsible position of State political writer on the Press.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Crider, one of Bellefonte's leading families, and is a young woman of many accomplishments and charming graces. The presents she received were numerous, valuable and useful, consisting of almost everything necessary to furnish and adorn a home; among them were two chests of flat silver, a silver tea service, silver vegetable dishes, many pieces of exquisite cut glass and a wealth of rare china, vases and bric-a-brac.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Henderson, Charles Henderson, and the Misses Henderson, of Montgomery, Pa.; Miss Burrows, Williamsport; Caleb North and Miss Elizabeth North, Washington, D. C.; Miss Nancy Conright, Beverly, N. J.; Mrs. Charles Cochran, Williamsport; Mrs. Mary M. Jacobs, George Jacobs, Seattle, Washington; John Jenkins, Miss Annie Jenkins, Miss Grace Jenkins, Milton, Pa.; David Jenkins, Steelton, Pa.

The newspaper men and personal friends of the groom who attended the wedding were Max G. Leslie, chairman Pittsburg Republican Committee; Hon. F. W. Edwards, ex-member Legislature; Morgan E. Gable, managing editor of the Times; F. W. Strayer, Dispatch; Chester D. Potter, Gazette, all of Pittsburg, Pa.; W. W. Long, city editor of Press; S. R. Kirkpatrick, W. R. D. Hill, assistant night editor of the Press; W. G. Weart, assistant sporting editor of Press; Peter J. Hobin and C. R. Michael, of the Ledger; Geo. J. Brennan, Inquirer; Peter Bolger, Record; Col. C. L. Hopkins, Southern railroad passenger agent, all of Philadelphia.

Of the ante-wedding festivities no one were fraught with more real pleasure than the dinner the groom gave for a party of his friends at the Nittany Country club on Wednesday afternoon. A special train carried the guests to the club; leaving here at 11 A. M. The hours until the dinner was served were spent in gunning and in contributing to the fortunes of the genial gentleman who does State politics for the Philadelphia Inquirer. The dinner of roast pig and roast turkey, with all the accessories of a well regulated country club, was a splendid one and the way the groom's newspaper friends dallied at the tables was the best criterion of its excellence. In addition to the gentlemen mentioned above there were present Mr. W. R. Jenkins, H. E. Jenkins, Dr. E. S. Dorworth, William J. Dorworth, J. Thomas Mitchell, Esq., Harry Keller, Esq., Francis Spear, of the Gazette; Chas. R. Kurtz, of the Democrat; and Geo. R. Meek, of the WATCHMAN.

JOSEPH L. NEFF INJURED IN RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Mr. Joseph L. Neff, the auctioneer and one of the best known men in Centre county, now lies in the Bellefonte hospital suffering with painful injuries sustained by being run down by a freight train while crossing the railroad track at Curtin station last Saturday morning and it was nothing less than marvelous that Mr. Neff escaped being killed outright.

Mr. Neff lives on his farm near Roland and early Saturday morning he left his home to drive to Unionville, where he was booked to cry a sale that day. It was just about 8 o'clock when he reached the station at Curtin and when driving over the railroad his horse and buggy were struck squarely by an east-bound freight train. Mr. Neff was hurled a distance of fifty feet and was picked up unconscious from alongside the railroad track. The buggy was broken into little bits while the horse was knocked and dragged together a distance of two hundred feet, being dead when found.

Mr. Neff was carried into the depot at Curtin and a hurried examination made which disclosed a broken shoulder blade, various cuts and bruises and it was feared that he was injured internally. The unfortunate man was brought to Bellefonte on the 1:05 train and taken to the hospital where he was given every attention possible. Upon a thorough examination it was found that the fracture of the shoulder blade with the superficial contusions were the extent of the man's injuries, though his nervous system was somewhat racked from the shock of the accident. The fractured bone was set and his other injuries dressed by the physicians in charge and at this writing Mr. Neff is getting along very well with no doubt at all about his recovery.

Eye witnesses to the accident say it was simply a miracle that Mr. Neff escaped as he did. He is a man 68 years of age. His hearing is somewhat defective and Saturday morning he was driving along with the curtains on his buggy down. Knowing that it was not time for any of the passenger trains Mr. Neff doubted never thought of a freight train coming along at that hour, while those who saw the accident supposed Mr. Neff would stop to leave the train go by and when they realized that he did not see the approaching train it was too late to stop him.

STETSON'S UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.—The survival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the dawn of the 20th Century is something to marvel over, but it is an assured fact. The elaborate renovation of the old play by Manager Washburn of the Stetson Company, in a new pictorial dress with up-to-date methods plentifully displayed throughout its half-a-dozen acts, furnishes ample proof that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is still potent. Special scenery for every scene depicted, enlarged choruses of genuine negroes from the cotton-belt, modern up-to-date specialties, two male and female quartets, a band of Alabama pickaninnies, a gorgeous cakewalk in a pretty setting entitled "The Palace of Silver Mat," improved light effects and mechanical illusions will be seen in the Stetson production of this famous play. The presenting company in some instances is a double one and contains the names of numerous footlight favorites. The street parade is said to be the longest, richest and best ever given by a theatrical company. The Stetson Company is booked at Garman's opera house, Saturday evening, Dec. 3rd. Matinee in the afternoon. Matinee prices 10 and 25c. to all parts of the house.

WITH THE I. O. O. F.—A special session of the Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. was held in Bellefonte, Tuesday evening, for the purpose of conferring Past Grand and Grand Lodge degrees. Among the distinguished members of the order who were present were grand master Robert Graham, of Philadelphia; deputy grand master M. E. Chubbuck, of Towanda; grand marshal Harry Metzger and grand secretary Joseph H. Mackey, of Philadelphia, and conductor Grant McGlathery, of Norristown. Delegations were present from Centre Hall, State College, Lemont and other places. In the evening Mr. J. C. Meyer entertained the visitors with a dinner at his home on Curtin street.

THE POTTERS MILLS POSTOFFICE TO BE REOPENED.—The post-office at Potters Mills, which was closed by the department several months ago, following the establishment of the rural free delivery in that section, will shortly be reopened and ready for business with Mrs. Frank A. Carson as postmistress. The re-establishment of the office is due in a large measure to the untiring efforts of merchant Frank A. Carson, in whose store the office will be located. The reopening of the office is in accord with the desire of the majority of the patrons in that section.

JONES—AMMERMAN.—Tuesday evening of last week Mr. William Jones, of Phillipsburg, and Miss Agatha Ammerman, of Unionville, were married at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Carl Ammerman, 814 Eleventh avenue, Altoona. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. M. Klepfer. Mr. and Mrs. Jones took a honeymoon trip to Philadelphia and other eastern cities and have now gone to housekeeping in Phillipsburg.

WILLIAM DALEY TERRIBLY CRIPPLED IN RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—William Daley, conductor of the yard engine crew at the Nittany furnace met with an accident last Friday morning that has already necessitated the amputation of both his limbs, rendering him a hopeless cripple, and may yet cost him his life, although at this writing the physicians in attendance declare the man's chances favorable for recovery.

Thanksgiving's rain and sleet tendered the ground quite slippery. Conductor Daley had the night turn and it was just about four o'clock Friday morning when the engine was being backed into the cinder pit to take out a pot of cinder. Daley was on the back end of the tender and just above the frog leading out on the siding he jumped off to make a coup ling. In doing so he slipped and fell on the track the tender passing over both his legs. No one saw the accident happen and the first knowledge the men had that anything serious had occurred was when the engineer saw the body of Mr. Daley lying alongside the track.

The engineer was running very slowly and was able to stop his engine before the body of Mr. Daley was further nangled under the driving wheels. The unfortunate man was removed as quickly as possible from beneath the engine, conveyed to the Bellefonte hospital and his family sent for, as it was feared he would not recover from the shock of the accident.

An examination disclosed the fact that the wheels of the engine had passed over both legs, crushing them badly. Early Friday morning the right leg was amputated about five inches above the knee and it was then hoped that it would be possible to save the left leg. By Saturday night, however, the condition of the left leg was such that the physicians in attendance feared blood poisoning and it was decided that an amputation of the limb was the surest way to give hope of Mr. Daley's recovery and the operation was performed at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The patient withstood the operation very well and since that no serious complications have set in and the physicians feel very hopeful for his recovery.

Mr. Daley is a man about 45 years old and, with his wife and four children lives on east Lamb street. He has been a rail-roader most all his life, having been employed by the Pennsylvania, the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania and last by the Nittany Iron company. A number of years ago, while employed by the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania he met with a bad accident by being crushed between two cars since which time he has never been as strong and healthy as he was prior to the accident; and it was because of this injury that he was taken off the road and given a job in the yard at the Nittany furnace.

The train crew of which Mr. Daley had charge last week consisted of James Miller, engineer; William Peters, fireman and Bruce Peters, brakeman. The engine was No. 1.

THE GETTIG, BOWER & ZERBY LAW FIRM.—Judge-elect Ellis L. Orvis will take the oath of office on the first Monday in January and will then be judge of the Centre county courts for the ensuing ten years, if he lives. Mr. Orvis' accession to the bench naturally compels the dissolution of the old law firm of Orvis, Bower & Zerby, judge-elect being the last of the original three members of the firm. In order to keep the extensive practice of the old firm as intact as possible Samuel D. Gettig, John J. Bower and W. D. Zerby have joined together in a law firm organization to be known as Gettig, Bower & Zerby, attorneys-at-law, and successors to Orvis, Bower & Zerby. Although the new firm has already been organized they will not start out in practice for themselves until January 1st, 1905, when the old firm will be dissolved.

Gettig, Bower & Zerby compose a trio of young attorneys who will no doubt make a very able and successful law firm. They have all been trained under the able tutelage of Orvis, Bower & Zerby. Mr. Gettig, the senior member of the firm, read law under the late judge John H. Orvis as well as the other members of the firm, and was admitted to the bar in 1893, since which time he has been in the office of Orvis, Bower & Zerby and had the advantage of their counsel. John J. Bower, the second member of the new firm is a son of the late C. M. Bower. He is a graduate of Franklin & Marshall college, read law under the firm of which his father was a member and was admitted to the bar in 1900. W. D. Zerby, the junior member of the firm, is a graduate of Bucknell, and he also got his law schooling under the firm of Orvis, Bower & Zerby. He was admitted to the bar only last August after having passed a most creditable examination before the Supreme court examining board. The new firm of Gettig, Bower & Zerby will start out under the most favorable auspices and we predict for them a large measure of success in the future.

Among the out of the county patrons of the WATCHMAN who remembered that it costs money to get out a paper and who did their share, the past week, towards meeting the expenses incident thereto, were Mrs. D. M. Weaver, of Bellefonte, Pa.; Clara Walker, of Baltimore; Daniel Q. Decker, Esq., of Altoona, and Mr. Jno. Proutfoot, of Passadena, California.

Our friend John B. Long, Esq., of Rush township who used to be a frequent visitor to Bellefonte, has evidently determined to make his trip over the mountain farther apart. In place of coming over to see how the court was run this week, he sent his representative over, and even had him come in and advance the tab on his copy of the WATCHMAN.

Grandmother Wolf, years ago a resident of Wolf's Store, this county, is lying dangerously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. M. Weaver, at Bellefonte, Pa. Her advanced age, eighty some years, leaves but little hope of recovery, notwithstanding the affectionate care that is given her by Mrs. Weaver, and the many friends she has made since going to Blair county.

Mr. John H. Meyer, principal of the Bellefonte High school, returned Sunday morning from a two week's vacation trip to Columbia, S. C., looking one hundred per cent. better than when he went away—and that is saying a good bit while he assures everybody that he feels the improvement as well as look it. And to hear him talk about the delightful weather down there just now, going driving without an overcoat, sitting around in your shirt sleeves, etc., while the glorious beauty of the mistletoe is prevalent everywhere. Verily Mr. Meyer must have felt himself within a garden of eden with nothing lacking but—

"It beats a letter from home all hollow" is the verdict rendered by both Mrs. Allison, of Seaman, Ohio, and Mrs. Blair, of Belle Centre, same state, who, in writing to their brother, Mr. Harry McDowell, of Howard, gives the above as their opinion of the WATCHMAN. Several years Mr. McDowell has been sending this paper to his sisters, and finds that it is much the easier way to keep them booked up in old home happenings, and in matters in which they are interested. There are others who might follow Mr. M.'s example with great pleasure to absent friends and relatives, as with great satisfaction to themselves as well.

Mr. Robert Mann, or in the more familiar phrase, "Bob" Mann the famous deer hunter was a juror in attendance at court this week and when he was not sitting on a jury regulated his nimrod chums here with stories of the chase—past, present and future. Mr. Mann is one of the men it is always a pleasure to meet and though he has many friends in Bellefonte who make it pleasant for him whenever he strikes the county capital, yet it went pretty tough with him this week to tear himself away from the Panther hunting club for the last three days of the deer season to come to Bellefonte and serve his duty as a juror.

The hospitable home of Dr. P. S. Fisher, at Zion, has been the mecca for visitors the past week. Among those who helped to make life pleasant for the doctor by calmly listening to some of his thrilling hunting and fishing stories were Mrs. Maggie E. Wireback, of Monessen; Mrs. Ada V. Cordie, of Oil City, and Mrs. George W. Campbell and Mrs. Sarah Fryberger, of Philadelphia. And what was fuel for the doctor's yarns was the fact that Mr. Wm. H. Moore, of Pittsburg, was also a guest there several days while hunting on the adjacent mountains, and when he went home he was laden with one wild turkey and a bunch of pheasants, squirrels and rabbits.

Fifty guests attended the annual banquet of the Citizens hook and ladder company at Milesburg on Thanksgiving evening. James Gregg was toastmaster and the committee who had charge of the affair consisted of Messrs. L. C. Enlock, Ross Wallace, Jas. B. Noll, Melvin Derr, Geo. McCullough, Brinton Wallace and William Baird. It is not necessary to state what a good time everybody had.

THE PANTHER CLUB GETS FIVE DEER.

The Panther hunting club came home Wednesday night—not as in former years, with one little wee deer—but with five deer to their credit, four of which the Bellefonte contingent brought home with them. They had a forked-pronged buck, a doe and two fawns, nearly four hundred pounds of venison. The Panther club party this year included, Linn and John McGinley, R. S. Brouse, John and Andrew Kiseley, Will Cassidy, M. A. Jackson, Harry Gerberich, J. A. Decker, Lewis Gettig and Bruce Garman, of Bellefonte, with Bob Mann, the Heverlys A.H. Shawley and Jas. Fye, of Curtin township. They were out at what is known as Fisher's hill, about eight miles beyond Eddy Lick. All told the party saw eleven or twelve deer, five of which number they bagged. Those successful in bringing down one of the fleet-footed animals were Linn McGinley, M. A. Jackson, John McGinley, J. A. Decker and James Fye. It is hardly necessary to say that Panther club stock is now booming even faster than the U. S. steel.

The Zimmerman party came in from a week's hunt on Baker run, back of Renovo, on Wednesday, with four nice deer and a 200 pound bear. Editor T. H. Harter was a member of this party. The Haines party also came in on Wednesday with four deer. They had been out in the Green Woods the past two weeks. All in all the deer season this year was a fairly successful one for the hunters.

CAME DOWN WITH THE PIE.—It is always poor policy for a candidate for any political office to make promises beforehand, especially promises that may be difficult to keep, as district attorney-elect William Groh Runkle has found out to his sorrow. The WATCHMAN above all others dislikes to give publicity to a matter of this kind, that "twere better left untold, but when a candidate for such an important office seeks to bribe a voter by the repeated promise of a certain emolument, then it is not only the province but the duty of every self-respecting newspaper to call a halt. And in a case such as here recorded, when the individual makes his promise in the presence of a number of reputable witnesses. Of course it may only have been a joke of the district attorney-elect to offer a big apple pie, but the joke was the other way when some of the boys made it so warm for him that to escape their chaffing he had a big fat and most delicious apple pie baked to order and delivered in prime condition. It is hardly necessary to say that the man that got the pie enjoyed it.

BEHRES-DECKER.—Mr. Harry Behres and Miss Edith Decker, two popular young people of State College, thought to steal a march on their friends and last evening drove to Pine Grove Mills where they were quietly married at the Lutheran parsonage by the Rev. C. T. Aiken. The attendants were Mr. Luther Fye and Miss Florence Hoy. Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. William Glenn, just east of Pine Grove. The WATCHMAN joins with their many friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Behres a happy journey through life.
