COL. DUNHAM DIES IN CALIFORNIA.—Col. David S. Dunham, a former Bellefonter and a man well known all over this and adjoining counties, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. H. Dutton, at Pasadena, Cal., on Monday, December 5th. His death was due to gangrene with which he had been afflicted to such an extent that it was necessary to amputate one leg. Following the amputation Mr. Dunham appeared to be getting along very nicely, but owing to his advanced age and worn-out constitution he suffered a relapse from which he never recovered. Deceased was born in Indiana county, this State, October 25, 1828, so that at the time of his death he was past 76 years of age. Early in life he learned the printer's trade and while yet a young man located in Lock Haven, where he started the first paper ever published in that town. For many years he was editor of the Lock Haven Democrat. When the civil war broke out he enlisted as a soldier and served all through the war. After the war he returned to his field of newspaper work in which he continued up until about ten years ago. In the early seventies he joined the famous expedition of filibusters that went out on the ill-fated ship Virginus to free Cuba and was one of the very few who escaped and effected a return to the United States. About sixteen years ago Mr. Dunham located in Bellefonte and for a number of years did special writing and corresponding for a number of papers. He had a good knowledge of politics and current events and was a fluent writer. About five years ago his health began to fail and he, on the advice of his doctor, went to California in the hope that the salubrious climate there would prove beneficial, and there is no doubt but that the change was the only thing that prolonged his life to this time. Mr. Dunham is survived by two children, Mrs. Dutton, of Pasadena, at whose home he died, and Mr. Fred S. Dunham, of Howard, editor of the Hustler. DEATH OF COL. THOMAS.—Col. George W. Thomas, one of the old and well-known citizens of Bellefonte, and the last of his line, expired suddenly at his home on the Perdue mountain above Coleville, at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. Col. Thomas had been in poor health for a couple of years past, but of late seemed better than he had in several months. Wednesday morning the nurse went into his room and asked him how he was feeling and the gentleman told her very well. She then asked if he wanted something to eat and he replied that he would take another sleep first and with that he turned over on his side and died almost instantly. Deceased was born at Clearfield and was 75 years of age. He came to Bellefonte when a young man and engaged in the mercantile business with his brother-in-law, the late Thomas Burnside. About fifteen years ago he was appointed to a position in the Huntingdon Reformatory which he filled until failing health compelled him to resign. Col. Thomas was a man of many pleasing qualities and having been the last of a family distinguished in the early development of the county his passing is a matter of real historical significance. He was an active Republican during his vigorous life and always was devoted to the Episcopal church. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the house in which he died, the old family homestead of the Thomas'. Services will be conducted by Rev. George Israel Brown, of the Episcopal church, and interment will be made in the family burying ground on the mountain homestead. CHARLES STARRETT DIES IN PHILIPSBURG.—Mr. Charles Starrett died at his home in Philipsburg, at 11 o'clock Thursday night of last week, of spinal meningitis. He had been ill some weeks with a pain in his head and on Monday, of last week, was very bad but by Thursday he was so much improved that he went down street to see his sister, Mrs. A. V. Hoyt. That evening while his wife was down street Mr. Starrett was seized with a violent pain in the head rendering him unconscious and in a convulsive state in which condition he lingered from about 8.30 until 11 o'clock when he died. Mr. Starrett was a native of Philipsburg, a son of the late W. S. Starrett, and was aged 40 years. He was twice married, first to Miss Anna Smith, who died eight years ago. His second wife was Miss Idessa Plummer, who survives him together with five children, Edward, Ethel and Maricce by the first wife and two small children, Conrad and Helen, by the second wife. His aged mother, one sister, Mrs. A. V. Hoyt, and four brothers, Eugene, Warren, Harry and Percy, also survive. Mr. Starrett was a carpenter by trade, a good workman and ever since his boyhood worked at his trade in and about Philipsburg. He had a wide acquaintance who will regret his sad death and sympathize with the bereaved family. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. ALBERT OWEN.—Mr. Albert Owen died at his home in Milesburg, Thursday morning of last week, of diseases incident to old age, after a lingering illness of several years. His grandfather fought in the Revolutionary war and his father was a soldier in the war of 1812. The Owens' were possessed of considerable means and early in life the subject of this sketch entered the field of newspaperdom. She had lived almost all her life at the old homestead at Wolf's Store, Centre county, where her husband died twenty years ago. For the past nine years she had been a resident of Bellwood, making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Weaver. She had been an earnest member of the Reformed church since childhood, and died as she lived, in that faith. During her short residence in Bellwood she had won many friends, who regret her death. She is survived by three children—Mrs. Anna M. Weaver, of Bellwood; Mrs. Jennie Musser, of Ladysmith, Wisconsin; Garrison Wolf, of Iowa. Three sisters also survive her; Mrs. Phoebe Bunnart, Mrs. Ervina Greib, Mrs. Isabella Kridler, all of this county. A funeral service was held at Mrs. Weaver's home Tuesday evening and on Wednesday the remains were taken to Rebersburg where interment was made in the family burying ground. ADAMS.—Oscar Adams, Sr., died at his home in Philipsburg, Saturday evening last, after only a weeks illness with pneumonia. He was a tailor by trade and during his life engaged in that work as well as in the undertaking business and for a number of years kept a general store. He was united in marriage with Miss Isabella Jane Holt, who died just eight weeks a day before her husband. They had no children but Mr. Adams is survived by three sisters and one brother, Mrs. Emily Southard and Mrs. E. B. Hartman, of Harrisburg; Mrs. Godfrey Fisher, of Tyrone, and James I. Adams, of Clearfield. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services at the house were in charge of Rev. G. D. Pennacker while the Masons officiated at the grave. Mrs. Ebbs was a member of the Ros' Methodist church, a good Christian woman and one who always looked on the bright side of life. Being left a widow with four small children, and the home not paid for, she had a great deal to try her, yet she raised and educated her children, paid for her home and through it all was always cheerful. For weeks past Thomas Beaver was compelled to haul water to his farm just east of town, but the work proved irksome and, on Tuesday, he engaged the Logan Fire company boys, who took their steamer and coupling on to a fireplug on east-Bishop street, pumped both his cisterns full of water. Prior to that the Logan boys had filled a number of cisterns out in Bush's Addition. —Remember—If its for Man or Boy It can be bought BEST at Faibles. —The scarlet fever scare at State College is over. Spring Mills Our merchants are very busy just now receiving and arranging their stocks of holiday goods. O. T. Corman, who lost his hand by the premature discharge of his gun while hunting two weeks ago, is again able to attend to business. No signs of any movement towards lighting the village streets. There was considerable talk about it some time ago—but then talk is very inexpensive. We had quite a snow storm here on Saturday last, a few sleds were on the road, and it looked a good deal like winter. But of course, sledding was a little off. Dry wells are reported everywhere—a regular water famine. A good thaw or rain on the snow just now might remedy the evil somewhat. But what we need is about three days of steady rain. If the adage is correct that when the days lengthen, the cold strengthens, we are on the verge of it already. No one objects to an extension of day light, but everybody has decided objections to an imitation of the frigid zone. Last week J. A. Grenoble, while at H. A. Stover's, a short distance up Sinking creek, when stooping to arrange the harness on his horse, was kicked on the head by the animal and so seriously injured that he could not be removed to his home. His condition is rather critical. The party of great moral ideas and prosperity in this neighborhood, is endeavoring to annoy the Democracy by remarking, "you Democrats should nominate so and so for the spring election—possibly you may elect them." It is not remarkable, the incapacity some people display for not minding their own business. The Democracy wants no foreign aid. T. B. Jamison, the well-known fire insurance agent, bought two pigs on Sept. 1st, which were then three months old, weighing 40 and 41 lbs. respectively. Last week he butchered them, and they weighed 160 and 165 lbs. Certainly a very handsome gain for so short a time. Previously he butchered three porkers weighing respectively 260, 275 and 304 lbs. If old Shylock had been invited that day to dinner by the Colonel, he might well have replied, "What, smell pork; to eat of the habitation into which your prophet, the Nazirite conjured the devil! No." HUBBERSBURG. Mr. Wm. Knecht, of Parvin, was in town on Friday transacting business. Mrs. Wasson, of Flemington, is employed at the home of William Carner. Mr. and Mrs. John Gentzle departed on Saturday to visit friends in Penn's valley. Mrs. Rebecca Charles, of Rebersburg, arrived yesterday and is at the home of her sisters. Those who transacted business in Bellefonte during the past week were Mrs. Mary Clevantine, John Clevantine and J. D. Miller. Prof. John S. Hosterman, principal of the High school of this place, was entertained at the home of Mr. Wm. Fulton, on Friday evening. John McEwen, who is employed by Geo. E. Holmes, of Lock Haven, returned on Tuesday morning, after spending Sunday with his mother. Christmas services will be held in the Reformed church on Christmas evening. Services begin at half past seven o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended. John A. Miller, wife and daughter, who had been at Busti, New York, during the summer have been visiting their many friends and relatives at this place. The weather during the past week has a tendency to make people think that winter is roaring his defiance. On Sunday morning the thermometer registered nine degrees below zero. This is a good beginning. Mrs. William Carner, who has been very poorly with typhoid fever is slowly improving. Other sick of the village are Mr. John Best, Miss Mariab Hubler, Fred Whitman and Caroline, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Kessinger. One of the young sportsmen of our village, viz., E. M. Detrich is now a firm believer in the maxim, "If at first you don't succeed try, try again." After many fruitless trips during the season, his efforts were at last crowned with success. He succeeded in shooting a wild turkey weighing eight and one-fourth pounds. —Ladies all wool Jersey leggings 70c. Yeager & Davis. HOWARD. Davy Tanyer has been rusticated around Mackeyville the past week. J. R. Pheasant, the all-around farmer and up-to-date school director, took time to attend the funeral of Mr. Miller. Hon. John A. Daley, general manager for hunting expeditions and an all-around good fellow, comes to our town frequently. The Methodists purpose holding a Christmas entertainment on Christmas evening. Mr. Z. T. Weirick will be musical director. Miss Lola DeLong, one of Romola's handsomest belles, who spent several months in Potter county, is now home with her parents. Mr. George Barrett, the expert mechanic, who follows keeping drills in sharp condition for railroad contractors, is home with his family until after Christmas. Rev. H. W. Gross had public sale last Saturday and moved to Indiana Co. Mr. Gross was the first promoter of the canning factory here and is a live, energetic business man. Joe Diehl, who has promise of reaching a J. Pierpont Morgan title, is busy shipping poultry and produce in abundance. Joe is a hustler and financial success is coming his way. Rev. Aller, the Methodist minister, delivered an excellent sermon to his audience last Sunday evening. This vicinity is to be congratulated on having such an able man to fill this charge. Howard now boasts of having eleven stores, the last one added to the list is that of Ed. Cooke, of Jeannette, who has rented the store room of S. F. Kline, corner of Main street, and has a general line of fancy goods, for the holiday season. —Few, very few stores will show you as many of the correct things for Man or Boy as you will see at Faibles.

Pine Grove Mentions. The mercury registered 14 degrees below zero here on Sunday. Carpenter W. B. Ward is laid up with a pair of broken ribs. Mr. Malin Hoover spent several days at Pine Hall to take a peep at the Xmas goods. George C. Woodring, one of the old Democratic war horses at Port Matilda, registered at the St. Elmo, Monday. H. B. Pontius, H. H. Mensch, E. F. Gorman, W. H. Smith and general Frank Crawford, registered at the St. Elmo recently. J. P. Wickersham, genial as ever, came down from Tyrone to see our merchants in the wood and will wear wire line on Tuesday. Some of our merchants have a fine display of Xmas goods in their windows. Everybody can be supplied to furnish their friends, relatives and little ones with Christmas presents. We are sorry to note the serious injury of our friend John Reynolds, who fell from the M. E. church in Tyrone on Monday. We trust, however, that his injuries are not so serious as at first reported. Henry Kyle, of Gatesburg, passed through here on Tuesday on his way over the mountain to see his aged father, Hugh Kyle, who is very ill. He is an old battle-scarred veteran of the war and is not likely to recover. W. D. Port, like in politics, has also changed his religion and is now a Baptist. He was on the mill dam on Tuesday and came near giving the undertaker a job, but Dr. Krebs caught him by the foot just as he was gliding under thick ice. E. C. Musser and wife are representing Centre Grange F. of H., No. 254, at the State Grange meeting at Erie this week. Others who went are Willard Dale and wife, John Dale and wife, of Lemont; Henry McCracken, of Leonard Grange, and W. K. Corl, of Washington Grange. The three schools in the old Academy building are arranging to hold a Christmas entertainment on Friday previous to Christmas. A good program is being prepared and an interesting time is promised. A cordial invitation is extended to all, especially the patrons, to be present. —Children's all wool Jersey leggings 45c. Yeager & Davis. LEMONT. Kyle Osman returned Tuesday after enjoying a week in Philipsburg, then went to act as janitor in the library at State College. Jesse Shuey has gone to Philadelphia to clerk in one of the large wholesale houses in that city. H. F. Evey's store is made very attractive at present, and one attraction is a number of beautiful Japanese gold fish. George Keller has returned from New York, where he went to consult a specialist, and says he now feels some better. William Fogleman spent Saturday and Sunday over in Buffalo, Ohio. Walter Fogleman, of Ohio, is circulating among friends in these parts, and looks fine. Rev. James Welch, returned home Saturday, after a very pleasant sojourn of a week among old acquaintances. Water is getting so scarce, especially among the people who dwell in the barrens, that some days there are twenty-five teams in at the creek for water. Saturday night was the coldest up to date the thermometer registering at Lemont 12 degrees below zero; Centre Furnace 21 degrees below; at Oak Hill 9 degrees below; at Boalsburg 12 degrees below and with this weather far has been rather cold and by appearance Spring creek will freeze dry, as part of Shab Creek has already done. Austin Dale went to Erie Monday to attend the annual meeting of the State Grange. Frank Wasson's little daughter is lying at the point of death at this writing, with inflammation of the bowels. —If its for Man or Boy you can get it at Faibles. —The Roberson lecture in Petriken hall Monday night will be the feature attraction of the Star course. Mr. Roberson's theme of "Russia and Japan" is most timely, and his statement of the vital issues at stake in the present war should be anticipated with eager interest, because it will be founded upon personal investigation made by recent travels through those countries. It is also a matter that all should know that the women having in charge the Star course are not meeting with the financial encouragement they should. They have not succeeded in paying out for the series and they hope that more of those who hold season tickets at the ridiculously low price will pay the small extra charge and take reserved seats at the future entertainments. —You will be sure to please him if you buy it at Faibles. Everything for Man or Boy. —The State College basket ball team will go to Altoona to-day, where they will play their first game of the season to night with the Three A's team of that place. State's players this year include Donn, captain; Yockley, Heaton, Kilmer, Moor head, McKelven and Falz. —Few, very few stores will show you as many of the correct things for Man or Boy as you will see at Faibles. —Mr. James A. Feidler, principal of the Milesburg grammar school, is now enjoying an enforced three weeks vacation, owing to his school having been closed because of a small-pox scare down there. —Tickets for the balance of the Star course are now only $1.20, single admission 50c., reserved seats 15c. extra. The chart for the Roberson lecture will open at Suffer's grocery this morning. —Don't forget to attend the new Academy inspection this evening. —The roof is being put on the Y. M. C. A. building this week. A CARD. To the Public: The partnership heretofore existing between Fortney & Walker in the practice of the law, has been dissolved.
