Mr. and Mrs. William Dukeman, of this place, are just now two of the happiest mortals in Bellefonte, all because of the recent arrival at their home of a nice little girl baby—the very first.

CURTIN STATION ABOLISHED.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company announces that, effective Jan. 1st, 1905, the stops of passenger trains at Curtin station were discontinued and the station abolished.

Last Saturday evening the barn on the farm of Thomas Bechtel, in Liberty township, was totally destroyed by fire, including one horse, eleven head of cattle, crops and farm implements. Mr. John G. Cofer was the tenant farmer and his loss is placed at $1,000.

Mr. Edwin F. Garman's Sunday school class will hold an art gallery entertainment at Mr. Garman's home, corner of High and Spring streets, Thursday evening, December 12th. The tickets are only ten cents and this entitles one not only to admission to the art gallery but assures them a big cup of chocolate in addition. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Episcopal church.

Belated notices of weddings in the eastern end of the county are those of Mr. John Eby, of Woodward, and Miss Hannah Winegardner, of Feider; Mr. Cecil A. Cole, of Susquehanna, and Miss Minnie E. Hosterman, of near Woodward; Mr. Preston Seyler, of Chesterfield Court House, Va., and Miss Artie M. Winklebeck, of Haines township; Mr. Irvin Smith and Miss Mary Yearick, both of Woodward.

The appeal in the case of Ira Green and William Dillen was argued before the Supreme court in Philadelphia, on Tuesday. The arguments for the condemned men were by ex-judge A. O. Farst and Clement Dale, while Col. E. R. Chambers and N. B. Spangler made the argument for the Commonwealth. At this writing there is no predicting when the Supreme court will hand down its decision in the case.

On Wednesday Judge Ellis L. Orvis handed down a revised set of rules pertaining to the acceptance of candidates for the reading of law, their examination and final admission to the bar. One new rule provides for the making of the Board of Examiners a Board of Censors as well whose duty it shall be to inquire into and keep constant tab on the conduct of every member of the bar. Of course there are no Centre county lawyers whose conduct will need any inquiring into.

CRUSE-KRAPE.—A very quiet wedding was celebrated at 6 o'clock, Wednesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Krape, in Salona, when their daughter, Miss Ada Bessie Krape was united in marriage with Mr. Wade H. Cruse, youngest son of Mrs. Josephine Cruse, of Bellefonte. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Reiser, of the M. E. church. Mr. and Mrs. Cruse came to Bellefonte on the night train and went direct to the home of the groom's mother, on east Linn street, where they will reside for the present.

Pine Grove Mentions.

The long-looked-for rain came at last. Farmer W. Harris Bloom, of Bloomsdorf, laid up with heart trouble.

Prof. H. M. Morris, of Pittsburg, greeted cronies here during the holidays.

Miss Elsie Gos, who has been under the doctor's care the last week, is better.

The venerable C. H. Struble is quite ill, suffering with a serious stomach trouble.

Mr. Harry Braher with his bride spent Sunday at uncle Will Glenn's, west of town.

Frank Yeager is nursing a bad foot that he got mashed by a loaded wagon passing over it.

Old Santa was a little quick, but presented Wm. Dixon with a Christmas gift on the 24th. It's a boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Koch spent Christmas week with former sheriff J. P. Condo, at Sunbury.

Miss host Reed Randolph and wife spent New Years day among relatives at McAlavey's Port.

E. E. Royer and Joe Johnson last week bought of Mr. Cumming's his entire outfit for well digging.

Mr. Orie Krebs was introducing his bride to his many friends hereabouts during the holiday season.

Farmer James C. Gilliland is receiving congratulations over the arrival of a big boy, that came on the 29th.

Carpenter T. C. Burrell is making locomotion go on crutches, on account of a cider barrel mashing his foot.

The week of prayer is being observed in the M. E. church as a union meeting and is being quite well attended.

George Johnson bade adieu to the farm for at we weeks city jaunt at the State capital, where he has hosts of friends.

Banker Isaac Mitchell and son Thomas, of Bellefonte, enjoyed a New Year's outing on J. P. Lyon's auto to Heartsease.

E. C. Musser, with his chum and classmate, Mr. Weber, of Selingsgrove, were entertained on Xmas at the Musser home on the Branch.

Our mutual friend and former townman, Wm. J. Meyers, came over from Alexandria to shake hands and wish his old neighbors a merry Xmas.

Walter Woods, who spent the Christmas season at home, returned to his studies at the Medical University in Philadelphia, on Wednesday.

Mr. J. C. Ansbach and Miss Amelia Hurst, of McAlavey's Port, are being entertained by A. J. Tate, at the old Bottorf home. They are cousins.

D. Ross Gregory with his right-bower, John Bumgardner, of Cottage, were here last week gathering in their share of the flocks in the valley.

Farmer Andy Glenn lost his faithful old "Bob" horse, which had its leg kicked off by another horse and had to be killed. He was 20 years old.

Miss Maud Irvin, one of our efficient and successful school teachers, was the guest of Miss Mabel Smith on the first day of 1905. The "Squire" was on deck, too.

Mr. J. W. Mitterling, the popular stockman of Centre Hall, circulated among the farmers here last week and bought a car load of fresh cows for the eastern market.

Station agent I. J. Dreese, of Lemont, drove up Sunday to visit his brother-in-law, J. B. Ard and wife. Both the latter have been on the sick list, but are improving.

Mr. Adam Smith, D. G. Meek's farmer, is quitting Bunker Hill and has rented the Dr. J. Y. Dale farm on the Branch. Charley Kuhn moves to the well-known Sparr farm, east of Boalsburg.

New Years day witnessed a sort of a family reunion at the well-known Tate home near the forks of the road on the Bellefonte pike. The home gathering was quite unexpected as neither knew of the others coming to gladden the old couple's hearts, who are quite frail and well advanced in years.

John and Maggie Hassinger, of Scotia, are mourning the sad and unexpected death of their dear little daughter Katie, who died of acute indigestion last Saturday morning, aged 2 years and 10 months. Burial was made Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. in the Pine Hall cemetery, Rev. Eslinger, officiating.

The I. O. O. F. of Pine Grove Mills, celebrated the fifty-sixth anniversary of the organization of Lodge 276, in the new hall, at that place on the evening of Dec. 26th, with a set-out for the wives, sisters and sweet-hearts of its members. Rev. Aikens was the guest of honor, and did the principal part of the public talking. And a most delightful evening was enjoyed by all present.

Joseph Gohese, an old veteran of the war of the rebellion, came in from Leavenworth, Kansas, to spend a month amid the scenes of his youth in this, his native town, where he first saw the light of day 64 years ago. When the war came he enlisted in the 83rd P. V. I., and served through to the close, when he took Horace Greeley's advice. Old father time has laid his hand lightly on him, as he is still quite sprightly and rugged, though his once glossy locks are now quite silvered.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leuts, of the Branch are sorrowing over the death of their baby girl Carrie, aged seven months. The little pet was ill with a heavy cold only a few days when that fatal disease pneumonia developed, and it breathed its last on Tuesday morning. The parents, four sisters and one brother mourn the death of this dear little child and sister. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Edgar Heckman, of State College, officiated and interment was made in the Pine Hall cemetery.

On Thursday the 29th ult., the personal effects of the late P. F. Bottorf were sold at public sale. After that the real estate, consisting of the old home farm and a one-half interest in the roller grist mill. The mill was bought by the Bradford Bros. for $25,500. H. H. Goss bought the farm for $7,000 and will occupy it in the spring. A. J. Tate expects to dispose of his stock and implements at public sale, March 29th, and will just exchange residences with Mr. Goss. Taking all in all the sale was a good one and Mr. Goss is to be congratulated on buying the old home-stand, that has been in the Bottorf name for almost three-quarters of a century.

And still they come! On the evening of the 29th of December, Dr. F. W. Bailey closed his dental parlors in West Milton for a holiday outing to the neighbors thought. But his fiancé had taken the train westward and the wily doctor followed close after. The lovers met at the Lumber City, where they were united in the holy bonds of wedlock by the Rev. Dr. E. W. Stevens at the M. E. parsonage, 441 Pine street. The bride is Miss Emma Clark, of Milton, and a most estimable lady. The groom is the eldest son of county commissioner J. G. Bailey and is doing a land office business in his profession. Our congratulations on his matrimonial venture.

Mr. John Hosterman returned from his tour and re-opened school on Monday morning.

E. W. Rumberger recently purchased a piano from Mr. Calvin Zeitler, of Spring Mills.

Mr. Mitchell Weaver and wife were entertained at the home of Mr. John Gentile, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Rumberger, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Roller, left for Philadelphia on Saturday morning.

A car of wheat was loaded at this place on Friday by Mr. John Hoy Jr., of this place, and Mr. John Beck, of Snyderstown.

Among the sick of the community are Fred Yeocum, Mrs. John Hoy, Glen Weaver, Ward Markle, and Iantha Deitrich.

Messrs. Harris and Ohl, of Nittany, and Messrs. Stine and Stover, of Zion, passed through this place on Sunday afternoon.

Calvin Hoy and Edna Decker, who attended the ministrals at Bellefonte on Friday night, report having had a nice time.

Services in the Reformed church on Sunday morning at ten o'clock. Also a special service on Wednesday evening, Jan. 11th.

Mr. Elias Markle departed on Monday morning for Cornwall, where he will spend some time with his daughter, Mrs. A. P. Weaver.

Mrs. Julia Carner has gone to Pittsburg to spend a short time. During her absence, Mrs. Rebecca Zimmerman is visiting her sister, Mrs. Katharine McEwen.

The Christmas service held in the Reformed church of this place, on Christmas night, was a success. A dialogue entitled "The Morning Star," rendered by eighteen boys and girls, was a special feature of the service.

Those who spent the holiday season with friends and relatives in this place were: Arthur Kessinger, Lulu Matson, Paul Carner, all of Pittsain; Mrs. Harpster and family, of Bellefonte; Prof. A. P. Weaver and wife of Cornwall, Lebanon county; Mr. Harry Yearick, of Bellefonte; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Roller, of Ohio.

HUBLESBURG, No. 2.

Yesterday like summer—today real winter—makes people stay in doors and shiver.

Mrs. Jerry Fasig, from Osceola Mills, Pa., is at present visiting at the home of D. M. Whitman.

D. M. Whitman and daughter, Nora, returned on Monday evening from their Xmas trip. They had a fine time seeing part of the new capitol building at Harrisburg, which is a grand structure.

The McNit Bros. & Co. are now near the town taking timber off the old ridge for the purpose of making staves, ties, props for coal mines and telephone poles. They are doing quite a business in this line.

"We thought the dry spell was broken, but this does not look like it, if we are to have a freeze up again. But this may bring about the real work on the wind pump over the old Vonada well to supply this place with water. And then the development of the iron ore in the valley would boom the old town."

Spring Mills.

Considerable ice is being stored here just now, and it could hardly be of a better quality. It is about as solid as flint and clear as crystal.

The Odd Fellows here will hold their annual banquet on Saturday evening next. This lodge has become quite a large one, and among its members are some of our most prominent and influential citizens.

The sleighing here last week was rather well attended. The horses could not fulfill their promises and were obliged to postpone their oyster suppers 'til a little later—what a disappointment. But we will have plenty of sleighing before the winter is over.

Among the many very useful and handsome presents distributed in this neighborhood on Christmas day was a very elegant Upright 71 octave mahogany piano, one of Kroeger's highest grade, presented by Mr. John Smith to his daughter, Miss Mary Wells and sing very charmingly, and is quite an artist on that instrument.

John Smith & Bro., furniture dealers, last week dressed their team of high spirited horses with a splendid set of harness, solid nickel mountings, elegantly chased, bought of James Schofield, of Bellefonte, and costing $180. The harness made are in the best possible manner, beautifully finished and are without exception, the finest set of double harness in the Valley.

It was reported here that on Saturday night last, a gentleman from Centre Hall, while crossing Penna creek over the lower iron bridge, was struck and seriously injured by some one, who afterwards suddenly disappeared in the darkness. The reason for the assault could not be learned, neither could the extent of the injuries nor any of the particulars be traced to any very reliable source.

The holidays here passed off about as usual. The church entertainments were all well attended, the singing and music excellent, and the little people delivered their addresses very satisfactorily. Of course, all the children received a box of candy. Turkeys here suffered only to a limited extent on Christmas and New Year's day, they were too scarce and high in price this year, so a majority of our people fell back on chicken, or substituted the old English dish of roast beef and plum pudding. On Saturday last the New Year "shooters"—a trifle previous 'tis true—paraded the streets in all their glory, and in all sorts of ridiculous costumes, creating considerable fun and merriment. Centre Hall was tolerably well represented in the aggregation. All our merchants report a very satisfactory business during the holidays.

Lemont.

The students returned to State College Tuesday.

Monday brought us rain and Tuesday snow, and plenty of it.

Rev. Chas. W. Wasson enjoyed a few days with his aged mother this last week.

J. Harvey Shuey spent Christmas in Sunbury and reports a very pleasant time.

One of Uncle Sam's postoffice inspectors spent a few hours in town last Thursday.

The red letter-day with the Granger's was Saturday, when they enjoyed a banquet consisting of all the best that the season can afford.

The teachers of College township completed their fourth month this week, and all report attendance good.

The United Brethren of Houserville have installed a large furnace in their church, which will keep the building good and warm.

The following former residents of this burg who are seeking their fortunes in other places, enjoyed the pleasure of returning to town for the holidays, viz: Mrs. Dr. Mary Shaffer and daughter, Altoona; Mrs. Edward Lingle and children, Pittsain; E. W. Evey and family, Philipsburg; Oscar Grove, Myerstown; Frank S. Williams, Tottenville, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. James Longwell, Philipsburg; William Coble, Tyrone; Emma Burns, Oscar Williams, W. E. Williams, John I. Williams, L. T. Roan, all of Altoona; Dr. David Dale, and Mr. L. S. Bottorf and family, Crowsville; H. H. Long, Philadelphia; W. Sortman, Maryland; Miss Miriam Dreese, Lock Haven; Griffith Yarnell, Klondyke, Alaska.

—If Port Arthur is as badly wrecked as they say, it is the Japs won't find it such a pleasant asylum after all.

—The Governor's message has been sent broad-cast over the State in pamphlet form. It is interleaved with blank white sheets, presumably for the happy Pennsylvanians to deposit their individual artistic skill in sketches of parrots, asses, bugs and ancestral hoots as proper illustrations for the edition.

WANTED—FRESH EGGS.—Will pay 24 cents for all fresh eggs delivered to any of our plants or stations. See us before you sell your turkeys.
