"Mobiles" are becoming quite common. Every day or two they can be seen on the pike running with considerable speed—greater than is really necessary.

The festival to be given by the ladies of the Methodist church here on the 4th inst., was unavoidably postponed until next Saturday evening, 15th inst. Everybody cordially invited.

Mrs. Jerry Condo has just had erected a very massive and handsome granite monument over her husband's grave. The stone is of a light color and beautifully finished. The work of Mayes & Sons, of Lemont.

Fourth of July was celebrated here with more fireworks, noise and racket than usual. The heavy explosion of dynamite and cannon crackers was incessant, and reminded the few old veterans we still have with us of the days of grim visaged war. All the stores and quite a number of private residences were handsomely decorated with flags and the national colors.

Adam Finkle has moved his mill to the timber tract he recently purchased from the Evans estate and is now converting it into lumber. This tract contains several giant trees, last week one was cut measuring at the stump one inch less than six feet in diameter and making logs one hundred and forty-seven feet in length. Monsters like this are not found very often in timber tracts in these valleys. Mr. Finkle is a heavy operator in lumber and employs a large force of workmen.

A quarrel occurred at the toll gate below the village last week, which caused considerable excitement in the neighborhood at the time. Wm. Hettinger who keeps the gate is charged by his brother-in-law, A. L. Duck, with a cowardly and unprovoked attack on him with a heavy iron pin while riding peaceably through the gate on his bicycle and inflicting several very serious wounds on his head. Hettinger was arrested and held in $300 bail to appear at court by magistrate Musser, of Millheim. Robert Hettinger becoming his security.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

KIPLING'S NEW STORY.—Rudyard Kipling has not been of late a frequent contributor to magazines. The August Century will contain a story by him, a tale of Americans in England called "An Habitation Enforced."

The story is said to be an unusually long one for Mr. Kipling, so long that the Century editors were minded at first to print it in two numbers, but it was decided to let it all appear in the Mid-summer Holiday issue.

A BRIGHT BOY.—That is what you would say of a lad 10 years old who could speak Spanish, Italian, German and French. It is possible for your boy or girl to do that in a short time and not cost a penny. The Pittsburgh Daily Dispatch is publishing a series of language lessons which have been made sufficiently simple to enable a child 10 years of age, as well as grown persons, to acquire a conversational knowledge of the various languages in 30 days. It is a great opportunity for every person to learn. Ask the newsdealer to deliver The Dispatch to you regularly and take advantage of the Free Lessons in Languages.

Hiding Their Spears.
An explorer in the backwoods of Australia tells how some timber cutters took big risks. "I had given instructions to the men in the bush that on no account were they to lay aside their firearms," he says. "After having been absent for a short time I returned and found that they had slung their revolvers and carbines on a small tree and were working at about fifty yards from them. I can tell you they heard of it. The natives have a playful habit of dragging their spears through the grass with their toes and all the while looking as innocent as it is possible for them to look. If the natives had only thought of it they might have given the cutters a warm time."

Nausea and Egg Skin.
In cases of violent nausea when all other remedies have failed the skin of a perfectly fresh egg is an almost immediate relief. If the first skin does not have the desired effect two more will cause a cessation without fail. This has been tried successfully in cases of cholera under the eye of a physician who acknowledged he had tried every known remedy in the pharmacopoeia. The egg skin is said to form a new coating temporarily for the stomach. The skin of an egg is the part that clings tightly to the inside of the shell. It can be given with milk or water and should be rolled up into as small a dose as possible.
