WILL PURGE VOTING LISTS Political Parties in Philadelphia to Look Up Bogus Names. Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—The regular Republican organization took steps looking to the purging of assessors' lists of alleged bogus names. Mayor Weaver in his crusade for good municipal government recently ordered a thorough canvass of the city to determine accurately the number of voters in each precinct. The canvass was conducted by the police and other city employes, under the direction of the department of public safety, and at its conclusion Director Potter, of the department, announced that 60,000 fictitious names had been discovered on the assessors' lists. This charge has been denied by the organization leaders, who admit that fraud might have been practiced in a few precincts, but declare there never has been any wholesale padidng of the lists.

In order to refute if possible the charges the Republican city committee at a meeting adopted resolutions providing for a careful house to house canvass. The various ward committees met and the members were informed of the city committee's action. They were instructed to canvass their wards and precincts thoroughly and to assist the representatives of the City Party, a reform organization, in their canvass of voters. Chairman Donnelly, of the Democratic city committee, issued a call for a meeting of the committee to be held Friday, when a similar canvass will be ordered.

LOUDENSLAGER WORSE

New Jersey Congressman Has Relapse and Condition Is Critical.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 22.-Congressman H. C. Loudenslager, of the First New Jersey district, is in a critical condition at his home in Paulsboro. Mr. Loudenslager was taken ill about a week ago with kidney and stomach trouble, but last Saturday he showed signs of improvement. Yesterday he suffered a relapse, and his physicians state that he is dangerously ill. No one is allowed to see him. Congressman Loudenslager is 53 years old.

Died in a Cell. Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 22.-Frank Hunt, aged 40 years, who said that his home was in Reading, Pa., died in a cell at the police station. Hunt's death was due to alcoholism.

Committee Wants Correct Names of Cen tre County Soldiers.

Bates, in his History of the Pennsyl vania Volunteers, states that the 161st Regiment of the line (16th Cavalry) commanded by Col. J. Irvin Gregg, of Centre county, was recruited in part in Centre county. No soldiers from that regiment have so far been found. Are there any surviving members of it in this county or are there any friends of deceased member, who can give the names of men from Centre county who enlisted in that regiment? So far the compilers of the names for the monument have not been able to find any.

It is important that the names of any men from this county who were in that regiment should be furnished immediately either to Gen. Curtin or 'Squire Mus-

WILLIAMS FAMILY REUNION. - Had the weather man made things to order he could not have arranged things for a more pleasant day for the big family reunion, in John Q. Miles' grove, in Huston township, than that of last Saturday. The sun shone brightly from early morn 'til night and yet it was not too hot to prevent all present from having a most enjoyable day. And the gathering this year was quite a large one, the crowd being estimated at over two thousand people. They came on every train and by vehicles from all that country round about. The Forest City band, of Scotia, was present during the day and furnished delightful music.

The gathering was called to order at 11 o'clock by W. S. Williams, president of the association, who in a brief speech told of these annual reunions and expressed gratification at seeing so many present on this, their sixth annual gathering. After prayer by Rev. A. C. Lathrop and the singing of "Blest be the Tie that Binds" by a chorus led by Miss Lola Williams. the address of welcome was delivered by Gordon Williams and then adjournment was made for dinner. This, of course, was one of the important functions of the day but so elaborate were the preparations and so full the baskets that no one had

At the Afternoon's meeting addresses were made by ex-Judge John G. Love, J. I. L. Hare, of Flemington; Clement Dale Esq., and Rev. A. C. Lathrop, while appropriate recitations were delivered by Misses Mable Gates, Lydia Miles and Nannie Hoover.

Among the amusements of the day were two games of base ball, the first between the Buffalo Run and Port Matilda nines. the former winning by the score of 14 to 3. The second game was between a pick-up team and Scotia nine, the latter winning by the score of 9 to 8. All in all the day was an exceptionally pleasant one for all present.

NEXT WEEK'S HOMICIDE TRIAL. -The regular term of quarter sessions court will be held next week and while there is quite Virginia infantry. The funeral took place a large list of cases on the docket for trial there is perhaps only one of those to be tried to which any special interest attaches and that is the homicide case against Chas. and Howard Stewart and Winfield Gregg, charged with being implicated in the death of Michael McHugh, at Osceola, on the night of April 11th.

The particulars of the case are not very complicated. The dead body of McHugh was found in the Moshannon creek on the morning of April 12th, and at the time it drowned. Later evidence came to light vive, as follows: Ada W., Mrs. Mary drinking, and that they were heard to quarrel. What followed the quarrel has not yet been brought to light but the prosecution claims to have sufficient evidence to bring about a conviction, if not of murder, at least in one of the lesser degrees. Already a large number of witnesses have been subpœnaed in the interest of the Commonwealth and last week the court issued a compulsory process to enable the defense to summon whatever witnesses they deem it necessary to have present in the interest of the defendants.

The prosecutor in the case is the dead man's son, Barney McHugh. For the Commonwealth District Attorney W. G. Runkle will be assisted by James Gleason Esq., of Clearfield, Ex-Judge John G. Love is attorney for the prisoners and will conduct the defense single-handed and BLOOM. - A fter many weary months uffering Wm. Harris Bloom died, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, at his well known home at Bloomsdorf. Death was caused by kidney trouble and dropsy. Deceased was one of the best known men in Pennsvalley, a very successful farmer and stock raiser. Because of his ever genial and pleasant nature he had hosts of friends and his home was always a place of sunshine, in which friend and stranger alike were made most welcome. He was a man of progressive ideas, always interested in every advanced movement. Is was largely through his efforts that the Bellefonte Central railroad was completed through to Pine Grove Mills.

He was born fifty-five years ago, on August 7th, in the very home he lived most all his life and where he died. He was united in marriage with Miss Sarah Carter who, with the following children survive: Mrs. Oscar Heckman, Mrs. E. E. Royer, Oliver and Henry Bloom, all of whom live in Ferguson township; and Bessie, Lizzie and Maggie at home. Adam Bloom, of Lock Haven, is a surviving brother and Mrs. Amelia Frantz and Mrs. W. H. Smith

He was a charter member of Spring Mills grange in which he was a past master. He was a consistent member of the Lutheran church. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Rev. C. T. Aiken officiated at the services and interment was made in the Pine Hall cemetery.

JACKSON. -- Moses Jackson, perhaps the oldest colored resident of Bellefonte, was found dead in bed at his home on east High street, Sunday morning. He was past eighty years of age and, though he had been quite feeble for some time past did not complain of being sick when he retired Saturday night. Deceased was born in Virginia and during the Civil war served as a private in Company D, 24th regiment from the house at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, interment in the Union cemetery. AND LINE IN RUMBERGER-Mrs. Caroline Rumberger, widow of the late D. S. Rumberger, died at her home in Philipsburg, Wednesday evening of last week, of pleurisy, after an illness lasting since June first. Deceased, whose maiden name was Homan, was a native of Centre county and was born Feb. 18th, 1849. She was married to D. S. was supposed he had fallen in and was Rumberger in 1866. Five children surwhich showed that the four men had spent Burchfield, Elbie, Katharine and Guss T. the most of the night previous in a cabin. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

RHEN-Oliver D. Rhen, of Williamsport, better known to residents of this place as the husband of Miss Mattie Morrison, died in the Williamsport hospital, on Monday, of paralysis. His fatal illness was the direct result of a sixteen inning base ball game between Williamsport and Johnstown. Mr. Rhen was a spectator occupying a seat on the bleachers at the game. He became greatly excited during the contest and this, together with the hot sun, brought on a paralytic stroke. The many friends of Mrs. Rhen here sympathize with her in her great loss.

-Mrs. Andrew Sommerville, of Manson, died in a private sanitorium at Denver, Col., where she was undergoing treatment for consumption. WALLACE'S BRICK PLANT .- On Saturday the writer accompanied Robt. F. Hunter in a little trip around in his fourcy linder Franklin and one of the places visited was the brick-making plant of Mr. Frank Wallace, at Milesburg. And it must be confessed that we were exceedingly, though agreeably, surprised at what we saw a well as the magnitude of the plant. Through the kindness of Mr. Wallace we were shown through the place from start to finish and it must be admitted that he has one of the country today; and a great many of the most he was taken in charge by the family of modern details entering into its construc-Wm. As the clay comes out it is fed onto the cutting machine and when that is filled one throw of a huge lever back and forth and ten nicely moulded and out bricks are ready to take away while the cutting machine is being rapidly filled again. This machine has a capacity of 45,000 bricks a day though up to this time it has only been run at a capacity of 20,000.

From the cutting machine the green brick are placed on iron cars standing on a two foot railroad right by. These cars have a capacity of from 500 to 600 brick 8 each. As soon as filled they are transferred from one railroad track onto another and run right into the drying oven. This is a huge brick affair 24x85 feet in size with a capacity of 50,000 brick, so modernized and arranged by the Wallaces ideas alone that in it the brick can be dried and ready for the kilns in twenty-four hours. When dried the brick on the cars are pushed out at the other end of the dry ing oven onto transfer tracks by means of which they are run right into the baking kilns to the very spot of unloading, so that from the time the brick are piled on the cars at the cutting machine they are not touched by the hand until they are unloaded and stacked up in the kilns. The kilns are of the same modern design used at all fire brick plants, with some improvements made by Mr. Wallace.

At the present time they have four bak ng kilne, of 50,000 capacity each in operation, and have now begun the erection of battery of four more, so that when these are completed the capacity of the plant will be just double its present output. The brick when put in the kilus are a grayish white in color and when baked, cooled and taken out ready for market are the natural red brick color. It takes about eight days to properly bake a kiln of fifty

Mr. Wallace purchased the ground and established his plant at the present site in nously ever since, making quite a number million of brick he has not been able to supply the demand and his present stock on hand is very low. His clay beds are among the best in this part of the State and contain an almost inexhaustible supply. At present Mr. Wallace employs from twenty to twenty-five hands and they are never troubled with any strikes or shut-downs.
