BELLEFONTE ACADEMY OPENING. - The Bellefonte Academy opened for the ensuing term on Tuesday under the most auspicious circumstances of any year in the history of the institution. There are in attendance this year from forty to fifty boarding students, one-third more than last year's big attendance, so that every available space for dormitory use is occupied. The list of day students is also large, making the aggregate attendance a banner one for the Academy.

With the new building, the beautified curroundings, the largely increased corps of instructors and the much larger enrollment of pupils the Academy, under the very able management of Mr. Jas R. Hughes has grown to be an institution that is not only proving an important factor in the educational world but one of which Bellefonte has every reason to feel proud.

Fair Headquarters Opened

These who have thought the great Centre County Fair wouldn't amount to much this fall are beginning to change their minds in the face of the unusual preparations in progress for the event. Heretofore there has always been considerable annoyance to would-be exhibitors by reason of the fact that there was no regular place for them to get needful information. On Monday the large store room on Spring street, next door to James Schofield's saddlery, was opened as headquarters with Mr. L. A. Schaeffer in charge. He will be to exhibit and furnish all the information and help at his command. The public, generally, is invited to call at the headquarters and give any information they may have that will be helpful to the interest of the fair.

A number of exhibits have already been entered and chief among them is one that will be made by L. H. Musser, the implement dealer. He has engaged a space 100x60 and his firms will make such an exhibit of a farm machinery, gasolene engines, etc., all in operation, as has never been seen in Centre county. For this purpose two car loads of the latest improved machines will be shipped direct from the factory for the exhibit. Farmers have always complained that the implement feature has never been complete enough. This year they will have no cause for such comment.

On Monday a force of carpenters and decorators went to work on the buildings and fences so that within another week the grounds will be in the finest condition possible.

A lively interest is being aroused in the competitive township exhibit, which promises to he one of the features of the fair. If your favorite school doesn't get the organ or the charts or the Standard dictionary that are offered as prizes you will be partially responsible for not doing your part. SPRAY.
