FARM NOTES.

-Poultry houses should face to the south, if possible. Be careful about this when you build your houses, for sunshine has a commercial value, and the pens should, have a good supply; of this, espec-

-A man can raise more corn on 20 acres if it is thoroughly manured, carefully plowed and kept free from weeds than he can on 40 acres, with only the same amount of manure and time to give to it that he could give to his 20 acres.

-Sheep manure is extremely rich nitrogen, and this is affirmed by many. It is claimed by English farmers that 100 sheep pastured for 15 days on one acre of land will manure it sufficiently to give a four years' rotation of crops.

—One of the great reforms needed is that of curing the evil of selling young calves when only a few days old. They are unfit for food, diminish the supply of cows and steers, while the milk in its first stages is ropy and unfit to drink.

-Experience has taught that barnyard manure is sometimes injurious when applied in a fresh, unfermented condition, proving more effective when well rotted and carefully harrowed in, so as to be in-corporated with the soil near the sur-

—When a cow is giving a pound of but-ter a day she is subjecting her nervous system to a very severe strain, for she gives pesides that an equal portion of almost solid protein or nitrogen in the form of casein, and she has had to extract it with a very strong exercise of nervous force.

-The use of pure-bred cattle has greatly increased the interest in farming. Farmers who care but little for their scrub cattle find more pleasure in raising pure breeds. With the advent of good stock on the farm comes greater interest in farming, a greater diversity of crops and better cul-

-Corn at nearly all stages of growth may be used as ensilage. The ears should be glazed, at which period the corn may be cut, as it will then be more nutritious and contain less water than if out in a green condition. It will pay not to cut too soon, so as to have the ensilage of the highest —In the process of dressing hogs for English bacon their bair is removed by be-ing singed, instead of being scalded off, therefore the animal must not be too fat and chucky. Hogs suitable for making the singed bacon, for which there is a growing demand, are a cross with the pure Berkshire and Tamworth breeds.

—Some farmers never eat celery, salsify, okra, cauliflower or egg plant. It is as serious as a shoemaker going without shoes. A farmer should enjoy every luxury that can be had on the farm. If he lives on pork and potatoes it is his fault. There are more enjoyments on the farm than elsewhere if the farmer will only decide to others at German Experiment Stations grain 20 to 25 pounds were usually eaten by working horses of that weight. Lighter horses would not need so much, but no data can be found of experiments with horses weighing less than 1000 pounds.

-Peat, as dug from the swamp, owing glycerine of st srch. to its acid and antiseptic qualities, is frequently injurious to land. Soda ash, 20 pounds to the cord of peat (as dug out), with a rotary movement upward will neutralize the acid, cause the peat to heat and ferment, generate ammonia, putheat ammonia, putheat and ferment ammonia, putheat a ting peat in the same condition as compost, equaling it in quality cord for cord, and will not cost as much, with no limit to the supply to be obtained.

-It is a fact that in many of the towns where farmers have a market for cattle the butchers buy there beef or cattle from large cities, many of their customers being farmers. It should be easier to raise the beef nearer home than to send a distance for cat-tle and pay freight charges. It is not creditable that farmers do not supply their grow faster and keep in better condition than the other. More than this, it will probably be 75 pounds heavier at killing time, which should amply repay for the labor performed.

-The plum curculio infests the fruit of the peach as well. The crescent-shaped mark of this insect upon the plums is well known. The curculio is single-brooded and hibernates in the beetle state. It appears upon the trees in early spring and feeds upon the tender bark, buds and leaves until the fruit is set. As soon as the fruit begins to form it feeds upon the fruit and deposits its eggs underneath the skin. The larva feeds within the peach, emerging and entering the soil just before transforming to the pupa state.

-Timothy grass makes growth after cutting, especially when cut late. The hot sun striking the ground bakes it and dries up the roots, which in timothy are mostly near the surface. A mulch of anything spread at such time is better than if given late in the fall, in winter or in spring. There is no appreciable loss in spreading manure on timothy sod in late summer. It is dried up by the sun, but in its dry state there is no fermentation and no ammonia to be given off. When fall rains come the manure is dashed down into the soil, where it is most needed.

—It may be properly claimed that the rich milking breeds have been made by rich rich milking breeds have been made by rich feeding. This is partially true, though probably wise selection had more to do with it. It has required a great many years of good feeding, wise selection and careful keeping to make these breeds, and no man will wisely start out to create a breed in his day, even though he had some the probability of the right direction to the probability of the right direction to the probability of the right direction to the probability of the probability offspring. The man who thinks he can take a native cow and feed her into the capacity to produce Jersey milk is mistaken. Long years of work in this direction may accomplish something, but the chances are that labor will be lost.

All tolowing lotion has been most successful in stubborn cases of falling hair. Tincture of nux vomica, 1 ounce; spirits of rosemary, 2 ounces; alcohol, 2 ounces. Apply several times a week to the roots of the hair.

FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN.

The following hints on how to rectify pertain of our blemishes are from Mrs. Lynres, the well-known authority on this subject :

For Blackheads and Pimples-The woman who is troubled with blackheads and pimples should abstain from all rich foodpork in every form, hot breads and sweets.

She should drink neither coffee nor tea and hard practice earlier than usual. live as much as possible on fresh or stewed fruit and green vegetables. She should take a daily bath and a great deal of outdoor exercise if possible.

How to Use the Camel's-Hair Face Scrubbing Brush—Immerse the brush in water as hot as can be pleasantly borne. Soap it well, just as you would if you were about to use it for your hands. Scrub the face thoroughly, taking especial care of the places that most require cleansing. Rinse the face with cooler clean water, so as to get all the soap out of the pores. Dry carefully and apply a cream or toilet balsam; any good emolient will answer.

Lotion for Inflamed Skin .- Boracic acid, dram: distilled witch hazel, 2 ounces rosewater, 2 ounces. Use as a wash two or three times a day.

the removal of pimples, may be also used for blackbeads.

Pores too Large—Try the following lo-tion on your face and at the same time abstain from spicy stimulating, greasy foods and sweets :

Astringent Lotion-Dried rose leaves, 1 ounce; white wine vinegar, ½ pint; rose-water, ½ pint. Pour the vinegar on the rose leaves and let them stand for one week, then strain and add the rosewater, throwing the rose leaves away. The lotion may be used either pure or diluted by putting a tablespoonful into a cupful of rosewater. Do not keep in a metal vessel.

Dr. Shoemaker's Bleach-For tan, freckles and yellow discolorations of the skin. Bychloride of mercury in coarse powder, 8 grains; distilled witch bazel, 2 ounces; osewater, 2 ounces.

Agitate until solution is obtained. Mop over the affected parts. Keep out of the way of ignorant persons and children.

Whitening Paste for Freckles and Brown Spots—Salicylic acid, 60 grains; bay rum, 4 cunces. Apply night and morning with a soft cloth or sponge. This lotion soon produces a slight roughness of the skin, which should be subdued by the use of

To Make Cosmetic Gloves-Use soft, large leather gloves, three or four sizes too large. Rip them open and spread the inside with one of the following preparations, then sew the ripped seam up. The simplest, and therefore the least troublesome, paste to make is this:

Cosmetic Glove Paste. Ground barley, the white of an egg, a teaspoonful of gly-cerine and one ounce of honey.

Cosmetic Glove Paste-No. 2-Homemade soft soap, ½ pound; olive oil, 1 gill; mutton tallow, 1 ounce. After boiling these together remove them from the fire before adding: Spirits of wine, 1 gill; ambergris or some other perfume to an amount to suit the taste, always being on your guard not to scent things too highly.

To Stop Hair from Falling-You must first get rid of the dandruff, and I advise you to use the lotion for which I am giving you formula until it has entirely disappeared; then treat with the quinine tonic, which will promote the growth of your hair.

To Remove Dandruff—Tinoture of can-tharides, 1 ounce; liquid of ammonia, 1 drain; glycerine, ½ ounce; oil of thyme, ½ dram. Mix all together with six ounces of rosewater. Rub the scalp thoroughly with this preparation until no further evidence We'd be a better people if more of us had a standard of our own to live up to, rather than being chiefly concerned about what others think of us.

It is well to look out for the person who is too kind and too accommodating.

Coquettes might well be reminded that even one earnest worker in the field of love can give them all the trouble they'll need. Some complaints are legitimate, but the person who continuously complains has no right to expect that which might have resulted from continuous labor. A good part of the time one envies the surface worms. The other part one is grateful for being a grub and having less op-portunity to display one's lack of capacity.

Brought to Time.

"I'd like to ask you in to have something," said the young man as they passed an ice cream parlor, "only I belong to an anti-treat society."

"Stick to principle by all means," the young lady responded, cheerfully. "I can appreciate your position. I myself belong to an anti-kissing society." Cream in suitable quantities was being ordered a moment later.

Mitton's Coming Fair.

The fall meeting of the Milton fair asso ciation will be held on the society's grounds at Milton, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 4th, 5th and 6th The management has completed every arrangement for a most interesting and entertaining exhibition. In addition to the fine displays that characterize a well conducted and successful agricultural fair, there will be band concerts each day. There will be two distinct attractions every day, each giving several performances. To Remove Wrinkles—Massage with a good face cream, using the tips of the fingers celebrated horse show, with the world regently, with a rotary movement upward nowned mule comedian, and Prof. Hampful aggregation. There will be three races every day, and the outlook is that we will have some very fast stock in the entries. The Milton fair has no gamblers, it tolerates nothing immoral on the grounds, and does its best to protect its patrons in every way. Everybody goes to the Milton fair you meet everybody there. Remember the dates—October 4th, 5th and 6th. The railroads will run special trains with a low rate for the round trip.

How Icelanders Tie Horses

The Icelanders have a strange but effective plan for preventing horses straying from any particular spot. If two gentlemen happen to be riding without at-tendants and wish to leave their horses for any reason they tie the head of one horse to the tail of the former. In this state it is utterly impossible for the horses to move on, either backward or forward. If disposed to move at all it will be only in a circle, and even then there must be mutual agreement to turn their heads the same
