THE PENNSYLVANIA

STATE COLLEGE

OFFERS EXCEPTIONAL ADVANTAGES.

TUITION IS FREE IN ALL COURSES.

MAKING EFFECT IN SEPT. 1900, the General Courses have been extensively modified, so as to furnish a much more varied range of electives, after the Freshman year, than heretofore, including History; the English, French, German, Spanish, Latin and Greek Languages and Literatures; Psychology, Ethics, Pedagogics, and Political Science. These courses are especially adapted to the wants of those who seek either the most thorough training for the Profession of Teaching, or a general College Education.

The courses in Chemistry, Civil, Electrical, Mechanical and Mining Engineering are among the very best in the United States. Graduates have no difficulty in securing and holding positions.

YOUNG WOMEN are admitted to all courses on the same terms as Young Men.

THE FALL SESSION opens September 19th, 1901.

For specimen examination papers or for catalogue giving full information respecting courses of study, expenses, etc., and showing positions held by graduates, address

GRANGERS FAVOR TEMPERANCE

"Every Community Should Be Empowered to Vote Saloon From Its Midst."

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 21.—The National Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, went on record in favor of temperance and the curtailing of saloons, declaring "that they should be abridged until they are abolished." A resolution says: "Every community should be empowered by law to vote every saloon from its midst or its borders." The grange strongly condemned all influences brought to win legislation by lobbyists or others, and deplored the use of money in campaigns. "The recent agitation," says a resolution, "and investigations in regard to extravagance in the management of our great financial institutions, the exposure of graft in high places and the enormous power exercised by great transportation companies through combined arrangements have aroused the people to a realization of the necessities of vigorous action if they would protect themselves against the inordinate desires of wealth."

Among other resolutions adopted during the day was one strongly urging congress to enact a law to prohibit the making of cigarette papers, as well as cigarettes. The grangers endorsed the establishment of country high schools by a combination of district schools.

accident. A lifeboat was picked up empty at St. Cast, where 13 bodies were washed ashore. The top of the Hilda's funnel and her mast are visible at low tide, according to the telegram from St. Servan.

The disaster was first suspected through the washing ashore of a body, and the port authorities immediately sent out a tug. It was then learned that the Hilda was wrecked on a treacherous reef close to the Island of Cezebre, called Les Portes. She had apparently struck, broken her back and immediately sunk, leaving no time to launch the boats. The Jardin light is quite close to the spot. It cannot be explained as yet at what time or how the disaster occurred. The entrance to St. Malo is dangerous, the currents and rocks needing the exercise of considerable caution at all times, but more especially in bad weather.

Many bodies have been washed ashore at different points, some wearing life belts. Six of the survivors, according to a report in circulation here, were rescued by the Ada from the rigging.

[The Hilda was built at Glasgow in 1882, and registered 845 tons. She was a screw steamer, of iron construction, and was 235 feet in length.]

A $1,614,000 BLAZE

Warehouse Containing 810,000 Gallons of Whiskey Burned.

Connellsville, Pa., Nov. 20.—At the A. Overholt distillery at Broadford, 810,000 gallons of whiskey furnished a spectacular fire, entailing a loss of $1,614,000. The main bonded warehouse was burned to the ground. A steady northeast wind, which blew the flames toward the Youghiogheny river, saved the town of Broadford, the buildings of the H. C. Frick Coke company and the B. & O. station from destruction. Smoke was first seen issuing from the third-story of the building, which was alongside the B. & O. tracks. Joseph McDonald and George Patckin, employees of the company, climbed up the fire escape and opened one of the small iron doors. They were caught in a suffocating cloud of smoke, which suffocated them, and they dropped unconscious on the fire escape. They were rescued by other workmen and a general alarm was sounded. The blue-tinted flames from the burning alcohol were soon shooting more than 100 feet into the air. As barrels of old rye whiskey on each of the four floors burst, the blazing liquid was splashed in all directions.

It is supposed that the fire started either from spontaneous combustion or from a spark thrown by a passing locomotive down one of the air shafts. The A. Overholt company is one of the largest manufacturers of whiskey in the world.

BURIED IN 40 FEET INGOT

Odd Funeral of Workmen Who Were Overwhelmed in Molten Steel.

Philadelphia, Nov. 20.—A funeral without a parallel in this city took place at the Midvale Steel works, where a 40-ton ingot of steel, permeated with the flesh and bones of two workmen, was buried with the solemn rites of the Roman Catholic church. The workmen who were so strangely laid away were John Forkin and Joseph Gazda, two foreign-speaking laborers, who met a horrible death a week ago. They were in a pit near a cupola containing many tons of molten steel. A plug gave way and 80,000 pounds of the fiery fluid poured from the cupola and overwhelmed them. The men were completely incinerated and not a trace of themselves nor their clothing was left.

The Midvale Steel company was averse to selling the steel or using it for the purpose it was intended, and it was decided to bury it with the rites of the church to which the unfortunate men belonged. Accordingly the 40-ton ingot, oval in shape, 28 feet long, 6 feet wide and 5 feet thick, was moved by a travelling crane to the rear of the machine shop, where a grave 10 feet deep had been made.

A great crowd sought admission to the works, but only the two sisters of Gazda, who depended upon him for support, and about 100 workmen who were on Sunday duty, were permitted to attend the services, along with the officials of the company. Forkin had no relations in this country. All heads were bared and flags were lowered to half staff while two priests conducted the services. After the sisters of Gazda had been led away the great ingot was covered with earth and the funeral party dispersed. The grave of the men will be appropriately marked by the company.

Russian Refugees Arrive.

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—Among the 671 passengers who arrived here on the British steamship Marlon from Liverpool and Queenstown were a number of the sailors of the Russian battleship Potemkine, whose crew was in mutiny in the Black Sea last summer. The men were met by friends and taken to New York. About 200 Jews from various parts of Russia were also passengers on the Marlon. Some of them were refugees from cities where outrages against the Jews had been committed.
