

King Christian, of Denmark, Dead.

Copenhagen, Denmark, an. 30. — Christian the Ninth, the aged king of Denmark, dean of the crowned heads of Europe, father of King George, of Greece; of Queen Alexandra, of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the Dowager Empress Maria Feodorovna, of

CHRISTIAN IX OF DENMARK.

Russia; grandfather of King Haakon the Seventh, of Norway, and related by blood or by marriage to most of the European rulers, died with startling suddenness in the Amalienborg palace. The accession of his successor, Prince Frederick, his eldest son, who will be known as Frederick the Eighth, was proclaimed today.

The death of King Christian, who was 88 years old, has plunged half the courts of Europe into the deepest of mourning and brought a grief of great loss as well as sincere grief to every one throughout the kingdom of Denmark, reaching even to the humblest cottage, evidence of which is shown everywhere. It has cast a pall over the palaces of the monarchs of Great Britain, Russia, Norway and Greece.

King Christian appeared to be in his usual health in the morning. After taking breakfast he held a public audience, which it has been his custom to do every Monday morning. The reception was largely attended and his majesty conversed freely and affably with a number of officials and other persons. When the function was over, the king, though appearing to be slightly fatigued, attended luncheon with the members of his family. During the meal his majesty complained of indisposition and was assisted to his bedroom by the dowager empress and Prince Hans. A court physician was summoned, but by the time he arrived the king had collapsed. The physician used prompt restoratives, but his efforts were useless, and King Christian expired, almost without uttering a word, in the arms of the dowager empress and in the presence of the court physician and Prince Hans. The cause of death was heart failure.

Just as the king breathed his last, Crown Prince Frederick entered the room, and the other members of the royal family arrived shortly afterwards.

Premier Christensen tendered the resignation of the cabinet to the new king, who expressed a wish that the present ministry should continue to carry on the affairs of the government.

Christian IX, king of Denmark, was born April 8, 1818, and was the fourth son of the late Duke William of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glücksburg and of Princess Louise of Hesse-Cassel. He was appointed to the succession of the crown of Denmark by the treaty of London of May 8, 1852, and by the Danish law of succession of July 31, 1853. He succeeded to the throne on the death of King Frederick VII, November 15, 1863, and married May 26, 1842, Queen Louise, the daughter of the Landgrave William of Hesse-Cassel. She was born in 1817, and died in 1898.

Prince Frederick, the eldest son of the late King Christian, who succeeds to the throne, was born June 3, 1843, and was married July 28, 1869, to Princess Louisa, daughter of King Charles XV, of Sweden and Norway. Their second son, who married Princess Maud of England, is now king of Norway.

The eldest daughter is Queen Alexandra of England, and his second son, Prince William, was elected king of Greece, under the title of George I, in 1863.

Another daughter of the late King Christian, Marie Dagmar, is the dowager empress of Russia. Maria Feodorovna, who married Alexander III of Russia. He died November 1, 1894, and his son Nicholas is now emperor of Russia.

Princess Thyra, third daughter of King Christian, is Duchess of Cumberland. Her husband claims the throne of Hanover.

Prince Waldemar, the youngest of the children of King Christian, married the Princess Marie of Orleans, eldest daughter of the Duc de Chartres.

Finally a grandson of King Christian, Prince George of Greece, is high commissioner of the powers in Crete. The prince has been mentioned as likely to be betrothed to Princess Victoria of England, daughter of King Edward.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

HOW TO SPEAK GERMAN.—Strange, but nevertheless true, you or anyone else can learn to speak, read and write the German language absolutely in 90 days, in every daily issue of the Pittsburgh Dispatch, a lesson in German will be printed so simple that a child with ordinary education can master the language. Parents who have children not old enough now to study them should cut out the lessons each day and save them. If you save the lessons all your children can learn German. Since the first of last July thousands have learned the Spanish and Italian languages from the simple lessons published in the Dispatch. More people, however, who would have liked to have learned those languages were prevented from doing so by not knowing about them. We hope everyone in this vicinity may read this item, and take advantage of the opportunity. The first lesson will be printed Monday, February 24th. Tell your news agents to leave you the Daily Dispatch regularly and get the benefit of these lessons—only 10 cents by the week.

OF INTEREST TO THE HOUSEWIFE.—In the February Delicacies there is much of household interest. Isabel Gordon Curtis' helpfulness hold serial called "The Progress of a Housewife" touches upon the kitchen and its utensils. Delicious recipes for omelets and cakes and desserts are supplemented by an interesting and instructive article on "Meat and Its Uses," and the pages of Illustrated Cookery are extremely suggestive. Gardening and house furnishing are other topics of particular interest in the home.

It is an old saying that "A tale speeds best being plainly told." The house of W. F. Frederick commenced business in 1881 and has now grown to such proportions that they absolutely control several of the world's leading makes all the way from Washington, D. C., to Cleveland, Ohio, and Parkersburg, W. Va.

Having recently opened a branch store in Williamsport, Pa., and receiving many inquiries from Lock Haven we have decided upon having a local representative here and in order to thoroughly and quickly make ourselves and pianos known to the public, have decided to sell two car loads of pianos here in 6 days' time without considering profit, but loss of all profit is the purchasers' gain, but it will well repay us in the future by having so many satisfied customers.

No such money saving opportunity ever offered itself here before and will not again in many years to come.

The kind of piano you have always been required to pay $250 to $300 for is going in this sale for $117 to $164.
