THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

This is Spring.
—Rev. Ambrose M. Schmidt is recovering from his recent illness.
—Willis Wian and family moved to State College on Wednesday.

—Mrs. J. A. B. Miller is quite ill at her home on East Curtin street.
—Mrs. Frank Kerns is confined to the house with an attack of tonsillitis.

—Though the ground-hog has had his day winter weather is still with us.
—The country schools have only a couple weeks yet until they will close.

—Ex-Judge A. O. Farst, who was quite sick a week ago, is now recovering rapidly.

—Rev. C. C. Bingham, of Runville, will preach in the U. B. church Sunday morning and evening. All are cordially invited.

—James Coburn Musser, nephew of Col. James P. Coburn, of this place, is one of the Edison party now traveling through the South.

—The Lock Haven Y. M. C. A. basketball team defeated the local Y. M. C. A. team, in this place, last Thursday evening, by the score of 32 to 30.

—Don't forget to attend the Round Table conference in Petriken hall this evening and tomorrow. It will not only interest but benefit you.

—Remember the Elwood company benefit for the Undine fire company at Garman's next Thursday night. You'll miss a rare treat if you fail to attend.

—McCalmont & Co's have decided to give up their town office in the Bush Arcade on the first of April and move into the office at their yards near the old glass works site.

—Miss Goldie Cain, who teaches the school at Wingate, brought her scholars on a sled ride to Belleville last Friday afternoon and entertained them at her mother's home.

—The Improved Order of Red Men of this place have leased their floor over the Centre county bank which will be remodeled and fixed up suitable for lodge hall and rooms.

—Misses Lulu Harper and Grace Mitchell chaperoned a party of sixteen young ladies on a sled ride to State College, Tuesday evening, where they were most pleasantly entertained at the S. A. E. house.

—The old lockup is now being used for common drunks and ordinary offenders of the peace of Belleville instead of the jail, where Burgess Walker invariably sends those brought before him to serve out their sentence.

—About ninety dollars were realized at the birthday party given by the Mary Ann Johnston Concert company, at the home of Mrs. Mary Ann Johnston, west Linn street, last Thursday evening. There was lots of music and an abundance of good things to eat.

—A had freight wreck on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad east of Curtin, last Thursday evening, blocked the 8.16 train which lay there for nearly two hours until a train was sent up from Lock Haven and passengers transferred. The wreck was cleared up by Friday morning.

—Sunday Rev. John A. Wood will preach his last sermons in the Methodist church here before going to conference next week and Sunday evening his sermon will be for young men, and especially for students. For this sermon the students of the Belleville Academy will attend in a body and seats will be reserved for them in the front part of the church.

—The plant of the McCoy—Linn Iron company was put in blast on Saturday, March 10th, and is now running along at full capacity with every indication of a good run ahead. There are now but two charcoal furnaces in the county, the Curtin furnace and the McCoy—Linn, and as there is generally a good market for charcoal iron they are kept in blast.

—A Linn McGinley slipped on the ice on his front steps, last Friday morning, and fell striking his right shoulder. No bones were broken but he sustained a wrench and bruises that made him feel very uncomfortable most of the time since. On Sunday evening he slipped on the ice and tore a ligament in his left leg so that he is in a rather badly crippled condition.

—J. C. Bricker, who the past couple years was Frank H. Clenson's right-hand man on his farm up Buffalo Run, has resigned that position and on Monday moved his wife and their belongings to this place, taking up their residence in Mrs. Bricker's house on Bishop street. It was a regular old-fashioned ditting but the pleasure was marred somewhat by the heavy snow storm which prevailed that day.

—We all from the other churches of Belleville congratulate Mrs. Wilkinson and the Episcopal auxiliary in having such a friend as Mr. George Thomas, of Philadelphia, who recognizes even from the suggestion of two small calico birthday bags, the needs of churches in country towns, and responds to the suggestion in such a liberal way as to increase their fund one hundred dollars with his contribution. Every church, however, does not have a Mr. Thomas.

PRESBYTERIANS SELECTED PASTOR.—

After a church campaign that would not have shamed either political party the members of the Belleville Presbyterian church, at a congregational meeting held last Sunday morning, elected Rev. J. A. Platts, of the Central Presbyterian church, Allegheny, as their pastor to succeed Rev. William Laurie, D. D., LL. D. There were seven candidates on the ticket and it was thought the contest had simmered down to between Rev. Platts and Rev. Guy Louis Morrill, but the vote on Sunday showed the latter to have only a very small following. Quite a large congregation was present and 216 votes were cast. These were distributed as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Name and Votes. Platts 129, Morrill 28, Wilkinsons 7.

Thus the summing up showed that Platts had received 129 votes to 27, the total of the other four candidates voted for, hence was declared elected. His salary was fixed at two thousand dollars per year with parsonage free of rent and four weeks vacation every summer.

A meeting of the trustees of the church was held Wednesday evening at which a formal call was prepared and forwarded to Rev. Platts and also a request to the Huntingdon Presbytery for permission to receive him. It will possibly be the first of May or later before Rev. Platts will be officially installed as the resident pastor of the church.

In speaking of his election Monday morning's Pittsburg Times said: Mr. Platts was seriously ill at his home on Hawkins avenue, Allegheny, last night when he was informed that he had been elected pastor of the Belleville church. Since last Tuesday he has been confined to his room with a severe cold and his physicians fear that he is threatened with pneumonia. Mr. Platts said that he would hold the call of the Belleville church under consideration until his health would permit him to make a formal reply to the congregation. He thought, however, that in the event of his receiving the formal call this week he would endeavor to send his answer next week.

Mr. Platts came to the Central church in May, 1903, succeeding Rev. D. M. Skilling, D. D., who for many years was its pastor. The church occupied an edifice at Anderson and Locock streets when Mr. Platts was chosen by the congregation and during his administration the present handsome new Central church was erected at a cost of about $50,000. Mr. Platts is one of the most liked clergymen on the North side and is popular with churchmen of all denominations. It is likely that his flock will try to dissuade him from leaving his present charge.

THE BEE-KEEPERS.—Next Thursday and Friday the Pennsylvania Bee-Keepers association will hold its annual convention at State College and it is expected that a large number of apiarists from all over the State will be present. The first session will be Thursday evening with two sessions on Friday. Among those who will make addresses and give practical talks will be Prof. E. F. Phillips, in charge of agriculture, department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.; E. R. Root, the famous bee-man and editor of Gleanings, Medina, Ohio; E. L. Pratt, the famous queen breeder, Swarthmore, Pa.; R. D. Barclay, scientific apiarist, Haverford, Pa.; L. R. White, of the division of zoology, Harrisburg; Prof. H. A. Surface, Pennsylvania state zoologist, Harrisburg; Rev. D. L. Woods, the secretary, Muncy, and others.

There will be an exhibition of beekeepers' supplies and appliances, different kinds of hives, honey and honey-products, and different races of bees. In the apiary of the President, at State College, there are all races of honey bees kept on the American continent. Manufacturers of supplies or dealers are invited to send material for exhibition, and all room needed for this will be given free of charge. There will be an exhibition of all the modern bee books and of the current American periodicals devoted to bee-keeping. The College will give free rooms for meeting and also for lodging.

ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE.—This evening and tomorrow the Round Table conference of school superintendents and principals for this district will be held in Petriken hall, this place. Teachers, directors, parents and all others who are interested in the cause of education are most cordially invited to attend the conference and take an active part in the discussion of the subjects on the program. The discussions will be entirely informal—no set talks or papers—thus giving every person present an opportunity to take part. Pupils of the public schools will profit by attending the conference.

QUICK WORK.—For some time past the Belleville furnace was not doing as good as it could on account of the accumulation of slag in the stack, which in furnace parlance is called a "scalfold." The furnace was blown out last Thursday, allowed to cool and a gang of men put to work cutting out slag. The "scalfold" was removed, the stack filled and relighted and everything running as usual by Monday morning, an exceptionally quick job which showed the good management of those in charge.

This has been a good week for sledding parties and Tuesday night seems to have taken the banner night as sled loads went out from Belleville in various directions. Among the parties who took advantage of the first real snow of the season was Miss Carrie Weaver, who took her school to Hecla for an evening's outing. Mrs. Grimm and Mrs. Barnhart were the hostesses of a party of fifteen ladies who enjoyed a sled ride to Unionville where they partook of a chicken and waffle supper, and there is hardly any doubt but that the ladies enjoyed their outing as it is one they had been planning for the past two years.

Hammou Sechler was confined to his home several days the past week with the grip.

—After being housed up a week with a bad cold Frank Woerner has recovered sufficiently to be at work again.

—J. Thomas Mitchell has rented the Dr. Ward house on Curtin street and with his wife will move there April first.

—On Wednesday night Dr. H. W. Tate treated all the nurses at the Belleville hospital to a very enjoyable sleigh ride.

—Rev. Dr. Boal, of Centre Hall, will preach in the Reformed church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and at 7.30 o'clock in the evening.

—Announcement has been made of the recent marriage in Allentown of Calvin Eby, of Woodward, and Miss Margaret Mays, formerly of Aaronsburg.

—This afternoon the property of Miss Jane Pearce, at Potter's Mills, will be sold at public sale by Harry L. Hutobinson, of this place, who has charge of her affairs.

—Next Friday evening, March 30th, the Boalsburg High school will present the four act drama, "Uncle Rube," in Boal's hall, for the benefit of the school library.

—Thad Longwell shipped their household goods to Belington, W. Va., yesterday and the family will leave for their new home in that place either today or tomorrow.

—Judge H. M. McClure, of Lewisburg, was in Belleville yesterday and heard argument in the case of the Nittany Valley Railroad company against the Nittany Iron company.

—The friends of Lot H. Neff and Miss Osa Bitner, of Mt. Eagle, have been given a surprise by the announcement that they were married in Elmira, N. Y., on February 20th.

—George Dougherty, of Moshannon, was brought to the Belleville hospital on Monday and on Tuesday was operated on for appendicitis. His condition now is all that could be expected.

—Charles P. Wagner and John Grubb, of this place, decided to try making their fortune in another section of the Union and on Monday left for Marble Rock, Iowa, where they will engage in farming.

—E. R. Jones, of Port Matilda, who for two weeks underwent treatment in the Belleville hospital for rheumatism, was discharged last Friday and went to his home in a very much improved condition.

—Rev. W. H. Koehler, of Mt. Union, preached in the Presbyterian church here Sunday morning and evening; in the morning acting as moderator of the congregational meeting for the election of a new pastor.

—Miss Annie Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Weber, of Howard, is in the German hospital, Philadelphia, sick with typhoid fever. For awhile her life was despaired of, but lately her condition has been quite hopefully improved.

—The thirty-first annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Huntingdon Presbytery will be held in the Presbyterian church at Hollidaysburg, March 28th and 29th. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Orbinson, of this place, will attend and take part in the proceedings.

—Last week Miss Roxanna Brisbin, of Centre Hall, went to Phillipsburg where she visited friends a couple days and Friday evening went to Allport where she instituted the Pink Lodge of Rebekahs, No. 115. The new lodge started with forty charter members and a number more in prospect.

—Berenice Faxon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Faxon, of east High street, was taken to the Belleville hospital, Monday morning, suffering with a bad case of appendicitis. On Tuesday an operation was performed by Dr. Locke assisted by Dr. Kirk and at this writing the patient is getting along as well as can be expected.

—The proprietor of the Millheim knitting factory is now trying to locate another factory in Phillipsburg and a committee of business men of that place composed of G. W. McGaffey, H. M. Walker and Chas. Guelich spent Thursday of last week in Millheim inspecting the factory there. They were favorably impressed with the result of their investigations and a knitting factory in Phillipsburg seems a probability.

—Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Ewing, who went from the western part of the State to Cairo, Egypt, as missionaries forty-six years ago, are now on their way home on a six months leave of absence, and expect to arrive in this country within the next month or so. Before the war of the rebellion Dr. Ewing was a class mate of Gen. James A. Beaver when they both attended Jefferson college. He is also a relative of the Ewings who a number of years ago lived in this county.

—Ernest Woodring was arrested in Tyrone on Wednesday charged with theft. Last fall the young man came from Elk county and went to work for Harry Nearhood, near Centre Line, this county. A couple days ago he suddenly disappeared and with him Nearhood's revolver, some clothing and other articles. When arrested in Tyrone he was wearing Nearhood's overcoat, had the revolver, one hundred harness rings and a suit case full of sundry articles, some of which had been stolen from the barn of G. C. W. Buck. Yesterday Woodring was brought to Port Matilda for a hearing, the theft having been committed in this county, and was bound over for trial at court.

CENTRE COUNTY LIQUOR LICENSES.—

Last Saturday Judge Orvis heard argument for and against the applications for liquor licenses against which remonstrances had been filed and on Tuesday morning handed down his decisions on all applications. Out of forty-eight applications thirty-two were granted outright and four held over for further consideration. In the number granted were three new ones, Andrew Hugg and A. B. Hardy, Phillipsburg, and Frank W. Hess, Sandy Ridge, while in the number refused were two old ones, Tempest Slinger and James Black, in Phillipsburg. All of those held for further consideration are applicants who were granted a license last year. The only place against which a remonstrance was filed where a license was granted on Tuesday was Howard. In handing down his decisions the court made no further rulings or requests.

In the following list those marked with a (*) were refused and those with a (†) held over. All others were granted:

MARCH SNOWS.—

Not for a number of years have we had such deep snows during the month of March as we have had the past two weeks. Not content with the two deep snows of last week the weather man poured down another one on Monday, about eight inches of the beautiful, and it is no exaggeration to say that the snow fall in ten days was over two feet. Of course some of it has melted but there is still a good covering on the ground and this week has witnessed the first good sledding of winter. And the farmers have taken advantage of it to haul as much of their grain and corn to market as they possibly can.

Considerable wind prevailed with Monday's snow and the result was badly drifted roads. After the early trip on Monday morning the Belleville Central railroad was blocked by huge snow drifts between State College and Pine Grove Mills and the train was not able to get through to the latter place for a couple days. A number of big drifts on the Lewisburg delayed the train on Tuesday morning so that it did not reach here until almost twelve o'clock. Many of the public roads throughout the county are drifted shut and travel is through the fields. Such was the condition of affairs when Spring began on Wednesday morning, and even this was not all as the weather man, just to have things in keeping, sent us cold as well and Wednesday morning the mercury was down to within ten degrees of zero. Of course it has warmed up some at this time and the question which is now agitating the minds of many is, will the snow go away with such a rush as to cause a big flood?

METHODIST CONFERENCE NEXT WEEK.—

The thirty-eighth annual session of Central Pennsylvania Methodist Episcopal conference will convene at Tyrone on Wednesday of next week, March 29th, with Bishop Joseph T. Berry, D. D., LL. D., of Buffalo, N. Y., presiding. The conference this year will be one of unusual interest for the reason that there will be at least one new presiding elder to select, that for the Danville district to take the place of Dr. W. P. Eveland, resigned to accept the presidency of Williamsport Dickinson Seminary, and in addition there will be at least three important vacancies to fill, namely: Bloomsburg, Mulberry street church, Williamsport, and Belleville, the latter because of the intention of Rev. John A. Wood Jr., to go to California immediately after conference. As these three appointments are regarded among the desirable ones it may necessitate considerable moving around of ministers to get every place filled satisfactorily.

So far as can be superficially learned the past year has been one of satisfactory conditions throughout the entire conference. There has been a steady growth in church and Sunday school membership, a number of new churches have been built while the finances are in as good a condition as ever. The reports at the last conference showed a church membership of 65,000, with 6,484 probationers, while $104,149 was the sum total contributed for all benevolent purposes.

The Central Railroad of Pennsylvania officials are beginning to make preparations to move from their present offices in Temple Court to the new station building, corner of Lamb and Water streets.

—Mrs. C. T. Aiken, of Selingsgrove is visiting Mrs. J. A. Aiken in this place. She says the rumor that her husband intends giving up his new position as president of Susquehanna University and returning to his former labors at Pine Grove Mills, is entirely without warrant as they like the new work very much and are quite content to continue at it.

—After several years experience on a Centre county farm Mr. Thaddeus Cross and his family have returned to Clearfield county and will reside at Woodland. They came here to operate the large Gordon farm at Hecla Park and were successful in that as well as in making themselves very much liked by all who knew them, but ill health has compelled them to give up farming and we regret their loss as residents of the county.

SENIORS TOOK A SLED RIDE.—The majority of the members of the Senior class of the Belleville High school took a sled ride on Tuesday night to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Miller, near Hahlersburg. On account of the deep snow, huge drifts and a couple upssets the party was a little late arriving at their destination but once there they had a delightful time of it. It was quite late Wednesday morning when they arrived home. Those in the party were Myrtle Barhart, Helen Robb, Lizzie Barnhart, Mildred Oden, Anna Keibline, Edna Koutz, Maad Johnston, Nettie and Walker Bair, and John Rankin, Milan Heller, Paul Wetzel, John Smith, Lawrence McClure, Charles Barnes, William Kuhn and James Harshberger. At the Miller home the party was joined by Misses Lilae Detrick, Edna Decker and Ethel Miller.

The annual commencement exercises of the Walker township High school will be held at Hahlersburg Monday evening, April 9th. Ex-Judge John G. Love will deliver the commencement address and Superintendent David O. Etters will present the diplomas to the graduates.
