-A good time to prune trees is just after they have leaved out

-It is the solids in a cow's milk that determine her value. -The value of the manure depends more upon the feed than upon the animal.

-Plant early garden truck only in ground in first-class condition and well

-Spring cleaning should apply to the barn and cellar as well as the rooms

—Give house plants as much light as possible during the day and darkness with a lower temperature at night.

-Scatter wood ashes in the orchard; they contain the properties most needed to make healthy trees and good fruit.

-Any attempt to grow something that is not well adapted to the soil increases the cost of production and lessens the profit. -Tree roots extend as far as the limbs extend and sometimes further. On this account manure should be scattered broad--The greater the variety of good grasses in the pasture, the better for the thrift of the stock that feeds there. An especial ad-vantage with mixed grasses is that they give a longer season of pasture. —In order to grow small fruits successfully, it is essential to have a fertile soil. There is little danger of its being too rich.

As good a plan as any, probably, is to gather the drop-pings as often as twice a week, and mix

Sandwiches should be placed on the table

--An excellent mode of planting carrot and parsnip seed is to drop the seed in small quantity, six inches apart in the rows, instead of scattering the seed in the row. By this method the plants will come up in stools, and can be thinned out if too thick, whereas if the seed is scattered the plants may come up straggling, as the seed does not germinate very easily under adverse conditions. Extra plants taken from the rows may be planted elsewhere. The seed drills do the work well in that re-

About 25 pounds of cornmeal will equal 100 pounds of skim milk after the butter is sold, hence if cornmeal is worth 25 cents per 100 pounds of serving. meal is worth 25 cents per 100 pounds, the skim milk is worth 25 cents per 100 pounds, which can be fed to advantage to pigs and come more valuable through its use in

-In the growing of corn I find that the matter of seed is of very great importance, writes a Kendall county (Ill.) correspondent of the Farmers' Review. I sometimes buy seed to get a change and then I sow my own for a few years. I prefer to buy any time after January 1st, as after that time seed cannot well be changed. If it is good seed at that time it will stay good, and if bad there is no way of improving it. I test several times and make a thorough test in winter. The sandy loam is ready to plant several days earlier than the clay loam. I prepare my ground thoroughly loam. I prepare my ground thoroughly, and when the soil has become warm I plant about one and one-half inches deep.

-Feather Pulling.-Vice usually starts with one member of the flock and soon with one member of the flock and soon others follow the example. Be sure to discover the guilty fowl, and when you are certain you have the right one, at once cut off the end of the upper bill with a pair of scissors, or sharp knife, and follow by scraping the edge of the bill all around. The bill should be cut only a little shorter than its usual length, and though some blood may appear, no harm will be done. The fowl can pick up its food as usual after the bill is cut, but when it attempts to pull feathers it cannot get sufficient hold to draw them ont, as the feathers resist by reason of fixture in the body, a difficulty not encountered in picking food, and thus they slip through the mutilated bill. If this does not stop her, cut the bill still shorter, but not too much at first, in order not to take off more than is actually necessary. She will soon give up the practice, this does not stop her, cut the bill still shorter, but not too much at first, in order not to take off more than is actually necessary. The gate-top bracelet, in links of plain and engraved silver, folds to the size of a ring and expands to fit any arm. Equally adjustable is the gold or silver serpent. It can be used as a necklace as well.

A supper is so much more often served by some member of the family than by the maid, that is to say, those of Sunday evening, or after some small entertainment, I believe a few suggestions concerning these delightfully informal meals will interest the hostess, and possibly be of considerable help, especially to the young housekeeper.

If it is possible much of the preparation for a Sunday supper should be done the day before. Viands for sandwiches or to rechaufe or serve cold may be prepared, jellies or frozen puddings made, cake baked, and a supply of such staple articles as canned shrimps, deviled ham, imported sardines, beef tongue or anchovy, and other pastes, olives, tins of crackers, fruits such as first dates eat salted note chasse and as figs, dates, etc., salted nuts, cheese, and in fact all kinds of delicacies which may be bought from a fancy grocer, should be within ready reach.

The chafing dish plays an important part at present in the dining room; it is well to have at least two, well equipped, also see that they are kept in perfect order. The chafing dish cabinets are a great convenience, and of course a small table, or two, as the case requires, are very essential. These should be spread with a cloth, usually a heavy linen is used, and a large metal tray is placed under the chafing dish There are so many accessories and pretty appointments for the chaing dish table now and procurable at such a variety of prices, there is really no excuse for the stess to deprive herself of these genuine

In setting the supper table one may use either the polished table with doilies, or a fancy linen cloth. The newest supper clotbs are inset with lace and also have a lace border; or they are of the beautiful new brocaded linen. The table should be ance like blue grass, and is adapted for dry, light, sterile or sandy soils, and resists dry weather. About 15 pounds of seed are required for an acre. It spreads by creeping underground stems or root by creeping underground stems or root lighted by two single candlesticks with pretty shades. The decorations should be very simple, a low flower bowl or fern dishard. decoration, but a newer idea is to have four very small vases containing odorless flowers; the new Watteau baskets either of silver or glass being especially charming, placed near the corners.

At each cover should be laid a service plate; if bouillon, soup in cups, or fruit is used it should be placed upon the table before the meal is announced. To the left of the plate arrange a breakfast fork, fish fork (if shell fish is to form a part of the menu), and two teaspoons. At the right place a tea knife, game knife, if small birds are to be served, a bouillon spoon, and a grape fruit or other fruit spoon if required, also a butter spreader. If bread and butery should be rich and rather moist. It is said that a special liquid manure for this crop is soapsuds, which demonstrates that the crop delights in soda to a certain extext.

—A good crop of beets will be found an excellent adjunct to the grain and hay feed for stock. Beets should be put in early, although crops may be seeded in at a later period. They give a dietary effect, a later period. They give a dietary effect, as well as being valuable for their feeding for this meal, either a water pitcher or bot-

Upon the serving table should be arranged several sets of plates and all the dishes which might be required in changdishes which might be required in changing a course, so that it may be accomplish ed by the hostess with ease.

There are so many charming dishes in which to serve relishes now, that one can arrange a supper table most attractively and at comparatively small expense. The small silver that the housewife who entertains occasionally should possess, consists of two dozen teaspoons, one dozen desert spoons, one dozen soup spoons, one dozen table spoons, one dozen after-dinner coffee spoons; also one dozen each of bouillon, orange, and chocolate spoons. One dozen each of dinner, dessert, oyster, and dozen each of dinner, dessert, oyster, and dozen each of dinner, dessert, oyster, and —It is estimated that a bushel of corn fish forks; also berry and ice cream forks, will produce 14 pounds of pork and a bushel of wheat 17 pounds. In single pieces, a soup ladle, fish knife, gravy ladle, salad set, several sugar tongs, a butter piok, whipped cream ladle, cheese scoop, ice cream cutter and a number of bonbon, olive, salted almond spoous, also a tea strainer, or ball.

An authority on such subjects gives the following theory of serving wines at din-

Immediately after the soup, dry white wines are offered, such as French wines, Marsala, Sherry, Madeira, dry Syracuse,

With the fish, dry white wines are also served. With oysters, Chablis is preferred. With releves of butcher's meat and warm entrees, red wines, Burgundy or Bordeaux. With cold entrees and other cold pieces, fine white wines are served.

With the roast, come the fine Bordeaux or Champagne, or both. With the entrements, Champagne alone.
With the dessert, liqueur wines, such as Frontignan, Lunel, Alicante, Malvoisie, Tokay, Lacrima-Christi, etc.

The character of embroidery upon such a blouse is always of the heavier type, as more in keeping with the heavier material.

EMPLOYES RECEIVED PRESENTS

Philadelphia, May 19.-After hearing much additional testimony concerning the donations of stock to officials and aployes of the Pennsylvania Railroad by acft coal mining companies, the interstate commerce commission adjourned until next Wednesday, when it will resume its sessions in this city and proceed with its inquiry into alleged discrimination by the railroads in the distribution of cars. Frank H. Wigton, president of the Morrisdale Coal company, appeared before the commission and corrected his statement of Thursday that his company had received rebates from the Pennsylvania Railroad within a few months previous to the retirement of General Traffic Manager Joyce in 1903. Mr. Wigton said that upon investigation he found that his company had received no rebates after 1900. F. L. Sheppard, general superintendent of the United Railways of New Jersey, was examined as to his stock holdings in coal companies and alleged pier privileges given the Berwind-White company at tidewater. F. M. Gross, western manager of the Keystone Coal and Coke company, told of men in the motive power department of the Pennsylvania Railroad who owned stock in the various coal com-

Charles E. Pugh, second vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, was one of the witnesses. He was questiond regarding his policy with regard to the placing of sidings.

R. L. O'Donnell, general superintendent of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division, told of having been given blocks of stock in various coal companies while he was in charge of the car distribution department of the Pittsburg division.

Mr. O'Donnell said he was given so many stocks of coal companies that he really couldn't remember them all One coal company alone pays him dividends of $2400 a year on shares that cost him not a cent. Another company did as well. Others trailed along. When the list had been gone over, it was difficult to figure out Mr. O'Donnell's total income, but if it keeps up he should soon be in the millionaire class. Mr. O'Donnell could see nothing unusual in having all these cartloads of securities thrown at him. He thought it was the most proper thing in the world. Some of the stock came from Robert Pitcairn, President Cassatt's assistant at Pittsburg, and some from Colonel George H. Huff and Captain Alfred Hicks.

The following statement was issued by Captain John P. Green, first viceresident of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, over his personal signature: "The recent developments at the hearing in progress before the interstate commerce commission in this city, in respect to the acquisition and ownership of the stocks of coal companies located on its lines, by officers and employes of the company, and the acceptance of gratuities by its employes, are a surprise to the manage ment; and while it is not believed that these have caused injustice to the public or the company, the facts with respect thereto will be thoroughly investigated, and no ownership or practice calculated in any manner to affect the full and impartial discharge of the duty owed by the company, its officers and employes, to the public, will be tol-

MAY BE CRIPPLED FOR LIFE Coach of Penn's High Jumpers Injures

Tendon of Leg. Philadelphia, May 22.—I. X. Baxter, special city judge of Utica, N. Y., who was during his college days at the University of Pennsylvania one of the best high jumpers in the country, injured the Achilles tendon of his right leg so seriously while making a high jump on Franklin Field that he may be crippled for life. He had been asked to come to Pennsylvania to coach the high jumpers, and gave the athletes an exhibition in correct jumping. Although not in condition, he cleared the bar at 5 feet 10 inches, and in landing he either snapped or badly strained the tendon. Physicians at the University hospital believe he is permanently lamed.

In the early days of the civil war, says Mrs. D. G. Wright in "A Southern Girl In '61," many northern senators were especially violent in their denun ciations of the seceding states, occasionally much to the amusement of their listeners.

On one occasion a western senator ended a speech by declaring that were certain threatened events to occur he would "leave this country and join some other nation. Even the Comanches he would prefer to this government in such a case."

Senator Wigfall of Texas rose in an swer and stated in a tone of grave re monstrance that he trusted the senator would consider well before he took such a step, "for the Comanches had already suffered too much from contact with the whites."

No infant receives a warmer welcome to the world or is more happily born than the Italian baby. No infant is the object of more caresses or is more fondly admired. Indeed, no matter how poor the mother and father may be, no matter how large the family, they have very merry times when another son or daughter comes to them. The neighbors are invited in, a feast is prepared, a gallon or two of cheap wine is procured, and the merriment sometimes lasts several days. The Italian considers there are only three great events in the life of man-namely, his birth, marriage and death These three events never pass without a gorgeous and elaborate celebration In this simple way they strive to carry out the tender life lesson: "When you were born you wept while those around you smiled. So live that when you die you alone may smile and those around you weep." And so they laugh and drink wine and sing, for they believe it will have an effect upon the life of the quivering form soon to take its place among them.-London Standard.

WORK THAT TELLS.

PLENTY OF IT HAS BE IN DONE RIGHT HERE IN BELLEFONTE.

Cures that last are cures that tell. To thorough Cures that last are cures that tell. To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine you must investigate the cures and see if they prove permanent. Doan's Kidney Pills stand this test, and nlenty of proof exists right here in Bellefonte. People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders, now declare that relief was permanent and cure perfect. How can any Bellefonte sufferer longer doubt the evidence?

J. Curtis Johnson, 365 E. Bishop St., says: "I think even more of Doan's Kidney Pills now than I did in 1857, at the time that I made a statement recommending them. I had been suffering at that time for more than a year with backache and lameness through the loins. At times I was so weak that I could not lift anything and if I stooped it was almost impossible for me to straighten up. When driving there was a steady aching over my kidneys the whole time. I felt tired and dull and I lacked ambition. Procuring Doan's Kidney Pills from F. P. Green's drug store I was was soon cured of the whole combination of troubles and was cured very quickly. My wife has also used Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and was cured and invigorated generally as well. We both think very highly of Doan's Kidney Pills and I have been recommending them ever since I gave my former statement in 1897."
