Democratic State Ticket.

FOR GOVERNOR, LEWIS EMERY JR.

FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, JEREMIAH S. BLACK.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL, WILLIAM T. CRESAY.

FOR SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS, ELISHA A. CORAY.

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR ASSEMBLY, JOHN NOLL of Belleville.

FOR JURY COMMISSIONER, ADAM HAZEL, of Spring Township.

Emery Nominated by Democrats.

John S. Black Nominated for Lieutenant Governor, W. T. Cressay for Auditor General and John J. Green for Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The Democratic State convention Wednesday nominated the following ticket: Governor—Lewis Emery, Jr., of Bradford, the Lincoln party nominee.

Lieutenant Governor—John S. Black, of York. Auditor General—William T. Cressay, the Prohibition nominee.

Secretary of Internal Affairs—John J. Green, of Philadelphia.

The platform deals entirely with State issues, except one plank, which commends William J. Bryan. The convention did not go on record in favor of Bryan's nomination for President.

The convention was called to order by State Chairman Charles P. Donnelly promptly at noon.

Michael J. Ryan, of Philadelphia, who was chosen as temporary chairman by the executive committee, took the chair.

Ryan made an address denouncing political and corporation conditions in Pennsylvania as being largely due to the Republican party.

After the standing committees were selected the convention at 1 o'clock took a recess for one hour to allow the committees to prepare their reports. The convention reassembled at 2:55 o'clock when there was quite a protracted argument over portions of the platform which, however, was adopted as framed.

The convention then proceeded to the nomination of candidates for Governor. The counties were called in alphabetical order and Adams yielded to Elk, which had selected Major Harry Alvan Hall, to nominate Emery.

Emery's nomination was seconded by B. F. Meyers, of Dauphin county, who said that by reason of fusion that county reversed its unprecedented majority of 10,000 for Roosevelt in 1904 to a majority of 1,100 for Berry last November and he, therefore, urged the Democrats to accept the proffered fusion this year. Frank J. Fitzsimmons, of Leacock county, nominated Arthur G. Dewalt. He said that four years ago an infamous election system enabled the Republican party to poll 100,000 illegal votes for its candidate for Governor.

"If the respectable element in the Republican party want reform why don't they come over to the Democratic party? Should we name as a candidate for Governor a man who voted against Bryan in 1896? Against Parker in 1904 and against Pattison in 1902? Democrats, don't surrender."

"Nominate a Democrat in the person of Arthur G. Dewalt," concluded the speaker. Thomas J. Ryan, of Philadelphia, made a brief speech for Dewalt, in which he said that Emery did not support Pattison in 1902 and that the Philadelphia Democrats received very little recognition from the Lincoln party in the selection of a fusion ticket last fall.

George B. Jeffrey, of Fayette county, seconded the nomination of Dewalt, and the nominations closed.

The clerk began the roll call on the Governorship. When it became apparent that Emery was nominated, after Sobushykill cast 18 votes for Emery, Fayette changed five votes from Dewalt to Emery, followed by Allegheny changing 18 from Dewalt to Emery and there was a landslide to Emery. Westmoreland cast two votes for D. T. Watson, of Pittsburgh.

The vote for Governor as announced by the clerk was as follows: Emery, 261; Dewalt, 60; Watson, 2.

Chairman Leaban formally declared Emery the nominee of the convention for Governor.

At 5:35 o'clock the convention adjourned until 7 o'clock when it reassembled and immediately proceeded to the nomination of candidates for Lieutenant Governor. Samuel B. Griffith, of Allegheny, nominated James A. Stranahan, of Dauphin. State Treasurer William H. Berry, of Delaware, named Homer L. Castle, of Allegheny, the nominee of the Prohibition party. Jere S. Black, of York, was nominated by ex-Congressman James Kerr, of Clearfield. Mr. Black's nomination was seconded by J. S. Hess, of Northampton, and Harry D. Green, of Berks. The nominations closed and the convention proceeded to ballot by counties. It was apparent after a half dozen counties had voted that Mr. Black would be nominated. The names of his competitors were withdrawn by their sponsors and he was nominated by acclamation.

John G. Harman, of Columbia, presented the name of William T. Cressay, of Columbia, for Auditor General, and he was nominated by acclamation.

William J. Brennen, of Allegheny, nominated E. A. Coray, of Luzerne, for Secretary of Internal Affairs.

Thomas J. Ryan, of Philadelphia, named John J. Green, of Philadelphia. The nominations closed and the convention proceeded to ballot. Before half the counties had cast their votes Allegheny changed from Coray to Green. This assured Green's nomination and on motion of several delegates he was nominated by acclamation.

The Lincoln party state convention will reconvene at Philadelphia on July 10 to accept the nomination of Rudolf Blankenshurg, of Philadelphia, as its candidate for Lieutenant Governor, and George W. Merrick, of Tioga, candidate for Auditor General. The convention is expected to fill their places with the Democratic nominees. The call for this convention was issued immediately after Emery was nominated by the Democrats.

New Rules for Mail Carriers.

A new and important order has been issued from the Postoffice Department at Washington which is as follows:

That hereafter mail carriers will not ascend higher than the second floor of an office building in which there is no elevator, and not higher than the ground floor of all other buildings when delivering mail. This last clause applies to apartment houses and flats as well as dwellings and other buildings in which there are no business offices on the second floor.

This new ruling is conducive to the greater efficiency of the letter carrier force. Heretofore some of the men have been compelled to climb stair after stair in the performance of their duties. Frequently it has happened that there was but one letter for the top floor of a three-story building and when the mail man, panting under the strain of climbing three flights of stairs with a heavy pouch of mail on his back, reached the room designated on the envelope the occupant was out and the carrier's climb had been for nothing. Much time had been wasted and the trip would have to be made over again on his next delivery.

A few such trips will almost exhaust a carrier and the remainder of the route suffers proportionately. In business buildings having elevators the carriers will do as heretofore, take the elevator to the top floor and work down. This imposes no hardship on the carriers and but little time is lost. Where a building has no elevator, occupants of the floors higher than the second must either place mail boxes on the lower halls or arrange with some responsible person to look after and receive their mail.

Carriers in this and other towns for some time have complained of meeting vicious dogs on their rounds, and it will now be necessary for residents who allow such dogs to run loose about the premises to call at the postoffice for their mail. The following postal regulation has been placed in force: "Carriers are not required to deliver mail at residences where vicious dogs are permitted to run at large. Persons keeping such dogs must call at the postoffice for their mail."

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Next week the printers vacation, so don't forget it and expect your paper as usual.

William P. Homes lost a valuable horse last Friday, the animal dying as the result of over feeding.

The Phillipsburg paving company has secured the contract for paving half a mile of street thirty feet wide in Patton.

The new brick office of the Pennsylvania Match company is almost completed and will soon be ready for occupancy.

Last Saturday four thousand fingerling trout were received from U. S. hatcheries and placed in Spring creek by local fishermen.

On Wednesday Dr. Edith Schold took Mrs. G. H. Harter, of Axe Manu, to the Woman's hospital, Philadelphia, for an operation.

The drop curtain in Gatman's opera house is being repaired and embellished with advertisements of a number of local business firms.

Fred Smith expects to leave Belleville next week for Philadelphia where he will enter a sanatorium for treatment for pulmonary trouble.

Miss Marion Lingie entertained nine of her young friends at the Country club, Tuesday evening, the occasion being the celebration of her fifteenth birthday.

Capt. W. H. Fry, the veterinarian of Pine Grove Mills, was kicked by a vicious horse he was doctoring on Sunday, and as a result has been housed up this week.

T. C. Strawn, the broker, has rented a suite of rooms in Petriken hall and will furnish them and with his wife and child live there, taking their meals at the Brockertoff house.

In a railroad wreck between Mt. Carmel and Sunbury, on Monday, William Burns, brother of Engineer Burns, who used to run on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad, was instantly killed.

The Tyrone wrecking crew was in Belleville on Monday replacing a car which had been shoved off the end of the trestle at the Belleville Fuel and Supply company's yard, one day last week.

The county commissioners this week had the court house yard leveled and sown in grass seed, a much cheaper way of fixing it up than by having it sodded, especially when they were asked $175 to do the latter.

Children's day services in the Presbyterian church, Sunday evening, were well attended. One of the features was the music by Christy Smith's orchestra. The address of Rev. Plattis was very interesting and instructive.

W. Harrison Walker Esq., a few days ago received from State Treasurer Berry a voucher for $625.03, the amount of the appropriation to the Belleville hospital for the quarter ending May 31st. All persons having bills due to June 1st can get their money by calling on the treasurer.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION.—The seventeenth annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Union of Pennsylvania will be held in Altoona July 17th, 18th and 19th. Arrangements have been made to hold the main sessions of the convention in the Second Presbyterian and Eight Avenue Methodist Episcopal churches, the combined seating capacity of which is more than three thousand persons, and it is expected that fully that number of delegates will be present.

In order to provide for the musical part of the convention, the organization of a large chorus was begun more than a year ago. So successful has been the work that while originally planned to number five hundred voices, more than seven hundred are enrolled. The program will be one of the best ever arranged by the state officers, and any one who has ever attended a Pennsylvania state convention will appreciate what this means. Among those who will be on the program are found the names of Rev. J. T. McCrory, D. D., S. D. Gordon, Rev. Isaac J. Lansing, Bishop Mills, Rev. W. A. Stanton, D. D., Hon. John Weaver, Mayor of Philadelphia, and many others prominent in the work of the State.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—The following marriage licenses were issued the past week by Register Earle C. Tuten. Edward T. Walker and Sarah C. Mayhew, both of Yarnell.

Samuel Coble and Maud N. Decker, both of Linden Hall. Albert C. Pritchard and Helen M. Dutcher, both of Phillipsburg.

Samuel M. Weaver, of Scotia, and Annie S. Hale, of Julian. John W. Sheckler, of Belleville, and Clara E. Hoover, of Wingate.

Maurice E. Shutt, of Belleville, and Hannah M. Fetzer, of Ronville. Roy Alexander and Alice D. Lucas, both of Fleming.

Charles M. Brown and Mabel A. Boyer, both of Yarnell. Geo. D. Wilcox, of Phillipsburg, and Della Stine, of South Phillipsburg.

Newton W. Zerby, of Penn Hall, and Elsie I. Ulrich, of Millheim. Mike Beshimer and Sophie Erich, both of Belleville.

Matthew B. Conway and Lucian Watkins, both of Snow Shoe. Harry Brennen, of Baileyville, and Luella Irvin, of Pa. Furnace. John H. Armagast, of Belleville, and Anna B. Wolford, of Fleming.

A REMINISCENCE.—In writing of the unsettled condition of affairs in general prior to the outbreak of the Civil war Edward L. Ross, of Washington, D. C., in a letter to the Altoona Tribune, tells this reminiscence:

In 1856 I belonged to a Republican club in Belleville, Pa. There were about a dozen of us and we met in Judge Hale's law office. Of course I voted for Fremont and free Kansas, and still "voted as I shot" in later years.

Belleville was a small, compact borough then. One evening there was an auction in a hotel. The auctioneer held up a book and sang out, "Ah! here is the 'Life of James Buchanan,' what's bid for it—how much?" I immediately sang out ten cents and then had to "skin out" to avoid a row, for the audience was Democratic by a large majority, and their candidate was known as "ten cent Jimmy."

The entertainment given by the scholars of the Parochial school, in the opera house last Thursday evening, was one of the best ever given by this school. A baseball song and a dance song by the very smallest of the scholars were features of the evening. Another commendable part was a "school strike" play in which the various students who took part went on a strike against studying some particular study, for shorter hours and longer recesses, etc., until Father McArdle remarked that "if they kept it up much longer there would be no study hours or studies left." A large audience attended the entertainment.

On Tuesday morning Philip Beezer bought the Wagner property on Spring street, adjoining his own home, for three thousand dollars. If he keeps the property it is his intention to repair the house and build a large stable on the rear end of the lot. The trustees of the Belleville Academy, however, have had under consideration for some time the purchase of both the Wagner and Beezer properties for the purpose of enlarging the Academy campus and turning the dwellings into dormitories, and if a satisfactory deal can be made it is possible the Academy will eventually secure the properties.

NEW P. O. S. OF A. CAMP.—A new camp of Patriotic Order Sons of America was organized at Osceola Mills on Monday night with a membership of sixty and the following officers: Past president, Charles A. Thomas; president, J. D. Peters; vice president, William Kephart; recording secretary, John B. Rumberger; financial secretary, M. Copeland; master of funds, Geo. W. Koon; treasurer, D. C. Miller, conductor, Charles Crain; inspector, O. B. Schreckengast; officer of the guard, Thomas Mayes; trustees, B. F. Bolick, John M. Crain and Charles A. Thomas.

Edmund Waring, of Tyrone, a student at the Pennsylvania State College, while at work in the pattern making department in the mechanical engineering building, one day last week, lost a part of the index finger of his right hand by contact with a circular saw. He was sawing a block of wood when it slipped and his finger was caught before he could help himself. The member was amputated and dressed and he is now at his home in Tyrone nursing it.

Harry Lloyd, of Phillipsburg, brother of Mrs. W. E. Tyson, of Tyrone, and who recently graduated from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, sailed last week for an extended tour in Europe.

A number of Belleville men held a meeting on Monday evening to make arrangements for a week's outing next week when they expect to pitch their camp on Fishing creek. Naturally the main diversion will be trout fishing.

Thomas W. Fisher, who underwent a critical operation in the University hospital, Philadelphia, the beginning of last week, is getting along as well as can possibly be expected and his friends are hopeful for his complete recovery.

During the past week the big iron tank purchased by the Belleville Gas and Steam Heating company was moved from the old nail works to the gas plant and put together for a water reservoir. Bilger, of Pleasant Gap, did the transporting.

To-morrow is the day for the third annual reunion and basket picnic of the Centre county association in Philadelphia. To be held at the B-11111 mansion, Fairmount park. If you happen to be in the Quaker city attend the gathering, you will be very welcome.

The Coleville band gave their first concert for the season in front of the Bush house on Saturday evening and it proved a most delightful diversion for the large crowd of listeners. The band has a number of new pieces which are played in a masterful way.

"Lefty" McIvree, State's star base ball pitcher, who has been at the College since commencements completing some work he had in hand, is expected to report in Pittsburgh and appear in a Pirate uniform for the first time at Exposition park on July fourth.

One of the nicest lot of gold fish ever seen in Belleville is now on exhibition in the aquarium in Sheffer's store window. There are several hundred of them and they range in size from an inch to six inches in length. They were received from a hatchery in Maryland.

On Tuesday the American Lime and Stone company bought from John P. Harris and Frank Warfield the Eckenroth farm at Pleasant Gap and their interest in the Colden farm, which is in dispute with other parties. The purchase was made for the limestone on the land.

Lemont.

Miss Ruth Bottorf is home for the summer vacation. Orin Barnes and family came down from Altoona, Monday.

Harrison Whitehill enjoyed a week at Wighton, at the home of E. W. Evey. The wheat is ripening fast and by the first of the week some of it will be ready to cut.

Haymaking is now on in full force, but the crop is short and it will not take long to store it. Miss Nellie Herman, a trained nurse, is visiting at the home of her brother, Jacob Herman.

Miss Isadora R. Williams, Mrs. Minnie Williams and John Houtz went to Madisonburg Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Tressler became the possessors of a sweet little treasure, Monday afternoon, in the form of a daughter. G. E. Roan and Helen Klingner went Saturday to visit at the home of the former's daughter, Mrs. Etta Martz, at Juniata.

Mrs. Sarah Eiters and Mrs. Julia Shuey were called to Millheim, Saturday, to attend the funeral of their cousin, Mrs. Frank. Miss Kate Dale is home from the hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis, and is getting along as well as can be expected.

I. M. Harvey's team broke the tie strap, Thursday afternoon, then broke the harness and got loose from the rig. They ran a short distance and were caught, but when they started it looked as though they would hurt themselves, as well as run into some rigs.

Smilton.

Soon the click of the mower, then the odor of new mown hay. Wm. Small, of near Freeport, Ill., is visiting his mother at this place. Joseph Sult and wife entertained friends from Georges valley Sunday.

Mrs. C. B. Mallory visited friends in Millheim the beginning of the week. Mrs. Hannah Raup, of Nittany valley, is visiting among friends here at present.

The Methodists will render a Children's day program Sunday, July 1st, at 2 p. m. Isaac Stover and wife, of Zion, called briefly at the home of H. H. Stover Saturday.

George, Ezra, Niets, Emma and Orpha Breen are visiting their parents after being absent for quite a time. Saturday lived up our town by the passing through of people bound for the horse sale at Millheim.

Adam Lohr, the traveling "saint" who travels with his wife in a gospel wagon, stopped with Amos Fehl Sunday a week ago. He did no open air preaching this time.

With Taft He Will Inspect the Encampment of Troops. Lebanon, Pa., June 23.—President A. D. Smith, of the C. & L. Railroad company, announced that President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Taft will visit Mt. Gretna in July and August to inspect the troops of the department of the east, which will encamp there and engage in manoeuvring from July 25. General Fred D. Grant, who came here from New York, has laid out the Mt. Gretna camp site and will return here a few days before the troops come in.

The Leonard grange hall is being re-roofed and repaired. Butcher J. F. Kimpfort is housed up with an attack of tonsillitis.

Rev. E. H. Bergstresser is visiting his parishioners this week. Miss Maud Kimpfort, of Belleville, spent Sunday with her mother.

Children's day services were held in the M. E. church Sunday evening. F. W. Swab and wife spent Sunday at his parental home at Linden Hall.

Misses Maggie and Gertrude Keichline spent Monday among friends at Fairbrook. The well-known Eerhart home on the Branch is being remodeled and re-roofed.

Mrs. J. H. Mitchell is having her farm house beautified with a new coat of paint. Mrs. Maria Goss is convalescing from a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

G. W. Keichline and E. S. Moore spent Monday in State College in quest of a good horse. Will Dreibleis, the expert creamery man at Belleville, transacted business here on Tuesday.

Frank Bowersox left for the city Tuesday morning to undergo a surgical operation for a growth on his hip. John D. Dreibleis and family were entertained at Harry Bowersox's home at State College over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bartley, of Zion, were royally entertained at the Charley Kuhn home over Sunday. John M. Keichline, of Belleville, was here in the early part of the week looking after his large business interests.

Charley and Luther Strouse, two progressive young farmers near State College, transacted business here on Saturday. John Everhart passed through town Sunday, en route to Franklinville to see his father, who is somewhat under the weather.

Mrs. J. B. Heberling spent last week among friends in Bellwood, where H. M. Stover was suffering from a nervous attack. S. E. Goss, wife and master Curtis, came up from Gosses to spend a few days at grandpa Goss' home for a rollicking good time.

Clyde Weiland, as genial as ever, on Monday was enjoying a drive through the valley, noting the changes made in the last quarter of a century. Aunt Julia Musser, who has been visiting friends at State College and Boalsburg the past week, came home Tuesday with a badly sprained ankle.

Wm. K. Goss and family, who have been visiting relatives hereabouts the past week, left for their home at Tyrone on Thursday, perfectly delighted with their outing. E. K. Smith had a runaway last Friday in which he lost some cans of cream and he, himself, was left along the way. The horse was finally stopped near State College.

Farmer J. H. Bailey is still the worse for an engagement with a swarm of angry bees that he was trying to hive. His body was literally covered and he was badly stung. Wm. Thompson, stockman and farmer, of the famous Centre Furnace stock stables, enjoyed a spin through the valley early Sunday morning behind his 2:30 stepper. Maud S.

Miss Erma Cori is sick with typhoid fever at the home of her uncle, W. F. Reed, on Main St., where she was visiting. Everything that kind hands and loving hearts can do is being done for her. The June picnic, held in the McFarlane grove last Saturday, was dampened in the early morning with a brisk shower. But Mr. McFarlane is always equal to an emergency and threw open his large barn doors and took the crowd in.

While going to the Honesville school, Saturday evening, held at Mr. Kyles, David Houser's spring wagon was capsized, landing the occupants on the hard ground. Mrs. Houser suffered a sprained arm and Mrs. Hezekiah Hoy's hip and back were injured.

Many of our farmers are sad when they look over their grass fields and sadder yet when they view their corn fields, with sickly plants and poor stand. Cut worms are playing havoc, so that the chances for a good crop are anything but favorable. Wheat fields are ripening and a good crop is looked for, although the straw is short.

You are cordially invited to attend the 130th anniversary of American independence which will be celebrated in the style of an old time Fourth of July celebration in the gap of old Tussey mountain at Pine Grove Mills. Bring your baskets and fire crackers, as well as all your friends. Everybody will be made welcome at this outing in the woods.

Spring Mills.

The Presbyterians will have their Children's service on Sunday evening. C. P. Long is building two new dwellings. These will make seven he has erected, all on the avenue.

Miss Florida Duck, of St. Louis, formerly of this place, is here on her vacation, visiting relatives and friends. Miss Duck is a very prominent teacher in the High school of that city. They say that this week a new fireman of one of our saw mills, while trying to get up steam, was so busy looking at the steam gauge that his fire went out before he knew it. Who is he?

The Children's service in the Methodist church on Sunday evening last was very lively and interesting. All the little people did remarkably well. The singing and music were excellent and the decorations were quite artistic.

Last week the school board, in electing teachers for Gregg township, elected Miss Alice Robinson, of Centre Hall, for the intermediate and Miss Bertha Duck for the primary department, when the intentions were the reverse. Consequently on Saturday evening last the board rectified the mistake and Miss Duck takes the intermediate department, which she had last year, and Miss Robinson the primary.

CLUB LIFE ECONOMIES

POOR MEN IN THE SWELL ORGANIZATIONS OF NEW YORK.

A Democracy Where All, Regardless of Income, Are Equal—Membership in a First Rate Club Regarded as a Profitable Investment.

A good many country visitors are disappointed when they learn the sober truth that New York has no clubs composed exclusively of millionaires. It is harder still to make country folk believe that hundreds of men join the so called swell clubs in large part from motives of economy.

There are scarcely three clubs in the city that do not include a considerable number of poor men in their membership. The average income of the whole membership of the ten best known clubs in the city is probably nearer $10,000 a year than $50,000 a year, and almost every one of these clubs includes some scores of men with incomes well below $10,000 and a good many with incomes well below $5,000.

There is a real democracy of New York club life. Youths in their early twenties and just beginning their careers on very moderate salaries frequent truly palatial clubhouses, breakfast in rooms such as few princes ever use and lounge before fireplaces that are to be matched only in the most splendid buildings of Europe.

The poor man's credit at the club is as good as the rich man's, and both are impartially posted when they neglect to pay their bills in good season. There are a good many instances also in which the monthly bills of the poor man are higher than those of his rich fellow member, for the frequenters of clubs are apt to be the poorer rather than the richer members.

Many a man of small means regards his membership in a first rate club in the light of a profitable investment. Such a man, if a confirmed bachelor, is probably lived for twenty years within half a block of the club, paying a few hundreds a year for a small bedroom and finding all his luxuries in the apartments of the clubhouse.

Without being in the least mean he makes of the club a money saving institution for himself. Its comfortable outgoing rooms save him annually from $300 to $1,000 a year in rent, according to the location in which he has his modest lodgings. After that he saves a fair percentage on everything he eats and drinks at the club.

His simple breakfast costs him perhaps 10 per cent less than it would cost at any restaurant he would be likely to frequent, and the same is true of his dinners. If he takes three-fourths of his meals at the club he saves annually about $100 in tips.

If he drinks wine at dinner he saves from 10 to 25 per cent upon every bottle. If he permits himself the luxury of a cab he saves a handsome percentage by ordering it through the club and avoids all possibility of a row with the cabbie over the amount of the fare. Many a man writes all his letters of a social character and some of a business character at the club, and thus saves from $15 to $40 a year in stationery.

He need buy no books, nor need he subscribe to a library, for there is the club library free for his use. He never needs a periodical or even a newspaper save when he travels, for all that he reads are freely supplied by the club. And the enjoyment of all these things imposes upon him no considerable expenditure for extravagant luxuries. He is sure, especially in the college clubs, to find plenty of men with like modest incomes and simple tastes as himself, and he may sit for hours with cronies over the cafe table without spending money that he cannot afford and without giving offense to the servants of the house committee.

Most club members probably do not keep a debit and credit account with the club, but the man of modest means and moderate habits would find the examination of such an account a matter of great satisfaction. Such a man, paying $250 as an entrance fee and $75 a year in dues, is likely to find himself at the end of twenty years a long way ahead of the game. The club in twenty years has cost him rather less than $2,000 for entrance fees, dues and contributions to the Christmas box, and his savings by reason of the club have been from $10,000 to $16,000.—New York Sun.

A Sister's Love. A Boston clergyman whose work takes him among the poor of that town tells a pretty story of sisterly love existing among the humble and unfortunate. One day a pale and ragged girl of about ten years was seen going along the street carrying on her back her crippled brother, nearly as old as she. A stranger stopped her by saying that she was overexerting herself. "He is too heavy for you to carry," he said. The child of the ghetto looked up at him reproachfully, saying: "He ain't heavy. He is my brother."

Capiscine. The active principle of capscin, or red pepper, is a volatile oil known as capscine. It is so exceedingly acrid that a quarter of a grain exposed to the air in a room will diffuse itself throughout the apartment and cause all present to cough and sneeze as though the pepper had been taken into the mouth or nostrils.

The Height of Fame. Superlative fame is where a man has not only forced his name into everybody's mouth, but has kept it there until the first class newspapers are spelling it the same way every time they mention it.—Puck.

Don't refuse to tell or show the apprentice what to do, for you once had to learn all that you know.
