

LABOR UNIONS IN POLITICS

American Federation Exhorts Members to Elect Their Friends.

Washington, July 23.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor made good its declaration of several months ago to enter the field of politics in the interest of the trade union movement, and to exhort all members and friends of organized labor to work for the election to political office of men known to be favorable to labor's cause. From the headquarters of the federation the council issued its "campaign program," addressed to all organized labor and friends in the United States. It sets out that the trade union movement has kept and proposes to keep pace with the rapid changes in industrial affairs, and that the working people cannot hope to maintain their rights or a progressive position in the varying phases of modern society unless they organize "and exercise all those functions which, as workmen and citizens, it is their privilege and their duty to exercise."

It is declared that labor makes no demand upon government or society which is not equally accorded to all the people of this country, and that "it can and will be satisfied with nothing less."

The proposed campaign is based upon the allegation that little attention has been paid to the enactment of laws prepared by organized labor and presented to congress, "for the relief of those wrongs and the attainment of those rights of which labor and the common people are justly entitled and which are essentially necessary for their welfare."

The council issues a word of caution that the movement must not degenerate into a scramble for office, but "it should be a determined effort, free absolutely from partisanship of every name and character, to secure the legislation we deem necessary and essential to the welfare and happiness of all our people." It is expressly stated that "where a congressman or state legislator has proven himself a true friend to the rights of labor, he should be supported and no candidate nominated against him."

WERE DISPERSED AT VIBORG

Viborg, Finland, July 24.—The curtain dropped on the final act of the drama of Russia's first parliament, when, under the spur of the threat of Governor Rechanberg to use military force to end the session, and with troops already converging on the Hotel Bellevue, where the meeting was held, the assembled members of the lower house, 186 in number, hurriedly adopted and signed an address to the people which is thoroughly revolutionary in its nature, elected a perpetual executive committee headed by Prince Paul Dolgoroukoff, vice president of the house, to carry on the work of liberation, and adjourned amidst characteristic Russian embracing and kissing.

A few members, including President Mouroumzoff, Ivan Petrunkevitch and Count Heyden, returned to St. Petersburg. The Constitutional Democratic cohorts intend to go to St. Petersburg in a body; but many of the Radical members, fearing their arrest on their arrival at the capital, will remain for the present in Finland or return by roundabout routes.

The address, which bears a remarkable similarity to the manifesto framed by the council of workmen last November, which landed its authors and the editors of eight St. Petersburg newspapers in cells of the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, strikes the government in its most vulnerable point by declaring that the administration and not parliament is responsible for the delay in the settlement of the agrarian question and by proclaiming a cessation of payment of taxes and of military service and repudiation of future loans. The address is as follows: "To the people from their popular representatives: "Citizens of all Russia! Parliament has been dissolved by ukase of July 21. You elected us as your representatives and instructed us to fight for our country and freedom. In execution of your instructions and our duty we drew up laws in order to ensure freedom to the people. We demanded the removal of irresponsible ministers who were infringing the laws with impunity and oppressing freedom. First of all, however, we wanted to bring out a law respecting the distribution of land to working peasants and involving the assignment, to this end, of crown appanages, monasteries and lands belonging to the clergy, and compulsory expropriation of private estates. The government held such a law to be inadmissible, and upon parliament once more urgently putting forward its resolution regarding compulsory expropriation parliament was dissolved. "The government promises to convoke a new parliament seven months hence. Russia must remain without popular representation for seven whole months, at a time when the people are standing on the brink of ruin, and industry and commerce are undermined, when the whole country is seething with unrest and when the ministry has definitely shown its incapacity to do justice to peculiar needs. For seven months the government will act arbitrarily and will fight against the popular movement in order to obtain a pliable, subservient parliament. Should it succeed, however, in completely suppressing the popular movement the government will convoke no parliament at all. "Citizens, stand up for your trampled-on rights, for popular representation and for an imperial parliament. Russia must not remain a day without popular representation. You possess

MEANS OF ACQUIRING IT.

The government has, without the assent of the popular representatives, no right to collect taxes from the people nor to summon the people to military service. Therefore, you are now the government. The dissolved parliament was justified in giving neither money nor soldiers. Should the government, however, contract loans in order to procure funds, such loans will be invalid without the consent of the popular representatives. The Russian people will never acknowledge them and will not be called upon to pay them. Accordingly, until a popular representative parliament is summoned do not give a kopeck to the throne or a soldier to the army. Be steadfast in your refusal. No power can resist the united, inflexible will of the people. "Citizens, in this obligatory and unavoidable struggle your representatives will be with you."

HEBREWS FEAR MASSACRE.

Odessa, July 24.—The Hebrews here are in a state of panic, fearing an anti-Hebrew outbreak as the result of the killing of a drunken cossack, who recently wandered through the Hebrew quarter, brandishing his sabre and shouting "Death to the Jews." Governor General Kaulbars, addressing a deputation of Hebrews, said: "I vouch for my soldiers, but I am unable to say what the cossacks or Christian civilians might do." The slightest incident might start trouble.

EXPLOSION KILLS FOUR

Powder and Dynamite House Near Robertsdale, Pa., Blown Up.

Mount Union, Pa., July 24.—Four men were killed and five injured in an explosion in the powder and dynamite house belonging to Jesse O. McClain near Robertsdale, Huntingdon county. The dead are: Milton Rohrer, of Fallville, Pa.; Jefferson Ryan, Robertsdale; Edward Alloway, Robertsdale; Alexander Miller, Fallville.

Injured are: Daniel Black, Woodvale; James Hayes, Robertsdale; Charles Clunt, Pogue; H. F. Arnold, Woodvale; Milton Ramsey, Robertsdale.

The magazine was situated half way between Robertsdale and Woodvale, the southern terminus of the East Broad Top railroad, and from it the miners daily obtained the necessary explosives for use in the mines. A number of the miners went into the powder house and a moment later the whole place was blown to pieces. The cause of the explosion is unknown but it is supposed that one of the men who entered the building was smoking and through carelessness ignited the powder.

WON'T ARREST ROCKEFELLER

Attorney Guarantees His Appearance in Court At Findlay, O.

Findlay, O., July 24.—No attempt will be made to arrest John D. Rockefeller when he lands in New York next Saturday. Attorney Troup, of Bowling Green, O., representing Mr. Rockefeller, was here and secured the permission of Prosecutor David and Probate Judge Banker to enter Rockefeller's appearance in the latter's court, and this was accordingly done. Sheriff Groves still has the warrant, but on account of the turn of events will not attempt to serve it. The warrant was issued recently upon an information filed by Prosecutor David charging Mr. Rockefeller and the Standard Oil company with alleged violation of the Valentine anti-trust law.

Ward, aged 26 years, and Edward Grace, the same age, both of Wilmington, were driving across the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Marshall's Crossing, south of this city, they were struck by a train, and Ward was instantly killed and Grace so badly injured that he died in a hospital two hours later. It is believed they failed to hear the approaching train.

Sharks Devour Bather's Body.

Wildwood, N. J., July 23.—A human arm, torn from the shoulder, was found on the beach off the jetty at the head of Shelling avenue. It was identified as that of young Jesse Hunt, of Vineland, who was drowned while bathing. Undertaker Ingersoll took charge of the member and Coroner Thompson will hold an inquest. It is the belief of officials that the body of the unfortunate young man has been devoured by sharks.

Lady Curzon Buried.
