THE FIREMEN'S CONVENTION NEXT A NEW AIR LINE RAILBOAD .- At last the making big preparations for their annual WEEK .- The holding of the Central Pennhere next week will undoubtedly bring thousands of people to Bellefonte. The committee of arrangements have been working untiringly and have most of the preparations completed. Wednesday morning the delegate meeting for the election of officers and the transaction of such business as will come before the convention will be held in the court house and will be open only to the regularly elected delegates. Thursday afternoon the various competitive contests will be held for which good prizes are offered. Thursday will be the big parade and it is expected that no less than one thousand firemen and numerous bands will be in line, as the one fare excursion rate offered to firemen should result in a large turnout.

And with this prospect in view Bellefonte should give the visitors a warm welcome. Every business man should see that his place of business is properly decorated and no effort should be spared to make the strangers feel at home. As the hotel accommodations of the town will hardly be sufficient for all who will be here those willing to take boarders for the two days should make their desires known early to R. B. Montgomery.

FAILING TO MAKE A LIVING HE SHOT HIMSELF.-Blair S. Yeager, of late a resi dent of Altoona, shot and killed himself in the Logan house, at DuBois last Wednesday morning, where he had been boarding only a few days. He left a postal card addressed to his wife in which he gave as the reason for taking his life that he "was sick and could not make a living."

Yeager was fifty-two years old. He was born at Birmingham. His father was a farmer and for a number of years the family lised in the Warriorsmark valley and at

Centre Line, this county. They quit farming and Yeager worked at various trades, one of which was that of a machinist. He became the owner of a shooting gallery which he operated in various towns throughout the central part of the State, and several years ago was in Bellefonte for several months, and will be remembered by the people of this place as well as residents of Halfmoon valley. He had gone to DuBois to run his shooting gallery. He was married to Miss Anna M. Raybold, of Warriorsmark, and is survived by his wife and four daughters ; also several brothers and sisters. The body was taken to Altoona for interment.
