Geo. M. Dimeling, the Democratic candidate for State Senate in the Thirty-fourth noon at 3 o'clock from the house, intersenatorial district comprising the counties of Centre and Clearfield, was born in Boggs township, Clearfield county, Peunsylvania, September 12 h, 1862, and was educated in His spare moments were utilized for his personal improvement and were spent in the study of the various works which the age of 13 years necessity compelled him to seek employment in the lumber woods and he therefore learned early in life every phase of the work of the logging and tim-bering business. When only 17 years of age he hegan as a pilot on Clearfield creek and the Susquehanna river and "run" a large raft of timber to market at that age. He continued in the lumber business until elected county treasurer in 1893 and has been in the business ever since and is at the present time extensively engaged in lumbering. Endowed with exceptional business ability and sagacity and possessed of the qualities that win, such as industry, sobriety, indomnitable energy, strict in tegrity and undoubted honesty he strode rapidly to the front ranks in the political and business fields. In 1898 Geo. M. Dimeling was elected county chairman and it was largely through his efforts that George Weaver was elected county treas-urer. In 1899 he was again elected county chairman but his business interests requiring his absence from the county seat much of his time he resigned during that year. In 1903 he was prevailed upon because of his past record for fairness to all factious and elements of the Democratic party, to again accept the county chairman-ship which he did, the well known result being the election of Hon. Allison O. Smith president judge. In 1904 Mr. Dimeling again resigned as chairman. He has resided in Clearfield since 1894 before which time he was a citizen of Bigler township from 1890 to 1894.. During these years he was lumbering there and it was from this township that he was elected county treasurer in 1893

As we said George M. Dimeling by dint of industry, sobriety, integrity and per-sistent application to business and without any early advantages, has won his way into the confidence of the larger business as its sphere widened to him and held it upon merit alone and as a pioneer citizen of Boggs township who knew him as a boy as well said "he deserves the highest honors that can be bestowed upon any native born citizen of Clearfield county." Always a conservative, consistent and considerate Democrat and worthy citizen he deserves the votes of the people without regard to party affiliations and if elected he will regard the office as a sacred trust imposed in him and he will guard the best interests of all the people he represents with his sacred honor.

END OF THE COUNTY FAIR -The Centre county fair came to an end last Friday, with the nicest weather of the week though that day was still too cold for comfort. Quite a large crowd was in attendance, estimated at about three thousand people, and naturally the races were the chief attraction as most every person there had already seen everything else there was to see.

When the WATCHMAN went to press last week Thursday's races had not been finished, hence we were unable to give them. There were two events, the 2:35 class and the 2:20. Both events were well contested. In the first Lock Haven horses took first and second money while Dave Wireman's horse took fourth. Irvin Gray's Majoretta took first money in the second event. The summaries follow:

2:35 trot and pace, purse $200. Proctor Knott, br. g., Hartman... Rex Alack, b. h., Fredericks..... All D. b. h., Reed... Brookling W., b. g., Wireman... Chester, sg., Stiver.... Rabby, b. h., Jones... Time, 2.26, 2.231/4, 2.25, 2.26 2.20 trot and pace' purse $250

The principal event in Friday's races was the free-for-all which was won by W. A. Porter's Shadeland P. with Gray's Sallie Derby coming in last in a field of four horses. This was somewhat of a disappoint. place, and a sister, Mrs. Carl McKinley, of ment to those who expected to see the time was not faster than 2:17. The summaries of the two events on Friday follow: 2.35 trot and pace (special) purse $203.

Considering the very bad weather the fair can be counted a success. There was everything there to warrant a large attendance and a good time for all and if the week the crowd every day would have been the Snow Shoe coal regions, about thirty three times as large as it was. He was a veteran of the Civil o'clock Sunday afternoon from the home Bellefonte Central railroad train and war, having served four years as a member of her grandparents, interment being made injured so badly that he died five hours later. As no person saw the accident it is not certain just how it occurred, but there are two theories :

One is that Gallagber was sitting on the edge of the brick paved platform, just south of the baggage 100m and as the train backed to allow the 8:16 train to come into the depot he was caught and thrown under the wheels. Another theory is that he mistook the Bellefonte Central for the train on the Bald Eagle and in attempting to get on it slipped and fell under the wheels of the train. Two cars, the tender and engine passed over him. His right leg was literally ground to a pulp while the left foot was badly mangled. He also suffered a number of cuts and bruises on his head and body.

He was as once taken to the Bellefoute hospital where a basty examination revealvealed the fact that he was past all human aid and no attempt was made to perform an operation. He died at 1:10 o'clock Saturday morning. Undertaker W. H. Neff, of Howard, came to Bellefonte and took the remains to that place where they were huried on Sunday afternoon.

James Gallagher was twenty-two years of age and was the son of Frank Gallagher. His father was run down by a train on the about fifteen years ago, and less than two years ago his brother John was struck by a train near Milesburg and badly burt. In addition to his brother he is survived by his mother, Mrs. McCummings, of this

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE. Late Friday evening J. D. Baudis, of Scotia, the man who bad the merry-goround on the fair grounds, attempted to commit suicide by drinking an ounce of laudanum. Baudis had been apparently in high spirits during the day. In the evening he retired to his tent and drank the laudanum. When discovered he was unconscious. He was taken to the Bellefonte hospital where several doctors worked with him most of the night and on Saturday morning he was pronounced out of
