

FARM NOTES.

Sunshine is cheap and healthful. Have plenty of it in the stable. As the cows gradually change from pasture to dry foods, feed liberally, even better than in the depth of winter.

FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN.

DAILY THOUGHT. Evil was called Youth till he was old, and then he was called Old till he was dead.

Though we women no longer dress to look like members of an institution, to the utter destruction of individuality, and much more lazily is permissible as to material, out and color than a few years since, there is every season one predominant color. This year it bids fair to be black for every possible occasion.

For black is to be in prime favor for both day and evening. It is prominent in every material, serge, panama, calico, silk, crepe de chine, roxans, calico, gyp, crispine, marquisette, radium net and gauze—and the poor blonde or high-colored brunette may rejoice in the happy consciousness that she will look her best this coming season.

A feature of the new black is that much of it is embroidered in heavy serges as well as fine henrietas, and silk-and-wool collonnes show silk embroidered figures, rings and dots scattered over the surface at somewhat wide intervals. Charming voiles are seen with openwork silk figures that give a very novel touch.

The old-time black grenadine is in again strongly for this winter, both in the plain barred mesh and in fancy weaves. The chiffon grenadine in shadow effects is particularly lovely.

Black crepe de chine and chiffon voile will make stylish house and theatre gowns, especially if it has the new shadow checks and stripes.

For the woman who thinks the light materials now worn in winter a downright temptation of Providence there is always checks, which are specially effective with the high lustre of the cloth. The chiffon broadcloth, so popular recently is not found to be as satisfactory as the ordinary weaves.

Every other hat you see has plaid on it somewhere caught up into a rosette or more often, into the great bow that is so irresistibly reminiscent of the sash of our childhood days. The way that bow at the back fits down over the hair is the prettiest thing imaginable.

But—a great big but—those plaids are being done to death as violently as were the peacock feathers of last spring. It's only a question of time—and a short time at that—when they'll go out with a bang, except for school hats and the like.

Paris is indulging in the dearest booties imaginable—shoes that are made of finest kid and buttoned instead of laced, the buttons set more closely together than they've been for these many years in which mannish styles have held sway.

HE BROKE ALL RECORDS

New York, Nov. 3.—The United States now holds the record of "furthest north," 87 degrees 6 minutes. This feat was accomplished by Commander Robert E. Peary, of the United States navy. The intrepid Arctic explorer failed to reach the North Pole, as he had confidently hoped to do with his specially constructed vessel, the Roosevelt, but he penetrated nearer to the pole than the Duke of Abruzzi's expedition, which had held the Arctic record, 86 degrees, 34 minutes. What Commander Peary did and his experiences during the past year in the frozen north are rather briefly, but certainly vividly, summarized in a communication received by Herbert L. Bridgeman, secretary of the Peary Arctic Club. This communication follows:

"Herbert L. Bridgeman—Roosevelt wintered north coast Grant Land, somewhat north of Alert winter quarters, north with sledges February via Hecla and Columbia. Delayed by open water 85 six days. Gale disrupted ice, destroyed caches, cut off communication with supporting bodies and drifted due east. Reached 87 degrees, 6 minutes, north latitude, over ice, drifting steadily eastward. Returning ate eight dogs. Drifted eastward, delayed by open water, reached north coast of Greenland in straitened conditions. Killed musk oxen and returned along Greenland coast to ship. Two supporting parties driven on north coast Greenland. One rescued by me in starving condition. After one week recuperation on Roosevelt sledged west, completing north coast Grant Land, and reached other land near 100th meridian. Homeward voyage incessant battle with ice, storms and head winds. Roosevelt magnificent ice fighter and sea boat. No deaths or illness in expedition. PEARY."

After furnishing the Associated Press the contents of Commander Peary's report, Mr. Bridgeman said that the receipt of any news from the explorer now was quite a surprise to him, because he had supposed it had become too late in the season for Commander Peary to send news of his venture. Mr. Bridgeman added that the message spoke for itself, and that since he did not know more of the results of Commander Peary's effort to reach the North Pole than the public did he could hardly comment upon the dispatch. There was little doubt, however, he said, that Commander Peary was coming home.

The previous record for the point nearest the pole was made by Captain Cagni, of the Duke of Abruzzi's Italian expedition, who reached 86.34 north, or within 237 statute miles of the pole. The point reached by Peary, 87.6, placed him about 203 miles from the North Pole.

Commander Peary's polar steamship, the Roosevelt, left New York on her long journey in search of the North Pole July 16, 1905. The Roosevelt was built in Maine and came down to New York, where she was refitted before starting. The vessel, for which funds were furnished by the Peary Arctic Club of New York, was designed by Naval Architect William E. Wyant for Arctic exploration. The Roosevelt had a crew of 29 men, under Captain Bartlett.

Was 102 Years Old. Findlay, O., Nov. 6.—Mrs. Anna Depew, one of the oldest residents of Ohio, died at her home in Wharton. Her age was 102 years, and she has been a resident of Wyandotte county for the last half century, removing there from New York state. She was related to Senator Depew.

DIES OF FRIGHT IN HOSPITAL

Lad With Two Crushed Fingers Collapses. Trenton, Nov. 5.—Surgeons at McKinley hospital are convinced that John August, 17 years old, died of fright. The lad had two fingers crushed in a mill where he was employed and was taken to the hospital for treatment. The surgeons found that they would have to amputate the fingers. A nurse was about to administer an anesthetic when the youth collapsed. The surgeons used every possible means of restoring him, but without avail.

Gored to Death by Enraged Bull. Gallipolis, O., Nov. 5.—Charles D. Bailey, 76 years old, who lived two miles above Gallipolis, was attacked by an enraged bull while crossing a field and gored to death. Mr. Bailey was one of the most prominent farmers in this section. He was a former member of the state board of agriculture, and served for many years as commissioner of Gallia county.

Thirty-nine Horses Cremated. Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 5.—Fire destroyed the livery stables of William Hamilton & Sons, 5307 Fifth avenue, East End, cremating 39 horses and burning 36 carriages. The loss is about $60,000. The wife of one of the drivers, with her two children, were rescued by firemen when nearly dead from suffocation. The origin of the fire is not known.

Child Accidentally Killed at Play. Midway, Pa., Nov. 6.—Hazel Nitch, 4 years old, was accidentally shot and killed by her nephew, Wallace Chambers, 5 years old. The children were playing in a room alone, and the boy found a revolver, which he discharged, accidentally killing the girl.

Four Negroes Saved from Mob. Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 30.—The sheriff of Conway county brought four negroes to the state penitentiary, where they are held to escape the fury of a mob. The negroes fired upon several white people near Morrilton. William Moore, a white man, was killed, and Joseph Jones was wounded. The sheriff had difficulty in getting his prisoners across the river.

Smokes Many Cigarettes and Dies. Scranton, Pa., Nov. 5.—Anthony Roman, whose average was 40 cigarettes a day, died in the Carbonade hospital, and the physicians declare it was the result of his smoking.

Medical.

Dozens of Dizziness. Come to Hundreds of Bellefonte people. There are days of dizziness; Spills of headache, dizziness, backache; Sometimes rheumatic pains; Often urinary disorders. All tell you plainly the kidneys are sick. Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.

Mrs. Rebecca M. Lighty, wife of W. L. Lighty, railroad employe, of 301 W. 14th St., Tyrone, Pa., says: "My husband suffered for years with his kidneys. He suffered a great deal of pain and was lame across the loins. Any work that required stooping or heavy lifting was especially hard on him and at such times the pain in his back would become grinding and severe, and spells of dizziness would attack him. He was also much troubled with the kidney secretions. His sister who was living with us at the time, insisted on his trying Doan's Kidney Pills. She was confident that they would cure him. That was in 1897. He took several boxes of them and found complete relief. I never hear him complaining as he used to before he took them. Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly a fine remedy."

Paris is indulging in the dearest booties imaginable—shoes that are made of finest kid and buttoned instead of laced, the buttons set more closely together than they've been for these many years in which mannish styles have held sway.

Even dress shoes have crept up from the once-obliging pump, and the prettiest white booties give the foot that slim, graceful look that is the goal toward which every Parisienne strives.

These are the days when the careful and thoughtful homemaker is laying plans for the alterations and improvements she will make to her house in the fall. Few of us realize what a lot of little details must be thought out in the decorating and arranging of every room.

We will take for example the dining room, and do the room entirely over. The first point to consider is what shall the wall treatment be, but if the room must be done at little cost, the choice will have to be wallpaper. If the room has a southern exposure and plenty of light we can use almost any color, but if it is dark, as our dining rooms so often are, we must be careful to have a paper with warm colors, that will light up well and not throw gloomy shadows. Nothing is nicer for a dining room than sunny appearance, and is warm enough for winter and cool enough for summer. I should use either a plain felt or a yellow-striped paper.

The woodwork should be painted ivory white, two coats being put on before the papering, and a third coat added afterward. If the doors are not too high, a shell built on top of them with three or four pieces of china on it of good bold design adds a decorative note. Corner shelves are always an improvement to a room, besides being a great convenience, and window seats should be built in wherever possible. These can be made very easily by the home carpenter. In putting in the shelves it is best to paint them first, and then add the last coat after they are up and the nailholes filled in with putty.

A stained floor is the most serviceable for a dining room. This can easily be done by an amateur if it is a softwood floor. First the floor must be thoroughly cleaned, then a thick coat of good paint applied, preferably dark mahogany in color mixed with varnish, which can be bought prepared. When this is dry give it a second coat. It is best to do the floor when the temperature of the room is over 60 degrees. This floor will look nice for a long time, if, instead of cleaning it with water or oil, a cleaner is applied, made of equal parts of linseed oil, turpentine and Japan.

The floor covering should be a carpet rug, of green, or one of the new hard wovens of the same color, with touches of yellow in the border. These are particularly nice as they are washable, and spots can be easily taken out with a scrub brush and soap and water.

The choice of furniture must be largely governed by the pocketbook. The prettiest thing to have is old mahogany furniture. Such a piece as this is a good investment, as the wood is well seasoned, and there is little danger of its warping or coming apart; but for those who cannot afford mahogany furniture, and must furnish their dining room in the cheapest way possible, I would suggest that they buy kitchen chairs, unfinished, of simple design, and paint them white or mahogany color. Such chairs can be bought for 75 cents or $1, and are very artistic. Instead of a sideboard get a kitchen table with drawers if possible, and put three shelves, the length of the table and about a foot apart, above it. This is very decorative with plates arranged at the back of the shelves and vegetable dishes, etc., on them. This should be painted to match the chairs.

To derive the best results from straw when it is used for bedding and manure it should be cut fine with an ensilage cutter. While the whole straw in the stalls answers the purpose well, yet it does not possess the power of absorbing the liquids until it is broken up. When passed through the cutter it is instantly made fine, and it then almost equal to dry dirt. The same may be said of shredded cornstalks. It is of more advantage to pass them through the shredder than to throw them out to be trampled, as they can also be used with cut straw in the stalls. When the fine materials and manure are thrown on the heap there will be no coarse pieces to rot, and with less of the valuable constituents than when the straw and stalks are uncut, while the labor of handling and spreading such manure will be reduced to a minimum cost.
