WITH THE HUNTERS-Even now, though the season has been closed one week, it is impossible to give an accurate count of the number of deer killed in Centre county during the open season, but an estimate based on what knowledge the writer has been able to obtain, would place the number at from seventy-five to one hundred. And of this total, the most of them were captured the first two days of the season. -If you noticed the bandage on Hugh So far as can be learned the Chamberssuccessful, they bringing in thirteen deer. automobile which slipped when he was try- hunters got ten deer in the neighborhood of Eddy Lick. Other parties got anywhere from six down to one deer. Of bear there have been about fifteen killed in the county so far, and they are still reported quite plentiful. When it comes to smaller game it is hard to make an estimate. But there were at least two hundred wild turkeys killed in the county, with hundreds of pheasants, rabbits, squirrels, etc., so that the season can be regarded as a most suc-

But even with all this every party that went out was not successful. The Panthers. of this place, spent the entire fifteen days in the Scootac region and came home without a thing. In fact the only game they got during the whole two weeks were six pheasants. They saw only three deer and they were all out of shooting distance. They did have scent of a couple bears that endeavored to pay them a fraternal visit in their camp, but several of the party became so excited over the near approach of bruin and made so much noise that the animals simply walked away without being seen. Of course there is bardly any doubt but new novelties for the Holidays at very that other hunting parties had just as peculiar experiences only they have thus far been too modest to relate the same.

RECEPTION TO PASTOR. - Rev. Ralph H. Bergstresser and bride, after a ten days wedding trip, arrived at their home in Pine Grove Mills vesterday and the pastor's loyal friends and supporters gave them a royal welcome. The members of the Wom an's Missionary society were in charge and sonage and putting everything in apple-pie order. Then to cap the climax they prepared a most appetizing supper for the reverend and his wife. Of course the people of the town were out in full force to receive them, and also quite naturally, the new Mrs. Berestresser was the centre of attraction. She is a most lovable young woman, highly accomplished in every way and one who is well fitted for the life partner of such a popular preacher as her husband. In fact, so pleasantly did the time pass away that it was a late hour when everybody had said good night and gone bome.

THE CHICKENS CAME BACK. - Last week's WATCHMAN contained an eight line local announcing that "if the woman who dropped the hairpin pear Rev. Crittenden's chicken coop and incidentally carried away could get her hairpin." Like the "cat that came back" the chickens have also come back. Rev. Crittenden was away from home from Saturday afternoon until Monday morning and on going to his chicken coop Monday noon he was agreeably surprised to find therein the four missing chickens. As to the hairnin, Rev. Ceittenden having no use for it himself, turned it over to the proper authorities who will restore it to the rightful owner on application in person.
