

President Submits to Senate More Evidence of Brownsville Affray.

ACTED WITH LEGAL POWER

Washington, Jan. 15. — President Roosevelt sent to the senate a special message regarding the Brownsville incident, which gives the additional evidence collected by Assistant Attorney General Purdy and Major Blockson, who were sent to Texas by the president to investigate the affair. The president submitted with his message various exhibits, including maps of Brownsville and Fort Brown, a bandoleer, 33 empty shells, seven ball cartridges picked up in the streets a few hours after the shooting; three steel-jacketed bullets and some scraps of the casings of other bullets picked out of the houses into which they had been fired.

The president declares that the evidence is positive that the outrages of August 13 were committed by some of the colored troops that have been dismissed, and that some or all of the members of the three companies of the 25th infantry had knowledge of the deed and have shielded the guilty persons. The negro troops are referred to by the president in his message as "midnight assassins," and he declares that very few, if any, of the soldiers dismissed "without honor" could have been ignorant of what occurred. That part of the order which bars the soldiers from all civil employment under the government is revoked by the president. This clause, the president says, was lacking in validity. The discharged troops, however, will be forever barred from re-enlisting in the army or navy, and as to this the president says that "there is no doubt of my constitutional and legal power."

The president reiterates his former statement that the facts not only warranted his action, they demanded it, and made such an order imperative. The failure to take the dismissal action would have found him false to his duty to the nation.

He adds further that his action cannot be reversed or even reviewed save by another executive order. The constitution so provides.

Secretary Taft's report, giving the sworn testimony of witnesses, is transmitted with the message. The testimony of 14 eye witnesses is given, and the president declares that the evidence is conclusive that the weapons used were Springfield rifles now used by United States troops, including the negro troops who were in the garrison at Brownsville.

Senator Mallory, indorsing the action of the president, opened the discussion. He held that the president might have gone too far in preventing the re-enlistment of the soldiers involved, but otherwise he approved the president's order of discharge.

When Senator Clay, who followed, took the floor, the debate was given a lively turn by Mr. Tillman's interruptions.

Mr. Clay said the people of Georgia heartily indorsed the president's order. Senator Bacon followed with what he said was reported as a precedent for the Brownsville order in the discharge of the company of South Carolina National Guardsmen by Senator Tillman when he was governor. This involved Senator Tillman again in the debate.

Senator Spooner was in the midst of a constitutional discussion of the authority of the president in the case when adjournment was taken. Senator Spooner urges that when the president exercises his powers as commander-in-chief of the army the senate has no jurisdiction. He also contended that congress has no power to legislate specifically to restore the soldiers discharged in the present case, declaring that review can only be had by impeachment proceedings, which must originate in the house of representatives.

Several senators have indicated that they intend to discuss the question, and the Brownsville debate is, therefore, likely to absorb the attention of the senate for several days.

$1,000,000 FIRE AT LANCASTER

Two Big Tobacco Factories and Five Dwellings Burned.
Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 12. — A fire which was discovered in the tobacco warehouse of S. R. Moss & Company caused a loss approximating $1,000,000. A delay in turning in the alarm gave the fire a good start, and when the firemen arrived it was beyond their control. The structure was a four-story brick, with basement, and was well filled with tobacco. The flames communicated to Moss' cigar factory adjoining, a five-story brick building, which was also destroyed, the north and south walls of both structures falling down. When the south wall of the cigar factory collapsed the only truck of the fire department was buried in the debris and a number of the firemen had narrow escapes from death or injury. The loss on the warehouse is placed at $300,000 and on the cigar factory at $200,000.

The warehouse of the American Cigar company, to the north of the Moss buildings, caught fire, but was not greatly damaged. It is feared, however, that the company's loss on the contents will be very heavy from water and smoke. To the east of the cigar factory five dwellings were completely gutted. On the opposite side of the street are several large tobacco warehouses, and in their rear the immense freight sheds of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. The wind swept the flames against these warehouses, and as the fire apparently was beyond the control of the local firemen appeals were made to Harrisburg and Columbia for help, the request being later countermanded.

Spring Mills.

Commercial agents stopping off here report business on the road as being very light, or as some remarked, "all fired" dull since the holidays.

Miss Orpha Gramley, one of our school teachers, has been quite ill for the past few days. Her classes are in charge of her father, Titus Gramley.

A granddaughter of Henry Royer, of near Penn Cave station, a child of four or five years old, died very unexpectedly on Sunday evening last.

We had quite a little snow storm here on Friday night last, and the weather having moderated, made walking on Saturday and Sunday a very miserable operation.

Jesse Long, occupying the Corman farm a mile or two above the village, will move to Barham the coming spring. We have now a dozen or more of our people employed in that busy and lively town.

The Ripka brothers will discontinue business here on April 1st. We are very sorry to learn this as it is a pleasure to transact business with gentlemen of their affable and pleasing manners. The residence and store room will be occupied by Ezra Finkle, at present engaged in business at Kote.

J. H. Riesel, of Farmers Mills, will erect a residence and store room on the site formerly occupied by C. J. Finkle, which was destroyed by fire a few years ago. That able architect and builder, John Hagan, will have charge of the work and will commence operations as soon as the weather permits.

Our people were considerably startled on Friday morning last, and until the supposed cause was ascertained, everybody thought we had had an earthquake. Windows, doors and dishes rattled in about every house in town, and it is still thought to have been an earthquake, as a shock at about the same time was felt in Europe, and it seems improbable, too, that the report of an explosion could be so wide spread and felt so perceptibly at a distance of so many miles from the scene of its occurrence.

Local Sabbath Observance Report.

After a successful beginning, your committee is suddenly and unexpectedly blocked by a dairyman who, at the outset, encouraged us to go forward in a movement for the relief of Sunday milk delivery in Bellefonte. We have the signatures of all his patrons applied to, save one, consenting to a delivery on Saturday evening of a sufficient supply for the Sabbath day. Several letters were written to him and no word of explanation for non-compliance on his part is received from him. Other dairymen have expressed their willingness to accept a united agreement. At present no forward move can be made by your committee for the furtherance of local Sabbath observance. One objector, not a dairyman, but engaged in local Sunday delivery, expressed the truth when he said "the doing of business has changed, and we have to conform." Verily so, but natural law with civil enactment and God's commands have not changed. Obligation to obedience is incumbent as ever. Most sincerely desiring the highest prosperity of all our people in town and its vicinity, your committee is fully convinced by what is divinely and clearly revealed that there can be nothing gained worth having, but certain irretrievable loss by the transgression of God's holy laws. I would rather be beaten in the right than to succeed in the wrong. It goes without saying that, sure as death, there is DANGER somewhere that can be averted only by righteous action in obedience to the sacred commandments "given by inspiration of God."

R. C. CRITTENDEN,
Chairman of the Local Sabbath Observance committee, by appointment of the Bellefonte Ministerial Association.

In Memoriam.

WHEREAS, God in His all-wise providence has been pleased to take from us one of these little ones, Harry Homan, therefore;

Resolved, That by his removal the primary department of the Boalsburg Sunday school loses a regular attendant;

Resolved, That we extend to the bereaved ones our heartfelt sympathy and commend them to Him who comforts those who mourn;

Resolved, That this memorial be published in the county papers and a copy be sent to the home.

—A Lancashire vicar was asked by the choir to call upon old Betty, who was deaf, but who insisted in joining in the solo of the anthem, and ask her only to sing in the hymns.

He shouted in her ear, "Betty, I've been requested to speak to you about your singing."

At last she caught the word "singing," and replied, "Not to me be the praise, sir: it's a gift." —Unitarian Life.

Books, Magazines Etc.

Highest Trump Cards.

The Pittsburgh Sunday Dispatch is always doing something enterprising, but its latest coup really takes every trick and leaves the table clear. Its tabloid magazine section of 32 pages, printed on superfine paper and artistically illustrated, outshines every opposition in that line, and now there have been added four new comic pages, making the greatest comic department published by any newspaper. All the old comic favorites — Peck's Bad Boy, Little Growling Bird, Madge the Magician's Daughter and the rest — have been retained, and another complete set, including Val and the Ventriloquist, Barney Blue, Little Allright, Sawdust Sim and still more, have been added, making a series of comics containing easily a thousand laughs.

Free magazine, worth ten cents, with every copy of the Philadelphia Sunday Press, every week. Best magazine published — stories, pictures, verse. Famous contributors. Get the Press every day — you get all that's worth having.
