THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

Miss Keturah Rider is now assistant cashier in Joseph Bros. & Co's store. The venerable James R. Alexander is very ill at his home at Sunnyside. March came in mostly like a lamb but it has been very much like a lion since. A big baby boy came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Jodon on Tuesday morning. Only two weeks more of winter then spring will be with us, groundhog or no groundhog. At the Gentzel-Bezer horse sale at Millheim on Monday sixteen horses brought an average price of $327. Wednesday, March 27th, largest stock sale in Pennsylvania. Look out for ad. in next week's paper. Mrs. Frank Warfield entertained for Miss Mary Harris Weaver, Thursday afternoon, with a kitchen shower. The Y. M. C. A. management now have men at work fixing the second floor of the building on High street occupied by W. Harrison Walker Esq., for use as an office. John Eckle, of Penn Hall, has accepted a position with L. C. Gettig, the butcher, and will move his family here by April first and occupy a house on Lamb street. Mr. and Mrs. John Shutt are mourning the death of their two weeks old baby, Helen, who died on Monday morning of pneumonia, and was buried on Tuesday afternoon. The condition of Mr. John Rishel, of Benner township, which was reported so much better last week, has taken a turn for the worse and he is again in a precarious condition. Mr. L. H. Musser has rented part of George A. Bezer's livery stable and after the first of April will use it as a place to store the machinery for which he is agent, as well as any horses he may conclude to handle. The Keichline machine shop on Water street, out near the big spring, is almost completed and it will only be a short time now until it will be equipped and will be ready for any work in his line given him. Theodore Green, who was adjudged insane several weeks ago because he shot at and threatened to kill his sister some time previous, was taken to the Danville asylum on Monday by sheriff Henry Kline and R. B. Montgomery. John Porter Lyon has made some changes in his garage in the Bush Arcade. His office has been moved to the small room next Water street and he is now using all of the big room next for storage and work room purposes. At a congregational meeting of the Lutheran church last Sunday Rev. Barry, a graduate student of Susquehanna University, was elected to fill the vacancy which has existed in the pastorate since the resignation of Rev. Reirik. Rev. Mr. Schmidt has accepted an invitation to preach before the students of Mercersburg College next Sunday. There will be no services, therefore, in St. John's Reformed church on Sunday, March 10th, except Sunday school at 9.45 a. m. Rev. Edgar G. Richardson, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church, was so ill on Sunday that he was not able to officiate at the evening church service, although he preached in the morning. He has since considerably improved and is able to be around again. The Tyrone basket ball team came to Bellefonte last Friday, fresh from an overwhelming victory over the Bellwood team, and that evening played the Bellefonte Academy five in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, being defeated by the latter by the score of 24 to 19. Saturday morning Peter Mendis built a fire in his smoke house then started down town. He had not gone very long until some of the sausage fell from the peg on which it was hanging into the flames with the result that there was a fire of far bigger proportions than desired. George Kniely is now the owner of an automobile, although so far he has not been showing off on the streets. Of course there is a reason, and it is that the "mobile" is just a little too small, being only about three inches long. It came to him by express from Philadelphia on Tuesday and accompanying it was a card which explained that it was a present from "John and Red"—John Henderson and Fred Lane. Monday afternoon Misses Margaret Barnett and Helen Valentine were coming down High street in a buggy, the former doing the driving. Crossing the bridge over Spring creek they turned around to go back up the street. Miss Barnett pulled the horse around so short that the hind wheel of the buggy struck the middle truss, overturning the vehicle and throwing both young ladies out. Passersby caught the horse before he had time to run away, though Miss Barnett pluckily held on to the lines, and when the buggy was righted jumped in and drove the horse to the livery stable. Neither of the girls were hurt.

JACOB FROM AND HIS SON JAMES ARRESTED ON THE CHARGE OF HAVING SHOT JOSIAH DALE.—Just when most people had begun to think that the case had been dropped the authorities sprung a surprise and created quite a sensation by arresting Jacob From and his son James, of Centre Hall, as suspects on the charge of having shot and killed Josiah Dale on the evening of November 12th. The particulars are yet fresh in the minds of all readers of the WATCHMAN. Mr. Dale had been to his farm on the top of Nittany mountain husking corn on Monday, November 12th. That evening he left the farm house about 6.30 o'clock in a top buggy to drive to Centre Hall. Mrs. Moyer, wife of Andrew Moyer, who was the tenant on the Dale farm, is the last known person who saw him alive. When he did not arrive home on time and had not returned at close to nine o'clock Mrs. Dale became alarmed and summoned some of her neighbors, among whom was ex-sheriff Cyrus Brungart. They secured lanterns and started on a search. Going first to the barn they saw the horse and buggy coming down the alley. The faithful animal went to the barn and it was then discovered that Mr. Dale's lifeless body was hanging over the dash board. At first it was thought his death the result of natural causes and it was only after he had been carried into the house and an examination made that it was discovered he was the victim of a most foul and cowardly murder. That he had been shot in the back by some party unknown and that the person who did the deed had fired at very close range. Naturally every effort was at once put forth by the authorities to discover some trace or clue to the identity of the murderer or murderers, but aside from the card-board used in the cartridge, which was found in the back part of the buggy box, and which showed that the weapon used had been a No. 10 gauge shot-gun, not another clue could be obtained. Finally the county commissioners decided to employ outside assistance and A. L. Millard, chief of the Standard detective agency, of Philadelphia, was sent for and arrangements made to go to work on the case. Before the twentieth of November there were two detectives on the ground and they remained there continuously for three weeks or a month before it was learned that anybody was working on the case. A number of persons were under suspicion and by ingratiating themselves into the good graces of everybody the detectives sought to obtain some clue that would at least give them a start. What they learned at that time and since has, of course, not been made public. The two men who were on the case first were finally withdrawn and Mr. Millard himself went to work on it. After carefully considering every feature of the case he last week felt that he would be justified in arresting Mr. From and his son. Accordingly early Friday morning he went to Centre Hall and leisurely proceeded to the From home. There he found Mr. From doing the family washing. Mr. From was apparently ill at ease but Mr. Millard appeared to take no notice of this fact but questioned him about his neighbors and whether they did much gossiping. Finally he asked if Jim was at home and Mr. From said he was not but was at a downtown store. Millard made a few more casual remarks then left and proceeded down town. He found Jim in a store and called him out. After talking with him a few minutes Millard told him he would like to see his gun. The young man at once flared up and swore he could not see his gun under any circumstances. Millard kept his temper and argued with him calmly for a few minutes when James consented to go along home and get the gun and show it to him. When the two returned to the house Mr. From flew into a rage and ordered the detective off his premises. Millard quite naturally did not go but instead argued with him and tried to show him how foolish were his actions, finally proposing that they all go down to the "requisite" office where the two men should make depositions as to where they were the evening Dale was killed. After some persuasion they agreed to do so though Mr. From wanted the other two to go ahead and he would follow later. This, of course, Millard refused to do and the consequence was the three went to the office of W. B. Mingle where Millard asked Jim if he would swear the gun then in his hands was his and that it had not been out of his possession on the day or night of the murder. Jim unhesitatingly made the required affidavit, then Millard told them that they would both have to come along with him to Bellefonte. They were very much crestfallen and taken aback, accusing the detective of tricking them into his hands and at the same time maintaining their innocence. Warrants for their arrest were duly made out and served and when a carriage had been secured Millard told them he had another unpleasant duty to perform and drew his handcuffs from his pocket. Mr. From submitted with bad grace but his son declared that he would not be handcuffed and it was only after the detective threatened to use force that the young man sullenly submitted. About this time a local photographer appeared on the scene and tried to take a snap-shot of the two men but they threw their coats over their heads and frustrated all attempts to get a picture of them. They were brought to Bellefonte at noontime on Friday and lodged in jail, after both undergoing a thorough search at the hands of the deputy sheriff. Nothing but a few keys were found in their pockets. Both men were looked in steel cells, the father at one end of the corridor and the son at the other, so that they have no possible means of communication. When locked up Mr. From cried and bewailed his arrest and incarceration very much, but his son only appeared morosely quiet. The Froms have been residents of Centre Hall for about fifteen years or more. For a number of years Mr. From carried on huckstering and of late had been doing a retail butchering business. He and Mr. Dale had not been friends for years; in fact they were to have had a lawsuit before justice of the peace John M. Keichline on November 13th, the very day after Dale was shot and killed. Quite naturally the Froms protest their innocence and bewail their present situation in no unmeasured terms. They declare that they can prove their whereabouts the entire evening of November 12th. If they can do this in a satisfactory manner of course they will have to be discharged in due time. On the other hand the authorities claim that they have some very damaging evidence against them—in fact, a pretty strong case. Mr. From has employed to defend him and his son John M. Keichline Esq., while ex-Judge John G. Love has been engaged to assist district attorney W. G. Runkle in the prosecution. A habeas corpus hearing will likely be given the Froms on March 16th, at which time it will develop if the Commonwealth has evidence enough to justify holding them for trial. In this issue of the WATCHMAN will be found the auditor's statement of the expenses of the county for the year 1906. Every reader can peruse it for himself and then he can see just what was done with the taxes collected. Bellefonters who are at the head of the movement for the organization of a local lodge of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, have leased the Larimer property on High street, opposite the court house, and will have it fixed up as lodge rooms. George Y. Meek, a former Centre county but who for a number of years past has been farming in Sinking valley, Blair county, has decided to retire from agriculture and will make sale of his entire line of farm stock, etc., on Thursday, March 14th. The WATCHMAN force is under unpeppable obligations to Mr. George Musser, of Boggs township, for a treat of some of his big apples which he brought in and donated one day last week. Mr. Musser is one of the efficient school directors in Boggs township and every employee in this office unites in assuring him that his apples are just as delicious as he is big-hearted—and to express that properly is beyond the limit of our wisest verbiage. Last Saturday evening about thirty members of his congregation gave Rev. and Mrs. John Victor Royer, of Altoona, a surprise party in the shape of a handsome donation. Every person present took with them big baskets heavily laden with not only good and substantial things to eat but many of the other necessities of life. Rev. Royer's many friends in Centre county will be glad to learn that his labors in the Master's vineyard are thus appreciated by his parishioners. In less than two weeks, or on Wednesday, March 20th, the annual Central Pennsylvania conference of the M. E. church will convene in the First church, Tyrone. Our neighboring brethren are making their usual elaborate and hospitable arrangements for the entertainment of the members of the conference and there is every assurance that they will be well taken care of. Quite a number of Methodists of Bellefonte will spend at least some time during the week in attending the conference. On the first of April Mrs. L. T. Munson will come into possession of her property on Allegheny street, the house now occupied by Mrs. J. P. Gephart, the latter expecting to take rooms in some convenient place. The Munsons do not intend to move into the Allegheny house but instead have planned to tear it down, fill up the lot level with the street then build a handsome new residence there; and to make it a most desirable home the house will be set back from the street so as to permit of a yard in front. In the meantime the Munsons have released the house in which they now live and will reside there the next year, as it will be fully a year before they will have their new home completed. Frances E. Pray, who has just resigned a position in the Bellefonte public schools to accept a similar one in the schools of Philipsburg, was the object of an unkind and unwarranted fling in the News of last Friday. The News intimates that Mr. Pray was unable to control his scholars when the exact opposite is the truth. It is a matter of general knowledge here that when Mr. Pray was put in charge of one of our schools it was practically uncontrollable. In a surprisingly short time he had it in complete subjection and inculcated ideals of behavior that have resulted in making it almost the model school in our system. His work in the North ward school has been quite efficient and if the truth has been told the writer the reason that he was not made a high school instructor last fall was purely because he was needed so badly in the North ward building. In the light of these facts it is an injustice for the News to cast any reflections, whatever, on Mr. Pray, whose resignation was entirely voluntary and whose work here was more than satisfactory.

PETER RIDER ACQUITTED.—In just one hour after the case was given into their hands the jury, last Saturday, returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of the Commonwealth against Peter Rider, tried for murder in the second degree for the shooting of thirteen-year-old Clyde Anuman from a chestnut tree in mistake for a squirrel on October 3rd, 1906. When the WATCHMAN went to press last week the case was on trial. In the absence of district attorney W. G. Runkle, who was confined to the house with sickness, the case was conducted for the Commonwealth by James A. B. Miller and Bower, Gettig & Zerby while N. B. Spangler was attorney for the defense. The first witness called was Mrs. Joseph Anuman, mother of the dead boy, who testified to his having been shot and dying the same evening as the result thereof. Samuel M. Campbell, of Millheim, the undertaker, testified to having prepared the body for burial. He found many shot in the boy's right arm, breast and face as well as bruises on his body. He extracted some of the shot, which were shown to the court and jury. He also identified the clothing worn by the boy at the time he was shot. Joseph Anuman, father of the boy, testified that he counted ninety-seven shot marks on the boy. He also described the chestnut tree on which the boy was when shot as being about twenty inches in diameter at the stump. It had not many limbs. The boy was on a branch about twenty feet from the ground when the shot was fired. Dr. G. S. Frank, of Millheim, testified to having been called to attend the boy. He counted ninety-seven shot marks and from the course they took the man who fired the shot must have been only about fifteen or twenty feet away from the tree. He stated that it was his opinion that the direct cause of death was the shock of the ball falling out of the tree. He admitted that it would not be an easy matter to see a boy in the top of a sixty foot tree by a man standing in the road, and especially if he had defective vision. Coroner P. S. Fisher testified to having held an inquest over the remains and that it was his opinion that death was the result of concussion of the brain caused by the shock and fall. T. B. Metz, W. M. Grove, Henry Snavely, James Anuman and S. G. Rote gave evidence bearing on the location of the tree and where the man who shot the boy must have been standing. After offering a little more evidence of a minor nature the Commonwealth rested. N. B. Spangler opened the case for the defense and the first witness called was Peter Rider, the defendant. His testimony was simply a repetition of the story he told when arrested, which was published in full in the WATCHMAN at that time. He admitted having fired the fatal shot, but protested that he did not see the boy in the tree, that his eyesight was defective and it was difficult for him to distinguish objects at that distance, especially when in the top of a leafy chestnut tree. Dr. R. G. H. Hayes testified to having made an examination of Mr. Rider's eyes and that he found the right one defective. A large number of witnesses were called who testified to the good character of the defendant and that he had always been considered a most careful hunter in the woods. The Commonwealth did not offer any evidence in rebuttal and argument was made in the case Friday afternoon by N. B. Spangler for the defense and W. D. Zerby for the Commonwealth. The court charged the jury Saturday morning and it took them only one hour to arrive at their verdict of not guilty. Rider was discharged and left for his home Saturday afternoon. SOCIAL CLUB FOR YOUNG WOMEN.—Through the instrumentality of Rev. Edgar G. Richardson rooms have been secured in the Reynolds block, over The Bellefonte Trust Co. which are being fitted up as club rooms for the young women of the town. They will be comfortably furnished and be equipped with a reading table, with the daily papers, standard magazines, etc.; a writing table with stationery, and games of various kinds. The rooms will be open from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night, and a matron will be in charge all the time. The society will be non-sectarian and will be open to all who care to avail themselves of the privileges offered; in fact, all young women of the town are urged to make the rooms the place where they can spend their leisure hours. After the place is properly started it will be easier to decide as to what will be needed to make it a place of not only pleasant recreation but profit to all. If you are a young woman and want a pleasant place to spend an afternoon or evening try visiting these rooms, after they are once opened, which will be some time next week. LICENSE COURT.—On Tuesday afternoon Judge Ellis L. Orvis heard the various applications for liquor license in Centre county. The petitions of all the old holders of license were heard without the presentations of any evidence or argument. As to the new petitioners they were represented by their attorneys in an argument or statement of facts as to why they believed themselves entitled to a license. Only one remonstrance was presented, and that was against the granting of a license at the hotel at Coburn, and it was a general remonstrance. After hearing the applications Judge Orvis named Saturday, March 16th, as the day on which he would hear any further argument or evidence that any of the applicants wished to present, especially new applicants. In the meantime he has not handed down any decisions so far, but may dispose of the old ones in a few days.

SELLERS—BRICKER.—A prett' wedding was celebrated at the Bricker home on Bishop street at 12 o'clock on Wednesday when Miss Lotta Bricker was united in marriage to Charles T. Sellers, of Waddie. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James B. Stein in the presence of a number of invited guests. Miss Elsie Sellers, a sister of the groom, played the wedding march. The young couple left on the afternoon train for their future home at Waddie, where a reception was tendered them yesterday. MOON—WENTZEL.—Announcement has just been made of the marriage in December last of Lawson Moon, of Blanchard, and Miss Mabel Wentzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wentzel, of Beech Creek. The wedding took place at the United Evangelical parsonage in Lock Haven, the ceremony being performed by Rev. M. F. Fosselman. BILGER—WITMER.—Harry E. Bilger, of Bellefonte, and Miss Laurena C. Witmer, of Pine Grove Mills, went to Lock Haven on Thursday, February 28th, and were married by Rev. F. W. Sobneffer, at his home on east Main street. REV. BOSTON INDUCTED INTO OFFICE.—Rev. Samuel L. Boston, of Pittsburg, who two months ago was selected as evangelist in the Huntingdon Presbytery, was admitted to the Presbytery and inducted into office in the Second Presbyterian church, Altoona, on Tuesday evening. The services incident thereto were quite elaborate and impressive. Rev. J. Allison Platt, of this place, delivered the charge to the evangelist and his remarks were well spoken of by the Altoona papers. Rev. Boston expects to make his home in Bellefonte. News Purely Personal —Miss Mary Graham, of Lewistown, was a Bellefonte visitor this week. —Edward S. Long, of Wingate, transacted business in Bellefonte Tuesday. —Miss Mary Brockerhoff left on Sunday for a month's sojourn at Atlantic City. —Orin Vall, of Philipsburg, paid this office a pleasant visit while in town Tuesday. —Mrs. A. M. McClain, of Ridgway, has been visiting friends in Bellefonte this week. —Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bartley, of Lock Haven, are visiting Mr. Bartley's parents in this place. —Col. and Mrs. J. L. Spangler left Bellefonte Sunday morning for a brief sojourn in Philadelphia. —Mrs. Will Katz with her bright little son Joe were arrivals home from New York city on Monday evening. —Miss Mollie Snyder left on Sunday for New York city to make her selection of Easter hats and millinery. —Joe Barnes and Miss Bessie Brouse spent Sunday in Lock Haven as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cupper. —Ex-Commissioner Geo. L. Goodhart and wife, of Centre Hall, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wagner Celes, Tuesday. —D. W. Schnarr, of Osceola, came over Monday night to look after his interests in a tavern license he applied for in his hometown. —Mrs. Rachel Noll has returned to her home in Pleasant Gap, after visiting for a week in Bellefonte, with her mother and sister, Mrs. Tale and Mrs. Fetterhoff. —Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gutman, who have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Joseph the past fortnight, left for their home in New York on Tuesday. —Signmund Joseph and Harry Holz returned last Saturday from a business trip to New York. They were accompanied home by Harry's sister, Mrs. Louis Friedman. —Miss Grace Marvin has returned from her home in New York and for the spring season will again be at the head of Joseph Bros. & Co's millinery department. —Miss M. V. Thomas, who frequently contributes poems of more than ordinary merit to the columns of the WATCHMAN, was a Bellefonte visitor on Tuesday and a hurried caller at this office. —Howard Sergeant and Ed. Jones, two of Philipsburg's best types of progressive young business men and—incidentally—working Democrats, were in town Wednesday night and were in the crowd that packed Garman's from pit to gallery to see Hi Henry and his minstrels. —F. T. McCoy, of Monongahela City, dropped into town yesterday to see his brother Charles, of Thomas street, for the first time in fourteen years. Mr. McCoy is a contractor in the western part of the State and as he has considerable big work on hand just now he will tarry here until today. —Mrs. Harry Yearick, who has been at the home of her parents in this place, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Woerner, on Bishop street, since her return from a Philadelphia hospital two weeks ago, left on Sunday evening for her home in Altoona. She was accompanied to the Mountain city by Miss Sarah Ulrich. —Capt. W. H. Fry, the well known veterinarian of Pine Grove Mills, is in Philadelphia this week in attendance at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Veterinary Medical association, and from the program we learn that he is a member of the committee on animal husbandry as well as the secretary of the society for Centre county. —Frederick K. Foster surprised his many friends in this place by appearing among them on Tuesday as suddenly as if he had been dropped from the clouds into their midst, and with the same affable and warm-hearted genial smile as of yore. He is now located in Philadelphia and is in the employ of the Bell telephone company. —Hon. and Mrs. J. W. Kepler, with their seven year old daughter Mary were in town for the minstrels Wednesday night and if there is a brighter little girl of her age in the county than is Mary we would like to hear of her. She knows the capitals of all the States, the county seat towns of Pennsylvania and spells like an old time school master. —Among the number of strangers in town this week were some of Philipsburg's most representative men. While some had business at court others were here merely to look on and attend to a little private business at the county seat. Among them were Geo. W. McCaffrey, president of the First National bank and one of the youngest men for his years it has ever been our good fortune to know; then there was D. W. Holt who in his active days was a lumberman whose name was known to the trade all over the county and J. H. Eskridge, who used to be dear old "Uacie Jack" Graham's side partner in the explosive business over there and Jim Passmore whose name adorns one of the best hotels in the place and whose other business enterprises are quite extensive enough to rate him among the leading business men of the place.

THE CHEMICAL LIME COMPANY TO BE A NEW BELLEFONTE INDUSTRY.—For a number of years past the lime industry around Bellefonte has been not only a big one, but a constantly growing one, as well, and business men are not slow to see that as the years come and go it will continue to increase. Hence it is no wonder that a number of Bellefonte and Centre county business men, namely: John S. Walker, A. C. Mingle, John Olewine, The Allison Bros. and Andrew McNitt have purchased the property of the late Charles Witmer, up Buffalo run and intend to open up extensive lime quarries there. They have organized a company to be known as the Chemical Lime company and as such have applied for a charter. Just as soon as that is secured work will be begun on the developing of the property and opening up of quarries. The company will be capitalized at $100,000, and it is the intention to build a battery of ten large kilns. Of course it will possibly take a year to complete all the kilns but as fast as one is finished it will be fired up and put in commission. A grinder will be put up as one of the first things and as soon as they get fairly started a crusher will also be built. This will enable the company to use up every bit of offal from the quarries, so that nothing will go to waste. The tract of land contains seventy-five acres and lies at the foot of Bald Eagle mountain extending west from the Humes farm quarries of the American Lime and Stone company. It is all underlaid with a No. 1 vein of limestone and the members of the new company estimate that at the capacity they expect to operate there will be enough stone on the land to run them fifty years or more. It has long been known that the Witmer tract was a valuable one on account of the limestone on it. In fact Mr. Charles Witmer, before his death, made it a part of his will that the land should not be sold for less than $31,000. For a number of years the American Lime and Stone company has been trying to buy the land but the Witmers, children of Charles Witmer, deceased, have always had more or less aversion to corporations, and regarding the American Lime and Stone company a corporation they declined to sell to them. Six months or more ago the above men formulated their plans and went quietly to work in an endeavor to secure the property, which they finally did only a week or so ago; and it was not until after they had the papers all signed that the matter became public. The price paid for the property was $25,000, which amount was paid the heirs on Tuesday. It is just possible that Robert F. Hunter will become the superintendent of the new company, as he now has under consideration an offer made him by the men who compose the same. If he does so it will mean that they will have at the head of the industry a man with such aggressiveness and push that success will be assured from the beginning. The officers of the new company are A. C. Mingle, president; John I. Olewine, vice president, and John S. Walker, secretary and treasurer. —Charles A. Knupp, of Harrisburg, has been elected to teach the grammar school in the stone school building formerly taught by Francis E. Pray, and began his duties on Monday. Mr. Knupp graduated from the Shippensburg Normal school and later from the Bucknell University, hence came to Bellefonte with the best of recommendations. Sale Register. THURSDAY, MARCH 21ST.—Margaret V. Thomas will sell stock, farm implements, household goods and farm, on the Abraham Thomas farm, on the road from Millersburg to Yarnert. Sale to begin at 1:30 o'clock p. m. THOMAS MASON STERN.—In Spring township, 3 miles east of Bellefonte, G. Perry Gentzel will sell: 5 good horses, span of mules 6 years old; 10 milk cows, 7 head young cattle, 10 head of sheep, short horn bull, registered stock, brood sows, 1 boar, 5 shoats.
