tion on the first signs of the appearance of the plants as possible.

-The peach borer works from June to September, or rather the moth is always busy attacking the trees. Careful examination should be made for the borer at least every two weeks, and if the trees show indication of being attacked out the borers out.

-It may not be known that if cow peas are mowed while the pods are very small a hew growth occurs, but such is the case, hard kuot of blue ribbon. The box opened new growth occurs, but such is the case, when the tops are cut off and used.

-No plant will long survive if the leaves are cut off, hence the way to destroy Canada thistles or other plants that persist in growing is to keep them cut down. As fast the interest in the game of dominoes. It as they appear above the ground cut them and as they will become weaker after each cutting, there arrives a time when they can no longer grow.

-All kinds of coarse food can be rendered serviceable by judicious combination of the ration. Even cut straw will be eaten if bran and oil meal are added to it. Fodder can be made acceptable to stock by preparation, and hay may be fed with other foods in a manuer to make the whole ration very palatable.

-It is time lost, and proken backs, to undertake the planting of garden seeds by hand. Use a drill, which puts the seeds in regularly and evenly, marks the rows and covers them at the right depth. There are many handy little implements suitable for the garden that are not in frequent use. Even a trowel does excellent service in transplanting, and a weeder will tear out the weeds much quicker than can be done by hand.

-When a man goes out nowadays to buy a good horse, he must take along from $150 to $200. Let's try to have one to sell, now and then.

It is all right to sell the best geldings, when it can be done to good advantage, but don't sell the hest mares. It is like killing the goose that lays the golden egg; but with the present scarcity and high prices, many farmers have made this very mistake

Only the choiciest mares should be used for breeders.

-Families that keep only one cow should endeavor to have the best animal that can be procured. More labor is required to care for a single cow, proportionately, than for a herd. A cow for the family should give a large flow of milk for at least 10 months of the year, and the milk should contain not less than 4 per cent. of butter fat as cream is one of the essentials. It is better to bave a cow that gives even richer

They were in beetles, so as to avoid as much damage to the shape of three boxes, very square and very suggestive in appearance. These were plauned after a careful study of the timetable. On the cover of one it said: "For Clara, open at G-," naming a place just beyond the first tunnel out of the city. This created mad excitement, which lasted through the trying moments of getting started. When the train pulled out of the blackness and the conductor opened the door and shouted "G-!" thirty nervous the old-fashioned game. The second box, labeled "Ada, to be opened at M-," was nearly forgotten in was opened, however, and disclosed a tiny Japanese fan to cool the hot air of the train. By the time game and fan were beginning to lose their charms the third box came dne. This one contained on the top a game of questions and answers, on the principal cities of the world. This proved most diverting, and was barely under way before Clara discovered that the second package in her box was waiting to be opened. This was a little folding drinking cup, just right for getting water from the cooler. When at last the resources of the cities and the possibilities of the water tank were both running dry, the announcement of P- turned them eargerly to the next lit-tle packet. This held a checker and backgammon board, with men, which occupied a long gap before the next surprise. So it ran, first a game of some form of amusement and then a present.

Each box contained, beside the packages for different stations, a bundle marked, "In case of delays anywhere along the line for more than five minutes open this." These little packages looked so exciting that every time the train stopped for any reason, instead of fretting to go on, they eagerly hung over their mother's watch, hoping it might be a delay. Finally one stop did last nine minutes, and one of the surprises proved to be a silly Jumping Jack with a grin, and a tag on his cap saying "Can't you sit still?" The other two were also jokes and caused a great deal of fun. The parcel which fell due nearest noon contained dainty adjuncts to a train lunchcon. One was a box of wafers, another of candied ginger and a third three rows of pink and white peppermint and wintergreen drops.

A similar plan for shortening a journey was that devised by a young girl whose in-timate friend was going away for several weeks. She wrote quotations that they both knew and snatches of songs they were fond of on little slips of paper, folded them neatly, like doctor's powders, and put milk, but the majority of family cows are selected without regard to merits in that respect. It is difficult to rear the calves in such cases, hence in purchasing the family cow it will be profitable. them in a drug box. On the top she wrote, gestive of good times past and to come that they shook off the pall of homesickness and

ALL SPAIN IS REJOICING

Madrid, May 10 .- The news that the direct male succession to the throne of Spain had been assured by the birth of a son to Queen Victoria Anything that will amuse children on sent a thrill of rejoicing throughout the country, and the happy event is being celebrated from one end of the land to another. Queen Victoria and the child are doing well. The hurried departure of royal messengers from the palace to summon the courtiers and the members of the diplomatic corps gave the first indication that the birth was imminent. The usual gathering outside the palace court yard was soon swelled by immense throngs of the excited populace, who watched the continual stream of brilliantly uniformed personages driving up to the royal residence and tried to identify the individuals.

The crowd awaited in suspense until nearly 1 o'clock, when the thundering out of the first cannon shot signified ions sorts of wooden and ivory dominoes that the royal accouchment was over. The reports were counted anxiously until the 15th, and then a complete silence ensued. The seconds appeared as hours until the 16th shot boomed forth, and the continuation until the 21st had been fired informed the public that the royal child was a son. The 16th report brought forth a ringing cheer, and at the same time the royal standard was hoisted over the palace, and it was known that no mistake had been made. The people danced with joy and embraced each other, shouting, "Long live the king! Long live the queen!

They then rushed from the spot, carrying the news to the furthermost points of the city. Soon after the royal salute the flags of Spain and Great Britain were raised over the public buildings of Madrid. Business houses closed for the remainder of the day as a sign of rejoicing.

In the meanwhile the solemn ceremony of presentation was being carried on in the palace. The mistress of the robes, carrying a huge silver tray, upon which was lying the newly-born royal baby, accompanied by King Alfonso, and Premier Maura appeared in the ante-chamber, where the courtiers had assembled. The young monarch appeared, full of joy, and the premier, raising the drapery which covered the infant on the silver tray. said:

"Gentlemen, it is a prince." The solemn dignitaries thereupon forgot all etiquette, and cheered both the king and queen heartily.

The minister of justice, Marquis Figueroa, made out the birth certificate, which was signed by all the prominent personages present. The gathering then broke up.

The cabinet drew up and later presented King Alfonso for his signature decrees transferring the title of heir presumptive from Prince Charles of Bourbon to the new-born prince.

Washington, May 11 .- The following crop bulletin was issued: The crop reporting board of the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture, from the reports of the correspondents and agents of the bureau, finds the area under winter wheat remaining in cultivation on May 1 to have been about 28,132,000 acres. MARYLAND CROPS RUINED Unseasonably Cold Weather Does Great Damage. Baltimore, May 13 .- Most unseasonably cold weather was experienced throughout Maryland, and from many sections of the state come reports of damage to crops, especially to strawberries, tomatoes and early potatoes. While this is particularly true of the western and mountainous sections, re-

-No vegetable is more popular than the Lima beau, and it is suitable for all classes of persons, as well as for all manner of dishes. The difficulty with Lima beaus is the poles, which are sometimes expensive; but if strings are used, as is done for the climbing flowers, the vines will grow and thrive equally as well. All that is necessary is to keep them off the ground, and it is not necessary to pole them if inconven-ient. The late crop should be a large one, not only for the purpose of supplying the family with a sufficiency of green ones for the table, but also that they may be dried and laid aside for winter. If stored away they are very serviceable at that season, as they may then be soaked and used for the same purposes as when they are green. The dwarf varieties do not require

-It is always best to start with a full colony of bees, and one that is in every respect in first-class condition. It is true that one can buy a part of a colony for less money, but it is the dearest in the long that one can buy a part of a colony for less money, but it is the dearest in the long run, and more liable to be a failure. A strong colony of bees in one season is capable of storing 100 or 200 pounds of honey; besides, they may swarm and make from one to two colonies. Bees should always be in condition to take care of themselves, aud do not require such difficult manipulation as that of a nucleus, or pounds, of bees, and a queen, etc., as full and strong colonies are now sent in the ordinary hives used in the apiary, and are equipped with the necessary fixtures to have everything in working order the moment the bees are located and the entrance open.

-There have been many disputes as to where potatoes originated or were first discovered. Some persons claim that tubers were first grown in America while others declare their home was in Ireland. According to Prof. Samuel Fraser, of the Cornell Experiment Station, the potato sometimes called white potato, Irish potato, Eoglish or round potato, is a native of the elevated valleys of Chile, Peru, and Mexico, one form even being found as far north as Seatthere Colorado. The potato was intro-Southern Colorado. The potato was intro-duced into the eastern section of the United States in the latter part of the sixteenth century, and returning colonists probably took them from there to England. The name Irish potatoe has been generally accepted, because it grows so well in Ireland, and is valued so highly by the Irish as a native food.

The rights of young womanhood for larger development, which are really at the base of the willingness of every parent to sacrifice for the education of the child, do not cease at graduation. It is a very poor investment that the parent makes if every opportunity for this developement is cut off the moment the student turns her back upon the college. These four years have following verdict: awakened new energies of mind and soul which must have satisfaction, and opened new vistas of truth and of activity which must not be closed because of the pressure of professional or domestic or social life. Just here the responsibility of the bome for the education of the girl must continue. It must be remembered that the girl has passed from a v ry large and most generous life into what is, not in importance, but in relationships, comparatively narrow. All the fullness of the life of youth is gathered about her through four years, with that lack of responsibility of anything beyond which can not easily continue outside of school and college life. The bome should recognize this and should be patient in waiting for the adjustment which is often necessary, and which will always come if the parent is wise, and if the girl has the attitude of the average student. But something more than patience is called for. If we have spent our time in training our girls in science, history, phil-osophy, literature, and art, we assuredly should recognize, since we have been broad Bank Clerk's Scheme to Escape Prosecution For Smaller Thefts. New York, May 14 .- Details of a confession made by William O. Douglas, former loan clerk of the Trust Company of America, are to the effect taht, acting on the advice of a lawyer, he planned to steal $1,-000,000 of securities in order to compel the trust company to overlook his minor thefts. Douglas has already pleaded guilty to larceny and is awaiting 47-19 sentence. According to his confession, he first took small quantities of bonds, TATATATATATATATATA and, borrowing money on them, lost it in speculating. When it was evident that he could not retrieve his losses a lawyer was consulted, who advised that the only way out c.' the dilemma was to steal $1,000,000 worth of securities and turn them over to the lawyer, who might negotiate with the officials of the trust company for their return. Douglas' understanding was that the lawyer expected to get $200,000 from the trust company for the restoration of the securities, which would have been sufficient to cover the amounts Douglas had already borrowed and lost.
