THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.—It would be hard to conceive more inauspicious weather for the forty-seventh annual commencement of The Pennsylvania State College than what we had this week. And yet, notwithstanding this fact, the commencement this year attracted so large a number of visitors from a distance that every available lodging place was in demand, and the week's exercises were quite successful. The rain might dampen the ardor of some who wanted to attend but it to a very small extent affected the social dissipation that has grown to be a big feature of commencement.
As a preliminary to the week's doings a concert was given in the auditorium on Saturday evening by the combined musical clubs of the College and it proved a very enjoyable entertainment. The commencement proper began Sunday morning with the preaching of the baccalaureate sermon by Rev. Griffin W. Ball, D. D. of Scranton.
His introductory remarks Rev. Ball spoke enthusiastically of co-education at State College, stating that, although this question was still a mooted one among educators, he was pleased to see that the scope of the college work was sufficiently comprehensive to include facilities for women. It had been a habit with men he said, to speak of woman as the "weaker vessel." If by this term physical weakness was meant, it was easily disproved; to-day, a woman holds the sword championship of the world and her brothers have been unable to wrest it from her; in case of accident to the head of the family, she takes up arms and wages bravely the battle for the maintenance of her household, not forgetting meanwhile to cheer and comfort the discouraged one; to a man who argued that it was not commanded of womankind but of mankind to follow the Lord and to seek the spiritual life, reply was made that man had to be commended, but that woman sought for the spiritual voluntarily; it was woman who ministered tenderly to him, which showed that she was not spiritually "the weaker vessel"; woman was in the lead in the old days in the garden of Eden and she had been in the lead ever since. The tendency of the times is that woman will go far ahead in intellectual attainment.
For the theme of his discourse, Dr. Ball selected Pilate's question to Christ, "Art thou a king, then?" In substance, his remarks were as follows:
"You young men and women are enjoying a kingly inheritance. You are receiving advantages which you never earned, never made an effort for; you have never yet done anything for the world. Now it is your duty to become kingly men and queenly women, to feel as Christ did—that you have something to give to the world, that it has need of you; the world has no use for the man or woman who complains that he or she has never had a chance; there is always the chance to become master of the situation in which you are placed. To induce one to become a Christian now, one has almost to go down on his knees and to say 'please'; why it is a privilege to be a Christian, to be a kingly man, to feel that the world has need of you. Christ felt himself to be a king by conquest. When the pope undertook to place the crown upon the head of Napoleon, the latter took it from him and placed it upon his head with his own hand, thereby implying that he alone was responsible through his own efforts, that he had made himself king by conquest."
Sunday evening the College Y. M. C. A. held an open air meeting on the campus which was followed by a sacred band concert on the front campus and later by a sacred concert in the auditorium.
Monday afternoon the Senior class exercises were held on the front campus at 2 o'clock and at 3 o'clock the dual track and field meet with W. U. P. took place on Beaver field. State easily won the meet, scoring 82 to the visitor's 30 points. The feature of the contests was Capt. "Hi" Henry's work, he running the one hundred yard dash in 9 3-5 seconds, breaking the State record and equalling the world's amateur record.
The Junior oratorical contest was held in the auditorium on Monday evening. There were six contestants and the prize was awarded to William Frances H. Wentzel, of Jacksonwald.
Tuesday was naturally looked forward to as the big day but it rained all the time and the band concert and the exhibition drill of the cadet battalion were dispensed with.
The Phi Kappa Phi fraternity held their annual business meeting in the engineering building in the morning and at 11 o'clock adjourned to the chapel where they were addressed by Edwin Erle Sparks, Ph. D., of the University of Chicago. A number of years ago Prof. Sparks was an instructor at State College and he is now mentioned as a likely possibility for its future president.
The annual meetings of the delegates and alumni resulted in the re-election of all the old trustees, namely, Hon. Andrew Carnegie, H. B. White, Gen. Charles Miller and W. F. Hill.
There was considerable diversion in Tuesday evening's exercises. The Thespians gave a presentation of "The Brixton Burglary," in the auditorium; the Sophomores held their "oration" on the campus, a scene viewed by at least three thousand people and which was kept up until long after midnight, while many of the fraternities gave dances which lasted until morning.
Wednesday was graduation day proper and the new auditorium was crowded with those anxious to witness the exercises. The one hundred and thirty-four members of the graduating class, arrayed in caps and gowns, with the faculty, occupied seats on the big stage. The eight hundred undergraduates occupied the main floor in the auditorium while the visitors completely filled the spacious galleries. The music for the occasion was furnished by the College choir and orchestra. Gen. James A. Beaver, acting president of the college, and vice president Jason P. Welch presided.

The class orations were concluded with the valedictory by John Piper Smith, of Yellow Creek.
The commencement address was delivered by Merrill E. Gates, Ph. D., of Washington, D. C., and it was considered one of the best heard at the College for years. Gen. Beaver and Vice President Welch joined in conferring the degrees and awarding the prizes. Capt. Hay presented the commissions to the cadet officers for next year and the president of the graduating class transferred the keys of the Carnegie library to the president of the incoming Senior class.
In the list of graduates were the following from Centre county: John Jacob Spangler, Tazewille; Nettie Jane Cook, Bellefonte; Laura Jane Harrison, formerly of Bellefonte but now of Jersey Shore; Walter Tobias McCormick, State College; Charles Garfield Bower, Howard; Malcolm Ashbridge Mitchell, Bellefonte; St. Las Hurley Yorks, Milesburg; Philip Paul Reese, Philipsburg, and William Blaine Snyder, Blanchard.

Wednesday afternoon State's victorious baseball team played their last game with the Carlisle Indians, defeating them by the score of 7 to 2, thus ending the season with a string of twenty-two victories, three defeats and one tie game, and having scored a total of 169 runs to 63 scored against them.
The week's exercises were brought to a close with the Junior's reception to the members of the graduating class, which was held in the armory Wednesday evening and was very largely attended. At the same time the Freshmen gave a big dance in the dining room of McAllister hall, and with the passing of the night the 1906-1907 college year came to an end.
—The Undine fire company have their posters up for their annual picnic at Hecla park on July 4th.
—Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Samuel Arnold Helmbold, of Curwensville, and Miss Julia Elizabeth Rue, of Waynesboro, daughter of the late Rev. John W. Rue, who at one time was pastor of the Bellefonte Methodist Episcopal church. The marriage ceremony will be performed Thursday morning, June 20th, in the Waynesboro M. E. church.
—The annual reunion of the Centre district, P. O. S. of A., composed of the counties of Centre, Clearfield and Cambria, will be held at Rosebud, Clearfield county, on Wednesday, June 19th. Three prizes will be awarded, one to the camp going the furthest distance, one to the camp having the greatest number of men in line, and one to the organization making the best appearance.
—While at work at the Pine Hall brick works, last Friday evening, Emory Johnson was badly injured by a heavy door blowing shut and knocking him under a mine car loaded with clay. No bones were broken but his hips and legs were so badly out and bruised that the latter are almost totally paralyzed. Those who saw the accident say it was simply a miracle that he wasn't killed.
—Mr. and Mrs. Channey F. York, with their little son and Misses Josephine McCoy and Mary Mullen, of Warriorsburg, left last week for their summer home on Clark's Lake, Mich., where they will spend the ensuing three or four months. Miss Mullen, who has lived with Mr. and Mrs. York the past several years, will be married at their cottage on June 28th, and with her husband will go to Covington, Ky., to live.
—The Children's day services in the Methodist church on Sunday evening were very largely attended and unusually interesting. Six boys and girls were promoted from the primary department to the regular Sunday school and each one was presented with a bible by Rev. James B. Stein, the pastor. The graduates, Mary Stevenson, Anna Ekenroth, Martha Thomas, Emenudre Drieker, Donald Saxton, Russell Lowery and Clair Lyon.
—Quite a large audience attended the recital given by Miss Bettie Heisle, in Petriken hall, last Thursday evening, and everyone present was well pleased with the entertainment. It was Miss Heisle's first public appearance in Bellefonte as an elocutionist since her graduation from Ludlum's school of dramatic art and elocution in Philadelphia and her every piece was spoken in such a way as to draw forth prolonged applause and frequent encores. Miss Heisle is possessed of considerable histrionic ability and always has perfect control of herself and her voice. Her style is original and entertaining and if she elects to make a profession of her talent she will no doubt prove a decided success.

A GYPSY HUNTER HE DID GO.—George Washington Rumberger, deputy treasurer of Centre county, is a smart man and his proclivities to put a joke on any unsuspecting individual he may see fit to single out are abnormally developed, but the boys got it back on him good and hard on Wednesday, and so far as the writer knows George Washington is still none the wiser.
It appears that the last Legislature passed a bill putting a county license on every band of traveling gypsies who encamped within any county in the State. This week a band of the wandering nomads have been encamped in the vicinity of Milesburg and some enterprising individual who had read that such an act was passed, but did not know that up to this time the act had not been signed by the Governor, called up the county treasurer's office and informed Mr. Rumberger of the fact that the gypsies were in camp at Milesburg and notifying him to collect the necessary license.
Naturally Mr. Rumberger went to the commissioner's office for information, and he got it. There they told him that the law had been passed and signed by the Governor and became effective at once. That it provided for a license of fifty dollars, which must be collected by the county treasurer; and in his failure to do so, he himself became liable to a fine equal to the amount of the license. The word was passed among the crowd and several of them called Mr. Rumberger by phone, notifying him that gypsies were encamped in the county and he was compelled by law to hunt them up and collect the stipulated license.
It was then that the deputy treasurer "a gypsy huntin' did go." He came down High street at break-neck speed, hunting the editor of this paper to find out where the gypsies were and how he was to proceed to collect the license. The senior editor being in Harrisburg he got no information here, and very much excited he interviewed a number of individuals and even several attorneys who, of course being next, all told him the same story. Mr. Rumberger was so worked up that he dreamed of gypsies, licenses, fines, etc., all of Wednesday night, and it is even hinted that he finally wrote to the Governor for a copy of the gypsy law. In the meantime business in the treasurer's office has been almost at a standstill and likely will be until G. W. tumbles to the joke.
VALUABLE COIT POISONED.—A valuable coit belonging to Irvin G. Gray, of Stormstown, died last Saturday morning and every indication is that the animal was deliberately poisoned by somebody. The coit took sick on Friday and Dr. Jones, of this place, was sent for. He went up as soon as possible and though he worked with the animal most all night he could do nothing for it and it died Saturday morning. Every symptom and indication was that the animal was poisoned and the tongue and stomach were removed and sent to the state veterinarian for analysis. Other evidence in support of the poisoning theory is that one calf and a pig died in identical the same way the coit did.
The loss is quite a heavy one to Mr. Gray as the coit was a thoroughbred, being a filly of the well known mare, Cera Belle. It is said that he had refused several offers of one thousand dollars for the coit, which was only eighteen months old, he holding it at fifteen hundred dollars. Should the analysis prove that the stock was poisoned no effort should be spared to unearth the villain who did the deed and have him punished accordingly.
A NEW GARAGE.—Bellefonte is to have a new garage and will have it in the near future. It will be built by Will Keichline adjoining his machine shop on Water street and will be one of the most complete and up-to-date garages in this section of the State, according to the plans he now has in view. The building, which will be of brick and located on the south side of his machine shop, where Bullock's blacksmith shop now stands, will be about fifty by forty feet in size. The floor will be practically on a level with the street and it will be fully equipped with a wash and everything necessary for the proper and prompt care of automobiles. Just inside of the main entrance there will be a turntable, so that machines can be run in, turned and backed in place or come out right end first, thus saving the necessity of backing out to turn around.
A HEALTH GIVING DRINK.—From the Look Haven Democrat we learn that the Hon. James Wolfenden last week came from Washington, D. C., to his home at Lamar quite a sick man, but in two days thereafter, through the use of health-giving pure beverages, he was able to assist in planting one hundred choice English hop vines on Silver avenue, the main drive of his country estate. From the product of these vines Mr. Wolfenden expects to brew a health-giving drink to aid in saving human lives, and the only question now at issue is what kind of a drink it is going to be?
AMMERMAN FAMILY REUNION.—All persons related or in any way connected with the Ammerman family are invited to attend a reunion of the same to be held at Lakemont park, Altoona, Wednesday, July 10th. Joseph Ammerman, of Tyrone, has been chosen secretary of the committee of arrangements and will cheerfully furnish any further information desired.
—After Sunday and Monday being such delightful days we have had nothing but cold, rainy weather ever since, and it is no wonder the farmers and everybody else are feeling blue and discouraged. With-in a month of harvest time and practically not a bit of warm weather yet.

—Scott Houser and family, of DuBois, are here for a month's visit with Centre county friends. Mr. Houser was last week given a month's vacation and he thought the best way he could spend it would be to come back to the scenes of his boyhood days and see the friends of his youth. And, as an instance of his good judgment, he subscribed for the WATCHMAN while here in order to keep informed on the happenings in Centre county, and this notwithstanding the fact that he is an ardent Republican. But he did it because he wants to get all the news that's going.
—The family of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. On the return trip they stopped at Centre Furnace to allow the Bishop time to make a call on Mrs. Peter Weaver, mother of Mrs. William Thompson, who is an old friend of the eminent divine.
