Books, Magazines, Etc.

WHAT'S IN McClune's?-The August fiction number of McClure's is an excellent illustration of the development which has taken place in this magazine during the past year. The fiction number of 1936 was remarkably good. The fiction number of 1997 shows a marked growth in the distinctive quality of its stories, the power and authoritative value of its articles, and the general broadening and deepening of its editorial policy. The Orchard Confession, which appears in its cond instalment, increases in interest, not only as a remarkable contribution to the literature of criminology, but as a human document which throws light upon one of the most intricate economic situations which has ever existed in this country. Truman Bartlett, the American sculptor, contributes a strikingly illuminating study of Lincoln's physiognomy. The seventh article of the Christian Science series takes up the most interesting aspect of the whole mesmerist movement,-the strange conspiracy case brought by the State of Massachusetts against Asa G. Eddy and Edward J. Arens. Two import-John Wetzel, proprietor of the Novelty ant contributions to the study of railway reform, by Carl S. Vrooman and Dexter Marshall, complete the list of articles. The August McClure's is one of the most beautifully illustrated numbers of the year.

TRIED TO WRECK TRAIN

Wreckers Placed Obstruction in Front of Pennsylvania Flyer. Belvidere, N. J., July 30.-Detectives for the Pennsylvania railroad and the local authorities are making an investigation into an attempt to wreck a Pennsylvania flyer near Harmony by some unknown person or persons. An obstruction was put on the tracks, composed of a number of railroad ties placed across the rails. Engineer Richard, in charge of the train, did not see the obstruction until have been baked to death by the he was close upon it, and then the locomotive struck it. The cowcatcher and the cylinder of the locomotive schools, is visiting his parents and relatives were broken, but the train was not here. He now tips the scales at 260 pounds derailed. MOB TRIED TO LYNCH SUSPECT

Berlin, July 27 .- A series of coldblooded crimes, singularly resembling the "Jack the Ripper" murders, but for the fact that instead of women the victims were little girls, followed one another with remarkable celerity almost in the center of the city and family. This aged lady is the last one living aroused the most intense excitement and indignation. Within a short space of time the assassin successively enticed three girl babies, the oldest only walk in front of his residence, which adds 5 years old, into doorways of houses and stabbed them several times in the abdomen with a sharp instrument As a result, one of the children is dead, another is dying and the third is dangerously wounded.

The first knowledge that the crimes had been committed came when an occupant of the house at the corner of Ryke and Belforter streets found the body of Margaritha Prawitz, aged 4, lying in the doorway, bathed in blood, the bowels protruding and the lower part of the body horribly gashed. This was immediately reported to the police, who were about to proceed to investigate the case, when reports came that Bertha Lenst, aged 3 years, and Elly Knispel, 5 years old, had been found similarly outraged, but still alive, in Prenzlauer Allee and Hensersdorfer street, respectively. The inhabitants of the neighborhood became intensely excited. Mothers sought their children in the street and made them return indoors in fear that they might meet a similar fate. Crowds gathered about the police station, shouting vengeance against the murderer.

Shortly after the crimes were committed a slip of paper, with a death head sketched on it, was found on a public site in the square near the scene. On it was scribbled in a rambling hand:

"Away, away; in five minutes there will be a corpse. There is a child murderer in the neighborhood. Deliver this note to the police. I have killed children in Belforter, Prentslauer and Hensersdorfer streets.'

The note was attached to the seat by means of a sharp single scissor's blade, and it is assumed that the crimes were committed with the other half of the instrument.

"Ripper" Still at Work. Berlin, July 30. - Another "ripper" outrage has caused a wave of nervous fear and dread in that city. A woman on opening the door of a flat surprised a man in the act of striking down an 11-year-old girl. The woman screamed and the man ran and succeeded in getting away.

This occurred in the neighborhood of the previous outrages. The residents of this section are in such a state of excitement that they fell upon and beat fearfully a harmless man, because he had offered a child a piece

Although the entire police force has of apprehending the "ripper," he has thus far evaded capture.

MANIAC RAN AMUCK

nounced Insane. Philadelphia, July 29.-John Baurtaugh, of St. Louis, a delegate to the convention of the Iron Molders' Union of America, which is in convention here, was pronounced demented by a police surgeon and sent to the Philadelphia hospital.

Baurtaugh, who was stopping at a Chestnut street hostelry, went on a rampage. He attempted to shoot two men who tried to quiet him. He finally escaped and, running downtown into the wholesale district, got into the storerooms of warehousing company. He emptied barrels of sugar from the third-story windows into the street and threw boxes of canned goods at people passing by. After his capture the Molders' Union arranged to reimburse the warehousing company for 100 Years Old, He Harvests His Hay. Middletown Springs, Vt., July 30 Alpheus Haynes celebrated his 100th birthday by working in his hay field. He was escorted to the field by a brass band, and his neighbors helped him clean up his harvest. In the evening there were some speeches, and the aged man received a gold-headed cane as a present from his friends. He is in good health and hopes to live many years. He has lived for 75 years on one farm and cultivated it every sea-charge in the entire account will be guaranteed correct.

It is due, however, to those who may be inclined to become bidders, that they should know that while the justices and correctness of this claim is admitted and the estate alleged to be worth any amount from a quarter to a half-million of dollars! yet the administrators—who are also its heirs and beneficiaries,—have refused payment, simply because they could plead the limitation and thus avoid the payment of an honest debt.

The above amount may not be worth much as a cash asset. It may be of some value, perchance, as a reminder that there are others than the ordinary "dead beat" and "debt jumpers," who seek the technicalities of the law to save the payment of just obligations.

No bond will be asked from bidders. Any "old thing," will be considered good when compared with a wealthy estate that wont pay a just debt.

LYNCHING IN MARYLAND

Negro Murderer Beaten and Kicked to Death By Mob. Crisfield, Md., July 29.-James Reed, colored, was lynched here. Little more than a dozen hours before he had crept up behind John H. Daugherty, a policeman, and fired a bullet into the latter's brain. Daugherty died in-

Daugherty arrested on a warrant a negro named Hillery Jones, a companion of Reed's, and was taking him to jail. Reed borrowed a revolver and, catching up with his friend and the officer, fired the fatal shot into the back of his victim's head. The two negroes fled, Reed taking possession of a bicycle he found nearby. Pursued and fired upon, he soon abandoned the wheel and took to a sailboat, in which he headed for Tangier sound, with the hope, it is presumed, of reaching Virginia. He was becalmed in the sound, however, and pursuers, learning that he was afloat, followed him in power boats. One of these, on which were Captain John Shelton and a number of armed men, overhauled Reed. The negro, seeing Captain Shelton's vessel approach, jumped overboard and endeavored to escape by swimming, but was finally captured. He at first denied his identity, but afterward made a full confession and acknowledged that he was not under the influence of liquor when he killed Policeman Daugherty.

As the boat bearing the negro approached the wharf here a crowd gathered quickly. There were angry exclamations, and some one struck Reed a blow with his fist that knocked the negro senseless. Immediately those in the crowd pounced upon the prostrate man and beat and kicked him to death. A rope was tied to the body and it was then dragged to the scene of the shooting and in a moment was dangling from a telegraph pole. There it remained, viewed by hundreds of people, many of whom drove in from miles outside of town when the fact of the lynching became known.

MOWER CUT OFF HAND

Farmer Cutting Hay Ran Over His

Little Daughter. Washington, N. J., July 27 .- A little 3-year-old girl had a remarkable escape from death when a mower which her father was driving ran over her and the sharp knives cut off her hand at the wrist. The child owes her life to the fact that she was lying flat on the ground when the knives of the mower, which was geared high, passed over her. She would not have lost her hand had she not raised it in the air just as the reaper reached her.

George Hummer had been unable to get farmhands to help him in harvesting his crop, and his wife, taking their two little children, went into the field to help her husband. One of the children, 3 years old, lay down on the ground and was soon asleep. Her father, driving the mower, not knowing that she was in his path, did not see her until it was too late.

BLACK FLY PEST DEADLY

Six Canadian Campers Die From Blood

Poisoning Following Bites. East Aurora, N. Y., July 27. - A startling tale of fatalities has reached here through John Griffin, who has just returned from the Algonquin Park locality of Canada. Mr. Griffin went to the woods in the Dominion on a hunting and fishing trip about a week ago. He expected to be gone for several weeks, but the faact that six deaths resulted from blood poisoning following stings of black flies near his camp drove the veteran home. Mr. Griffin has hunted in the region of Algonquin Park for many years, and he pronounces the pests the most numerous and deadly he has ever seen. SMOTHERED IN GRAIN BIN

Children Hid From Grandmother and Were Found Dead. South Windsor, Conn., July 30 .- Etta and Frank Prior, 10 and 8 years old respectively, and the children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Prior, were found dead in a grain bin on the farm of

children were playing in the barn,

when their grandmother called to them to come into the house. They decided to run away and hide, and lifting up the heavy top of the bin, cuddled in the grain. When the top slammed the latch caught and the children slowly smothered to death.

General Booth Names Successor. London, July 30 .- Governor William Booth, the head of the Salvation Army, announced that the same electric flash that carried the news of his death would publish the name of the new general for the army. It is learned that General Booth has left minute directions for the future administration of the army in a sealed envelope with his solicitors. No one else knows who his successor will be, but it is believed that it will be Bramwell Booth, with Commissioner Howard and Commissioner Booth Tucker as alternates in case of Bramwell Booth's death. and that the army will continue under the guidance of one man, and not of a committee or a board of directors.

Jersey Church 200 Years Old. Bridgeton, N. J., July 29.-The 200th anniversary of the founding of the Presbyterian church at Greenwich, N. J., will be celebrated July 31. Preparations are being made for a proper observance of the occasion.

Miners Entombed Thirteen Hours. Shamokin, Pa., July 26 .- After being entombed 13 hours by a rush of coal in the North Franklin colliery, a rescuing party reached William Crawford alive, but badly injured. His brother Emanuel was found dead.
