Prominent Speakers Discuss Campaign Issues.

There may have been many political meetings held in Belleville which were more largely attended than that in the opera house on Wednesday night in the interest of John G. Harman's candidacy for the State Treasuryship, but there has never been one in which the entire audience to a man betrayed such deep and whole-souled interest.

There were few demonstrations of applause, it is true, but there was that air of deep earnestness which showed only too plainly that the audience considered the questions under discussion to be of so serious a nature that applause was really out of place and uncalled for.

The meeting was called to order promptly at eight o'clock by county chairman N. B. Spangler and permanently organized by electing Col. D. F. Fortney chairman, a list of twenty-four prominent Democrats from all over the county were named as vice presidents with the usual secretaries, etc. Before the speech making began commissioners' clerk James Corl introduced a resolution changing the party rules so as to provide for the election of the county chairman at the regular spring election in order to conform with the primary law passed in February, 1906.

The Senator spoke for over an hour and his address was not only replete with good arguments in the interest of Harman's candidacy but was steeped with eloquence. In starting out he stated as a fact that there was very little politics in this campaign. That he was not asking the votes of the people for John G. Harman because he was a Democrat but because the principles he represented made him the safest man to put in so responsible a position.

State Treasurer Berry was the second speaker of the evening and he told in a straight forward way some of the facts regarding the capital of graft swindle. Told them in a modest unassuming way, without any attempt at boasting of the prominent part he played in uncovering the big steal, but told them in a way that carried conviction to the minds of his hearers that it would not be safe to again jeopardize the moneys of the State as they were prior to Berry's election.

John G. Harman, staunch young Democrat from Columbia county, was the last speaker of the evening and the audience was well repaid for waiting to hear him. His speech was brilliant as well as convincing and his plain story of the issues of the campaign and his pledges for carrying on the good work begun by Mr. Berry eighteen months ago were listened to most earnestly by every man present.

It was well on toward eleven o'clock when the meeting finally adjourned and then it appeared as if the people were loath to leave; an evidence that they were pondering very deeply over what they had been told. And this fact augurs well for the success of Harman, as the audience was not made up of all Democrats by any means.

Who Was the Senator?

In Clearfield on Tuesday evening Senator DEWALT in his speech declared that a certain United States Senator in Pennsylvania had secured a large sum of money for capitol furnishings. When the Senator was in Belleville on Wednesday evening he was asked by a WATCHMAN representative regarding the above statement, and he reiterated its truthfulness.

He went further, and said that while the man who received the money was a Senator of the United States, that it was not Senator KNOX. Also that the money was paid to him by check and was from the Caswell Manufacturing company.

"One thing I do know," said Senator DEWALT, "and that is that he did not carry a hod or perform any other kind of manual labor for it. And, further than that, I know he could have done nothing to entitle him to the money."

This is only another instance of the gigantic propensities of the gang, even from the highest to the lowest, and is another argument against the election of JOHN O. SHEATZ as State Treasurer and in favor of JOHN G. HARMAN.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

THE BEAUTY DOCTOR.—The offering at Garmans next Monday, October 28th, will be Fred E. Wright's latest musical farcical comedy "The Beauty Doctor." The idea of the authors is a genial satire set to music, on the prevailing beauty culture fad and its evolution in of such a comedy nature as would probably make "Prof." Caissarato, the original beauty expert, scream in French, for the opportunity for fun making so obvious in the theme has not been over looked by those responsible for the book of "The Beauty Doctor" and the result is a performance full of kaleidoscopic fun set in a musical environment of no mean quality.

The plot of "The Beauty Doctor" revolves around a feminine expert in the art of changing faces, by the love escapades of a prima donna who is sought by two old men. Solomon Cohen, a Jew hypnotist, forms a partnership with the beauty charlatan and adds the occult to the realism of molding new faces, by changing the minds of lovers, and mixing things up generally, which is most effectively done to the accompaniment of much laughter from the audience. At the final matters are straightened out by the contrite beauty doctor aided by the repentant Jew hypnotist and each one gets his or her deserts. During the progress of this "plot" music and dancing run riot, special numbers of magnitude are in evidence, while the topical song, the sextette the ballads and other musical gymnastics are indulged in galore "My Little Mimi San" "Listen to the Ringing of the Bells" "My Flower of the South", "Good-Bye Jennie Jones" is a genuine success, "Come Down Mr. Man in the Moon" is a semi-sentimental ballad of considerable musical worth and bound to be popular and many dances and other features make "The Beauty Doctor" a strong musical laughing show.

KILLED ON THE RAILROAD.—Foster E. Howard, a brakeman on the Tyrone and Clearfield railroad, met with an accident last Friday afternoon which resulted in his almost instant death. He was standing between two cars and was leaning out watching the wheels of the cars on his own train and failed to notice the coming of local freight in an opposite direction. He was struck on the head by the locomotive and knocked from his train. Though he was not run over the blow he sustained was a terrific one and the unfortunate young man expired in a few minutes. The remains were taken to Tyrone where they were prepared for burial, after which they were taken to the home of his parents near Bald Eagle.

Deceased was a son of David S. and Anna M. Howard and was born at Hickory Bottom, near Bald Eagle, August 17th, 1887, thus making his age 30 years, 2 months and 1 day. About two years ago he entered the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad company as a brakeman on the Tyrone and Clearfield division, and has worked there ever since. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and of the P. R. K. voluntary relief department.

In addition to his parents he is survived by the following brothers and sister: George, in the west; John, of Tyrone; Raymond and Miss Ella May, at home. Funeral services were held in the Bald Eagle Methodist church at 10 o'clock Monday morning, after which interment was made in the Bald Eagle cemetery.

The Belleville Academy foot ball team and substitutes accompanied by Mr. James R. Hughes will leave on the noon train today for Saltsburg where they will try conclusions for a second time, on Saturday afternoon, with the Kiskiminetas eleven which is recognized as the strongest "prep" school eleven in central and Western Pennsylvania. On Monday afternoon they will play the return game with Indiana Normal at Indiana and hope to win inasmuch as they defeated the same team earlier in the season. The Academy boys will enter these games with a "do or die" spirit that certainly will keep their opponents very busy. Good luck for you, boys!

The Johnstown Journal figures that Johnstown has now a population of 75,000.

MATTERN.—Mrs. Jessie Gray Mattern, wife of Clark Mattern, died at the home of her father, Mr. Green Gray, at Stormstown, Friday evening at 8 o'clock. She was a victim of that dread disease, cancer, and had been sick over a year. Last January she went to Philadelphia, from Braddock, where they were then living and entered a hospital for treatment. Though she underwent an operation and submitted to every possible treatment it became apparent that no permanent cure could be effected and in June she came from the hospital to the home of her father at Stormstown where she was joined by her husband and children and there she lingered until death came to her relief last Friday.

Deceased was daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Green Gray, was born in Halfmoon valley and was 37 years, 7 months and 7 days old. She was united in marriage to Clark Mattern and seven years ago they moved to Braddock where they lived until her illness compelled the breaking up of their home. She was a woman of charming manner and one beloved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. A member of the Methodist church, she always lived an upright, conscientious life.

In addition to her husband she is survived by four children, namely: Joseph, Marion, Helen and Mary. She also leaves her father, two brothers, Paul and Edward, and one sister, Miss Nannie, at home. The funeral was held at 10:30 o'clock on Monday morning. Rev. R. O. Taylor, of the Stormstown Methodist church, officiated and interment was made in Gray's cemetery.

GEARHART.—Enoch G. Gearhart died at his home at Chester Hill, near Philadelphia, on Thursday evening of last week. He had been in failing health for more than a year, with a complication of diseases and about a week prior to his death contracted a bad cold which developed into an attack of the grip, which hastened his death.

Deceased was born on a farm near Chester Hill, November 3rd, 1827, and thus was 79 years, 11 months and 14 days old. His parents, John and Lydia Gearhart, were among the pioneer settlers of that locality. Immediately after his marriage in 1855, the subject of this sketch took up his residence in Chester Hill and there he lived ever since. In addition to owning and managing a farm he embarked in the lumber business and was quite successful. In politics he was an ardent Democrat and was frequently honored by his party by being elected to various offices.

He is survived by his widow, who prior to her marriage was Miss Nan Ellis, of Warriorsmark, and the following children: Alton and Theodore, of Altoona; Lemuel, Mrs. Howard Price and Corwin, of Philadelphia; and Creighton, of Meadville. He also leaves twenty-one grand children and seven great grand children, as well as one brother, Jacob, living in Crawford county, and two sisters, Mrs. Katie Goss, of Osceola Mills, and Mrs. Jane Peters, of Blue Ball, the two latter being 92 and 82 years of age.

The funeral was held at two o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Revs. S. D. Wilson and J. E. Hawkins, officiating at the services. Interment was made in the Philadelphia cemetery.

GILLEN.—The venerable William Gilen died at his home on Reservoir hill at 6:30 o'clock Monday morning. He had been in poor health for months and his death was the result of a general breaking down of the system.

Deceased was eighty-three years of age and was born in Ireland. He came to this country when a young man and for a long time was engaged in the lumbering business. For many years he made his home in this place and was among the town's best known and most highly respected citizens. Surviving him are his wife and the following children: Mrs. William Doll and Edward, of Belleville; Augustus, of Williamsport, and Charles, of Dayton, Ohio.

Deceased was a faithful member of the Catholic church and Rev. Father McArdle officiated at the funeral which was held at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, interment being made in the Catholic cemetery.

PEIGHTAL.—Mrs. Catharine Peightal, one of the oldest and best known women of Philadelphia, died at the home of her daughter in that place on Tuesday morning. Just about a week previous she was seized with an attack of the grip which developed into pneumonia and her death was the result.

Deceased was born in Huntingdon county and was seventy-six years of age. She was married to William Peightal over sixty years ago and in 1864 the family moved to Philadelphia where they have lived ever since. Mr. Peightal died over twenty years ago but surviving the deceased are the following children: Millard, Jesse and Mrs. Mary Funk, of Philadelphia; and Samuel, of Windber. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon, interment being made in the old Philadelphia cemetery.

SCOTT.—Charles Scott, a Belleville young man, died in a Pittsburgh hospital at an early hour yesterday morning as the result of an attack of typhoid fever, with which he was stricken several weeks ago. Deceased was born in Belleville about twenty-two years ago and was a son of the late W. W. Scott. Though yet a young man he had gained quite a reputation as a ball player and had played in various minor leagues. He is survived by his mother and a number of sisters and brothers. At this writing it is not known if his body will be brought to Belleville for burial or not, but it likely will be.

WATSON.—Mrs. C. H. Watson died at her home in Snow Shoe last Friday evening, of consumption, after quite an extended illness. She was aged about forty years and is survived by her husband, five children, three sisters and one brother. The funeral was held on Monday.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.—A special series of revival meetings will be formally opened the coming Sabbath, in the Methodist Episcopal church, with a "Meeting for Men Only," at 3:30 p. m. All men of all classes are earnestly invited. A male choir will lead in the music, and the pastor will have "a heart to heart talk" with men. The usual revival services will follow in the evening and during the week. The first week the pastor will be ably assisted by some of the foremost ministers of the conference, as follows:

Monday, the Rev. J. H. Daugherty, Tyrone; Tuesday, the Rev. H. L. Jacobs, Altoona; Wednesday, the Rev. Alex. Lamberton, Altoona; Thursday, the Rev. G. M. Klepfer, Altoona; Friday, the Rev. E. A. Pyles, Bellwood.

The second week the Rev. M. C. Piper, of Milesburg, will assist the pastor the entire week. The church for some weeks has been earnestly praying and planning for these meetings and an unusual interest for the salvation of perishing souls is hopefully anticipated. All are cordially invited to attend and participate in the Master's work. The pervading and dominating keynote of the meeting is to be, "The Gospel in Sermon and Song, for the Rescue and Salvation of Souls."

MACCABEES BANQUET.—The Belleville Tent Knights of Maccabees, celebrated the first anniversary of their institution into the order with a banquet at Blackford's new cafe on Thursday evening of last week. Just forty-five members gathered around the spacious table and partook of the many good things to eat which made up the menu. When the inner man had been fully satisfied Hard P. Harris was chosen toastmaster and among those who responded to toasts were Col. H. S. Taylor, district attorney W. G. Runkle, George T. Bush, John C. Rumberger, "Squire" H. Laird Curtis, V. J. Bauer, W. H. Miller, Fred C. Reese, Frank Bartley, John Sourbeek and Samuel Ray. Detrick's orchestra was present and furnished music for the occasion.

Though it has been in existence but one year the Belleville Tent is in a flourishing condition. It has over one hundred members and six new applications for membership were received on Wednesday evening of last week. They now have their own quarters in the hall in the McClain block which they have fixed up very comfortably and conveniently. May the order continue to increase in the future as it has in the past.

STUDENT PASTOR FOR STATE COLLEGE.—One of the principal things done at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Synod of the Presbyterian church, in session in Philadelphia on Monday, was the appointment of a committee to raise a fund of one thousand dollars for the purpose of placing and supporting a student pastor at the Pennsylvania State College. This action was taken after most earnest plea by Gen. James A. Beaver, acting president of the institution. In urging that Synod take this action Gen. Beaver said that he was not putting in a plea for the Presbyterian church of State College. That church was amply able to take care of itself, but it was not able to care for the twelve hundred students now in attendance at the College and the institution was very much in need of a preacher. The field of labor is large enough to demand the attention of the church in general. On the basis of Gen. Beaver's plea Synod appointed the committee above referred to, whose duty it will be to raise a fund of $1,000, independent of the Huntingdon Presbytery or the general sustentation committee.

MATINEE RACES.—This afternoon matinee races will be held at the fair grounds in which all local horses will start. The price of admission will be but 25 cents, which will include a seat in the grand stand. The Coleville band will be there and play some of their best music. The list of horses entered is as follows:

- Class A. Baby K.....Wm. Larimer A-B.....Dr. Jones Major McKisley.....Mr. Stuart Elk Land.....F. Bartley Grey Ghost.....Palace Livery Class B. A match race for $50 a side. Tom Tilligan.....Geo. Beezer Ray M.....D. K. Weirman Class C. Dick Herr.....Baums Livery M. G. R.....Simp. The Clothier Elk Land.....Frank Bartley

On Wednesday W. S. Storm, the barber, sold his barber shop to Frank Montgomery and yesterday morning shook the dust of Belleville off his feet and left for Seattle, Wash., where he expects to make his future home. Of course he will spend a little time visiting relatives in Tyrone and at Braddock before starting on his long trip toward the setting sun.

BEAVER—MERRIMAN.—Quite a pretentious wedding took place in St. John's Episcopal church at 11 o'clock last Saturday morning when Miss Augusta Merriman became the bride of G. Andrew Beaver, of New York city. The interior of the church had been very prettily decorated for the occasion, the prevailing colors being green and white. Promptly on the hour the beautiful strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, as played by Miss Mary Bradley, announced the approach of the wedding party, which included the bride unaccompanied, Miss Adelaide Merriman, as maid of honor; Misses Christine and Isabel Merriman, Miss Katharine Cravan and Miss Katharine Beaver, as bridesmaids; Bevan Jones, of New York, as best man, and John H. Stevens, Bertram Robinson and S. W. Jones, of New York, and John Blanchard, and H. C. Quigley, of Belleville, as ushers. The bride, who was naturally the centre of attraction, was gowned in white satin trimmed in princess lace and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore gowns of white muslin and carried bouquets of pink chrysantheums.

At the chancel the bride's party was met by the groom elect with his best man and Rev. George Israel Brown, of Harrisburg, who performed the ceremony, the ring service being used. The bride was given away by her mother. Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the Merriman home on Curtin street and in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Beaver left on an extended wedding trip at the conclusion of which they will take up their residence in New York city, where Mr. Beaver holds a position in the Trust Company of America.

TAYLOR—SHELL.—On Wednesday evening of last week a pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shell, in Williamsburg, Blair county, when their daughter, Miss Lucy Beryl Shell, became the bride of Reynolds Taylor, a former Belleville young man. The ceremony, which took place at five o'clock in the evening, was performed by Rev. Walter G. Steel, in the presence of about one hundred invited guests. The only attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoagwire, of Altoona. Following the ceremony and wedding dinner Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left for a brief wedding tour after which they will take up their residence in McKeesport, where Mr. Taylor holds a good position as an electrician.

HEVERLY—COLE.—The epidemic of matrimonial fever which has been sweeping over Belleville this fall still rages with unabated fury and the latest victims are two quite well known young people, in the persons of Augustus Heverly, the popular young clerk in Mingle's shoe store, and Miss Mary Cole, daughter of architect Robert Cole. The two young people left on the early train Tuesday morning for Harrisburg where they were quietly married by Rev. George Israel Brown, at 11 o'clock. Of course they are now away on a delightful little wedding trip, which will terminate in a day or two.

FISHER—NEWMAN.—William Fisher, of Tyrone, and Miss Alice Newman, of Port Matilda, were married at the home of Daniel Fisher, in Tyrone, on Monday evening. The wedding was a very pretty affair and was attended by quite a number of young friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John H. Daugherty and the attendants were Mr. Williams, of Osceola Mills, and Miss Pearl McAllister. After a brief wedding trip the young couple will take up their residence in Tyrone.

SWEET—WETZEL.—At noon on Wednesday of last week Miss Beulah Wetzel, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Frank Wetzel, of Rebersburg, was united in marriage to Joseph E. Sweet, of Pittsburgh. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father at the Reformed parsonage in Rebersburg. The attendants were Miss Grace Wetzel, as bridesmaid, and Bruce Sweet, as best man. Miss Lodie Shaffer played the wedding march. The young couple will make their home in Pittsburgh.

GARDNER—DELONG.—A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Hugh DeLong, at Romola, on Saturday evening, when her daughter, Miss Ethel, was united in marriage to Ellis Gardner, son of Wayne Gardner, of Howard. Rev. H. J. Dudley, of the Disciple church, performed the ceremony. A wedding supper was served after the ceremony and later Mr. and Mrs. Gardner left on the evening train for a brief wedding trip.

MAMES—WOODRING.—Moses G. Mames and Miss Emma G. Woodring, both of Port Matilda, went to Petersburg on Tuesday of last week where they were quietly married by Rev. S. S. Berger.

A wedding of considerable prominence in Lock Haven last Thursday evening was that of Dean Beaver Furst, son of Chas. G. Furst, Esq., and Miss Margaret Dunn Fredericks, only daughter of J. H. Fredericks. Rev. George Israel Brown, of Harrisburg, but formerly of this place, performed the ceremony. Both Mr. and Mrs. Furst are well known in Belleville, the former being a nephew of the late Judge A. O. Farst.

An engine off the track on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad at the junction of the Whitetock Quarries broach held the morning passenger train until almost nine o'clock Wednesday.

A private dance was given in the hall of the public building, last Thursday night, in honor of Miss Gusie Merriman.

Dr. Brookerhoff has a crop of about three hundred bushels of fine apples on his farm east of Belleville, most of which are ready for market.

Clement Dale Esq., has moved his law offices from the second floor of the Centre county bank building to the rooms opposite the court house recently occupied by the Howard Creamery company's store.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Noll gave a reception at their home in Pleasant Gap on Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Brooks. Mrs. Brooks is their eldest daughter and was married in Altoona last week.

Al. Kline underwent an operation in the Belleville hospital on Tuesday morning, by Drs. W. S. Glenn, of State College, and M. J. Locke, of Belleville. The operation was a success and Mr. Kline is now getting along in good shape.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—The following marriage licenses were issued the past week by Register Earl C. Taten. Wm. Hale and Ella May Martin, both of Julian.

Moses Mains and Erma Woodring, both of Port Matilda. Robert Frye and Emma Saniger, both of Howard.

Joseph E. Sweet, of Pittsburgh, and Beulah Wetzel, Rebersburg. Richard H. Zetzel, of Coburn, and Rhoda A. Royer, Spring Mills.

Joseph K. Adams, of Milesburg, and Eleanor Shultz, Curtin. Edward L. Walker, of New York City, and Julian Ida Orris, Milesburg.

Clarence L. Arnold, of Goshen, Ind., and Anna V. L. Orris, Belleville. Elliot D. Gardner and Ethel DeLong, both of Howard.

David W. Stinson, of Pittsburgh, and Lillian Crittenden, Belleville. John A. Beaver, of New York City, and Augusta C. Merriman, Belleville.

Agnes C. Heverly and Mary Edna Cole, both of Belleville. Joseph C. Weirick and Hannah M. Holmes, both of Howard.

Harmon Bird, of Fleming, and Annie E. Swisher, of Julian. Samuel Stanley, of Milesburg, and Charlotte Barhurst, of Curtin.

Spring Mills. On Monday last it was decidedly cold in this part of the valley, real winter like.

John Houser has made quite an addition to his residence, also erected a new barn, both add greatly to the neighborhood.

The A. B. C. club, an organization of young ladies of the village, after an adjournment over summer resumed for the winter campaign on Friday last.

Rev. G. W. McInay has purchased quite a high spirited horse, a fine-looking animal, and no doubt will make time on the road. The reverend gentleman is evidently tired of slow coaches.

That live merchant, C. P. Long, shipped 3000 bushels of apples last week, and will ship the same number of bushels this week. Mr. Long will buy all the apples that are offered at his store.

Miss Lillie Wood, a highly accomplished young lady of Atlantic City, was here for a few days last week visiting relatives and friends, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wood of the Spring Mills hotel.

The new iron bridge over Penns creek is rapidly approaching completion. The bed of the bridge is now being placed in condition for the concrete. The footway of four feet will have plank flooring. In ten days the bridge will be open for travel.

Our hunters as yet, have not been very successful in bagging game, save a few rabbits, and all told for this week they can be counted on one hand without the thumb. Game must evidently be scarce, or the snarls somewhat off. As the season advances, no doubt a number of our farmers will be wondering what has become of some of their fat turkeys—very likely.

Dr. Braucht has purchased from the Penn Hall carriage works a very handsome and convenient vehicle—a new idea called the "Life Saver for Land Travelers," rather a long name that. In front it has two large lamps, one on each side, and the entire body of the vehicle can be completely closed, and the occupant will be as comfortable and contented in rainy and cold stormy weather, as he would be occupying a rocking chair at home. It is exactly the vehicle for rural letter carriers.

Miss Lizzie Stover had her grand opening of millinery goods last week, and availing myself of her kind invitation I stepped into her parlors to note the latest styles in hats. I found her rooms thronged with delighted visitors inspecting and commenting on the styles of feminine head wear. I must say she makes a varied and most attractive display of autumn and winter hats in all styles and shapes. The work is skillfully executed, the styles correct and true to Paris ideals, charming and beautiful, and the colors the very newest. Of course Miss Stever is doing a very lively business.

Quite a number of our pious friends appear to be unnecessarily exercised over a little farming, said to have been done quite recently on Sunday. To plow a field under certain circumstances, or to hose grain when threatened by continual storms and rains to prevent its total destruction, is no very grave offense nor a violation of law. Common sense would regard it a work of necessity. No doubt many of these over zealous friends would howl themselves hoarse, if they failed to receive their daily newspapers on Monday. That would be a terrible mishap, yet that edition is printed, and all the necessary work done on Sunday the same as any other day. Now what is the difference? It is a parallel case, yet we hear of no complaint, no one whines or finds fault, but because a man is said to have worked on his farm on Sunday, reluctantly no doubt, to save himself from loss, an extraordinary ado is the consequence. The fact is, there is considerable cart, hypocrisy and any quantity of crocodile tears shed over this so-called Sunday labor.
