

Millions of Dollars Reach New York to Relieve Stringency.

BEING SHIPPED TO INTERIOR

New York, Nov. 9.—The stream of Europe's gold pouring into New York has not been halted here to meet local demands, but is being allowed to flow through the financial arteries of the United States and relieve the needs of agriculture and other industries generally.

Never in the history of New York finance, according to gold importers, has there been so much money engaged abroad by out-of-town banks as at present.

One of these large banks, with several thousand correspondents, has depleted its reserve by about a quarter during the last few weeks to supply currency where it is most needed, and has made large shipments to banks in San Antonio, Galveston, Memphis, Mobile, Atlanta and other southern points.

The fact that practically $60,000,000 in currency disappeared from the New York banks within a week, as indicated by the last bank statement, is considered sufficient evidence that the New York banks are doing their best to meet the great demands upon them.

RECEIVER FOR BANK

The Peoples, of Portsmouth, Va., Insolvent Through Cashier's Defalcation. Norfolk, Va., Nov. 12.—The Peoples bank, of Portsmouth, which suspended several days ago, went into the hands of a receiver on petition of directors, who gave out a statement that the bank has been made insolvent through a defalcation of the cashier.

Oakland Bank Closed.

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 12.—The Union National bank, the oldest bank in Oakland, closed its doors. The officers of the bank say they are only taking advantage of the legal holiday to straighten up their business. The deposits in the Union bank amount to $1,425,535.

Chinaman's Age Stirs School Board. Oil City, Pa., Nov. 11.—The Oil City school board is perplexed over the presence of a Chinese student in the public schools. The question at issue is whether the Mongolian is 18 or 23 years old.

Bather's Body in Flood. Belvidere, N. J., Nov. 11.—The Delaware river is flooded to an unusual height, and while a crowd was watching the rushing waters spectators were horrified to see the body of a man elad in a bathing suit sweep by. The body had probably been dislodged from a rock or bush where it had lodged in the summer or early fall.

Train Wrecked by Goat Hairs. Carlinville, Ill., Nov. 9.—A work train drawn by an electric engine on the Illinois traction system ran into a flock of 45 Angora goats south of this city. The long goat hairs wound around the trucks and wheels in a way that derailed the engine and six cars. The track was torn up for about 400 feet.

Anna Gould Denies Marriage Rumor. Paris, Nov. 12.—Madame Anna Gould authorized the Associated Press to deny the reports that she is engaged to be married to Prince Helle de Sagan or to anybody else.

PASSED AS WOMAN FOR 60 YEARS

Miss Vosbaugh Married a Woman and Lived With Her 30 Years. Trinidad, Colo., Nov. 12.—Miss Catharine Vosbaugh, who for nearly 60 years passed as a man, died at a hospital here. Miss Vosbaugh was born in France 83 years ago. When a young woman she found it difficult to make her way on account of her sex.

INKY WATER MEANS COAL

But It Took Farmers Several Years to Find It Out. York, Pa., Nov. 11.—For a few years it had been noticed that water on the P. M. Miler farm, in Cumberland township, Adams county, became black after every rain and that the mud on certain portions of the land was also black.

TOOK MULE'S TAIL FOR ROPE

McCarthy's Face Now Frescoed With Hoof Prints. Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 11.—Mistaking the tail of a mule for an electric light pull rope in the darkest corner of his barn, John McCarthy, of this city, gave the supposed contact line a sharp jerk. The lamp did not light, but McCarthy saw stars as the mule responded to the pull with both hoofs.

CLEVELAND A HUNTER

Former President Bagged Good Batch of Rabbits, Quail and Woodcock. Princeton, N. J., Nov. 12.—It was long after sundown when former President Cleveland returned from his first hunting trip this fall. From early morning until nightfall Mr. Cleveland, with Dr. C. R. Priest, of Princeton, and William and George McFarland, of Rocky Hill, shot down rabbits at Woodside, Mr. McFarland's estate, and it was reported that a good batch of quail and woodcock were also bagged.

DYNAMITE IN KITCHEN STOVE

Explosion Wrecks Home of John Gochenour, Near York, Pa. York, Pa., Nov. 8.—Thirty sticks of dynamite, placed in the oven of the kitchen cook stove to thaw, exploded in the house of John Gochenour, in Washington township. All the members of the family were temporarily absent when the explosion occurred. Gochenour was about to enter his house at the time he heard was burned off and he was hurled to the ground, but escaped serious injury.

Jeffries' Father Says He Quit For Good. Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 11.—Rev. A. C. Jeffries, accompanied by his wife, daughter and the latter's husband, of Los Angeles, Cal., the first named being the father of James J. Jeffries, formerly the heavy-weight champion of the world, who are touring the east, were the guests of County Treasurer R. C. Lee here. Rev. Mr. Jeffries stated relative to his son entering the prize ring again that there was nothing in such rumors. He said that the offer of a $50,000 purse by Johnson, and even the doubling of the sum, would not tempt "Jim" to appear in the roped arena again, he having pledged himself to his parents to quit the ring forever.

Sold Brass Filings For Gold. New York, Nov. 9.—Influenced by the present premium on the precious metal, Samuel Hirschfeld entered the financial district and, according to the allegations which later led to his arrest, disposed of a bag of brass filings for $1000. The purchaser was Reuben Ritzele, who described himself as a diamond broker. Hirschfeld was held in $3000 bail on a charge of grand larceny.

Will Fight the San Jose Scale. Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 12.—The whole power of the state department of agriculture is to be enlisted to fight the San Jose scale and other insect pests in Pennsylvania. Twenty-one inspectors have been detailed by State Zoologist Surface to carry on the battle. These inspectors will visit farmers and fruit growers to instruct them in the way to fight the pests and to demonstrate methods.

MINE HIS TOMB

Miner Must Starve to Death in Shaft Under His Home. Mahanoy City, Pa., Nov. 12.—Down in the depths of the Draper colliery, several hundred feet under the surface, and almost directly under his own home, Michael McCabe, 30 years old, of Gilberton, is entombed. He is behind thousands of tons of slush and dirt, alive, but doomed to death, beyond all hope of rescue.

He has been imprisoned since 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when he fired a blast which caused a cave-in extending to the surface, where the slush banks were situated. He fled in the wrong direction and got into a blind shaft. A fellow workman managed to get out of that wing of the colliery before the roof of the mine caved in.

MURDERED AND ROBBED

Body of Man Shot and Terribly Beaten Found in Field. Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 11.—Badly mutilated and bearing marks showing that he had been shot repeatedly and terribly beaten, the body of William Cline, a prominent citizen of Bolivar, Pa., near here, was found in a field a short distance from that town. The earth was torn up over a space of a quarter of an acre, showing that Cline had made a hard struggle for his life. The motive of the crime is thought to have been robbery, as at the time of his death Cline had on his person a large sum of money received from the sale of a saw mill. This money was missing when the body was found.

WEALTHY MAN MISSING

Edmund Morrow's Wife Fears He Has Been Murdered and Robbed. Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 11.—Edmund A. Morrow, aged 46 years, a retired shoe merchant of Philadelphia, and lately a cottager in this city, has disappeared, and his wife fears that he has met with foul play. He had about $3000 in his possession when he left here on October 31 for New York to meet a man on special business. Since then he has not been heard from and his wife believes he is dead, a victim of foul play. Morrow, who amassed a snug fortune, retired several months ago and came to Atlantic City to live. He was a man of exemplary habits and had no known reason to commit suicide.

CIGARETTES KILL BOY

Smoked Fifty a Day From Time He Was 9 Years Old. Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 9.—Lewis Staples, 17 years old, of Sayre, near here, died from excessive cigarette smoking. He started to smoke cigarettes when he was 9 years old, and is said to have averaged 50 or more a day. The excessive smoking brought on Bright's disease.

Jealous Husband Shot Wife and Sister. Wilmington, Del., Nov. 11.—Crazed with jealousy, Fred Underhill shot and killed his wife and then turned the revolver upon her sister, Rachel Nelson, firing five bullets into her body. She is also expected to die. After committing the murder Underhill walked to the home of Magistrate Robertson and gave himself into custody. Returning home and finding no meal awaiting him, Underhill secured his revolver and, going to the home of William Nelson, he found there his wife and her sister. Without a word, he fired two bullets into his wife's body and then turned the revolver upon his wife's sister.

President to Review Fleet. Washington, Nov. 9.—It was announced at the White House that President Roosevelt will review the Atlantic battleship fleet in Hampton Roads December 16, the day of the sailing of the fleet for the Pacific. No further details of the review are obtainable at this time, and it is stated that they have not yet been decided upon.

Jap Wrestlers at White House. Washington, Nov. 12.—President Roosevelt witnessed an exhibition of Japanese wrestling by Mr. Hitachi-yama, champion wrestler of Japan, and his assistant. The bout was arranged by the Japanese ambassador, and took place at the White House, a number of the president's friends having been invited to be present.

Aged Woman Shot By Boy. Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 12.—Mrs. Sarah E. Gregg, aged 68 years, was accidentally shot in the right side by Thomas Reeser, aged 18 years, at her home at Lemoyne. Reeser was returning from a hunting trip, and is said to have been under the influence of liquor. Mrs. Gregg's injuries are serious.

Louis E. McComas Dead. Washington, Nov. 11.—Louis Emory McComas, associate justice of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia, former United States senator, and for four terms congressman from Maryland, died at his home in this city. His death was due to heart disease.

Fought Duel Over Election Bet. Fernalda, Ky., Nov. 11.—As the result of a quarrel over an election bet, William Hopkins, son of Rev. Thomas Hopkins, and Frank Foley fought a duel. Hopkins was instantly killed and Foley is fatally wounded.

Westerner, Trying Experiment, Goes Insane and Dies of Exhaustion. Fremont, Neb., Nov. 12.—Because scientists reported that peanuts contained all the elements necessary to sustain life, Archie Venuto, a Fremont man, attempted to live by eating nothing but peanuts, with the result that he died of exhaustion after a week of peanut diet. At the end of four days Venuto became insane and was placed in a hospital. He had absolutely refused to eat anything but peanuts.

Railroad Strike Settled. Huntingdon, Pa., Nov. 9.—The strike of trainmen of the Huntingdon & Broad Top railroad, which has lasted two weeks, has been settled. The railroad company granted the demands of the striking trainmen, including engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen, equal to the wages paid to the Pennsylvania railroad trainmen.

One-Gallus Voters' Choice. Washington, Nov. 11.—"The one-gallus Republicans at the cross-roads are for Roosevelt; the one-gallus Democrats are for Bryan, and the politicians of either party are against both." This was the epitome of the political situation given by Representative Champ Clark, of Missouri, who paid his respects to President Roosevelt.

Boys' Neck Broken in Football Game. Columbus, Ind., Nov. 12.—In attempting to stop an end run, Earl Rudell, an 18-year-old senior in the high school, had his neck broken in a football game. The city and school authorities will issue orders prohibiting football in the town hereafter.

Spider's Bite Kills a Woman. Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 11.—Mrs. Elizabeth Grassman, aged 60 years, died at Linglestown from the result of blood poisoning, caused by the bite of a spider two weeks ago.

MAKING A NEWSPAPER

Moving Pictures Show Every Step in Production of "The Record." There has been a general curiosity on the part of the public to know how a modern newspaper is made and to satisfy all, the whole story was recently told at Keith's Philadelphia Theatre, in a remarkable series of life-motion pictures called "The Making of a Modern Newspaper." "The Philadelphia Record" was selected as the model by S. Lubin, who made the series of very realistic pictures.

The series opens with a scene representing a newspaper office over a hundred years ago. This is to give artistic and historical contrast to the great mechanical advance in journalism since that time. It shows the outside of an old Philadelphia printing shop, and the next glimpse is of the inside of the same printery. A journeyman is laboriously pulling impressions with a Blawie, or Washington hand press, while his apprentice is busy among the type, both being dressed in the costume of the period.

Next appears Ben Franklin himself. He walks to the window, looks critically at the sheet, and again returns to his office, in a short time putting on his hat and walking out. The next picture leaps across a century and gives a fine panoramic view of the home of "The Philadelphia Record." In a flash is seen "The Record's" famous Electric Baseball Score Board, with the great crowd watching the progress of an exciting game between the Detroit and the Athletics.

The next picture shows the business offices of "The Philadelphia Record," with the office force and the ordinary routine of business going on. From that point the real tour of "The Philadelphia Record" establishment begins. The managing editor is shown in consultation with various members of his staff, and all so true to life that the effect is as if they were transacting their business in real flesh and blood before the audience. Next comes the city editor, with his corps of reporters, each one attending to his or her own business, according to the exigencies of the moment. This scene is succeeded by the department of the advertising manager, which shows an array of solicitors receiving their various assignments.

Receiving want and other advertisements by telephone is an interesting sight that follows next. This is a feature of advertising that in recent times has grown to great proportions. Something akin, but broader in its scope, is the succeeding view of the telegraph room, where a skilled corps of operators is busy receiving news from every point of the compass. The messages are directly taken on typewriters, and so realistic is the picture that the spectators can almost fancy they hear the click and rattle of the instruments and the machines.

Next comes a prominent feature of the making of a modern newspaper—the "Drawing of the Daily Cartoon." The spectator sees the artist actually at work and are at once impressed with the deftness of his pen and the modesty of his studio. The next step is into the Mechanical Department, the visitor is treated to a close range view of "Setting Up Advertisements" by hand, succeeded by a tour through the linotyping room, where "The Philadelphia Record's" big batteries of linotype machines are shown in active operation. These almost human pieces of mechanism were never exhibited to better advantage. The stereotyping room comes next, with every operation shown in detail, including a complete demonstration of MacConnell's new Eclipse automatic finishing and cooling machine, which in one simple operation does the work of the four machines hitherto deemed necessary for shaving, trimming, cooling and accurately finishing the semi-cylindrical stereotype plates.

The next natural step is a visit to "The Philadelphia Record" press room, and the exhibition is such a fine one that even the dullest admire the magnificent series of views so faithfully portrayed on the screen. The great presses are shown to the fullest advantage from every end and angle, and at every stage of the journey, from the placing of the blank rolls on the spindles to the finished newspapers that may be seen rushing out of the mouths of the presses by the tens of thousands per hour.

One of the busiest departments is the delivery, mailing and shipping room. There the papers are automatically conveyed from the press room by an endless elevator and several bustling groups of men are kept on the jump putting up bundles, wrapping parcels and getting ready for the mail bags individual copies for out of town subscribers. Next is shown "Making the Trains," where the wagon delivery service every morning makes good the boast that "The Philadelphia Record" is always on time.

The final picture shows "The Philadelphia Record" at the breakfast table, and makes a fitting climax to the wonderful series. A typical American family is seen at home. The father, seated beside his wife, is showing "The Record" just received.
