THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

Charles Wetzel is nursing a very sore hand, caused by getting it in contact with a saw.

The Helen Grayce (Brisbin) stock company has been drawing big houses every night this week in Altoona.

William Brown is in Tyrone this week doing a job of plumbing for the American Lime and Stone company.

According to the inventory filed with the register of wills in Philadelphia the late Alva S. Grow left an estate valued at $70,561.

Between two and three million eggs have already been taken at the Bellefonte fish hatchery and placed in the hatching troughs for hatching.

A party of Williamsport gentlemen were entertained at the Country club Saturday night and Sunday by a number of Bellefonte members.

Miss Goldie Gates, of Tyrone, underwent quite a serious operation in the Bellefonte hospital the latter part of last week but at this writing is getting along splendidly.

Last Saturday five Bellefonte boys were given a hearing before a local justice on the charge of stealing pigeons and not being able to settle the case were bound over for court.

The patients, nurses and attaches of the Bellefonte hospital are under obligations to Frank E. Nagney for their Thanksgiving turkey, which he very generously donated them.

Marion Smith, who went to Saltsburg several weeks ago with the expectation of making that town his home, has returned to Bellefonte because he could not find a suitable house to live in.

Centre county for once was lucky on Sunday, for while we had a whole day's rain and snow the eastern part of the State was devastated by a terrible storm which raged from Saturday night until late Sunday.

On Friday evening a car on a freight train on the Bald Eagle valley railroad bucked and was thrown across the track between Unionville and Snow Shoe Intersection delaying the 8.16 passenger train until almost eleven o'clock before it reached Bellefonte.

Frank Dentist, son of William Dentist, of this place, and who for several years has been located in Altoona, this week moved his family to Reading where he has secured a position as manager of the dry goods department in a large department store.

Harvey Shaffer went out hunting several days ago and evidently over exerted himself as on Monday night he was seized with a chill and Tuesday and Wednesday night his condition was such as to cause considerable alarm, but he is some better at this writing.

The Basket Shop on Wednesday shipped nine hundred pounds of baskets in hamper and crates to Philadelphia where they will be put on exhibition at the Bellefonte—Stratford. Next week they will ship an equal amount to Baltimore for exhibition in that city and Washington.

On their way home they will stop in Harrisburg and Williamsport.

The Lock Haven lodge of Elks will hold their memorial services in their lodge rooms on Sunday and the Bellefonte lodge has been invited to join with them in paying homage to their deceased brethren. A special program of music has been arranged and the speakers will be ex-Judge John G. Love of this place, and Rev. G. M. Frowlester, of Plettington.

Both the Bellefonte Lime company and the Mittyay Lime and Stone company have closed their operations at Salona for the winter. The former firm has just completed one of the most successful runs since its organization in the matter of the quantity of stone turned out. In fact it has been in continuous operation since April, very rarely closing down for holidays.

Wagonmen readers as well as everybody else in Bellefonte want to bear in mind the fact that the ladies of the Methodist church will hold a "Dentist Market" in the vacant rooms in the Garman residence on High street on Saturday, December 7th. All kinds of pies, cakes, candy, etc., as well as aprons and fancy things will be on sale. Go early and get the pick of the stock on hand.

Next Tuesday evening, December 3rd, the Otterbain Male quartette will give an entertainment in Bellefonte in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. Persons who have heard this musical organization pronounce it first class and you cannot spend an evening in any better way than by going to hear them. Their selections are all up-to-date and of the best and their rendering is thoroughly artistic.

The Dry Goods Economist, of New York, devoted its issue of November 16th to a synopsis by the leading advertising men of the country and among the contributions was an eight hundred word article on the "Importance of Details" by Harry Ulmer Tibbels, an old Bellefonte boy, but now advertising manager for Stone & Thomas, of Wheeling, W. Va. Since associating himself with Stone & Thomas Mr. Tibbels has won a reputation as an advertiser which extends beyond the State in which he lives.

HUGHES—Isaac B. Hughes, a pioneer grocer and one of the best known men of Altoona, died quite suddenly in that place on Tuesday evening of heart failure. He had been in his usual good health all day and after eating a hearty supper went to a neighbor's house where he with several others met to discuss the feasibility of organizing a business firm. During the discussion Mr. Hughes fell forward from his chair to the floor and before a physician could be summoned was dead.

Deceased was born at Pennsylvania Furnace, this county, March 29th, 1852, and was then fifty-five years of age. He was a son of John D. and Hannah Hughes and when a young man learned the blacksmithing trade. Having completed his trade he went to Altoona where he worked several years, then went to Huntingdon county, near Warriorsburg. Two years later he returned to Altoona and went to work for the Pennsylvania railroad company as a blacksmith. Thirty-one years ago he quit blacksmithing and started in the grocery business in which he continued until his death.

When a young man he was united in marriage to Miss Eliza Gates, of Warriorsburg, who survives him with four children. He also leaves four brothers and three sisters. Mr. Hughes was a successful business man. In addition to his grocery store he was a large stockholder in the Citizens Electric Light, Heat and Power company; was president of the Economy Building association. He was a member of several Masonic organizations, of Jaffa Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine; of the Heptasophs and the Independent Order of Foresters.

SANKEY.—Mrs. Ida M. Sankey, wife of Samuel M. Sankey, chief of police of Philipsburg, died at her home in that place on Sunday morning. She had not been in good health for a year or more but her condition was not such as to cause alarm to her friends. Even as late as last Friday evening she entertained a number of her friends at dinner. Saturday morning she was taken violently ill and her death ensued within thirty hours, congestion of the lungs being assigned as the cause.

Prior to her marriage Mrs. Sankey was Ida May Garner. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garner and was born at State College forty-two years ago. She was united in marriage to Mr. Sankey in December, 1891, who survives her with two children, Mildred and Edna. She also leaves her father and the following brothers and sisters: John, of Filmore; Fred, of State College; Mrs. William Rothrock and Miss Nettie Garner, of Cannonsburg; Mrs. Sterling Fowler and Mrs. Fred Krumrine, of State College. Mrs. Sankey was a member of the Methodist church, an earnest worker in the Trinity Guild and a lady whose genial character and kind disposition made her many friends.

Rev. S. D. Wilson officiated at the funeral which was held on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment was made in the Philipsburg cemetery.

REEDER.—After a lingering illness with Bright's disease Charles W. Reeder, a well known resident of Philipsburg, died in that town last Thursday evening. He was sixty-seven years of age and is survived by his wife and one son, J. C. Reeder, who resides in Jersey City. He was a veteran of the Civil war, having served as a private of company D, Fifth regiment Penna. Vols. For more than thirty years he was in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad company and was a member of the order of Railway Conductors.

He was a member of the John W. Geary Post, No. 90, G. A. R., of Philipsburg, and the Tyrone Lodge, No. 194, Free and Accepted Masons. The funeral was held at two o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Rev. Franklin T. Eastment, of St. Paul's Episcopal church, officiated at the services and interment was made in the Philipsburg cemetery.

SEXTON.—Mrs. Catharine Sexton died at the Morrison home, corner of Lamb and Penn streets, on Sunday evening. She had been in failing health for over a year with infirmities due to her advanced age and her death followed as a natural consequence. Deceased was seventy-six years of age and had been a resident of Bellefonte for many years. She was a sister of the late Martin Morrison and was the last survivor of a family of eleven children. She was a faithful and consistent member of the Catholic church from where the funeral was held at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning. Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

MOORE.—Mrs. Ellen Moore, relict of the late John Moore, of College township, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Miller, at Mercersburg, last Friday, of general infirmities. She was a native of this county, was seventy-six years of age, and during her long residence in College township won the esteem of all who made her acquaintance. Her husband died a number of years ago but surviving her are a family of six grown children. The remains were taken to Lemont on Monday for interment.

The Bellefonte Academy foot ball team closed its season last Saturday with the Lock Haven Normal which proved one of the most stubbornly-contested and exciting games seen here this season. Neither side scored until the last few minutes of play when the Normal boys tried a forward pass on which they scored a touchdown but the Academy and half the spectators claimed that it was a dead ball and the score should not count. The result was a wrangle and both teams left the field.

BICKFORD COMPANY BUYS CURWENSVILLE PLANT.—A month or more ago the WATCHMAN made mention of the fact that the Bickford Fire Brick company had given up the idea of building a new plant at or near DuBois and was negotiating for the purchase of the plant of the defunct Curwensville Fire Brick company. The deal was finally closed last Saturday when, as a trustee's sale in bankruptcy, the Bickford company became the purchasers and as soon as the necessary transfer papers can be made out will come into full possession of the same.

Bellefonters are especially interested in this deal as the Bickford company is the one promoted by J. C. Meyer Esq., and John C. Rowe, of this place, and in which quite a number of people hereabouts have purchased stock. Saturday's purchase includes a large and completely equipped fire brick plant, with all necessary buildings, machinery, boilers and engines, twenty-three kilns, stock shed, tramway, tools and fixtures for the operation of the plant. It also includes several hundred acres of coal and clay lands as well as the right, title and interest of the defunct Curwensville company in articles of agreement and leases held on coal, clay and mining rights on many more hundreds of acres of land in close proximity to the plant; and in addition a large tract of land in Union county. The purchase also includes a quarter of a million building brick now on hand in the storage sheds.

In addition to what they acquired at Saturday's sale the Bickford company are the owners of several thousand acres of coal and fire clay lands in the vicinity of DuBois, which they acquired over a year ago and where they first contemplated building their plant. And, as it now transpires, these lands are nearer by several miles to the Curwensville plant than they would have been to the DuBois plant.

It is the intention of the Bickford company to make some changes in the Curwensville plant just as soon as Saturday's sale is confirmed, in the way of additions and improvements, which will almost double the capacity of the plant. In the meantime it is their intention to begin operations as soon as possible and work it to its present capacity, which is about fifty thousand brick per day. It is expected that the plant will be in full operation by the middle of December. The price paid for the Curwensville plant was $175,000.

DR. SPARKS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE.—Official announcement was made yesterday that Dr. Edwin Eric Sparks, of the University of Chicago, had been elected president of the Pennsylvania State College and had accepted the office. Dr. Sparks had been very favorably considered for some time past and at the meeting of the board of trustees last Friday evening it was decided to tender him the place. He was so notified and on Tuesday a number of the trustees met him in Pittsburgh and after a lengthy conference he gave them his positive acceptance, though he will not come to the College to assume the presidency until next June.

Dr. Sparks was born in Licking county, Ohio, and is 47 years old. He was educated at the Ohio University from where he graduated with the degree of A. M. In 1900 he was given the degree of Ph. D., by the University of Chicago, where he now holds the professorship of American history. He is regarded a very able man among well known educators.

"I'M MARRIED NOW."—Considerable interest is being manifested in the coming engagement of that funny comedian, Geo. F. Hall, in the new musical vaudeville mixture, "I'm Married Now." It is the clever work of Mr. Hall and the specialties introduced by the capable company make it quite popular. There is a merry jingle to all the way through and the music is bright and catchy. The company, which is a large one, is uniformly strong and pleasing. "I'm Married Now" is full of the real George Hall fun, as Bill Howdy, the millionaire Hobo, or born tired gentleman George, is seen in the style of character which suits him best. This attraction will be at Garman's Tuesday evening, December 10th.

SAVED FROM THE SLUMS.—P. E. Carrigan will present his great American melodrama, "Saved from the Slums," at Garman's opera house, on Tuesday evening, December 3rd. The play deals especially with life in New York and Long Island. Miss Mabel Charles, the company star, is surrounded by such people as Max C. Elliott, Jerry Owen, Jack Carrigan, Bobby Smith, Mabel Eisey and others. The play is in four acts and seven scenes, and filled with good comedy and startling effects. The usual prices, 25, 35 and 50 cents will prevail.

Superintendent J. K. Johnston, of the Tyrone division, is now perhaps a bigger man in his own estimation—and that of his friends, as well—as the president of the Pennsylvania railroad system. Mr. Johnston is a member of the Rangers hunting club, of Tyrone, who are encamped near Snow Shoe, and on Saturday he was successful in bringing to earth a nice, fat four pronged buck, the first and only one so far killed by that party.

It is announced on fairly good authority that the wedding of John C. Rowe, rector of Centre county, and Miss Myra Armstrong, of Altoona, will take place on Thursday, December 12th, and connected with this announcement is a little romance which will leave for another time; contenting ourselves with the mere statement that if there is anything in rumors this will not be the only wedding in the Rowe household in the near future.

Mrs. John Rummel, who has been visiting in Bellefonte for the past two weeks, left for her new home in Trenton, N. J., Wednesday. Mr. Rummel having accepted a position and gone there from Youngstown, Ohio, several weeks ago.

Among the Bellefonters who went to Altoona on Saturday to see "Ben Hur" were Mrs. George A. Beizer, Misses Roxie and Helen Mingle, Roger A. Bayard and Rex Bartlett. From Altoona Mrs. Beizer went to Huntingdon for a brief visit with friends before returning home.

Prof. L. C. and Mrs. Dinseng, of Chambersburg, attended the "Pennsylvania Day" exercises and dedication of the new agricultural building at State College last Friday after which they were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Ward, in this place, until Monday morning when they left for home.

Prof. Dinseng was at one time an instructor at State College but is now principal of Wilson College, Chambersburg.

Rev. and Mrs. J. Allison Platt entertained quite a hostful of guests at their Thanksgiving dinner yesterday. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Maxon, of California; Miss Mable Maxon, of Pittsburgh, Fred Dunne and Miss Letta Dunne, of Elmira, N. Y. In fact the gathering was more particularly that of a family reunion and Thanksgiving was selected as the most appropriate day on which to have it.

Prof. Louis E. Reber and family left State College on Monday for their new home in Madison, Wisconsin, where the professor has accepted the chair as dean and director of university extension, a new field of work in the history of that institution. Prof. Reber had been at State College so long that he had grown to be almost a part of that institution and not only the College but his many friends sincerely regret his departure; though all wish for him unbounded success in his new field of labor.

W. S. Mallatieu, manager, and D. Benton Tate, wire chief of the Pennsylvania Telephone company in this place, were in Harrisburg Saturday night where they attended a banquet at the board of trade given by the officials of the company to their employees. The Pennsylvania will go out of existence as a company on the first of the year when it becomes a part of the Consolidated telephone company and the officials took this method of showing their appreciation of the good services of their employees.

Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed and Brown Jr., on south Allegheny street. The young couple were married in Johnstown, the home of Mr. Campbell, on Wednesday and are here on their wedding trip which will be lengthened to a journey to eastern cities. The bride, whose maiden name was Miss Caroline McMillen, is a graduate nurse of St. Ignatius hospital, Youngstown, Ohio. She was a classmate at school of Miss Kathryn M. Brown and it was to visit her they stopped in Bellefonte.

Richard Gensalus does something on Wednesday that he has never been known to do before; he took a vacation. With a gun and a box car he left on the morning train for Warriorsburg where he joined a party of friends for the last three days of the hunting season. And whether he comes home with any game or not will matter little, as the novelty of the experience will be satisfaction enough for him. And in the meantime the members of the firm of McCantors & Co., are very much lost without "Dink," who has always been on hand, rain or shine, every day for years.

Miss Mary Sherkey, of Williamsport, spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Charles Gilmore.

Mrs. Roy Temple, of Beverley, Mass., is in Bellefonte with her mother, Mrs. Theresa Tate.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Huffman, of Williamsport, spent Thanksgiving at the Spigelmyer home on Howard street.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Fauble went to Harrisburg on Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with their daughters, Mrs. Seel and Mrs. Tausig.

Miss Laura Hemphill, who has been visiting friends in Bellefonte for some weeks, will leave at noon on Monday for her home in Erie.

PETERS—EVEY.—A very pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Evey, at 9.30 o'clock last Friday evening, when their daughter, Miss Edna May Evey, was united in marriage to Albert Peters, formerly of Unionville but now of Conemaugh. Rev. James B. Stein performed the ceremony while the attendants were Miss Helen Hamilton, as bridesmaid and Edward Franks as best man.

The bride is quite well known, popular in her set and will no doubt make a splendid wife. The bridegroom is a machinist and is in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad company at Conemaugh, where they will make their future home.

Low Wallace came home from the Panther's hunting camp on Monday evening with ten rabbits. Up to that time they had not seen any deer although on Monday they got on the track of one which they drove off of one knob on to another where the animal was killed by another crowd of hunters. It proved to be a big buck. Perhaps the biggest prize they have captured so far is a big horned owl. It is a fine specimen, standing eighteen inches high, and as they captured it alive they think it quite a trophy. They will bring it along home with them tomorrow and Mr. Owl will be on exhibition at Knisely Brothers cigar store and pool room.

KILLED AT JERSEY SHORE.—Roy Seigel, who was employed in the New York Central railroad yards at Avis, as a conductor on a shifting crew, was instantly killed on Saturday afternoon. He was in the act of making a coupling when he was caught between the cars and tragically mangled. Death was almost instantaneous. Deceased was thirty-three years of age and was born in Ferguson township, this county, where he has a brother and sister living. He also is survived by his wife but no children. He was a member of the I. O. O. F., of Jersey Shore. The funeral was held on Monday.

Spring Mills.

Our teachers report having had a very pleasant time in Bellefonte during institute week.

Our farmers are about through husking corn, and have it all cribbed. The crop is a fair one.

Two hunting parties went down the road on Saturday last with two deer each. Who the parties were or where from, I did not learn.

Butchering is now in order but as yet no heavy porkers have been reported. Folks appear to be a little shady in reporting weight, unless the avoidupois exceeds the fifth of a ton.

Cal. Zerby is assisting Wm. Ruhl in his livery business by taking commercial agents to and from neighboring towns. Mr. Ruhl did well in securing Mr. Zerby as he thoroughly understands the handling and care of horses.

Last week several parties from down the country, were going from house to house endeavoring to buy eggs, a rare article just now, of course they secured very few if any.

A large majority of the chickens here have evidently retired from the business. In a flock of fifty or sixty hens, you can depend on from a cipher to one egg about twice a week.

How many turkeys were carved here on Thanksgiving day, is a question not easily answered. No doubt sausages was the "turkey" dish on most tables. The fact is, the bird is not seen in this neighborhood. Owing to the late and cold spring, all the young turkeys died and most of the old ones wept themselves to death. So here we are with Thanksgiving day over and Christmas not far off and no-turkey.

The people here are taking quite an interest in the great prohibition movement, which is now sweeping the south and west like a tornado, and no doubt will reach this latitude sooner or later. Of course the fashionable and dainty tipplers, both in city and country, are becoming alarmed, while those accustomed to accumulate a fully developed case of intoxication—or in plain words getting drunk—are in terror of being deprived of that manly luxury of abusing their families.

The one great fault with the new iron bridge over Penns creek is that the foot walk is on the wrong side. This was a policy of "penny wise pound foolish." Having it on the north side the walk is from ten to a dozen feet shorter than it would be if on the south, owing to a curve in the water course entering Allison's flouring mill. Of course pedestrians must wade, often ankle deep in mud, over the main road to gain the foot walk, and then, as eight out of ten in crossing go to the railroad station, must again wade through mud over the same road they just crossed to reach that point. Whereas had the walk been on the southern side, where it should be, all this wading through mud and filth in wet weather would be avoided. The western approach of the footway is still in the same scandalous condition it has been for weeks, simply a disgusting mass of mud and filthy accumulations. Has the supervisor resigned?

Pine Grove Mention.

Snow, rain and mud and plenty of it. Mrs. Frank Allen is quite ill with typhoid fever.

Isaac Campbell, spent the beginning of the week in Tyrone.

A. F. Fry was among the bunch who saw Ben Hur last week at Altoona.

D. H. Kustaborder, who has been quite sick the past week, is not improving.

Mrs. Sarah Gardner has closed her house and gone to Altoona to spend the winter.

Geo. W. Homan has been compelled to forego his usual hunting this season on account of illness.

Mrs. Elizabeth White, of Tyrone, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. H. Griffin, at Stormstown.

J. C. Miller has recovered from his injuries and is spending this week at his parental home just west of town.

Miss Mary Jacobs, of Ocoola, spent several days at her parental home just west of town and returned here Monday.

John M. Homan made a business trip down Brush valley last week, dickering for one of the fine farms down there.

The Foster, Corl and Markle gang left Monday bright and early for a weeks hunt on the Allegheny mountains.

Mrs. J. E. McWilliams and Mrs. J. W. Sunday were among the mourners at the Roy Seigel funeral Wednesday at Jersey Shore.

Daniel Reed has purchased the Mrs. Remy home on south Vine street, after some improvements he will occupy it in the spring.

Wm. Roup, one of the up to date farmers on Spruce Creek, with his son spent several days last week among friends at State College.

Last Tuesday Edmund Burns moved to Baileyville where he will be a necessary adjunct to the blacksmith shop as a wood workman.

Miss S. E. Neff, one of Milesburg's successful school teachers, spent several days last week at the bedside of her friend, Mrs. J. A. Decker, who is but little better.

Mrs. G. W. McWilliams was a passenger east Tuesday morning, to enjoy the Thanksgiving feast with her daughter, Mrs. Alice Bushweller, at their beautiful home in Lancaster.

James Kimpert was in hard luck Monday evening. His splendid gray mare which was tied at Linden Hall broke loose and on the way home collided with New Yarnell's two horse buggy injuring herself so badly that she had to be shot.

Lemont.

George Tate was seen in town Monday.

George Williams is taking a long visit in Philipsburg.

Peter Shuey is circulating among friends in these parts these days.

John Bathgate is slowly improving but so far has not been able to walk.

Sunday brought us some snow and Tuesday brought high winds with cold.

The new fence put up in front of the United Evangelical church is a decided improvement.

A. L. Whitehill is not improving much at present, he being a great sufferer with catarrh of the stomach.

There was quite a bit of excitement among the hunters, on Monday, as some persons saw a large black bear along Nittany mountain.

The remains of Mrs. Ellen Moore were brought home Monday on the 8.30 train, and the funeral services were held at 2.30 p. m., from the Presbyterian church, interment being made at the Branch cemetery.

Centre Centry Pomona Grange will meet in Grange Arcadia at Centre Hall Wednesday December 4th, 10 a. m. All members are invited, 5th degree meeting and election of officers will take place during the day. All come and have a good time.

Yours Fraternally,
D. M. CAMPBELL, Sec'y.

—During the first fifteen working days in November 1,513 cars were built at Berwick, Columbia county, an average of more than one hundred a day.
