THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

Vogel's minstrels are headed Bellefontwards.

This week has not been the very best for automobilizing.

Mrs. Joseph Ceader entertained at cards last Friday evening.

You can now go sleighing to your heart's content—as long as it lasts.

From the kind of weather we had yesterday there is likely to be sleighing for some time.

See notice for the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Whiteoak Quarries published in another column.

Four new members were initiated into the Bellefonte lodge of Elks at a regular meeting on Monday evening.

In the Bellefonte hospital on Tuesday of last week Mrs. Edward Bullock became the mother of a ten pound baby boy.

Tomorrow evening is the time for the installation of the new officers of Gregg Post, No. 95, to which the public is invited.

Thad Hamilton is getting things in readiness to put down a concrete pavement in front of his double house on Allegheny street.

Miss Myra Humes entertained a number of friends at dinner on Tuesday in honor of Mrs. Bogle, Miss Bogle and Miss Norris.

Just the nicest little girl baby imaginable made its appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Chambers, on Wednesday.

At Miss Humes dinner, Tuesday, in honor of some out of town guests here for the Daughters meeting, twenty covers were laid.

Prof. C. D. Koob, of Philipsburg, who was recently appointed one of the state inspectors of High schools, began his work on Monday.

W. A. Cleez, of Philipsburg, has announced his willingness to accept the nomination for recorder on the Republican ticket at the April primaries.

Nelson E. Robb has been promoted from district manager of the American Union telephone company to superintendent of contracts, with headquarters in Harrisburg.

Ernest, the five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. McCullough, of Spring township, was taken to the Bellefonte hospital on Wednesday for treatment for a trouble in his head.

Centre counties recently granted pensions are James Gallagher, of Bellefonte; David Williams, of Philipsburg; John Moore, of Sandy Ridge, and Thomas Burns, of Julian.

The Bellefonte Academy opened for the after holiday session on Tuesday with a larger attendance than early in the season. The Pennsylvania State College also opened on Tuesday.

Mrs. F. W. Crider entertained the Daughters of the American Revolution at her home on east Linn street Tuesday night. Twenty-one members of the organization were present.

The officials and employees of the Pennsylvania telephone company in this place with a few friends made up a sleighing party which went to the Daniel Hall home at Unionville last evening.

Grand Master George B. Orland, of the State Grand Lodge of Masons, has appointed W. L. Fleming, of this place, district deputy for the counties of Centre and Clearfield and Lodge 534 in Jefferson county.

Isaac A. Harvey, the well known geologist of Lock Haven, is now at work prospecting in the Big Sandy river district, near the Cato mines, in the interest of the Kelley brothers, of Snow Shoe, and a number of Philadelphia capitalists.

H. E. Zimmerman, of Benner township, has announced himself as a candidate for county commissioner on the Republican ticket and Charles E. Fisher, of Boalsburg, also a Republican, has announced himself as a candidate for the Legislature.

For once the people of Bellefonte are to be complimented on the way they cleaned the snow off their pavements on Wednesday. Of course the depth of the snow made it imperative to do something and this may in part account for the wholesale cleaning.

W. Reynolds Shope has moved his saw mill from the D. M. Kline tract a short distance from Ax Mann, to the John Musser tract west of Bellefonte. Although good timber crops are becoming quite scarce Mr. Shope manages to secure enough to keep his mill busy.

Miss Ada Walsh, who the past three months has been manager of the Western Union telegraph office in this place, has resigned and last Friday left for her home in Lock Haven. She is succeeded by Howard Woodring, who came to Bellefonte from Ridgely, Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gehret celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their marriage at their home on east High street last Friday evening. In commemoration of the event they gave a reception at which fifty or more of their friends were present to felicitate with them on the happy occasion.

FARMER'S WEEK AT STATE COLLEGE A BIG ONE.—When the officials of the Pennsylvania State College and the State Experiment Station planned for the second farmer's week exercises they did not anticipate nearly the interest or attendance that characterized the gathering during the past week. From the beginning of the exercises on Wednesday of last week until the close on Wednesday afternoon of this week the thirty-five instructors engaged to lecture and give demonstrations were kept exceedingly busy getting around the crowd. Last year the total number of farmer students enrolled was just 194, while this year the number exceeded five hundred. These came from over fifty of the sixty-seven counties in the State and included farmers and their wives, their sons and their daughters, all equally eager to hear and profit by the various instructions. Of course each day had its special line of instruction and in order that the entire crowd could be accommodated it was divided into three and four separate classes and an equal number of lectures and demonstrations given at the same time.

It is impossible for the WATCHMAN, with the limited space at its command, to give anywhere near a detailed report of the week, hence can only touch on the most important or unusual issues. The opening exercises of the week were given in last week's paper. Nothing out of the ordinary took place on Thursday and on Friday the biggest feature was when Prof. Tomlinson killed two beef cattle, dressed them in front of his audience and then explained the difference in meat producing animals even when fed on the same amount of food, under the same conditions.

G. I. Christie, superintendent of agricultural extension in Purdue University; E. G. Rapp, superintendent of the Berks county schools, and Prof. H. E. Van Norman were among the leading speakers of Saturday. Saturday evening quite a number of the farmers who did not want to spend Sunday at the College left for home but enough others arrived on Monday to keep the quota of attendance up to its maximum limit. In fact so great has been the success of this year's exercises that the College officials are planning to increase the facilities for handling so large a crowd by connecting the dairy and agricultural buildings in one group by the erection of a big assembly hall between the two.

The most interesting part of Monday's exercises was the organization that evening of the Pennsylvania Seed Improvement association, an organization concerned in the improvement of the crops in this State. Nearly every county in the State is represented by the almost four hundred pledged members of the association, which was formed following a recommendation of G. I. Christie, superintendent of agricultural extension in Purdue University.

It is proposed to district the State and E. M. Rapp, superintendent of the Berks county schools, will begin the movement by organizing that county. The county associations will be local in their nature but subordinate to the organization formed Monday evening. Membership will be urged upon every progressive farmer, and in the meantime every member of the organization made on Monday will work as missionaries among the farmers all over the State.

George Dale, of College township, was chairman of the committee on organization which formulated the constitution adopted and recommended the following officers for election: Vice presidents, Alfred S. Haines, of Westtown, Chester county, and J. T. Campbell, of Hartstown, Crawford county; secretary and treasurer, John W. Gilmore, State College. A president will not be elected until the meeting next year. Special interest will attach to the meetings of this association as there will be competitive displays of farm crops.

Other features of interest on Monday was an explanation of the respiration calorimeter by Dr. H. P. Armsby and a plea for more extensive stock raising by H. E. Cook, of Denmark, N. Y.

Notwithstanding Tuesday's snow storm interest in the farmer's week exercises continued unabated. Among the new arrivals was W. F. Hill, Master of the State Grange, and in an impromptu talk before the four hundred farmer students he heartily endorsed Dr. Hunt's plan for summer schools for teachers at which they will be taught agriculture in all its various branches. Dr. N. C. Schaeffer has also approved of Dr. Hunt's scheme and already arrangements have been made for the establishment of three such schools during the coming summer. The instruction will be given by professors from the College who have signified their willingness to devote their vacation months to this work. Two of the men who have already been selected are Prof. J. W. Gilmore and J. P. Stewart.

In Tuesday's instruction Prof. John Price Jackson explained to the farmers the adaptability of the motor to farm work; Miss Waugh gave a talk on ventilation and plumbing and a demonstration on deserts; Prof. Alva Agee made an address on "The Chance of Winning," and Miss Sarah C. Lovejoy, dean of the woman's department, made the closing talk Tuesday evening on "Woman's Education."

Wednesday's sessions were all brief, it being the closing day, and consisted of brief instructions by J. W. Gilmore, Alva Agee, H. P. Baker, J. H. Barron and Elton D. Walker. By Wednesday evening most every farmer at the College had left for home, and there was not one among all present who did not realize that his time was well spent. And from a general viewpoint it can be said that the wonderful success of this second annual farmer's week has demonstrated the fact that it is now an established course at the College and one for which just as much preparation must be made as for any other short course. There is no doubt that in years to come the good results of this week of special instruction to the farmers will be seen in the more advanced conditions of agriculture all over the State, which will mean bigger and better crops of grain and fruits and consequently more money in the farmer's pockets.

On Tuesday Luther Dale and family, of Pleasant Gap, butchered five large hogs; and notwithstanding the fact that it snowed all day, had everything done up in good time.

On Saturday night would-be thieves broke to pieces the two penny-in-the-slot weighing machines at the Philipsburg depot but failed to get even a penny for their trouble, as every cent had been removed from the machines late in the evening.

Bellefonte friends of Frank Dertine, son of councilman William H. Dertine, of this place, will be interested in learning that he has been promoted from a clerkship to manager of the clothing department in Kline, Curtis & Co's big department store in Reading.

The beautiful rural play of "Maud Muller," by special request of managers and theatregoers, played several return dates last season and there is not an instance on record where the theatre was not sold out previous to the company's arrival in town. In Bellefonte Monday evening, January 13th.

The kind of weather we have had this week is bringing a smile on the face of the ice man in anticipation of the crop he would like to harvest; while at the same time the coal man is equally radiant—though he might be more so if he had less trouble in getting coal enough to keep his supply up to the average.

If you miss the Bellefonte Central railroad train either going to or returning from the College in the afternoon it is because you did not get to the station in time, as the train leaves about one hour earlier than it did under the old schedule. It thus makes closer connection with the noon trains on the Bald Eagle valley and gets back to Bellefonte in time for supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Richard were hastily summoned to Philadelphia on Sunday on account of the death of Mrs. Richard's father, Mr. James C. Aull, who died at twelve o'clock Sunday after quite a long illness with a complication of diseases. He was eighty-two years of age and in addition to Mrs. Richard is survived by two sons. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon.

The third in the series of men's monthly mass meetings will be held in the court house at 3:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Gen. James A. Beaver will deliver the principal address, his subject being "Following at the Head of the Profession." There will be music by Smith's orchestra and singing by a male quartette. The public in general is invited.

The citizens of Boalsburg held a public meeting on Wednesday evening and appointed committees to make arrangements for the farmer's institute which will be held there on Wednesday and Thursday, February 19th and 20th. Considerable interest is already manifested in this gathering and if it is not a success when held it will not be because the people of that town have not done their part.

A few minutes before seven o'clock on Monday morning the roof on the City laundry caught fire, presumably from a spark from the furnace stack. The flame was discovered before it had made much headway by Frank Kerns, proprietor, and, although an alarm was sent in he succeeded in extinguishing the fire before the fire companies arrived on the scene. The only damage was to the roof and it was comparatively slight.

The Bellefonte Electric company recently completed the installation of a new engine and set of dynamos which now gives them three sets of dynamos for use at one time if needed. They are now equipped to furnish more current than is at present being used and are in better shape than ever to tide over any breakdown of an engine or set of dynamos. The company, by the way, is still figuring on the establishing of a day service in the near future.

The Independent Oil company, of Spangler, a corporation whose object has been the manufacture and dealing in oils, greases and all by-products of petroleum, was organized January 1st, 1907, and reorganized January 1st, 1908. Edward J. Williams, of Fleming, has been made secretary of the company. During last year he worked as traveling salesman for the company and though his efforts practically doubled the business. It was because of this efficient service that he was made secretary.

On Monday Forest Bullock gave the contract to the Bellefonte Lumber company for the erection of his new blacksmith shop on south Water street, on the ground recently purchased from Gamble, Green & Co., south of the Bellefonte steam laundry. It will be a building 30x40 feet in size and two stories high. The first floor will be used as a blacksmith shop and the second as a paint shop. The lot purchased by Mr. Bullock has a frontage of 130 feet and it is his intention some time in the future to build himself a concrete house on the north end of it.

TOO MUCH WATER.—In these days when Bellefonters are metered for gas, electric light and water and are lucky not to be metered for the pure mountain air they breathe it ought to be a relief to be able to get enough of any one thing without paying for it. And that is what the Brockerhoff house got on Monday, so far as water was concerned, although not just in the way they cared to have it. Some time toward evening the office and even the upper floor rooms in the house became clouded with steam and an investigation disclosed the fact that the cellar under the office was filled to a depth of eighteen inches with water so hot it burned the hand, while a stream fully an inch thick poured in from the street. Fortunately after rising to a height of eighteen inches the water found an outlet of sufficient capacity to prevent its rising any higher.

As no solution for the source of the water could be discovered both superintendent Samuel Rine, of the borough water department, and Col. H. S. Taylor, of the steam heating works, were notified and after each one had investigated the case he maintained the source of the water was not within his jurisdiction. Plumbers were put to work which resulted in the discovery that the leak was in water feed pipe and that it flowed along and around the pipe for such a distance that it entered the cellar hot enough to throw off steam. The exact location of the leak was not found and repairs made until Tuesday; and in the meantime not a lodger in the hotel took advantage of the call full of hot water to take a good hot bath.

THAT NEW CAR.—If superintendent F. H. Thomas, of the Bellefonte Central railroad, is a very busy man the next few days you can ascribe it to the fact that that wonderful new car of his has at last arrived from the New England shops in which it was built. It came in on Wednesday evening and all that it was rumored it would be. It is a monster, seventy feet in length, and of somewhat ponderous build. But when the fact is considered that the car is virtually a whole train its size is not to be wondered at.

The car of course is self-propelling. It is divided into four compartments. In the front compartment is the driving apparatus which consists of a steam motor, gasoline being the fuel used. The second compartment is devoted to baggage, the third as a smoking room and the fourth as a general passenger compartment with a big locker in the extreme rear. The car on its trial trips made a speed of seventy-five miles an hour and it is expected that it will be able to easily maintain a speed of thirty miles on the Bellefonte Central.

The car is not only a most modern one, but is handsomely equipped and furnished, being finished throughout in solid mahogany. It was tested yesterday and found in good working order. It needs a little polishing and rubbing up and as soon as this has been done a trial trip over the road will be made. Of course the car is an innovation in these parts and its success will be watched with interest by railroaders as well as the traveling public.

TUESDAY'S BIG SNOW FALL.—While it is not a matter of news to readers of the WATCHMAN to be told that it snowed on Tuesday there may be a few facts in connection therewith that they have not yet learned. The first is that it was the deepest snow that has fallen at one time in years; in fact; even the "oldest inhabitant" has not been able to tell just the year when there was a snowfall of equal depth. Of course it was a regular "old timer," reminding us of "the old days when we were boys," and it was nothing extraordinary to have a foot of snow at one time. But Tuesday's snowfall was greater than that. To be more exact just fifteen inches of snow fell in about six hours, or an average of two and one-half inches an hour. It began to snow in the morning between eight and nine o'clock but up to one o'clock in the afternoon had not snowed much more than an inch in depth. At 6:30 in the evening the writer measured the snow, and found it just a little over sixteen inches deep. Fortunately the wind did not become strong enough to drift the snow very much and as a consequence traffic was very little delayed. The snow, however, has made good sleighing all over the county and everybody is taking full advantage of it.

OFFICERS SWORN IN.—Monday morning recorder John C. Rowe, district attorney W. Groh Runkle and county surveyor J. Henry Wetzel were sworn into office. Of course, as both Mr. Rowe and Mr. Runkle are just entering upon their second term in office the swearing in process to them was nothing new. In fact, about the only thing new in connection with the whole matter is that for the three years of his present term district attorney Runkle will draw one thousand dollars a year salary instead of fees as he did under the old law; a fact which makes the district attorneyship about one hundred per cent. more desirable than formerly.

BASKET BALL.—The Williamsport High school basket ball team will play the Y. M. C. A. team in the gymnasium here tonight. The Bellefonte boys have been playing a remarkably good game this season, having lost but one game out of six, and they are deserving of more liberal patronage than they have been given so far. There is no question but that the game this evening will be a good one and you cannot pass an hour more interestingly than by witnessing the contest. Therefore we say, go and see the game, encourage the team and at the same time help the association.

MISS PETTICOATS.—The large audience which assembled in Garman's opera house on Wednesday evening to witness the production of Miss Petticoats, had no reason to complain of the money spent to see the production. From the rise of the curtain on the first scene to the fall at the finale the interest in the play was enough to hold the audience, not spellbound with awe at thrilling climaxes or tragic scenes, but with a desire to see the play through to the end, and there was not one person regretted staying.

Miss Florine Farr, in the character of Agatha Renier, was all a person could imagine the heroine to be. Vivacious, pathetic and even tragical when it became a question of avenging her wrongs, she played the part superbly. And in addition the company throughout was one of the most evenly-balanced of any seen in Bellefonte for a long time. While the plot in the play is not deep every actor played his or her part, and played it well. Atkinson & Thatcher have sent more than one show to Bellefonte but they have never sent as good a company here as Miss Petticoats, and should they return to Bellefonte in the future the s. r. o. sign is sure to be hung out again.

Oliver Hosterman, of Woodward, has decided to try making his fortune in the great west, and on Tuesday passed through Bellefonte on his way to Denver, Col. Of course in going to that city he no doubt had in mind the fact that he would be right on the spot when the Democratic national convention meets next summer.

ELECTED HORTICULTURIST.—Ralph L. Watts, of Scalp Level, Cambria county, has been elected horticulturist at the State Experiment Station and professor of horticulture in The Pennsylvania State College to succeed the late lamented George C. Butz.

Mr. Watts graduated from State College in the class of 1890 in the course in agriculture. After his graduation he determined to take advantage of the knowledge obtained in college and at once took up the study of horticulture, fruit growing and more advanced methods of agriculture. He spent several years in Tennessee studying and teaching practical methods of horticulture and finally returned to Pennsylvania and located at Scalp Level where he engaged in market gardening and fruit growing. His wonderful success in this line brought him to the attention of leading agriculturists of the country with the result that he was much sought after as a speaker on horticultural topics at farmers' institutes and agricultural meetings.

He was one of the speakers at the farmer's week exercises at State College on Saturday, having lectured on market gardening, and at the close of his talk the announcement of his selection as Prof. Butz's successor was made. As evidence of his worth as a horticulturist it might be said that for a number of years past Mr. Watts has had an income of over four thousand dollars annually from his market gardening and fruit and he leaves the personal supervision of that industry to accept his new position at State College.

A THREATENING LETTER.—A threatening and mysterious letter was received recently by our genial townsman, D. I. Willard, of Crider's Exchange. It is written on a crumpled sheet of paper and dated "Somewhere, Nearby County." The writer, who signs himself "Jack the Smasher," threatens to do something dire when he reaches Willard's Bazaar. He adds, however, that no one will be sorry.

Mr. Willard says he has no idea who the writer can be, but he has pasted the letter up in his store window, where anyone can examine it for himself. He does not look especially worried about it, and stated that he thought he would not turn it over to the authorities, but he would wait to see what happened.

"MAUD MULLER."—L. D. Bondell, the manager of "Maud Muller," has always catered to the best class of theatregoers with high class plays and companies and his past reputation is a guarantee of the excellence of any new star or play he may produce. However, "Maud Muller," with Adelaide Van Wilt in its well known cast, needs no introduction as last season established a reputation for this really great play and company which has served to crowd the theatres to the doors wherever the company has appeared. The advance sale will open on January 10th, "Maud Muller" will be the attraction at Garman's, Monday evening, January 13th.

The friends of Miss Ella McClain, who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever, will be pleased to learn that there is a slight change for the better. Mrs. D. H. Hastings who had been confined to her bed two weeks with illness, has recovered and is around again.
