ADJUDGED HER INSANE-Last Saturday a commission in lunacy examined Miss Viola Teller, of Milesburg, who several the life of Mrs. Lillie G. Reeder, and a verdict of insanity was given. But because the petition had been drawn up in the court of common pleas instead of quarter sessions no further action could be taken and another commission will have to be appointed. At the hearing given Miss Teller before the first commission her answers and actions were so erratic that it left no doubt in the mind of every member of the commission as to the woman's mental condition. She denied that she had made any threats on the life of Mrs. Reeder, or even that she had been with her on the day in question, as she claimed that Mrs. Reeder was one of her best friends and

But after making the above statemen she emphatically declared that Mrs. Reeder and sustained some bad outs and bruises did owe her forty million dollars and to avoid paying her the money she bad paid Dr. J J.
