

Pine Grove Mention.

The ice men are busy hauling 8-inch ice. Hammill Glenn is laid up with tonsillitis. Charley Markle, of Tyrone, is visiting at the Captain Kepler home in the Glades.

John E. Reish, a student at Selingsgrove, is visiting friends here and at Rock Springs.

Cal Corl is receiving congratulations over the arrival of No. 8 at his home. Its a boy.

Ira Hess, one of Pennys trusted engineers, came down from Altoona to enjoy the sleighing.

Mrs. J. F. Welland, of Linden Hall, was a visitor at the 'Squire Miller home last week.

Miss Maude McMannus, teacher of the primary school, spent Sunday at the home of Hon. J. W. Kepler.

G. B. McFry, teacher of the Branch school, has been confined to the house for some time and will be for weeks to come with a bad face.

Wilson Henry says he has to work over time to feed another mouth as well as clothe another boy, No. 12, that came last week.

J. Cal Neidigh, an employee on the C. C. railroad, is handing his bride around among his many friends at Pine Hill this week.

If you want to know about the roads just inquire of D. G. Meek and Miss Gertie Keichline and their experience on Monday.

Mrs. Charles Wright, of Tyrone, expects to make public sale in the spring, when she expects to live on Water street in the Mill house.

Charles Miller, of Williams, Iowa, is visiting his Centre county friends, after an absence of almost forty years. He notes many changes.

While remodeling the old Roney house David Reed found behind the plastering an old newspaper printed in Boston seventy-five years ago. It was quite well preserved.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mattern, of Franklinville, braved the storm, Monday, and came down to see how their son Samuel was progressing with the hammer and tongs as a blacksmith.

John Henry Bailey's face is all a wealth of smiles when you mention baby boy No. 1, that came just before the blizzard, and he now has ample time to sing lull-a-by to the little crier.

W. E. Johnson is in hard luck again. Some weeks ago he found one of his horses dead in its stall. A few days ago one fell on the ice, breaking its hip and had to be killed to end its misery.

During the blizzard one day recently a lady going out the pike lost her hat between Bellefonte and Pleasant Gap and the finder will confer a favor by leaving it at the residence of Thomas Williams.

Our big steam threshers all pulled in for the winter and report good runs for Ferguson township. C. H. Meyers threshed 52,000 bushels; Adam Creamer 48,000 bushels; W. H. Weaver 42,500 bushels of the golden grain, a total of 142,500 bushels.

Farmer Trossell, on the William Mc Williams farm, was obliged to kill a valuable horse, Saturday, on account of a broken leg, sustained by falling on the ice. This winds up a $350.00 team bought last year. Its mate died of pneumonia last spring.

Fred Meyers and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. John Strouse attended the funeral of John Wilson Lutz, at Meyer's cemetery, Tuesday. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lutz and was a bright boy of fourteen summers. Pneumonia was the cause of his death.

That all weather wise little critter must have seen his shadow, as we have had a most severe blizzard since, so that travel was suspended for several days. Most of the travel is through the fields and the mails are brought from State College by conveyance.

Says Wealthy Criminals Conspire to Discredit His Policies.

URGES MORE RIGID LAWS

Washington, Feb. 1.—With sledgehammer force and in passionate language, President Roosevelt, in a special message to congress, read before that body, drives home his charge of the existence of a vast conspiracy of wealth to discredit the policies of the administration.

The president again urges federal control of railroads, the supervision to be of wider scope than he has heretofore advocated. He wants the government empowered to make physical valuation of railroads, to supervise in some way their financial operations and to exercise whatever control may be found necessary over their physical operation.

Not the least significant of the president's utterances is his warning of the dire evil to the republic and the "vindictive and dreadful reaction" which is to follow if a check is not placed upon the rich violators of the law.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, makes it plain that the administration's policies are not directed against law-abiding corporations, but that it is the desire to protect the property of every honest man and to prevent wrong-doing.

"Certain representatives of predatory wealth," says the president, "have banded together to overthrow and discredit all who honestly administer the law, to prevent legislation which would restrain them, to secure freedom from all restraint which would permit every unscrupulous wrongdoer to do what he wished unchecked, providing he has the money."

In plain words, Mr. Roosevelt says the protestations of the Standard Oil trust and Santa Fe railroad that no rebates were given or accepted are false. Attacks on the administration, he declares positively, are made especially in the interest of the Standard Oil trust and of certain notorious railroad combinations.

With regard to the Standard Oil company, he says:

"The methods by which the Standard Oil people and those engaged in the other combinations of which have spoken above have achieved great fortunes can only be justified by the advocacy of a system of morality which would also justify every form of criminality on the part of a labor union, and every form of violence, corruption and fraud, from murder to bribery and ballot-box stuffing in politics."

He sees in these attacks the terror which "our public actions have caused the corrupt men of vast wealth in the very marrow of their being."

The president charges that a systematic campaign has been conducted by the forces inimical to the administration; that periodicals and publications of various sorts have been subsidized to make insidious attacks upon the government's policies and to give a false impression concerning the law-defying corporations.

In a forceful manner Mr. Roosevelt disclaims responsibility for the financial depression.

"No gloom," he declares, "need be felt over the panic. There is no nation so absolutely sure of ultimate success as ours."

Continuing, Mr. Roosevelt says:

"I do not for a moment believe that the actions of the administration have brought on business distress. So far as this is due to local and not world-wide causes, it is due to the speculative folly and flagrant dishonesty of a few men of great wealth who seek to shield themselves from the effects of their wrong-doing by ascribing its results to the actions of those who have sought to put a stop to the wrong-doing."

"But if it were true that to cut out rottenness from the body politic meant a momentary check to our unhealthy seeming prosperity, I should not for one moment hesitate to put the knife to the corruption."

While the president expresses regret that stockholders may suffer from unsettled business conditions, he holds that they are in a measure responsible for the conditions by permitting dishonest officers to manage the business.

The "business" which is hurt by the movement for honesty, Mr. Roosevelt asserts, is the business which in the long run it pays the country to have hurt.

The president urges congress to enact new laws, and in making this request says:

"New conditions make it necessary to shackle cunning as in the past we have shackled force."

The administration purpose, Mr. Roosevelt says, is to make property holders realize that prosperity has its duties no less than its rights. It is the desire to prevent stock gambling, cornering of the market and to abolish the bucket shop. He suggests that this might be accomplished by prohibiting the use of the mails, the telegraph and the telephone to men who gamble in stock futures.

Other legislative measures recommended by the president are a re-empowerment of the employers' liability law within the constitution; compensation for persons injured in the government service; preventing the abuse of injunctions; increased power for the interstate commerce commission, enabling that body to act on its own initiative; amending the Sherman act to distinguish between mischievous and beneficial corporations.

Five Years For Killing Baby. West Chester, Pa., Feb. 4.—Bertha Carey, colored, who pleaded guilty to indictment of voluntary manslaughter in the killing of her new-born child, was sentenced to five years in prison.

F. E. B.

We heard a man say the other morning that the abbreviation for February—Feb.—means Freeze everybody, and that man looked frozen in his utterance. It was apparent that he needed the kind of warmth that stays, the warmth that reaches from head to foot, all over the body.

We could have told him from personal knowledge that Hood's Sarsaparilla gives permanent warmth, it invigorates the blood and speeds it along through artery and vein, and really fits men and women, boys and girls, to enjoy cold weather and resist the attacks of disease. It gives the right kind of warmth, stimulates and strengthens at the same time, and all its benefits are lasting. There may be a suggestion in this for you.

Bellefonte Lumber Company.

Time for you to know the story of our business. Your position as a payer of bills demands that you know where to find right prices and right quality in construction material. Even if you don't pay, your friend who does will consult you.

The old Ardell Lumber Company retailed lumber in a most excellent manner. The Bellefonte Lumber Company does more.

It has a concrete building block plant. Double air chamber cement blocks are fireproof, economic, rigid, easy to build, permanent, non-conductive, rat-proof.

Sand, Lime, Wall Plaster, Primed and Glazed Sash, Glass for doors and windows, Ruberoid Roofing—these are the things you had to go elsewhere for—perhaps to a distant city. It cost extra freight and time, and sometimes it was impossible altogether.

Don't do it again! You can get what you need for any building here, and get it quicker and better than you think.

You've heard of our men and methods. How Mr. Hoy in the office, Mr. Smith in the mill, and Mr. Huyett, Mr. Harris and Mr. Buck helping at the knotty places, buy right, avoid mistakes, keep a man's business—keep prices evenly low, quality up.

Time for builders and buyers to get acquainted, to get to know where we are. That costs nothing.

And now, next summer, or sometime, you'll build, and pay, and then—well, don't forget!

The Ease of Travel.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD BULLETIN.

THE EASE OF TRAVEL TO-DAY.

It has just turned a century since the first boat was propelled by steam. There was not a complete locomotive in existence then nor a mile of railroad track. But the pendulum of time has swung rapidly forward within the last two generations. The railroad, the telegraph, and the telephone have revolutionized the commerce and the industry of the world and have made neighbors of remote people.

First of all in this work of upbuilding, expansion, and development comes the railroad. It is the medium of exchange, the agency of transfer, and wherever it has gone prosperity has followed.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has built thousands of miles of track and equipped it with the best rolling stock. It has constructed or absorbed branch lines and consolidated them with its main stem, thus bringing industrial and manufacturing interests in direct touch with all the centres of trade and affording the people the facilities of travel in all directions. Travel is no longer a dread, it is a pleasure. Comfortable cars by day or night drawn by the best type of locomotives over a roadbed maintained at the highest degree of excellence, eliminate as far as possible the annoyance of travel and make it recreative rather than burdensome. Tickets are sold at the lowest rates consistent with good management and under conditions most accommodating to the passenger. The schedules of trains are designed to meet the wishes and requirements of the greatest number of travelers, and the equipment, both as to vehicles and employes, is kept at the highest state of efficiency.

It is the object of the management to encourage travel by making it easy. Interchange is the life of the social system. Travel is a tonic to the tired—the lens of observation to all.

The Pennsylvania Railroad sells tickets good for a mile as well as for a trip around the world. It will plan a trip for you or provide the tickets for one of your own selection.

It is a fine thing to have a great transportation agency like the Pennsylvania Railroad at your command. 54-6-1t
