FARM NOTES.

-Inbreeding will quickly invite failure. -Don't give a hen more eggs than she can cover well

-Breeding turkeys can be profitably kept up to the fifth year.

-Young coults are delicate. Proteo them from storms and wet grasses.

-The causes of malignant colds are filth, dampness, drafts, neglect and improper

-Dacks seldom become broody; geese are apt to become broody after laying the first litter.

-Birds cannot tell their feelings, hence we must judge and prescribe from symp-

-Weaned colts should not be allowed to run down in condition at this time. Keep them thrifty.

-Eggs from yearling ducks hatch well, but geese must be about three years old to shon strong fertility.

-A cookerel can be distinguished from a pullet at three months of age, as he will be crowing by that time.

-It seems the seedless apple is a failure. Horticulturists claim it is only a novelty, and cannot be recommended.

-Do not make the hen's nest too deep the eggs in getting on the nest.

-The pullets batched in March will make good layers for the late fall, and then they can be bandled so they will lay all

-Clover seed averages from 15,000,000 quarts to the acre gives 22 seeds to the square foot.

-Seven or eight geese will require as much pasture as one cow. But they will devour weeds and coarse grass that cattle will not touch.

-In the island of Guernsey three cows very fertile and the cows are kept together and fed on the soiling system.

-The more food a cow can be induced to eat the more milk she will produce. Cows do not usually consume more food than they can properly digest.

-No well about the barn should be open so that he liquid from the place can ooze into it. A good drilling well cased up or a driven well are best for such purposes.

-English sheep feeders attach more importance to succulent feeds, such as turnips and cabbage, than do American feeders. They are also strong believers in giving fattening sheep daily exercise.

-Improvements on the farm should be better farming by plowing deeper and using more farm-made manure, more thorough cultivation, better drainage and more scientific balancing of the food for live stock.

-Cream of low test simply contains more skim milk. Take a quart of cream testing 40 per cent., and add a quart of

-Get the ewes that are due now in every night out of the cold. But don't shut them up too close. Sheep are great for fresh air. They must have it to do well. They are out-of-door animals and cannot stand close confinement.

-Home dairy butter-making for private city trade is the most profitable way to dispose of the dairy product. It imposes more work on the dairyman and his family, but gives an independence unknown to the market milk producer.

-In a report before the Maine Pomological Society Dr. G. M. Twitchell said that, while shipping over one million barrels of apples this year, Maine loses hundreds of thousands of dollars for want of a guarantee of uniformity in grading.

-If a single day passes when you do not see all the sheep, you may get up some morning to find some dead or helpless. Count them every day. Go out the last thing at night and see if they are all right, especially if you expect lambs soon.

-Speakers at the Eastern dairy conventions and farmers' institute are advising farmers to raise more grain. They say that the days of low-priced feeding grains have gone by, never to return. This is good advice for the average dairyman and stock keeper.

-A man ought to be ashamed to yell at and scold his horses and cattle. The man that cannot command his stock in any better way than that is not a success at his business because he cannot command him-self. The man that wins must first learn to control bimself.

-When a country has been farmed for forty years or more strictly on a grain-farming basis, things begin to look pretty deso-late, unles legume crops have been raised extensively; and, as a rule, where such shortsighted methods of farming are in practice the value of legumes is given little heed.

-A bright, clear eye, a brilliant coat, high spirits and mettle, are good signs of perfect condition in the horse. To this might be added sufficient flesh thoroughly to "round him out," but not enough to interfere in the slightest degree with his natural action, which on no account must be impeded.

-A recommended roup oure for chickens is to take two parts sweet oil, one part gum camphor, one part turpentine. To each ounce of this mixture add ten grains menthol and oue teaspoonful listerine. Take a small drop syringe or oil can and put this remedy into the roof of the mouth and in the nostrils twice a day.

-In churning at a low temperature the churn should be stopped when the butter is in granules about the size of rice or grains of wheat. Draw off the buttermilk and wash the butter in good pure water. Salt the butter at the rate of 2 ounces of salt to the pound, or slightly more, as the market may demand. Then work and pack into
