Democratic State Ticket. For Judge of the Superior Court, WEBSTER GRIMM, of Bucks County. Democratic County Ticket. For Congress: W. HARRISON WALKER, of Bellefonte. For Assembly: J. CALVIN MEYER, of Bellefonte. For Sheriff: FRED F. SMITH, of Rush township. For Register: G. F. WEAVER, of Penn township. For Recorder: F. PIERCE MUSSEY, of Millheim. For Treasurer: J. D. MILLER, of Walker township. For County Commissioners: C. A. WEAVER, of Penn township. J. L. DUNLAP, of Spring township. For Auditors: J. W. BECK, of Marion township. JOHN L. COLE, of Walker township.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS. —Henry Vitilaini was taken to the Bellefonte hospital yesterday for treatment. —Romania has only thirty daily newspapers yet how peaceful it must be in Romania. —Daniel Eberhart was in Lewisburg last Thursday where he attended a reunion of the Eberhart family. —A number of Bellefonters attended the anniversary services of the Spring Mills lodge of Odd Fellows last Thursday evening. —The Hazel-Schaeffer reunion at Grange Park yesterday was largely attended by members and descendants of those families. —Dr. F. W. Griest, the veterinary surgeon who came to Bellefonte a month ago, left this week for Ocooca Mills where he will locate.

—A dog belonging to the Fanning family staggered down High street on Wednesday and when opposite the Bush house fell dead. —Now that it is an assured fact that Col. Reynolds has ordered an automobile several other Bellefonte gentlemen have almost decided to buy machines. —Mrs. John Rishell, who has been quite ill for some time past, is now so low that it is believed her death is only a question of hours. Dr. G. P. Rishell and wife, of Philadelphia, have been summoned and are now at the Rishell home.

WASSON-LEE.—Arthur Shuey Wasson and Miss Sarah Ellen Lee, both of State College, were married on Wednesday at the home of the bride-groom in College township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Wesley Wasson, pastor of the Duke street Methodist church, York. —Thad K. Hamilton is building a small shop in the rear of his residence where he will equip a mill for the manufacture of doors and windows, frames, screens and all house furnishings. He will also manufacture porch and lawn swings and do a general planing mill business on a small scale.

—The project of building a kitchen in the rear of the McClain block for Charles Meerschbacher has been abandoned and instead a building is being erected there which will be used by the Palace livery stable as an office and store room. Mr. Meerschbacher will fit up a kitchen in the rear end of his restaurant. —Mrs. Reed, who for years has lived on the Bald Eagle mountain above Filer, and who imagined she owned most of the Bellefonte Central railroad, was taken to the Danville asylum by the overseers of the poor of Benner township on Wednesday. This is the same woman who a year or so ago shot at Henry Montgomery.

—In last week's issue we published a statement to the effect that Mrs. John Whippo, formerly of this county, had been almost totally paralyzed since the birth of her first child. She is now living in East Liberty and the information was given us by one of her husband's warmest friends, whom we supposed knew. Mr. Whippo writes us, however, with a fine sting of sarcasm, that the story is "false" and that Mrs. Whippo has almost entirely regained her former strength and good health.

—On Tuesday morning when James Grubb, of Halfmoon hill, went to feed his chickens he found six hens and a rooster missing. He went on the trace of the fowls the same day and in talking of the theft at the Bush house was informed that Philip Waddle, the clerk, had that morning bought a bunch of chickens from James Reed and Joe Ross, paying them $3.25. Mr. Grubb went to the Bush house chicken coop and had no trouble recognizing the chickens as his own. Wednesday morning he swore out a warrant and had the two young men arrested and they were sent to jail by Justice Mosser to await a hearing.

CHILDREN'S DAY SERVICES.—Children's Day services will be held in the Methodist church Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock, when a special program of music and recitations will be given, with an appropriate talk by the pastor, Rev. James B. Stein. In the evening at 6.30 o'clock "Flag Day" exercises will be held to be followed by the regular services at 7.30 o'clock. Children's Day services will also be held in St. John's Reformed church at 10.30 o'clock. The school will meet in the chapel at 10 o'clock and at 10.30 will march in a procession into the church. The usual evening services will be held in the church at 6.30 o'clock.

—On Monday the McCoy-Linn Iron company was doing some repairing at the water wheel of their rolling mill and naturally turned the full flow of water down the old canal. When the repairs were completed the splash gates to the canal were entirely closed with the result that when the canal drained a large quantity of fish were left stranded and both boys and men of that vicinity had a picnic catching suckers. One young man caught a carp about two feet long and which was estimated to weigh about eight pounds. Another boy succeeded in landing a trout about eighteen inches in length, while John McCoy and quite a number of other boys got anywhere from half a dozen to a dozen nice large suckers.

—Willard Hall this week received his new model automobile buggy and it is a great improvement over his old one; so much in fact that it now looks more like a sure thing than it ever did before. It has high wheels with solid rubber tires, like a buggy, and is equipped with the regulation steering apparatus. The original feature about the machine is the double friction cone drive, with chains on both sides from the main driving shaft to the rear axle. It has a speed of from twenty to thirty miles an hour and takes the hills with almost the same ease it does a level stretch. The projectors believe the machine can be put on the market for from $550 to $600.

—A. C. Mingle and A. Allison visited John I. Olewine in his mountain retreat at Pat Gherry's, Tuesday night, and report him as having a great time fishing for trout, etc. He is feeling the effects of the invigorating life in the Seven mountains. Spring Mills. Mrs. Kate Shook will open an ice cream saloon on Saturday evening next and continue for the season. Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hering returned from Lewisburg on Wednesday last, having been there to attend the funeral of their son-in-law, W. R. Donachy.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Reninger, of Renovo; Mrs. H. E. Miller and H. A. Reninger, of Mill Hall, were here last week to attend the funeral of their cousin, Mrs. E. C. Roberts. Robert Smith is repairing and rebuilding his fencing and putting down a substantial stone and gravel walk. This corner of his garden was completely washed out by the recent flood. The board walk along the creek road for about 150 feet from the iron bridge is in a very deplorable condition and should be repaired at once. It is unsightly, besides dangerous walking, particularly at night.

When will there be another foot bridge over Penns creek to take the place of the one swept away by the recent high water? That's the question. A bridge in that locality is a convenience that can hardly be dispensed with. Rev. B. H. Hart, of Harrisburg, delivered a very interesting discourse on Thursday evening last in the Lutheran church, the occasion being the fifth anniversary of lodge No. 559, I. O. O. F., of this town. It was largely attended. Dr. L. D. Mason, specialist and vice president of the American society for the study of inebriety, while in session last week in Chicago, astonished his hearers by stating that excessive drinking of water produced intoxication. No doubt it was considered claptrap and hoax, but possibly the doctor meant that when a little whiskey is added to it.

The Woodlawn dairy here is so thoroughly systematized and well managed that it is quite an institution and under the skillful management of C. A. Hennick in doing a large business. Milk and cream is delivered daily put up in glass jars, keeping it free from dust and other impurities. Mr. Hennick gives the business his entire attention hence its popularity. "Woody," as he is familiarly called, the popular landlord of Spring Mills hotel, says that business with him continues excellent. The fact is the hotel is general headquarters for commercial agents who make it a point to reach here, even if it requires an extra drive of five miles to accomplish it. They know what the accommodations are. Mr. Wood has from three to half a dozen guests every night. Several families are expected to board at the hotel during the summer.

Five Grove Station. Fred Krumrine is sick with typhoid fever. Farmer Joe Mateer spent Saturday in Altoona. Daniel I. Johnson is having his house done in a fresh coat of paint. Farmer Thomas Huey, at Matternville, lost a valuable horse on Monday. Ard Houtz is walking on air. Its a nice little girl and came last Saturday. Drs. Campbell and Lentz, of Philadelphia, were State College visitors last week. Douglass Campbell, of Belleville, has been visiting his friend, H. W. McCracken. Miss Rosella Gierich had a fall in her yard at home breaking her right arm. Mrs. Catharine Archer, who has been quite ill the past month, is some better. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Musser and daughter Lillia are attending commencement exercises at Selinsgrove this week to witness the graduation of their son.

John Bumgardner, of Mooresville, was here looking after his wool trade on Wednesday. Miss Ella Livinstone visited relatives and friends in and about Salsburg last week. Mr. and Mrs. James Grove visited friends down Penns Valley in the beginning of the week. John Koon, of Chambersburg, has been at State College visiting his brother, Dr. Koon. Prof. John Hamilton, of Washington, D. C., last week occupied their cottage at State College. Grandmother Bressler, who has been at death's door the past ten days, is slightly improved. Henry Medor, of Alexandria, spent Sunday among his old cronies in and about Baileyville. John Fryer, of Coalport, is visiting the venerable Samuel Thomas, who is in very feeble health. Miss Sallie Meek, of Buffalo Run, well known in educational circles, spent Tuesday at State College. Business seems to be booming in this community at present every person has work and good wages. Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Bloom visited friends in and about McAlevy's Fort in the beginning of the week. Wilson Cummings, the well known drover, was circulating among the farmers this week buying stock of all kinds. J. F. Kimpfort and wife, of Boalsburg; Mary Dale and Samuel Raymond were Sunday visitors at Fairbrook. Grandmother Randolph, the oldest lady in town, enjoyed a drive over the mountain to Stone Valley Saturday. Miss Blanche Tressler, who spent the past year in the west, returned home Saturday delighted with her visit. Martin Gates, one of Shavers Creek's up-to-date farmers, visited his many friends in and about Baileyville last week. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krumrine are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a nice boy baby, a 10 pounder, last Saturday. Mrs. John M. Homan is spending this week among her many friends in and about Centre Hall, the home of her youth. Children's Day exercises will be held in the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening. Everybody is cordially invited. The M. E. church of this place has recently been repainted and the interior beautifully frescoed. Ward & Son did the job. Adam Felty with his daughter, Mrs. Harry Shugers, passed through town Sunday en route for Stone Valley to spend a few days. While Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Musser are abroad visiting, Miss Annie Fortney is looking after the domestic affairs at the Musser home. Frank Martin, of Houserville, lost a good horse Sunday. The animal was sick but a short time. This was the second horse he lost this spring. Mrs. H. M. Krebs left last Friday to visit her sister, Mrs. McCormick, who is quite ill with that much dreaded disease, tuberculosis, at her home in the Sunflower State. Mrs. Wm. Ward with her daughter Ella came over from Phillipsburg Monday to spend a week among their friends in the valley. Miss Ella is one of Phillipsburg's successful school teachers. The poles are set for a new commercial telephone line, with the following subscribers: John Hubler, Ad Krumrine, A. M. Dreibleis, G. B. Thompson, P. E. Spiker, Fred Krumrine, Samuel and Otis Corl, Milton Shuey and Geo. Lutz. Last Saturday evening forty friends of Mrs. Otis Hoy gathered at her home and gave her a delightful surprise party as an incident of her fortieth birthday anniversary. The evening proved a most enjoyable one for all present. Rev. and Mrs. D. J. Davis are mourning the death of their son, who died at their home in Williamsport last Wednesday morning of membranous croup, aged two years and six months. He was an unusually bright and interesting boy and his young parents are almost heart broken. The remains were brought here and burial was made in Pine Hill cemetery Saturday at 2 p. m.

Murdered and Robbed. New Brunswick, N. J., June 9. —What is believed to have been a case of murder and robbery came to light when the body of Thomas Martin, the face covered with blood, was found in a vacant lot. It was found that Martin's death resulted from cerebral hemorrhage, which may have been caused by a blow. His watch and chain, which he wore when he left home, were missing. The police are searching for two men who were seen in the vicinity of the lot just before the body was discovered. Engineer Fell From Fast Train. Omaha, Neb., June 9.—While his locomotive was running forty miles an hour, Engineer E. Starling, of a passenger train on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway, fell from his cab several miles south of Hentons, Ia. It was not until the train ran by Hentons without whistling that Fireman Jackson missed the engineer. The train was run back and the engineer was found unconscious by the tracks. He will probably recover. Cat Has Siamese Quartet. New York, June 9.—Tabby, a male cat, owned by Mrs. Grinnell, 59 Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn, gave birth to four kittens, perfectly formed, but bound to one another by ligaments. Three other kittens that came at the same time had seven toes on each forefoot. The freaks attracted so much attention, Mrs. Grinnell drowned them. The Other Side. Mrs. Neighbor—It's too bad of you, Mildred, to worry your mamma so! Little Mildred—Well, you don't know mamma. She worries me more than I worry her!

President Thrown From Horse. President Roosevelt had an exceedingly narrow escape from a serious accident while out horseback riding in Rock Creek park, near Washington. Mrs. Roosevelt was with the president. The president was riding a new horse, a young animal. The party rode down through a cut in a bank, forded a creek, and were ascending the bank on the other side. The president's horse reared, the president leaned forward in the saddle, and threw the reins down the bank. Again, on reaching the top of the bank, the horse reared a second time, and the president leaped forward again, but the animal stood up straight on its hind legs and then went over backward into the creek, with the president. Feeling that he was going backward, the president slipped from the saddle, and, as luck would have it, fell into the creek close beside the horse, which landed on its back. The horse fell on the down stream side of the president, who, realizing that he would be in danger from the animal's feet should the horse turn towards him, got out of the way as rapidly as possible. The horse, however, turned over from the president and got up. He was captured at once, the president remounted, and rode for an hour and a half before returning to the White House. The fall from the horse's back to the stream bed was a distance of more than ten feet. The stream was about two feet deep, with an exceedingly rocky bed. Neither the president nor the horse received the slightest injury.

Six Killed On The Tennessee. A terrible accident took place on the United States cruiser Tennessee while the ship was steaming at nineteen knots on a speed trial off Point Hueneue, Cal., when a steam pipe in the starboard engine room burst under 235 pounds pressure, killing four men and injuring ten others, all the men in the compartment at the time. The explosion, the cause of which is unknown, occurred only a few minutes after Admiral Uriel Sebree, Captain F. B. Howard and Chief Engineer Robertson had left the engine room on a tour of inspection. The dead are: George Wood, Scranton, Pa.; E. C. Boggs, Woodlawn, Ala.; A. Rheinhold, machinist's mate, Germany; George W. Meek, fireman, Skidmore, Kan.; S. S. Stematist, Norfolk, Va., and F. S. Maxfield, Toughkenamon, Chester county, Pa. There was no wreckage, but the explosion was described by the survivors as frightful. So great was the blast of soot and steam that every man in the room was blackened from head to foot, while those closest to the break were cooked alive. The dead and injured were blackened almost beyond recognition.

Eight Killed In Trolley Crash. In a head-on collision between two special cars of the Washington, Baltimore & Annapolis Electric Railroad company, near Annapolis, Md., eight persons were killed outright and a score of others were seriously injured, some of them perhaps fatally. The collision was due to a confusion of orders, as the line has been running several extra cars each way in connection with the commencement festivities at the naval academy. The dead are: J. W. McDaniel, George White, Richard Norton, A. H. Schultz, all of Baltimore; Police Patrolman Shriver, employed by the railway company at Academy Junction; Mrs. George W. Green, of Washington; Zach O'Neal, of New York the motorman of one of the wrecked cars; Ruth Slaughter, six years old, daughter of General Traffic Manager William E. Slaughter, of the road.

Girl Attacked By Negro. Miss Nellie Higginbotham, of North Woodbury, N. J., was attacked and brutally beaten by a negro while returning to her home from Philadelphia. The young woman, who is twenty-four years of age, had alighted from a trolley car, and was walking along Shiver's lane when she was attacked by a negro. Miss Higginbotham screamed, and a tollgate keeper named Valentine came to her rescue. The negro, to stop her cries, beat the young woman over the head with a blackjack, crushing her skull. He fled, and a posse was organized and started in pursuit. The blackjack with which he had beaten Miss Higginbotham was found on the path where the young woman was picked up unconscious. The entire community is aroused by the outrage.

Rabies From Cat Bite. Mrs. John Knox, of Palmyra, N. J., is under treatment at the Pasteur Institute in Chicago, suffering from rabies, caused by the bite of a pet cat. The cat was lying in Mrs. Knox's lap about a week ago, when it suddenly sank its teeth deep into her hand. A few days later the hand commenced to swell. She left at once for Chicago, taking the cat with her. A telegram announced that an examination of the cat's brain showed a well-developed case of rabies. Jersey Corporations to Pay $2,457,000. The New Jersey board of assessors filed with the state comptroller a preliminary schedule of the taxes levied against corporations organized under the laws of New Jersey. The schedule embraces 6445 companies, who will pay taxes aggregating $2,457,000.

Killed Drunken Husband. Driven to desperation by the taunts of her drunken husband, Mrs. Emma Sandix, a Slavish woman, of Pringle Hill, near Wilkes-Barre, Pa., fatally shot her husband. The woman is the mother of seven children. Defense Claims No Case Has Been Made Out and Asks That Instructions to That Effect Be Given the Jury. Harrisburg, Pa., June 9.—The capitol metallic furniture contract conspiracy trial, which has been occupying the Dauphin county court since May 12, has entered upon its final stage and the expectation is to close it on Friday. Law points were submitted and Deputy Attorney General Cunningham began his address to the jury, opening the speeches for the defense. Eight hours was allowed each side in which to make the closing speeches to the jury, the defense offering ex-Architect Attorney General W. U. Hensel and George S. Graham as its orators on behalf of all defendants, while Mr. Cunningham, James Scarlet and Attorney General M. Hampton Todd were announced as the speakers for the state. The law points were then submitted, but owing to the desire to save time arguments were not heard on them, although Judge Kunkel stated that he would allow full discussion. There were twelve points for Architect Huston, six for Contractor H. Burd Cassell and two each for the former state officials, Messrs. Snyder, Mathews and Shumaker. In the main they asked that binding instructions be given on the ground that no case has been made out; that the standard of measurement was made up honestly and that there was no fraud in the measurement. In his opening Mr. Cunningham reviewed the transaction leading to the indictment, going back to the award of the contract in 1902. His discussion evoked some objections from Messrs. Graham and Schaeffer, who demanded that he refer to Messrs. Harris and Hardenbergh, former state officials, in speaking of the award, as they were predecessors of the former officials at the bar. Mr. Cunningham conducted a demonstration of the plans and schedule for the jury. He then described the process through which each invoice went to be passed upon and paid, linking the defendants with the various stages, and where the state claims duplication in payments.

Sheriff Loaded The Jury. Supreme Court Justice Sets Aside Indictments In Jersey City Cases. Trenton, N. J., June 9.—The supreme court in an opinion by Justice Swayze set aside a number of indictments that were found in Hudson county in 1907 against Chief of Police Monahan, of Jersey City; Assistant Corporate Counsel James W. McCarthy and a number of policemen. These men had been indicted for conspiracy to interfere with the primary election of 1907. The police officials, acting under the advice of McCarthy, had arrested the election officers for refusing to receive the ballots of certain voters. Justice Swayze, in his opinion, severely criticized Sheriff John Kaiser, of Hudson county, for not having drawn an impartial jury. He cited the fact that Kaiser was chairman of the Hudson county Republican committee and leader of the faction in the party opposed to the faction with which the indicted men were identified. Justice Swayze says that a majority of the grand jury were friendly to the sheriff's faction and that the other faction did not have a single representative on the grand jury. That the jury chosen by Kaiser was not an impartial one he deduces from the facts and therefore sets all of the indictments aside. Divorcee to Wed a King's Aide. Sioux Falls, S. D., June 9. — Mrs. Franklin Brewster, whose husband is a millionaire of Rochester, N. Y., has been granted a divorce here and left for the home of her son-in-law, Senator Frelinghausen, of New Jersey. Mrs. Brewster has said here that she might marry an attaché of the king of Greece. Her daughters, Mrs. Ashton Knight, of Paris, and Mrs. Frelinghausen were presented at the Grecian court, and at that time Mrs. Brewster said the court official. If she marries him she will become a lady in waiting to the queen.

Mitchell Boomed By Miners' Locals. Pottsville, Pa., June 9. — A large number of locals of the United Mine Workers have endorsed John Mitchell for the Democratic nomination for vice president. The endorsements have been sent to leading Democrats to forward to Denver. Arrangements are being made for a marching club of anthracite miners to go to Denver and shout and work for Mitchell. Killed By Practical Joke. Pittsburg, June 9.—A victim of practical jokers, Morris Gaseberg, twenty-two years old, died at a hospital. He had been employed at the Duquesne Steel works, and on May 30, it is alleged, fellow workmen inflated his body by compressed air, causing peritonitis. An investigation is being conducted. Elephant Pounds Horse to Death. New Albany, Ind., June 9.—Seizing a horse with its trunk, an enraged elephant dashed the animal against the ground until it had pounded the horse's life out. Showmen were loading the animals on a train, when the horse kicked the elephant.

An Author Who Hated Water. Mine d'Arblay, better known as Miss Fanny Burney, who took such an important place in the literature of the eighteenth century, had an extraordinary and most undesirable peculiarity. She had the greatest aversion to washing and water. Sir Henry Holland was the physician who attended the gifted authoress during the last year of her life, and she confided to him that she had not washed for fifteen years. KAUFMANN DENIES CHARGE. President Thrown From Horse Into Creek—Girl Attacked By a Negro. Six Killed By Explosion On Warship—"Devil Chaser" Is Insane. After one of the most remarkable police court hearings in recent years, State Senator James P. McNichol, the organization boss of Philadelphia, was held on his own recognizance for trial on the charge of criminal libel, proffered by Max Kaufmann, secretary to Mayor Reuburn, whom McNichol accused of obtaining $10,000 from him under false pretenses. Max Kaufmann was the first witness called at the hearing. He was on the stand for more than an hour and he told of alleged interviews he had had with McNichol concerning the $10,000 which McNichol says he gave Kaufmann to give to D. Clarence Gibboney, secretary of the Law and Order society, to show up Mayor Weaver's reform administration. Kaufmann declared that he never received any money from McNichol and characterized the senator's statement as a malicious libel. The apparently insignificant question by Mr. Gordon "Did you ever see Mr. McNichol at your office during the year 1905?" brought out some of the most interesting testimony of the day. Mr. Gibboney declared that Senator McNichol had visited him at the offices of the Law and Order society in 1905. "What did he say about Mayor Weaver?" "He seemed to feel badly at the man he helped to make. He said the organization took Weaver from the gutter and made a man of him. He explained further by means of crooks and gamblers turned loose at the time of the election, and he added that John Weaver knew all about it. 'If there ever was an ingrate,' McNichol said, 'Weaver is the man.' "He said further that himself, Durham and the Vares and others had presented Weaver with a carriage and horses, pony and harness, a library and other things which had been done for Weaver; then he berated the man for having done things against him." Gibboney then started to tell what McNichol had said about Mayor Ashbridge. He said: "Senator McNichol said, 'Every man in the city hall has to be dealt with. It is a strange thing that there were so many who were ungrateful and left me, but I had a good example in Ashbridge. I gave him $50,000 at one time and $80,000 at another. When we took hold of Weaver, who was a churchman and a Sunday school teacher, we expected him to stay with us, but he turned against us.'" McNichol had warrants issued for Kaufmann and Gibboney on criminal charges. Kaufmann is charged with perjury and Gibboney with libel. Immediately after the hearing Mayor Reuburn sent a letter to Kaufmann, in which he ordered him to turn his keys into the office and notified him that he was discharged from the position of secretary. George F. Payne Dead. George F. Payne, of the firm of George F. Payne & Co., builders of the new state capitol at Harrisburg, and a defendant in the capitol conspiracy case, died at his home in Philadelphia, aged fifty-five years. Death was caused by a complication of diseases. Mr. Payne, who was one of the best known contractors and builders in this city, was under indictment, together with his business partner Charles G. Wetter, on a charge of conspiracy in connection with the capitol painting and decorating contracts. George F. Payne & Co., were the general contractors for the capitol under the public building commission, and so far as the actual construction of the building is concerned there was no complaint against Payne & Co. The structure cost $4,500,000 and the cost of the furnishings, fittings and decorations ran the total up to about $13,000,000. The allegations are that the state was robbed in connection with the awarding of these furnishing and decorating contracts and by the excessive amounts charged. "Devil Chaser" Is Insane. The commission appointed to examine Robert Bachman, the religious fanatic who murdered his little niece during an orgie at Nazareth, performed the duty in the county jail at Easton, Pa., and filed a report to the effect that the prisoner's mind is unbalanced, and recommended that he be removed to an asylum. Young Girl Bold Burglar. Maggie Knowlton, twelve years old, of Rivington, admitted before Judge Horner at Mount Holly, N. J., that she had committed a number of burglaries, and seemed rather proud of her career. She was committed to the State Home for Girls, where she will have to remain until she becomes of age. The Hard Knocks. "This old world at best is only an anvil and life a sort of Pliantonian blacksmith, that, with varying blows, strikes us into form. The blow that hurts us most may shape us best." Deeply Affecting. "And when," said Mrs. Nuvoreesh, "those French pheasants came by singing the Mayonnaise it was too deeply touching for words."—Success Magazine. Great souls are not those who have fewer passions and more virtues than the common, but those only who have greater desires.—La Rochefoucauld.
