-The man who can't treat his domb animals kindly will not make the right kind of a husband

-The farmers of the United States last year purchased more than $112,000,000 worth of farming implements.

-It is estimated that the orchard pests do over $30,000,000 worth of damage to the fruit of the country every year.

-The Department of Agriculture estimates the corn crop this year at 2,700,000,-000 bushels, valued at about $1,250,000,-

-A horse can carry on his back a distance of 20 miles a day on a well made road, without exertion, from 250 to 300 pounds.

-The dairy cow is of threefold value : She produces a constant income, she produces a valuable offspring, and she improves the quality of the farm

-It has been found that fowls with deep, augular breasthones have to be fed longer to make them look well, and they consume considerably more feed than those having plump breastbo

-William Jennings Bryan says he is not much of a farmer, but has observed that the watermelon seed has the power of drawing from the ground and through itself, 2000 times its weight.

-A cow owned by William Maher, o Sheffield, Illinois, gave birth to three good sized and perfectly developed calves. She is half Jersey and raised the calves the first three weeks on her own milk.

-The bees are more easily angered in August than during any other period of the year. Honey is scarce in the fields, and if any is left open about the house they will surely hunt for it, and sting cruelly if disturbed.

-When a borse is noticed rubbing his tail at the root it is an indication that he is troubled with worms. Equal parts of salt and hard wood ashes mixed, a teaspoonful at a time now and then in the grain, is a good remedy.

-There are about seven million farms in the United States. In 1907 the value of the products from these farms was $7,-412,000.000. The average for each farm is about $1058. This means gross products whether consumed on the farm or sold in the market.

-It is claimed that it was Horace Greely who advised "planting potatoes in the moon, weaning calves and babies when the sign of the zodiac was right, killing hogs in the early part of the moon's phases, so the meat would not shrink in cooking," and many other popular fallacies.

-While on actual analysis it does not contain all of the plant-food needed by the growing crop, barnyard manure really returns to the soil nearly all the elements taken by the crop, by making available the surplus plant food existing in the soil, but useless for assimilation by the plant till rendered active by fermentation.

Charged With Stealing $173.000. A Horse's Toe Nails. The mystery of the theft of $173,-Few persons realize that a horse's 000 from the United States subhoof is really the same thing as the treasury at Chicago a year and a haif toe nails of human beings or of animals having toes. The horn of a hoof ago, one of the largest losses the government has ever suffered in this mangrows just as a toe nail does. The ner, is believed to have been solved by hoof grows more rapidly in unshod the arrest of George W. Fitzgeraid horses than in those wearing shoes Others are believed to have been imand it grows faster in horses which plicated in the crime, which for many are weil groomed and well fed. But months completely baffled government on an average the horn grows about a third of an inch a month. Hind hoofs Fitzgerald was an assorting teller grow faster than fore hoofs. The toe under Assistant United States Treasof the hoof being the longest part, it urer William Boldenweck. -In order to have as thorough churning as possible the temperature of the cream should not be over 58 degrees. While the butter is in the granular form, the churn ing is to be stopped. Then draw the but termilk from the churn and wash the but ter and salt while yet in the granular form. For the taste of most people, one onnce of salt to the pound of butter is about right.

-Spontaneous combustion of clover hay happens under the following conditions Hay, 15 to 20 feet deep ; centre of mow packed hard, sides loose ; mow much open to the weather. Prevention : Keep hay evenly distributed over the mow while being stored, and regulate the ventilation if possible, so as to have the air circulate over the top of the bay rather than through -The medium-sized hog is now most is favor. Hogs weighing from 300 to 600 pounds or more, were once thought to be ideal, but it be came apparent to swine growers that every day a hog lived over one year it was losing money for its owner. Now hogs are so managed and fed that in eight or ten months they are large enough to meet the popular demand.

-The inhabitants of the Island of Jersey, from whence came the celebrated Jersey cattle, have a very simple way of testing milk to tell pure from impure. They simply boil the milk in an enameled sauce pan. If it boils without curdling it is said to be fit for use. If it curdles be-fore it begins to boil, they consider it impure, and it is not used as food by the people or their most valuable calves.

-An English stock journal tells of a famons veterinary surgeon who was once called on to decide a question of blindness in a horse, concerning which two London vets, differed. He entered the yard where the horse stood and, without examining the animal's eves, ordered a halter to be put on him and an empty bucket to be placed in the middle of the yard. Then taking the balter he led the horse in a direct line for the backet. The borse went forward and blundered over it with his forelegs. "Blind, without a doubt," was the verdict.

-Guaranteed milk has been on the market for a few years, and now comes "Mapes, the hen man," with guaranteed eggs-eggs guaranteed to be germless. There is no secret connected with the production of germless eggs, except that no male birds are allowed in the pens. Mr. Mapes puts his eggs in sealed packages, one dozen each, with a printed guarantee that they are germless-will not hatch or become addled-and he claims that they will keep in good condition for cooking and eating for weeks and months in ordinary surroundings, summer or winter.

-The following wash is recommended for apple tree borers : Dissolve as much common washing soda as possible in six gallons of water ; then dissolve one gallon of ordinary soft scap in the above ; slake a quantity of lime to a thick paste and add of this to the above mixture to make a thick whitewash, which will stay upon the tree an eighth of an inch or so in thickness. It is better to scrape off all the loose bark possible from the trunks and main limbs of the trees and also remove the earth from the base and sorape the loose bark from this. Apply the wash liberally from the main limbs to the ground, covering all portions of the bark. The dirt can then be placed about the base of the tree as before.
