UNWARRANTED CHARGE. - An article was published in a Bellefonte paper last Friday, purporting to be a reprint from the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin, in which Moses Levi, a citizen of Bellefonte, was made to appear in a very bad light. It was an account of his arrest in the Lumber city on the charge of vagrancy, etc., and further stating that he was also being held on the charge of receiving stolen diamonds to the value of two thousand dollars.

Mr. Levi was in Williamsport and under arrest, but he claims bis detention was en tirely unwarranted. Confer, of Yarnell, Mr. Walker and Miss Confer were playmates as children and especially warm friends after they grew to manhood and womanhood. A number of years ago the bridegroom left Centre county and went to West Virginia and ever since the two young people kept up a close correspondence which finally resulted in a proposal of marriage and acceptance. But they kept the fact of their engagement a secret until a few days ago when their most intimate friends were informed of their approaching marriage. Yesterday the two young people came to Bellefonte on the 1.23 train in the afternoon and going to the Presbyterian parsonage were quietly married by Rev. J. Allison Platts. There were no attendants but several intimate friends of the bride were present as witnesses. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Walker were driven to the home of the bride's parents at Yarnell where a dainty wedding dinner was served, and where they will spend two weeks before leaving for their future home in Apgah, where Mr. Walker has a nice home already furnished for the recention of his bride.

FISHER-GEARHARDT .- A wedding under rather sad and painful circumstances was that on Saturday of last week of Charles E. Fisher, of Boalsburg, and Miss Emma Gearbardt, of Danville. The engagement was announced in the spring and the wedding day was set for Monday, September 14th, and arrangements were being made for a big wedding when the bride's mother, who had been ill for some time, grew suddenly worse. Realizing that death was imminent she expressed a wish to see ber daughter married, consequently the wedding was solemnized at her bedside on Saturday. And the nuptials took place none too soon as Mrs. Gearhardt died on Sanday and was buried on Wednesday.

The bride is a young lady of many accomplishments, chief among which is her talent for music. For several years past she has been an instructor in music at Bucknell University. She has frequently visited friends in Bellefonte and has always been regarded a very charming woman. The bridegroom is well known all over Centre county. He is a traveling salesman for the Harrisburg Casket company. Of course they were given the customary parental blessing. The bride is a charming little woman and will make an excellent life companion. The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. D. H. Weaver and is employed as a clerk in the store of the College Supply company.

> SICKELCO-LUCAS .- A quiet wedding at the Reformed parsonage in this place last Thursday afternoon was that of Herbert H. Sickelco, of Silver Creek, N. Y., and Miss Sarah H. Lucas, of How ard. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Ambrose M. Schmidt. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lucas, of Howard, and a very companionable young woman. Mr. Sickeloo is employed by the New York Central railroad company at Silver Creek, where they will make their future home.

ROBB-SNYDER. -On Wednesday evening of last week Samuel M. Robb, of Howmarried at the Presbyterian parsonage by Rev. W. M. Grant. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. > The boy has always been of a rather inventive as well as experimental turn of mind and spends much of his time studying the practical workings of all kinds of machinery. Last Saturday evening he was experimenting with carbide as an explosive by putting a small quantity of it in an empty pop bottle, then after dropping a little water on it hastily cork the bottle and run away just to hear it explode, which it did with the noise of a dynamite cracker. He had worked the trick twice but the third time he failed to get away and the fragments of the exploded bottle struck him on the arms and chest and in the face, causing a number of ugly bruises, but the worst injury was the puncture of the eye by a small particle of glass.

He was at once taken to Philadelphia with the intention of placing him in the University hospital, but part of it being closed for repairs he was taken to Bryn dle west.
