

Spring Mills.

Mrs. M. B. Hering, who has been quite ill for the last two weeks, is improving.

Quite a number of our folks attended the Union county fair, and made a very favorable report.

J. B. Bell, Jas. Carr and C. L. Campbell, of Orwingsburg, were here last week visiting friends, guests at the Spring Mills hotel.

Mrs. Margaret Ruhl left on Monday last for Philadelphia and New York to purchase her fall and winter line of millinery goods.

Apple butter making has commenced. Apples are very plentiful and cider cheap, so there will be no scarcity of "hot varrick."

The chestnut crop here is quite large, though somewhat damaged by worms. They are brought to the stores in considerable quantity.

Has the Public Ledger, of Philadelphia, no other subject to talk about excepting the dead silver question in attacking Mr. Bryan? Why does it not try and clear itself of help along the bogus Cleveland letter?

Potatoes in this locality are a partial failure. Some few patches made a good yield but the majority of the planting is of very little value—plenty of potatoes but many of them not much larger than hickory nuts.

R. G. Kenneley Jr., one of our able and reliable mechanics, has commenced the business of blacksmithing in the old shop at the upper end of town, formerly occupied by J. C. Condo, and has fitted it up with quite a number of conveniences. Mr. Kenneley is an expert at horse shoeing, having few equals and no superior in Centre county.

To judge from his reply to Mr. Bryan's request for proofs of the charge against Gov. Haskell, our worthy President is somewhat out of humor. He is evidently beginning to feel—possibly sees—the hand writing on the wall, that his proxy has very little show in the presidential race, hence his wrath and ill humor. But then other people think the same way.

John Dauberman, the active meat merchant of Center Hall, says that he did a larger business during picnic week than he ever did. To supply his customers in Centre Hall and surrounding country, and also here, kept him busy almost night and day.

Dauberman deals only in the best and fattest cattle and his meat is always fresh and inviting, hence his large business. He has been asked by several parties residing in the country in this neighborhood to extend his trips to their homes, a matter he will take into consideration soon.

Rev. J. Max Lantz delivered a very able discourse in the M. E. church on Sunday morning last—Old Folks day. Why is it that in other places on these occasions the Methodists decorate their churches, and send a carriage to convey the aged and infirm to and from church, no matter what denomination they belong to? But Spring Mills does nothing of the kind, simply bunch a few flowers together in a bouquet or two, and call it a wonderful decoration. The Methodists of Spring Mills are far behind the times, why not be alive and active like they are in other towns.

Lemont.

Jacob Ray is busy building a new summer house at present.

The corn is all on sheck and some of it husked and cribbed.

John Lytle is at present confined to his home with rheumatism.

The attendance is good in the public schools since they opened.

Henry Thompson's child, who has been quite ill, is slowly improving.

Wm. H. Mohle, who has been ill for some time is no better at this writing.

The wheat that was sown about the first of the month has come up in spots but far from regular.

Frank Whitehill's little daughter, Margaret, has been quite ill this last week, but is better at present.

Mrs. Maggie Houser and daughter, of Bellefonte, visited at the home of Mrs. James E. Lenker, Friday.

Wednesday morning when the people arose they found a heavy frost but it did very little damage and thus far we have had no killing frosts.

Many of the farmers have not put in their fall crops up to this time but will be busy now as soon as the ground gets dry enough to work.

The forest trees have begun putting on their holiday attire, and seem to be inviting everyone to come to the woods for a day of pleasure and profit, gathering chestnuts, shellbarks, and walnuts.

Business is still booming here for the lumbermen who are taking out paper wood, chemical wood, and mine props, are shipping two and three cars out each week, and all persons who wish to work need not be idle for a single day.

Last week was as dry and hot as any week this summer, and by times the thermometer registered from 84° to 86° in the shade, with the dust on the roads from three to six inches deep. But Sunday night and Monday brought relief in the form of grand showers of rain, and some thunder and lightning.

Pine Grove Menton.

The long looked for rain came at last. Henry L. Dale spent Sunday with friends at Fairbrook.

A new heater furnace is being placed in the basement of the M. E. church.

Charley Witmer, a student at the Lock Haven Normal, was home over Sunday.

Squire Keller and wife are Pittsburg visitors and expect to be away about ten days.

Samuel Everhart spent several days with his parents at Franklinville the beginning of the week.

W. R. Cummings, an old drover, was here last week and bought a car load of cattle for the eastern market.

Mrs. W. D. Port is up at the Mountain city visiting her daughter, Mary Smith, and William is baching it.

Miss Nellie Imboden, of Bloomsburg, is visiting the home of her uncle, Harry Imboden, at State College.

Howard Barr, of Gatesburg, is the lay member from the Lutheran charge here attending the Lutheran Synod at Newport this week.

Perceval Rudy will install the newly elected officers of Pennsylvania Lodge, No. 276, I. O. O. F., Saturday evening.

That famous bird, the stork, left a little boy at Charley Cronemiller's and a little girl at the home of Wm. K. Goss.

James Condo, the popular carriage builder at Penn Hall, left several new buggies on the Branch in the early part of the week.

From the amount of firing heard along the foot of the Old Tussey yesterday the frisky tribe must have been out in large numbers.

Miss Ayers came up from Philadelphia last week to have a few days outing at the old farm home and is mixing pleasure with business by looking after a tenant to succeed Mr. Van Tries next season.

The Ladies Circle of the Lutheran church will hold a pumpkin pie social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lytle, on the Branch, tomorrow evening. Everybody is invited and all are guaranteed a good time.

Last Sunday morning Rev. C. T. Aiken, president of the Susquehanna University, very ably filled the Lutheran pulpit at Gatesburg. In the evening he preached in the Lutheran church here, and was warmly greeted by his former parishioners.

On Saturday while handling some hogs, young farmer W. M. Glenn, on the Bass farm, fell, striking his knee on a sharp stone, badly fracturing the kneecap. He is now locomoting on crutches and will not likely be able to use his leg before the snow flakes fly.

—Dr. Morrison Clay Stayer, the second son of Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Stayer, of Altoona, has been commissioned as a surgeon in the United States regular army.
