SHE WAS A WILLING CAPTIVE

Young Wooser's Friend and An Ally of His Sweetheart's Brother Slain in Pistol Fight, After Which the Couple Hurried to the Nearest Magistrate and Were Married—The Bride is Only Fifteen Years Old. Bridegroom and His Brother-in-Law Will Be Prosecuted.

Waycross, Ga., Oct. 27.—After a battle, in which two men were killed, L. C. Edenfield, a prominent young man, gained possession of Miss Edie Carter, the fifteen-year-old daughter of the wealthiest man in Coffee county, hastened with her to a justice of the peace and made her his wife.

Edenfield and Miss Carter had been sweethearts for some months, but her parents objected to the marriage on account of her youth. To get Miss Carter away from Edenfield and prevent an elopement, she was sent by her parents to the home of her brother, John W. Carter, at Millwood. The girl notified Edenfield of her whereabouts and expressed her willingness to elope if he would come for her. Accompanied by D. A. Wilson, Edenfield went to the home of the girl's brother and tried to steal her. He was discovered and a battle occurred in which Wilson was killed outright and A. J. Little, a friend of Carter, was so badly shot that he soon died.

While the fight was going on Miss Carter rushed from her brother's home to her sweetheart. Edenfield put the girl in a carriage and hurried to the nearest magistrate and they were quickly married.

It is said that Wilson, who accompanied Edenfield to aid in abducting Miss Carter, was killed by her brother and that Little, who was aiding Carter, was shot by Edenfield.

Are Enjoined From Fining Members Who Refused.

Boston, Oct. 27.—The supreme judicial court of Massachusetts, in making permanent an injunction against several labor unions, ruled that labor unions cannot impose fines upon their members in order to force them to go out on a strike.

The decision was rendered on a petition brought by L. D. Willcutt Sons & Company, of this city, asking for an injunction against the Bricklayers' and Stone Masons' Benevolent unions, restraining the unions from imposing a fine of $100 each on two members of the union who had refused to go out on strike.

The unions in the spring of 1906 issued a new set of rules for members employed by contractors. The Willcutt company, fearing that loss of money would follow its failure to complete certain work under these rules, closed up part of its work and discharged a number of men. The unions then declared a strike on other work in which the company was engaged. Later on two labor leaders visited the work in which the company was engaged and found two union men still working. The labor leaders ordered them to cease under penalty of being fined $100 apiece. The Willcutt company obtained a temporary injunction against the unions to prevent the fines being imposed, and the decree makes that injunction permanent.

—Paper money is popularly supposed to be a carrier of infectious diseases. No doubt microbes do find a resting place on many of the bills now in circulation, but investigations which have been conducted at the research laboratory of the New York Board of Health indicate that although paper money is by no means free from bacteria, it is, nevertheless, not quite so prolific a breeding ground as may be supposed. On clean bank bills an average of 2,350 bacteria were discovered. On soiled bills the average was 73,000. This investigation was made some years ago. Its results have now been checked by Warren W. Hilditch of the Sheffield laboratory of bacteriology and research at Yale. The dirtiest bills which banks and railways could place at his disposal showed an average of only 142,000 bacteria for each bill. The lowest was 14,000; the highest, 580,000. Curiously enough, the cleanest-looking note was charged with 405,000 bacteria, and the dirtiest with 38,000, which seems to prove that there is no necessary connection between dirt and bacteria. Mr. Hilditch finds that guinea pigs inoculated with this bacteria contracted no disease, which would mean that money bacteria are not necessarily virulent.—Scientific American.

is removed by the shock and the clock starts again. But it does not go very long before it runs down. Another shock perhaps starts it, but the clock soon stops again, and presently has to be overhauled by the clock doctor. It's something the same way with the liver. It stops its useful and necessary offices, sometimes, and the man or woman affected tries to jar it into starting, with some powerful pill or potion. Perhaps they succeed. But the success does not last. The liver soon stops again, and finally they have to go to a doctor. The value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in such cases, is that it carries off the clogging particles which interfere with the health of the body. It strengthens the liver, purifies the blood, and heals diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. There can be no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."
