FARM NOTES.

-When fowls crow at night, which is -when fowls crow at hight, which is the fact when the number quartered is greater than the capacity of the house, they sweat. This sweating causes the feathers to rot at the base, giving them the very appearance of molting. This explains why so many flocks look ragged in early sum-

-Around Charleston, S. C., is found the largest acreage of purely truck-crop cab-bage in the United States. The United States Department of Agriculture Year Book for 1907 says that the area surrounding a single shipping point in this region in 1905 produced a head of cabbage for every inhabitant of the United States.

-Fresh bardwood ashes would contain at least 5 per cent. of potash, 1 per cent. of phosphoric acid and a good quantity of lime; also other materials which are of some value to growing plants and trees. Wood ashes are one of the best prepara-tions for top dressing grass land, for pota-toes and onions, and for orchards.

-It is claimed that a freshly-laid egg placed in a bucketful of water will sink to the bottom ; one day old will sink nearly to the bottom ; two days old about halfway ap ; three days old will float not quite at the top; four days old just touch the top; five aud six days, rise a little above the top, rising a little higher as it daily grows older.

-Much old dried fruit will be found hanging on the trees at this season of the year. This is especially true to preach and plum trees. In nearly all orchards nearly every tree contains from a dozen to a hundred or more of these fruit "mmmmies." They are full of the spores of fruit disease germs and will spoil next year's fruit if not removed this winter.

-Here are actual results, each item referring to the product of an acre where the grower was a specialist : Asparagus, 30 hunches, 20 cents a hunch, $600. Cauli-flower, 100 to 300 pounds, $450. Onions, 600 bushels, 75 cents $450. Cabbage seed, 1000 pounds, 40 cents a nound, $400. 1000 pounds, 40 cents a pound, $400. Potatoes, 175 bushels, low estimate, $175. Cabbage, 7000 heads, $500.

-The possibilities of an acre of good ground are as follows ; One acre of onions can be made to yield from 445 to 600 bushels ; one acre of tomatoes 300 to 400 bushels ; one acre sweet potatoes, 500 to 600 bushels ; one acre of beets, 300 to 400 bushels ; one acre of carrots, 300 to 400 bushels ; one acre of cabbage, 8000 heads; and one acre of potatoes, 100 to 300 bushels.

-The precise benefit of salt for dairy cattle is hardly known, but experience shows that it is worth while to feed it quite freely in such quantities as the cows will take. Cows having salt kept before them all the time will not eat too much, but they may be overfed with salt if they have not been given any for a long time. The salt stimulates the appetite and in-creases the flow of body fluids.

FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN.

DAILY THOUGHT.

"I wonder sometimes if good temper might not be taught. In business we use no harsh language, say no unkind things to one another-The shopkeeper, leaning across the counter, is all smiles and affability—he might put up his hutters were he otherwise. Hasty tempers are banished from the city. Can we not see that it is just as much to our interest to banish them from Tooting and Hampstead ?"-Jerome K. Jerome.

"After-empire, is really the best name for it. The style has grown out of the empire use gown, yet bears no resemblance to the directorre or empire mode. It is made in straight long lines, of course, and is for afternoon wear, being elaborately trimmed with lace and embroidery. What is the short yoke of the empire gown has become here a corselet of heavy embroidery that reaches far below the waistline, fitting tightly to the figure. Where this corselet effect ends the skirt of the frock is set, giving an appearance, curious nowadays, of the old time "long-waist" that used to be the desideratum of the modiste.

It keeps in the length and tightness of sleeve and skirt and in the general emphasis upon the long straight contour the distinguishing features of the empire and directuire fashions.

Bat goue, at least from this particular gown, is the short waist, the empire corsage, the unbroken line of the sweeping skirt. Can it he that the doom of the short-waisted frock has already been sounded by this "after empire" gown ? Short sleeves will be seen again on the pring blouses. In spite of the present condemnation of all sleeves that do not half cover the hand, the return of elbow sleeves is already predicted. The reason is that American women, at least, refuse to he ordered by dame Fash-ion to an unswerving and slavish devotion to an uncomfortable style.

For years women wore elbow sleeves not because they were particularly pretty or becoming-often they were notbut be cause they were comfortable.

Sleeves were loose, leaving the arm free of "binding" seams, and women who did their own housework reveled in morning shirtwaists made with sleeves that did not have to be rolled up. Now fashion has commanded the banishment of this easy mode, and the adoption of long, tight sleeves, to be worn morning, afternoon and night, to the exclusion of all else, by all folk who wish to be well dress.

This winter we are all of us complying with the hanghty Dame's deoree, and even our shirtwaist sleeves are long, tight, un-comfortable, and, in spite of their boasted "smartness," very often hideous.

Aud so the American woman who is fairly well emancipated from the blind obedience of her Parisian sisters to a sense less rule of "style," says that she won't stand it any longer, and that when the warm weather comes she will wear elbow sleeves, loose sleeves, ruffled sleeves, what-ever kind of sleeve bappens to feel best. Independent, after all, the American

While there is as great a variety to eggs sent to market than to send them in a dirty condition. But washed eggs have no keeping qualities. The water appears to in the street and for purely evening wear, those especially to be recommended in the local parliament of the German are the marquis s, the VI admitted and soon starts decomposition. The better way to treat dirty eggs is to take a woolen rag only slightly moistened with a woolen rag only slightly moistened with ier ; and then, such lovely shades as these come in ! The cashmeres are seen in Chinese blue and in Parma violet ; and the crepe meteores and marquisettes in t upe and soft khaki shades, to say nothing of the still lovelier and rarer magenta and garnet shades. These and the striped examples of almost all of these weaves make up a real-ly bewildering list.—"Harper's Bazar." Some skins will endure more than others, but all are fallible. It is not necessary to swathe oneself in veils or to live constantly under the shade of a parasol. That would destroy the pleasure, and benefit as well, of life out of doors, and it is comparatively simple to soothe and comfort the skin with cold creams at night, to protect it with cream and powder when a day of extreme and trying exposure is expected, and to use a little restraint in exposure when it is possible. Taken in moderate degrees, fresh air and sunshine are good for a complexion, and certainly the good health resulting from them is the best possible foundation for a clear beautiful skin. Strange Ceremonies That Mark the

made use of a bear spear as my weapon of attack," writes Count Eric von Rosen, "and I may take this opportunity to maintain that the use of spear entails no greater cruelty than any other mode of attack and that every hunter should be armed with one in reserve, since these powerful beasts have a vitality that triumphs over a stray bullet or more unless ing the body to the Escurial. A halt lodged in a vital region, and when wounded their retaliation is redoubtable and easily fatal. In Karelia, Finland, the bear is yet regarded as a noxious horror. The great black haired 'slagbjorn,' or killing bear, is still rampant there, and a couple of winters back I was able to wreak justifiable vengeance on some beasts that had killed over a score of cows and nine horses. News had been brought me that some of these rascals were hibernating on a small marsh bound island.

"We found no difficulty in locating their lair, and I took up my post at the entrance to it, armed only with my spear. I may explain that a bear spear consists of an ash staff some two yards long and about a couple of inches in diameter. There is a blade of steel about twelve inches in length, and the shaft is copper cased as a prevention against the teeth of bruin. As soon as my gentleman appeared I tried to stick him in the throat, but he parried adroitly, and I missed. I made another lunge and succeeded in driving my spear point through his breast. "He started roaring furiously and snapped at my copper cased staff, then made an attempt to strike at my arm with his huge fore paw, so that I might drop my weapon. The powerful brute hung on to my spear at the one end, while I as grimly held on at the other end. His bites went through the copper plate, and he started shredding the wood beneath. Strenuously I checked his further advances, and gradually, for his wounds began to tell, his resistance weakened, and he dropped at last over the aperture of his den. "I pulled out the spear, but so much strength still remained in him that he seized the blade and bit it with a force that left deep indentations in the steel. My companion then finished him off with his own weapon. This struggle from start to finish covered five minutes."

QUEER ENGLISH TAXES.

Burial of a Spanish King. Strange and almost weird is the ceremonial which accompanies the burial of Spanish kings. The pantheon, or royal tomb, is at the palace of the Escurial, situated 3,000 feet above the level of the sea and some distance from the capital. Only kings, queens and mothers of kings are buried there. the coffins of the kings lying on one side, those of the queens on the other. After lying in state for several days in the throne room in Madrid an enormous procession is formed, accompany-is made on the way, and the corpse rests there for one night. In the morning the lord high chamberlain stands at the side of the coffin and says in loud tones, "Is your majes ty pleased to proceed on your journey?" After a short silence the pro cession moves on and winds up to the grand portal of the palace. These doors are never opened except to admit a royal personage, dead or alive.

When the casket containing the remains is at last placed in the vault the chamberlain unlocks it and, kneeling down, calls with a loud voice: "Senor! Senor! Senor!"

After a solemn pause he cries again: "His majesty does not reply! Then it is true, the king is dead!"

He then locks the coffin, gives the key to the prior and, taking his staff of office, breaks it in pieces and flings them at the casket. The booming of the guns and the tolling of bells announce to the nation that the king has gone to his final resting place.

Thought of Him.

Papa-Are you sure that you and mamma thought of me while you were away? Grace-Yes; we heard a map kicking up a great row about his breakfast at the hotel, and mamma said, "That's just like papa."

-Wife-Will I always be the dearest thing in the world to you ? Husband-I am sure you will, unless the landlord raises the rent.

-Edith-How do you tell me and my twin sister apart? Tommie-If it's a pleasant one, it's Ethel ; if it's a cranky one, it's you.

"Madeline is a decided blond. isn't she ?" "Yes, hut she only decided last week."

COFFEE, you know, is a flavor. Many people think of Coffee as a food, a drink, a Stimulant or a berry. It is all of these and then some. But, 95 people out of every hundred drink Coffee merely be-cause they like it. And they like it because a particular flavor of it pleases them.

People who "don't like Coffee" have never yet found the particular flavor of Coffee which would have pleased them. They can find it yet. When they do find it they won't quit drinking it, and they shouldn't quit. But, how to "find-out" really good Coffee. And how to find out the precise kind of Coffee flavor which best pleases your palate. For the first time in history you may now buy a "Find-out Package" of Bakerized Coffee. This Find out Package contains the three flavors of highest grade Coffee. Observe that the three distinct flavors in the "Find-out Package" of Bakerized Coffee are not merely three kinds of Coffee, but three fixed and unvarying flavors of Coffee.

When therefore you buy a "Find-out Package" of Bakerized Coffee, and find from this just which Coffee flavor best pleases your palate, you can then feel sure of getting that same identical flavor year after year, under its given brand. This package will contain over three-quarters of a pound of the best Coffee you have ever tasted. That Coffee will be put up in three separate boxes. One of these three boxes will contain "VIGORO" Bakerized Coffee. This is a robust fuming aromatic stimulating Coffee-full of uplift, spicy odor and generous flavor. It is a vigorous, "black" Southern Coffee which "touches the spot" and "puts you up on horseback."

Another box will contain 'BARRINGTON HALL'' Bakerized Coffee. This is deliciously smooth and fragrant, mellow, fine and satisfying, with a delightful, lingering after taste. It is more nearly the standard flavor of right-good Coffee than any other we know of.

A third box contains "SIESTA" Bakerized Coffee. This is of mild and dainty flavor, full of subtle delicacy and bouquet.

Buy a "Find-out Package" of Bakerized Coffee and treat your palate to a new sensation.

-An industry which the farmer might take up with profit is not growing. Im-proved nut trees begin bearing at about six or eight years, bearing the same as apple or pear trees. Large trees when grafted begin to hear about the third or fourth year, and large trees that are hudded will bear sooner than small ones, but the small ones bear longest. English walnuts can now be grown in the central States.

-A sick animal should be placed in a well disinfected and dry box stall with plenty of bedding and sunlight (avoid drafts). In cold weather place a blanket on the animal, feed sparingly with digestible food, such as bran mashes made of linseed tea ; keep manger sweet and clean. Water should be pure and clean, and warmed when necessary. It is always necessary for new milch cows to be given warm water

-According to figures complied by the United States Department of Agriculture relative to the 1908 hog crop, there was on September 1 a shortage of hogs as compared with the same date last year of approxi-mately 5,000,000 head. At the same date in 1907 the total number of hogs in thus country aggregated 54 794.000, while this year the total had dimunished to 49,728,-845 head. This is a reduction of over 9 per cent. in this year's hog crop.

-It is a noted fact that the majority of cases where roup has become epidemic among fowls the latter were crowded in tightly-built houses when the weather is very cold and allowing the houses to remain closed all the next day. This creates a moisture which generates dampness, and the whole house feels very much like a vanit. At night the house is more or less filled with dampness emanating from the fowls' breath, but if on the following morning the windows are opened wide this dampness will be dispelled. This is a great point in favor of the soratching shed plan of house.

-According to Dr. David Roberts, Wisconsin State Veterinarian, milk cows require different feed than heef cattle, and not much fat-forming foods should be given, as the cows are then apt to lav on fat instead of producing milk. More silage or roots should be fed in the winter. Daily feed a 1000-pound cow 40 pounds of silage, seven pounds clover hay, eight pounds of grain. The cows that are soon to freshen should be fed on succulent feed. such as silage or roots, bran, linseed meat and borax. with a little oats. Keep the bowels open and do not feed very heavy on grain just before or after calving

The thing is, in fact, almost as simple as laundering a muslin dress. The advice given by one woman is as follows : Lay the plume in a suds made of good white soap and cold water and let it stand for two or three hours. Then put Budd into hot water where it should remain about twenty minutes. Then, with a piece of soft cloth or silk dipped in soap suds, remove any dirt which may remain. Lay it on a clean towel and touch with a piece of cloth rolled up to restore the curl. When almost dry shake until fluffy ; place in tissue paper and put in the warming oven of the stove to dry thoroughly. If necessary use the dull side of an ivory paper outter in restoring the ourl.

It is best not to put one's heavy backed silver brush into common use for the bair. At least not in cities where the soot-laden a'mosphere leaves a coating of itself on the hair each day. This is caught by bristles of the brush, which makes it necessary to wash it at least twice a week if not oftener.

This constant washing ruins a brush that has an expensive back. Therefore, a brush should be used that bas an ordinary wooden handle and back with good stiff bristles to withstand the softening action of water princedom of Reuss by which it was amounting to 10 cents.

Some time ago a good deal of merriment was aroused by a measure introduced in the legislature of New Jersey by which it was proposed to tax beards, but even this is not an original proposal. Queen Elizabeth put a tax on every beard of a fortnight's growth, while a couple of centuries ago Peter the Great insisted that all nobles who wore beards should pay 100 rubles for the privilege. As chancellor of the English exchequer Pitt rendered himself very unpopular by the extraordinary means to which he resorted in order to improve the state of the country's exchequer. He it was who first introduced the income tax, and he also levied a tax upon horses, which caused a certain farmer to use a cow for the purpose of riding to and from market. Even more dissatisfaction, however, was caused by Pitt's increase of the window tax, first imposed in the year that the tax on babies was enforced. You don't need to be aghast at the idea This window tax caused property own ers to wall up as many windows as possible, in order to reduce the amount for which they were liable .-- Philadel-

Buddhist Ceremonies.

Some Buddhist ceremonies present & striking analogy to certain Christian rites. An old missionary says: "The very titles of their intercessions, such as 'goddess of mercy,' 'holy mother,' 'queen of heaven,' with an image of the virgin having a child in her arms holding a crescent, are all such striking coincidences that the Catholic missionaries were greatly stumbled at the resemblances between Chinese worship and their own when they came over to convert the natives to Christianity."-London Standard.
