Col. Guffey Elected National Committeeman. Sen. Dewalt State Chairman.
HARRISBURG, Jan. 26.—At a meeting held here today, the Democratic State committee, without a dissenting vote, elected Colonel James M. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, as National committeeman from Pennsylvania, to succeed the late James Kerr, of Clearfield, and named Senator Arthur G. Dewalt, of Lehigh county,

State chairman, in place of Senator George M. Dimeling, of Clearfield, who retired on account of business pressure. The committee also adopted resolutions of regret for the death of Mr. Kerr.
After this election Colonel Guffey appeared before the committee and made a short address, endorsing a policy of conciliation outlined by Senator Dewalt, and was greeted with prolonged applause.
In accepting the chairmanship, Senator Dewalt gave utterance to the harmony program adopted by the State organization and intimated that every effort would be made to bring all conflicting elements into the fold. "I do not desire to be your leader," said Senator Dewalt, "but a follower of the entire Democracy of the State. Give me your aid and we can achieve success. I believe the Democratic party is broad enough to hold every man who is opposed to the principles of the Republican party, which are now, as they always have been, inherently wrong. The time has come for Democrats to stop fighting against each other. It is time party bickerings should cease and all members join in promoting the success of Democracy."
Of the 83 members of the State committee, 75 were present and the proffer of the olive branch by the organization leaders was heartily approved. Not a voice was raised in opposition, every man pledging his cordial support to the new program.
A reorganization of the party will be begun at once by Colonel Guffey and State Chairman Dewalt.
Schoolboys Fight Duel.
William Pollak, a fourteen-year-old schoolboy, was sent from the public school at Summit, N. J., to the Overlook hospital at Newark, suffering from a dangerous knife wound over the heart.
According to Pollak, the wound was received in a duel with a classmate, Arthur Tappan, sixteen years of age. Both boys, Pollak asserts, were rivals for the affections of a girl member of their class, and to determine which one should have the right of way they decided upon a duel. This was fought out, he says, during the noon recess, one of the classrooms at the school serving as the duelling ground, and pocketknives as the weapons. Other pupils confirm Pollak's story and say that twenty classmates of the two boys witnessed the fight.
At the hospital it was said that if Pollak's wound had been half an inch lower it would have proved fatal.
Miners Will Back John Mitchell.
John Mitchell, labor leader, reunited the warring elements of the United Mine Workers of America in their convention at Indianapolis, in the greatest speech of his career.
Factions seemed to be dissolved into one grand appreciation of Mitchell, and the indirect cause of it was the decision of Judge Wright at Washington.
Events in the miners' convention moved rapidly. Mitchell was given an ovation: a petition started to be signed by the 1250 delegates protesting against the decision to President Roosevelt; $2500 was appropriated to defend Mitchell and "more as needed;" a telegram was sent to Samuel Gompers announcing this fact, with the words: "Stay in the game; 300,000 black diamond artists are backing you."
Fifty-three Die In Explosion.
Blown to pieces by exploding powder, burned to death by the resultant fire, or drowned in the icy waters of Lake Michigan, was the fate of fifty-three workmen who were working on a submarine tunnel at a wooden pier, a mile and a half from the Chicago shore. The crib was used for the construction of a new submarine water shore connecting with the south side street. It is known that 125 workmen were employed in the crib and the connecting tunnel at the time of the explosion, which started the fire and blew or drove the men into the water. Many are missing, and the death rate may be greatly increased.
Republicans Elect Democratic Senator
George E. Chamberlain, Democrat, governor of the state of Oregon, was elected United States senator by a Republican legislature. Although Chamberlain is the people's choice for United States senator and there were enough members of the legislature pledged to elect him, a determined effort was made for months past to defeat him. Senator Charles W. Fulton, whom Chamberlain will succeed, it is alleged, repeatedly urged the legislators to elect a Republican instead of a Democrat, despite the fact that a majority of the members were pledged to the people to vote for Chamberlain.
Carried Forceps in Her Body 11 Years.
A pair of surgeon's forceps, accidentally sewed up in the abdomen after an operation eleven years ago, caused the death of Miss Mary G. Donovan, of Philadelphia.
The operation in which the mistake was made was performed by a surgeon of this city of high repute, who has since died. The facts in the case were suspected only a few days ago, following an X-ray examination.
Miss Donovan was operated on at the University hospital, but this measure had been too long delayed, and her death followed a few hours later.
Held For Attempt to Rob Dead Girl.
While kneeling beside the body of seventeen-year-old Annie Werner while it was being viewed by a number of her friends, Mary Dougherty, of 312 Marshall street, Philadelphia, attempted, it is said, to steal a number of rings from off the dead girl's hand. The woman had gained entrance to the house of mourning on the pretext of being a friend of the dead girl. She was accompanied by John Smith, of 1832 Marshall street. Both Smith and the woman were arrested and held in $1000 bail.
Tied Wife's Tongue to Stop Talk.
Mrs. Alexander Zalcwicz, of Barberton, O., had her spouse placed under arrest on a charge of cruelty. Zalcwicz pleaded guilty, saying that his wife's incessant talk had driven him wild. Mrs. Zalcwicz told Humane Officer Ackerman that her husband had seized her, forced her mouth open, pulled out her tongue and tied around it a heavy piece of twine.
Four Men Blown to Death.
Four men were killed and ten injured, one fatally, when several tons of dynamite in one of the buildings of the Forcite Powder works, at Lake Hopatcong, N. J., blew up. The detonation of the huge mass of explosives shook the country for miles around and blew the building containing it to atoms. Of the fourteen men in it not one escaped death or injury.

Dawson, of West Virginia, that he will give the state of West Virginia his summer resort property at Red Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for a sanitarium for consumptives. The offer will be accepted.
