Widow of Jonathan Dillinger, Who Lost His Life Saving Aged Woman, Awarded Silver Medal and $50 a Month—$10,000 Granted For Relief of West Virginia Mine Victims.

Pittsburg, May 4. — The Carnegie Hero Fund commission at its regular quarterly meeting made awards to twenty-three persons in different parts of this country for deeds of heroism considered since the last meeting. The awards consist of sixteen bronze and seven silver medals, $14,000 in cash and annuities amounting to $125 a month.

The commission also appropriated $10,000 to the relief fund for the relatives of the 117 victims of the two mine explosions at the Lick Branch mine of the Pocahontas Consolidated Collieries company at Switchback, W. Va., on Dec. 29, 1908, and Jan. 12, 1909.

The following are some of the awards: Sallie R. Dillinger, of Pottsville, Pa., widow of Jonathan Dillinger, awarded silver medal and $50 a month during her life or till she remarries, with $5 a month additional for her daughter till she is sixteen years old. Jonathan Dillinger or Jan. 23, 1909, rushed in front of a moving train at Pottstown, Pa., and saved Mrs. Mary E. Gruff, sixty-five years old and slightly deaf, from the tracks. Her legs were cut off, but her life was saved. Dillinger was killed.

John Carruthers, of West Newton, Pa., awarded bronze medal and $1000 to be applied to the purchase of a home. Carruthers, a Baltimore & Ohio railroad engineer, saw a boy crawling across the track in front of his train. He went through his cab window and to the pilot, where he seized the boy and prevented his being run over.

John C. Scureman, of West Pittston, Pa., awarded bronze medal and $2150 to liquidate his indebtedness. Scureman rescued Karl A. Keller, eleven years old, who had grasped a live wire and was thrown unconscious to the ground, still grasping the wire. The boy was saved, but Scureman came in contact with another wire and was permanently injured.

Henry Herwig, of Sharon, Pa., was awarded a bronze medal and $1000 to be applied to the purchase of a home. Herwig plunged into the Shenango river, wearing rubber boots and heavy clothes, went to the rescue of Louis E. Armstrong, who was about to drown, and swam ashore with him.

Robert C. Baur, of Richmond, Va., awarded silver medal and $1000 to apply on the purchase of a home. Baur got into a boat, which was let over the "Falls of the James," in the James river, Richmond, in an effort to save Edward L. Barnes, who while intoxicated had gone over the dam and lodged on a rock. He got Barnes into the boat, but the rope broke and Barnes was drowned.

Shot Himself in Church. Brooding over a quarrel with his sweetheart, Alexander Jennings, aged twenty-one years, son of wealthy parents, threw the congregation at a crowded country church at Little Hickman, near Nicholasville, Ky., into a panic by firing a bullet into his brain.

Married While in Water. A novel wedding ceremony was performed at Sailor Springs, Ill., when Pearl Johnson and Miss Nora Murray were baptized in a creek, and immediately afterward, while still standing in water waist deep, were married. Three hundred persons witnessed the ceremony.

Drunkard's Act Kills Family. William Rose caused the death of himself, wife and two children by stopping his buggy in front of an interurban car at Gary, Ind. Rose had been drinking and purposely stopped his buggy on the track as the car approached.

Deranged by Illness; Drowned Self. Mary Corbell, twenty-two years of age, the daughter of William Corbell, of Norfolk, Va., deranged by long illness, committed suicide by stealing from the house while other members of the family slept and drowning her self in a creek.

Such a Kill on First Hunt For King of Jungle Was Far Beyond Their Expectations — No Fewer Than Ten Kings of Game Taken.

Four lions are trophies of ex-President Roosevelt's camp in the Mau hills in British East Africa, and the 200 native followers are joining with the Americans in celebrating the unusually good luck.

Colonel Roosevelt's gun brought three of them to earth, each on the first shot. Thus one of the president's fondest ambitions has been realized, and he is proud, too, that the fourth of the jungle kings fell before the rifle of his son Kermit, who, however, took three shots to kill his quarry.

Both father and son are jubilant. It was their first lion hunt, and so magnificent a kill was far beyond their expectations. The caravan started Thursday from the ranch of Sir Alfred Pease, on the Athi river, and proceeded slowly to the Mau hills. This range is open for wide areas, but in places is covered with dense growths, where game is plentiful. The first night in camp was without special incident, no attempt being made to go after lions, although their call was heard now and then. At dawn the camp was astrid, and the drive speedily organized.

The native hunters set out in all directions, under the instruction of the "headman," armed with all sorts of noise-making devices, which could not fail to arouse any game within earshot. Some of the beats proved blanks, but by nightfall no fewer than ten kinds of game had been bagged.

Kermit, during the greater part of the day, did more effective work with his camera than he did with his gun, he and other members of the party allowing Mr. Roosevelt the much-prized shots.

All of the lions were of normal size, and after the natives had dragged them together in the grass, they executed the usual dance around the trophies.

Storm Left Trail of Death. An epidemic of cyclones and tornadoes, the like of which has not been known for many years, swept through the south, leaving in their wake scores of dead and mangled bodies and the dismantled wrecks of property worth many millions.

The state of Tennessee was an especially heavy sufferer. Careful estimates indicate that at least fifty people were killed in the Volunteer state alone, while the loss in dollars and cents will not fall short of a million. At Fayetteville, Franklin and Hillsboro there was loss of life. The latter town is said to be practically destroyed, while at Centerville and adjoining villages the damage is reported very heavy both in lives and property.

Near Pulaski, in Giles county, the death list reached twelve, and many were injured. At Cuba many houses were blown down, and at Gilletstown not even a shed was left standing. No fatalities were reported from either place, but information is very meagre.

At Horn Lake, Miss., half a dozen lives were lost, and the property damage was very heavy. From neighboring towns come tales of men, women and children killed and homes wrecked.

The tornado swept over into Arkansas and killed eight persons near Monmouth Springs, besides wrecking a score of buildings. Other points in Arkansas report heavy loss.

Coal Committees Sign Agreement. Peace between the mine workers and the operators in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania is assured for another period of three years. The agreement continuing in force until March 31, 1912, the awards of the anthracite coal strike commission was signed in the board room of the Reading company in Philadelphia by the committee of seven on behalf of the mine owners and a similar committee representing the workers.

With the exception of five added stipulations suggested by the miners, the agreement is identical with the one signed in New York three years ago. The mine workers' union is not officially recognized, the members of the miners' committee simply signing the agreement "on behalf of the representatives of the anthracite mine workers." The conference was a harmonious affair and ended with "everybody happy," as one of the committeemen expressed it.

Killed in Elevator. Silas A. Lentz, one of the proprietors of the Honest Shoe Manufacturing company, was instantly killed at the company's plant in Allentown, Pa. He was alone on the freight elevator, ascending, when he was seen to totter and fall, evidently under an attack of vertigo.

Engineer Laudenslager jumped for the chain to stop the elevator, but he was a moment too late, as Mr. Lentz's projecting head was crushed against the ceiling.

Favors Vaccinating Cows. In an address made before New Jersey and Delaware farmers at Pennsgrove, N. J., on "Anthrax," the dread disease that has killed thousands of cows, Dr. C. F. Dawson, consulting state veterinarian, declared in favor of vaccination. He said that out of 5000 that were vaccinated last year this means of treatment saved or protected all but seven head.

quarreled with his son over the latter's drinking habits and the son shot him.

Teeth Worth $1000 Each. A jury in the state supreme court in New York decided that the New York Central railroad must pay $2000 to Robert T. Crossen, a produce exchange broker, for the loss of two teeth.

On August 28, 1906, after Crossen had a quarrel with a train guard, during which the latter struck him in the mouth, knocking out the molars.

Got Rabies From a Cow. The Pasteur institute of Ann Arbor, Mich., has received notice that a mother and her ten children will arrive there from Ludington, Mich., to take the Pasteur treatment.

The mother is afflicted with an ailment supposed to be rabies and believed to have been contracted by drinking milk from an infected cow.

Girl Baby Heir to Dutch Throne. Wilhelmina, queen of the Netherlands, gave birth to a daughter. The condition of her majesty is satisfactory, the infant princess is doing well and Holland is celebrating the event from one end of the country to the other with expressions of joy such as seldom have been witnessed among this placid people.

Powder Explosion Kills Four. Four men were killed and four others seriously injured by an explosion in the glycerine packing house of the Potts Powder company, at Reynolds, near Tamaqua, Pa.

The dead are: John Applegate, of Lakeside; Joseph Durst, of Tamaqua; J. M. Rumble, of Hecla, and W. A. Stevens, of Chain.

The force of the explosion was felt in Pottsville, but it was some time before it could be located. The bodies of the dead men were fearfully mangled. Applegate's head being found a considerable distance away from the plant, having been blown from his body.

Found Thirty-two Skeletons. Twenty-nine more skeletons were discovered by workmen while excavating for the new Sage dormitory at Princeton university. This makes a total of thirty-two bodies, which are now thought to be those of Colonial residents. Inasmuch as the ground was at one time a private burial ground extant records are scant.

The grave of Nathaniel Fitz Randolph, the benefactor of the college, however, has been definitely located, and it has not yet been determined whether it will be necessary to disturb it.
