-In Canada, especially in Eastern Ontario, the Yorkshire is the favorite breed of swine. Bacon is largely produced in Can-ada, and it has been found that the Yorkshire is the most profitable bacon type.

-Senator Root this year has had planted nearly 60,000 young trees on his coun-try estate, among which are 16,400 white pine, 16,200 Norway sprace, 5200 red pine, 6000 red oak, 5200 black locust,5000 chestnut and 5400 basswood.

-The most insidious enemies of the average hog raiser are lice and worms. The feeder will often insist that he has neither in his pens, when a careful examination will detect the presence of both in large numbers. We prefer to dip all pigs soon after weaning, and to give them a course of treatment with worm powder.

-The asparagus beetle is a troublesome pest and hard to fight. Clean cutting, especially in ridge culture, keeps them well under control in spring, but considerable harm is done later on by slugs or larvae. Poultry are very fond of these beetles and a few fowls will soon capture the matured insects if allowed in a garden hed.

couple of cowpunchers found themselves guests in the home of a minister of the gospel whose custom was to hold family worship of a morning and to conclude the same by asking each one present to give some quotation from the Scriptures. One after another repeated some text until at last it came the turn of Jim Bulstoke of the Crowfoot ranch.

Certain About It.

"My dear young friend," said the dominie as he saw the latter hesitating, "surely can recall some verse from the Bible?"

Jim's face was bathed with profuse to say that next to the banishment of staroby foods, groels and paps from the nursery and the substitution of pure, sweet milk, few things have done more to insome stage of his life about the first chapter of Genesis. At last he broke out, "God made the world."

The dominie lifted a hand to hide a sudden smile, but bowed to Jim's neighbor in the circle. Curley was even worse off than Jim had been and for the life of him could not think of anything. At last, remembering the occasional virtue of a good bluff, he pericd. They belong to the era of the lit-tle roses, narrow fringes and puffs. Crawford, one and one-half miles west of Bellefonte, Pa., says: "I suffered for a long time from severe pains in the loins and constant, dull, nagging backaches. I also had headsches and felt dizzy when I arose in the morning. I was so tired and worn out during the day that I could hardly do my work and the kidney secretions gave me annoyance on account of their frequency in passage. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at Green's Pharmacy. I had only used part of the box when I found relief and my kidneys are now in a healthy condition. Another fashion which has lasted for several years is the lingerie gown covered with broderie anglaise. This form of embroidery took Paris by storm, and since its appear-ance it has lost not a whit of its popularity. It is always particularly good when used to decorate gowns of handkerchief linen. On the best of the tailored suits the rais-ed skirt has endured, and charming linen suits include a skirt of this type, a blouse of linen embroidered to match and a long coat trimmed with black satin. Indeed, against all former ideals of good taste, satin quired than to wet a sponge, and before a or moire appears upon almost every one of horse goes out of the stable, let those parts the linen suits of the season. It is a fad which is very becoming. On some of the very newest creations the sumpes are of pale rose tulle so light and sheer that the effect is of decolletage. Per-haps this is but one step more toward the low-necked gowns of the early part of the eighteenth century. Some of the smartest slippers to wear with white linen gowns are of patent leath-er, with colonial buckles and red French heels. In these, too, there may be discov-ered by the discerning a revival of the per-iod of the panier and the return of the pastoral costumes made memorable forever by Watteau. These slippers are worn with gray silk stockings, or even red stockings. A few faddists are wearing black and white shoes with white stockings as a finish to black and white costumes; but this may be
