

Spring Mills
Our farmers are very busy cutting wheat. The crop is a large one.

Berries and cherries have been very plentiful in this neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Long, after an absence of a week visiting friends, returned home on Tuesday last.

Wm. Rosman, operator at Millinburg for the Pennsylvania railroad, is home on a few days vacation.

We had several very heavy showers last week, which saved the potato crop. The corn, too, was suffering for want of rain.

Motorcycles are becoming numerous. Quite a number passed through our town late. Automobiles are about as common as a horse and buggy.

Miss Anna M. Cummings, after a week or ten days visit at Sunbury, returned home on Saturday last accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. W. T. Stealy, of that place.

John Rishel has a huge pile of gravel in front of his porch, preparatory to putting down a concrete pavement from his store to above his residence. A great improvement.

It will soon be time to make arrangements for the usual union Sunday school picnic. Of course some of the very pious members, a few of the shining lights, will oppose it as they did last year. A union picnic to the narrow minded is an abomination. They are in favor of a picnic but only of "our" domination, of "our" church, no matter how small in numbers, it would be orthodox at any rate. But a union picnic is not to be thought of, that would be perdition itself.

John Dauberman, the active and energetic meat merchant of Centre Hall, makes regular trips here on Tuesday and Saturday of each week and, at the solicitation of numerous customers is contemplating making a trip also on Thursday. Mr. Dauberman handles only the best and fattest cattle in the market is an experienced butcher and thoroughly reliable. His wagon meat box is free from all odor, is always bright and clean as a new pin, and the cuts of choice meats look most inviting. He does quite a large business here, at Penn Hall and also in the surrounding neighborhood.

State College Items.

Haying and harvesting is over. The farmers are hauling in the wheat.

Prof. Linville is the happy father over the arrival of a bouncing big boy.

Prof. Churchill is now away on his vacation. He will be absent for at least a month.

Our town can truthfully say that at least fifty new houses will be built here this summer.

The cool wave in the beginning of the week made one feel as if winter was coming our way.

E. L. Graham and wife returned home after a weeks camping in the narrow back of Millheim.

Charles Daley, of Romola, came to the College a few days ago and has secured a job of carpentering.

The new bank building is progressing rapidly. It will be an up to date structure when completed.

The college boys were up against the wall when the Bellefonte team played ball with them last Friday. The score was 17 to 5 in favor of Bellefonte.

A large barn owned by Clyde Smeltzer was struck by lightning, burning it to the ground. His son was also shocked and a colt and three calves, harness, wagons and other farm implements were destroyed.

The three Sunday schools of this place united and had a picnic at Hunters park last Thursday. Everything went off nicely till the heavy rain storm came up at noon and made a great many return home on the early train.

J. W. Beck has had two promotions since he came to State College. He was first employed by E. L. Graham & Co. in a general store and after serving in that capacity very successfully for a period of three months and a half has accepted a position in the chemistry department of the Pennsylvania State College as manager of the complete line of stock.

Three Men Sentenced For Life and Ten Years Longer.
Richmond, Ky., July 20.—Imprisonment for life and ten years additional servitude was the sentence passed on Derry Simpson, Elisha Stavin and George Stanley by United States District Judge Cochran. The three men were convicted of the murder of a federal deputy marshal in a mining riot at Stearns, Ky., on Christmas day, 1908. The additional sentence of ten years is for alleged disobedience of a federal injunction in the mining controversy.

Killed in Mistake For Woodchuck.
Hampton, Conn., July 20.—Ralph Whittaker, sixteen years old, was shot and instantly killed by George Huling, seventeen years old, while hunting woodchucks near here. Huling mistook the top of Whittaker's head for a woodchuck and fired at it with a rifle, the bullet entering the brain.

Winans Breaks Shooting Record.
Bisley, Eng., July 20.—Walter Winans, American horseman and devoluer shot, broke the world's record at the running deer target in the rifle shooting competition here.

Lost Mind From Losing Legs.
Norristown, Pa., July 20.—Mrs. John Fry was admitted to the hospital for the insane here. She lost her reason after losing both of her legs. She met with an accident at Allentown six years ago, when her right leg was amputated. A sore developed on the other limb, and an operation was necessary to save her life. Then she lost her reason.

$380,494,598 in Savings Banks.
Washington, July 20.—An aggregate of $380,494,598 in savings deposits in the national banks of the country is shown in the complete report issued by the comptroller of the currency on the returns from national banks under the call for their condition on July 23.

Sharply Retorts to "Jelly Fish" Taunt That What Might Appear Like Jelly Will Be Found to Be as Unyielding as Steel.

Washington, July 20.—No one who talked with President Taft had any doubt left in his mind as to the president's intention to secure a tariff bill that will be closely along the lines of his policy outlined in his statement of last Friday.

"Unless a bill is agreed to in conference that is in harmony with the downward revision policy there will be no bill this session. If congress wants to put off revision for two years it must take the responsibility." This, in effect, is the declaration the president is reported to have made to one of his callers.

The president denies that he is making any threat of a veto. He does not believe a bill will be sent to him that will require a veto. The possibility of there being no bill lies with congress. From assurances he has received from members of the house Mr. Taft does not believe that they will vote for a conference report that does not meet, very nearly, the specifications he has made for free raw material and downward revision where the rates are manifestly too high. It is now the president and the house against the senate.

Taft's Retort on "Jelly Fish."

Reports have drifted to the White House that some of the statesmen at the capitol have characterized Mr. Taft as a jelly fish on tariff schedules. He took occasion in a jocular way, but with a world of meaning in his words, to let members of the house know that what might appear like jelly will be found to contain a substance as unyielding as steel. He has not yielded an inch in his position for free hides, iron ore, coal, petroleum and the house rates on lumber. He is convinced that he will be supported in all these by the house, and unless the conference committee reports them free of duty or with but a slight duty upon them, the house will not agree to the report and will not yield, even if the bill should fail.

The president makes it clear in all his conferences with representatives and senators that there is no lack of harmony between him and the Republican conferees. The rock which he and these conferees have encountered is the element in the senate that threatens to stand out against free raw materials and vote against the bill if the duty is taken off hides, iron ore, coal and oil.

Condemned Man Saws Bars and Escapes Second Time.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 20.—Martin Leskowski, a sentenced murderer, escaped from the Carbon county jail at Mauch Chunk by sawing the prison bars. It is thought he had help from the outside and is being concealed by friends in that vicinity.

He was convicted about two years ago of the murder of his boarding house mistress and sentenced to be hung. While awaiting execution he escaped from prison and was not heard of again until about three months ago, when he was captured in Montana, where he had married and lived a model life for two years. By beating his wife he angered his mother-in-law, who informed the Montana authorities of his criminal record, and he was brought back to Pennsylvania. State troopers are now working on the case, but so far have been unable to find any trace of him. It is thought he is hiding in the mountains in the vicinity of Lansford or Mauch Chunk.

Alleged Firebug Arrested.

Lancaster, Pa., July 20.—Peter Hermann, alias Dutch Pete, who was employed as a hostler at the stable for many years, has been arrested on the charge of setting fire to the stable of George Diller, at Blue Ball, on April 7 last. The fire entailed a loss of $24,000. Forty-three head of horses perished in the flames.

Boy Ate 50 Quinine Pills; Is Dead.

Newton, N. J., July 20.—Fifty quinine pills swallowed by John, the four-year-old son of Cecil Drake, caused the child's death in a few minutes. The baby found the pills in his father's pocket and ran with them into the yard and ate them before they could be taken away.

Admits He Stole $10,000.

Chicago, July 20.—Clayton T. Zimmerman, twenty years old, a clerk in the "out-money" department of the Adams Express company, confessed that he stole a package containing $10,000, which disappeared on July 12. All but $10 of the stolen money was recovered.

Boy Sleeps Himself to Death.

Harry R. Scholl, the Philadelphia boy who strangely went to sleep while on a visit to the family of Patrick Moran, at Mount Laffee, near Pottsville, Pa., died. He literally slept himself to death, despite every known means to arouse him, having been asleep ninety-one continuous hours.

Rum Seller Must Pay For Man's Death

A jury awarded Eddie Wisinski $2000 against Frank Zomajtek, owner of a saloon in Chicago. On Nov. 4, 1908, the child's father wagered that he could drink twelve glasses of whiskey. The saloon keeper acquiesced, but at the ninth glass Wisinski fell dead.

Dry Weather Kills Boll Weevils.

Professor W. D. Hunter, the government boll weevil expert at Dansas, Tex., has made public a report, saying the present status of the weevil is not so bad as at the same time last year. Dry weather is destroying 50 per cent of the weevils.

Don Carlos, Who Claimed to Be King Under the Law of Succession, Led the Four-Year War, Which Ended in 1876, When He and His Defenders Fled to France.

Don Carlos of Bourbon, the pretender to the Spanish throne, died at Varese, in Lombardy, Italy. He had been ill a long time, suffering from apoplexy, with the accompanying paralysis.

Don Carlos, duke of Madrid, who claimed under the special law of succession established by Philip V., to be the legitimate king of Spain by the title of Charles VII., was born at Laybach, Austria, March 30, 1848. His father, Don Juan, was the brother of Don Carlos, Charles VI., known as the Count De Montemolin, in support of whose claims the Carlist risings of 1848, 1855 and 1860 were organized.

As Charles VI. died in 1861 without children, his rights devolved upon his brother, Don Juan, who had married the Archduchess Maria Teresa of Austria. Their son, Don Carlos, married on February 4, 1867, Margaret de Bourbon. In October, 1868, Don Juan abdicated in favor of his son, whose standard was raised in the north of Spain in 1872 by some of his partisans. Don Carlos himself, after addressing a proclamation to the inhabitants of Catalonia, Aragon and Valencia, calling upon them to take up arms in his cause, made his entry into Spain July 15, 1873, announcing that he came for the purpose of saving the country.

Then followed the "four years' war," which ended in January, 1876, when Tolosa, the last stronghold of the Carlists, fell and its defenders sought refuge in French territory. In the meantime the republic came to an end, and the eldest son of ex-Queen Isabella returned to Spain as Alfonso XII.

Alfonso XII. died in 1885, and the fight for the succession now raged between Maria Christina of Austria, the widow of the late king, and Don Carlos. The posthumous birth of the present king in 1886, however, kindled in the nation a feeling of loyalty which has continued to exist up to the present time.

Moving Picture Fiend Kills Girl.

Acting out a scene in a moving picture show which showed western "hold-ups," ten-year-old Joseph Kane shot and killed Frances Lord, a four-year-old girl, living in West Burlington, N. J.

Kane obtained an old musket loaded with buckshot from his father's home, and paraded the streets, in company with another boy in the neighborhood, Thomas Ocas, who is also ten years old. The boys went about ordering all the children they met to throw up their hands.

Coming to the home of Thomas Lord, the father of the little girl, they found the child playing in the street. "Hold up your hands or I'll shoot you dead!" demanded the Kane boy. The little girl did not realize the import of the command and did not comply. Kane then raised the heavy weapon and shot her through the head at close range, nearly blowing the top of her head off. She died in a half hour.

Uncle Sam Has Farms For Sale.

With the opening of the mail by James W. Witten, government superintendent of land opening in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, the first step has been taken in the throwing open to white settlement of more than 700,000 acres of agricultural and grazing lands in the northwest.

The government offers to settlers three Indian reservations—that of the Coeur d'Alene Indians in northern Idaho, that of the Spokanes in Washington and that of the Flatheads in Montana. Registration began Thursday and will continue until Aug. 5. All who desire to register for these lands must go in person to the registration points at Kallispell or Missoula, Mont., to register for Coeur d'Alene lands and to Spokane to register for Spokane lands. Applications by mail will be received only at Coeur d'Alene, where Judge Witten will conduct the lottery for the choice of lands beginning on the morning of Aug. 3. Applications, which may be sworn to by a notary public, must be sent to Judge Witten by ordinary mail, not by registered mail, and the envelopes must bear no distinguishing marks, such as return cards or addresses of senders.

Soldiers and sailors of the Civil War, Spanish war and Philippine insurrection or their widows or children may register through agents.

This means that the veterans or their heirs do not have to come to the northwest to register. About 3750 farms will be opened for settlement. For several months the land office has been receiving from 800 to 1000 letters a day from prospective settlers inquiring as to the conditions governing the lottery. Only 3000 or 4000 people can hope to receive the prizes.

Six Killed as Building Falls.

In one of the busiest business sections of Philadelphia and at a time when thousands of pedestrians were passing to and fro along bounded thoroughfares, the five-story brick building at the corner of Eleventh and Market streets, which was being reconstructed for the United Gas Improvement company, collapsed with a terrific roar, burying or plunging beneath the ruins thirty-two people, six of whom are dead, one fatally injured and twenty-three more or less seriously injured.

The two lower floors had been torn out and the three upper floors were shored up by heavy timber. Steel girders were bracing the shoring. It is supposed that by moving one of the girders the entire structure was loosened.

Wolgaet Whips Nelson.

"Battling" Nelson had decidedly the worst of a ten-round fight at Los Angeles, Cal., with Ad. Wolgaet, of Milwaukee. The fight was fast and furious from the tap of the gong in the first round. Wolgaet met Nelson's rushes with body blows and swings to the face. In the last round Wolgaet smothered him with rights and lefts and hammered his stomach. They were fighting in the center of the ring at the end of the round.

The law does not permit a decision, but Wolgaet apparently had Nelson thoroughly whipped at the end of the tenth round.

Soap on "Mad" Dog's Mouth.

Some mischievous boys in East Washington, Pa., latered a dog's mouth with soap suds, and then chased the canine through the streets, shouting "mad dog!" Panic ensued among pedestrians. In a scramble to find places of safety from the supposedly rabid dog two children were injured, being trampled upon.

Methodist Day, Thursday, July 30th, Lakemont Park, Altoona.

The completed program for Methodist Day, July 29th, presents one of the most attractive lines of speakers that the committee has been able to secure for years past. One of the noticeable features in the past years has been the presence of young men of the church who have been brought on for this popular annual gathering. This year two young men are engaged and they are decidedly "yonggerly," sprightly and buoyant to a charming degree.

Dr. Don S. Colt, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who made a name here years ago, and sought for for more than six years, comes for the morning.

That irrepressible and vivacious orator, Secretary Robert Forbes, D. D., of Philadelphia, will make the afternoon address. For the popular evening hour the distinguished and gifted president of the New York preachers' meeting, Dr. Allan MacRossie, has agreed to come.

The musical feature has a departure. Instead of a combined chorus, Hollidaysburg choir will sing at the morning hour; Tyrone afternoon, and Juniata and Simpson, under Prof. Williams, at night.
