Down in High Valley.
An esteemed correspondent writing from High Valley says:
The corn in our valley looks fairly well and with the rain of this week will turn out a partial crop.
Work here is scarce and people are wondering where the good times are that were promised by the Republicans last fall. But that is the same old game the Republican party works on the voters every year, and men are fools enough to go to the polls and vote the very bread and butter out of their own and their children's mouths. Everything now is so high that a poor man has a hard time getting enough to live on and with that the tariff and taxes are being increased to pay a lot of would-be statesmen at Washington. Such is Taft prosperity.

Found $50,000 in Beggar's Hut.
After a terrific battle between four policemen and Peter Liebauch, an old hermit, inspector of the North Side station in Pittsburgh, while they were searching the old man's hut, found the walls and furniture bulging with money. A trunk was filled with silver dollars, bottles and jars held smaller coins, bureau drawers were stuffed with bundles of bills.
In all the police found close to $50,000, and when their search seemed to be ended they stumbled upon a wash-bowl filled to the brim with quarters, half dollars and dollars.
Liebauch was locked up and will be examined to determine the condition of his mind. He is thought to be demented. The money was hauled to the Farmers' National bank in a wagon, and so heavy was the load that the horse was stalled.

Shoots Juror in Revenge.
James McSorley, a former Coney Island hotel keeper, who completed a prison sentence only a few days ago, went to Middletown, N. Y., to square matters with Daniel E. Fenton, proprietor of the Hotel Elberton, the man he believed responsible for his conviction. Both McSorley and Fenton are dead.
McSorley met Fenton on a crowded street corner. Without even withdrawing his pistol hand from the coat pocket in which he clutched the weapon, he fired three shots, each of which took effect. Then, seeing that his old enemy was done for, he removed the pistol from his pocket and fired two bullets into his brain. Fenton was still conscious when bystanders ran up, and he was rushed to a hospital, where he died a few hours later. McSorley died in the street.

Senior vice commander, W. M. Bostaph, Ogden; junior vice commander, Judge Alfred Beers, Bristol, Conn.; surgeon general, W. H. Lemon, Lawrence, Kan. Atlantic City was chosen for the encampment next year.

Thirty-five Horses Buried.
Thirty-five horses were roasted to death in a fire which destroyed the building of the Potter Express company in Camden, N. J.
The building was three stories high. The first floor held twenty-five delivery wagons, most of which were destroyed. A runway with a gradual incline led to the second floor, and the horses were stabled there. Frank Taines, a watchman, was on the stable floor, when he smelled smoke. He investigated and found flames shooting up the runway and cutting off all chances of escape for the horses. He was slightly burned leaping down the runway to give the alarm.
Snake Runs Spinning Wheel.
Mrs. W. C. Grider, of Adair county, near Campbellsville, Ky., was attracted to her weaving room by the sound of her reel, and on opening the door she was horrified to see a large snake going around with the spinning wheel. When the reptile crawled on the wheel it started the wheel running. The snake was unable to free itself, and a number of spectators witnessed the remarkable sight for nearly half a day. The snake was finally killed and measured five feet in length.

Fire Started in Saloon Kitchen, and Was Soon Beyond Control, and Steamer Was Flooded As a Last Resort to Extinguish the Flames.
The steamer Lucania lies at the Huskisson dock, seriously damaged, having been gutted from her funnels forward by fire, which broke out on board the liner Saturday evening. The flames are supposed to have originated in the saloon kitchen.
The fire brigade of the vessel, with two powerful motor engines, turned out immediately at the first alarm and found the first saloon burning fiercely from end to end. Despite all their efforts the flames gradually worked forward until they reached the stowage, consuming every particle of the woodwork there and then played havoc with the forehold.
At this time the heat was tremendous, and the flames shooting high from the vessel attracted thousands of persons to the side of the river, where they remained throughout the night.
It was decided to flood the vessel by admitting water into her from the deck. Soon she keeled over and her funnels came in contact with the cranes on the dock and were badly damaged.
A half dozen firemen, who were on the gangway at this time, were thrown into the water, but all were rescued. A feet of tug then was brought into requisition, and pulled the liner upright on the mud bottom.
It was hours later before the fire was under control and the fire brigade was able to relinquish its task. The second class quarters and the whole after part of the boat, including the engine room, escaped injury from the flames, and comparatively little damage was done to the exterior of the vessel.
Her upper part is considerably above water. The first saloon skylights were destroyed and the decks forward are badly buckled. Some of the plates of the hull were warped by the heat. The repairs to the Lucania will occupy considerable time.

Milton, Del., Swept By Flames.
The town of Milton, in Sussex county, Del., about seven miles north-east of Georgetown, was visited by a destructive fire, of unknown origin. The fire started in the rear of Markel & Hartman's store, and practically destroyed the entire business section of the town. The loss is estimated at $100,000.
The list of stores and other properties destroyed is as follows: Markel & Hartman, store; W. P. Starkey, store; Mason & Davidson, store; postoffice; C. A. Conner, store; Black & Lingo, store; Carey & Darby, store; J. H. Walls, meat store; Hall & Stevens, store; Mary E. Field, store; First National bank; Ponder house; W. H. Meears, barber shop and residence; J. B. Graham, residence; J. C. Cleland, field, meat and provisions; S. J. Wilson & Son, funeral directors. The burned section covers several blocks.
The town, which has a population of about 1000, has no fire protection, and people worked with buckets until the arrival of a fire engine from Lewes. But the spread of the flames was not checked until nearly the entire business section was in ashes. Most of the buildings destroyed were of frame.

Monster Ordnance to Be Used on U. S. Battleships.
Philadelphia, Aug. 17.—Work is being rushed at the Midvale Steel works on a 14-inch gun being built for use on the United States battleships. The new gun will be far more powerful than any now in use. Such guns have been made for coast defence, but they have not been considered fitted for battleships, and their use in this way will put the United States ahead of other nations in the power of her fighting ships. Orders have been received to rush the work so that experiments may be made with the gun.
