"IN THE HOUR OF DEATH."

A Note on the Authorship of a Well Known Poem.

The question is often asked in newspapers and magazines, "Who wrote the poem beginning 'In the hour of death, after this life's whim?'"

The answer is given that nothing is known of the author. It is true this poem was published with only the initials of the writer in the University Magazine in 1879. But I hold the manuscript of the poem, and I have also Blackmore's letter that accompanied it. Blackmore has been so long dead I do not feel that there can be any harm in giving his letter to the public. I subjoin an exact copy of it; also of his poem.

AGNES E. COOK.
 "Teddin, Jan. 5, 1879.
 "My Dear Sir—Having lately been at the funeral of a most dear relation, I was there again (in a dream) last night and heard mourners sing the lines inclosed, which impressed me so that I was able to write them without change of a word this morning. I never heard or read them before to my knowledge. They do not look so well on paper as they sounded. But if you like to print them here they are, only please do not print my name beyond initials or send me money for them. With all good wishes to Mrs. Cook and yourself, very truly yours,
 "R. D. BLACKMORE.
 "K. Cook Esqre LL. D."

Dominus Illuminatio mea.
 I.
 In the hour of death, after this life's whim,
 When the heart beats low, and the eyes grow dim,
 And pain has exhausted every limb,
 The lover of the Lord shall trust in him.

II.
 When the will has forgotten the lifelong aim,
 And the mind can only disgrace its fame,
 And a man is uncertain of his own name,
 The power of the Lord shall fill this frame.

III.
 When the last sigh is heaved and the last tear shed,
 And the coffin is waiting beside the bed,
 And the widow and child forsake the dead,
 The angel of the Lord shall lift this head.

IV.
 For even the purest delight may pass;
 The power must fall, and the pride must fall,
 And the love of the dearest friends grow small,
 But the glory of the Lord is all in all.
