DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

For Judge of the Supreme Court, C. LARUE MUNSON, of Williamsport. For State Treasurer, GEORGE W. KIPP, of Towanda. For Auditor General, J. WOOD CLARK, of Indiana. Democratic County Ticket. For Jury Commissioner, J. ADAM HAZEL, of Spring Township.

Packing the Court.

The decision of the Supreme court allowing an appeal from the judgment of the Superior court in the case of the convicted capitol grafters, was not, according to current gossip among lawyers and others interested in such questions, a unanimous opinion. Three of the seven justices of the court dissented, the rumor is, and the probabilities are that the judges were "electioneered" freely in the interest of the grafters. The motion for a new trial was argued with great earnestness and ability by counsel before the trial court and the judge was constrained by conscience and official obligations, to deny it. The question was considered with equal care by the Superior court on an appeal and the judges of that tribunal unanimously refused to order a new trial. But by a vote of four to three the Supreme court, of which the late Senator QUAY once spoke in most contemptuous terms, has reversed the Superior court and, which is most unusual, allowed an appeal.

The justices of the Supreme court, according to the rumors, were divided on curious lines. It is said that chief justice MITCHELL, of Philadelphia, and justices FELL, of that city, and BROWN, of Lancaster, and ELKIN, of Indiana county, voted for and justice STEWART, of Franklin, MESTREZAT, of Fayette, and PORTER, of Pittsburg, against the motion. Justice BROWN is the gentleman whom QUAY intimated had been catapulted into his seat on the bench and ELKIN was chosen in a political expediency which required that he be placed by a "consolation prize" of some sort. He had been defeated for the nomination for Governor by methods which one of his friends subsequently stated had "mysteriously changed a majority into a minority overnight," and threatened reprisals. Of chief justice MITCHELL and justice FELL it is only necessary to say they are Philadelphians. In other words jurists trained in the atmosphere of that city are influenced more by political necessities than by law and justice.

It is worth while to remember that under no circumstances can the review of the trial of the convicted grafters by the Supreme court be had until the justice to be chosen at the next election is inducted into office. On the first Monday of January, 1910, unless there is providential intervention, either C. LARUE MUNSON or ROBERT VON MOSCHIZSKER will take a seat on the bench of the Supreme court. If Mr. VON MOSCHIZSKER is so honored by the people of Pennsylvania the action of the court upon the motion for a new trial of former Auditor General WILLIAM P. SNYDER and former Superintendent of Public Grounds and Buildings SCHUMAKER, is practically certain to be favorable to them. The court will be four to three then as it was the other day, and STEWART, MESTREZAT and PORTER will again be the minority. The election of VON MOSCHIZSKER, therefore, means that the capitol grafters will go free and that there will never be punishment or re-titiation in that celebrated case.

There can be no work on farm or elsewhere on Nov. 2nd as important as going to the polls and voting to kill the 7th Amendment, and against the candidates of the gang who would deny you the right to choose your own election officers.

Senator Simon's Pride.

During a recent visit to Towanda, A. E. Sisson, Republican candidate for Auditor General, declared that he is proud of his vote for the QUAY monument. He is probably equally proud of his vote for the other infamous legislation enacted during his service in the Senate which has made membership in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania a just subject of reproach. The unconstitutional "rippers," the atrocious measures for the promotion of vice in the cities, the corporation legislation which made the people slaves of railroads, water companies and similar combinations and the various "pinch" and "grab" bills like the Presque Isle steal are quite as worthy of pride as the QUAY monument bill.

Mr. Sisson's colleague on the ticket, J. A. STORER, is tainted with the same legislative vices as Sisson himself and is probably equally proud of his record in the Senate. He voted for every machine measure that was introduced during the eight years of his service and against every reform bill which the machine opposed. He was not asked to express his pride of his vote for the QUAY monument, at Towanda, but if he had been he would, no doubt, have given the answer which Sisson returned. He, too, voted for the bill to prohibit the dealers in "white slaves" in Philadelphia, to "rip" up the government of Pittsburg and deprive the people of Philadelphia of a voice in selecting their public officials.

But the honest people of Pennsylvania are not proud of these votes. The spectacle of honoring a man who would have been sent to the penitentiary if he hadn't pleaded the statute of limitation is not a subject of pride to men who revere integrity and believe in the honest administration of public affairs. For that reason Mr. Sisson's pride in his vote for the QUAY statue is not likely to commend him to the favor of the average citizen of Pennsylvania. It will not be accepted by the honest yeomanry of the State as a reason for promoting him to an office of great importance and dignity. On the contrary it ought to entail all fair-minded men in an irrepressible conflict against his election and that of his colleague on the Republican ticket.

You don't want a Judge on the Supreme court bench who is the creature of the gang that has debauched and disgraced Philadelphia for so long a time. Unless you turn out and vote for MUNSON, a man of that kind will be elected.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

GARRICK.—Henry J. Garrick, one of the old-time and best known residents of Walker township, died very suddenly at his home in Zion at five o'clock last Friday morning. He had been ailing for some time with Bright's disease but had been up and around until the day prior to his death. Deceased was born in Marion township on January first, 1840, hence was aged 69 years, 10 months and 23 days. He was a farmer by occupation and most of his life was spent in tilling the soil on his farm in Walker township. He was always progressive and up-to-date and naturally was quite successful. A number of years ago he retired from active farm life and took up his residence in Zion where he lived until his death.

In politics he was a Democrat of the most pronounced type and always a faithful worker for his party. For the past fourteen years he had been one of the overseers of the poor of Walker township and always a most competent official. For over forty years he was a member of the Reformed church at Zion and always took an active part in all church work.

On September 19th, 1864, he was united in marriage to Miss Minerva Sherrer, of Zion, who survives with the following children: Otis, of Dakota, Ill.; Calvin S., Roy and Mrs. Joel S. Royer, of Zion, and Mrs. Frank Clevens, of Bellefonte. He also leaves two brothers and two sisters, as follows: Emanuel, of Zion; Jacob and Mrs. John P. Ishler, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. Peter Hookman, of Heola.

The funeral was held from the Reformed church at Zion on Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Harvey L. Crow officiated at the services and burial was made in the Zion cemetery.

TWIMIRE.—Just at six o'clock on Tuesday evening Mrs. Jane Turbott Twimire died at the home of her son, W. T. Twimire, on South Water street. Although one of the oldest women in Bellefonte she always enjoyed good health until a few months ago when she fell and sustained a broken hip. She never fully recovered from the injury, and in fact, it was the beginning of a general breakdown which resulted in her death.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Miss Jane Turbott Steele, was born at Williamsburg, (then Huntingdon county), July 13th, 1819, so that she was 90 years, 3 months and 13 days old. When she was but six years of age her parents moved to Centre county and located in the neighborhood of Axe Mann, where she lived when she was united in marriage to Joseph Twimire. They moved to Bellefonte over sixty years ago and this has been her home ever since. Notwithstanding her advanced age her mind up almost until the last was bright and clear and her intellect unimpaired. When a young girl she became a member of the Methodist church and always was a faithful attendant.

Her husband died several years ago and her only immediate survivor is her son, Wilbur T. Twimire, of this place. The funeral took place from her late home at two o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. T. S. Wilcox officiated and burial was made in the Union cemetery.

STEVENSON.—Mrs. Frank Stevenson died of paralysis on Saturday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Johnson, in this place. Her maiden name was Custard and she was born and raised in Porter township, Clinton county, where she spent most of her life. Several years ago she was stricken with paralysis and since then she has made her home with her daughter in this place.

Surviving her late husband and the following children: Thomas and Luther, of Walker township; Mrs. G. M. Stover, of Porter township, Clinton county; Mrs. Linnie Watt, of Pittsburg; Mrs. Lizzie Segner, of Shippensburg, and Mrs. Harry Johnson, of this place. The funeral was held from the home of her son Luther in Walker township on Monday afternoon. The services were in charge of Rev. F. W. Barry, pastor of the Bellefonte Lutheran church, assisted by Rev. J. M. Reardon, of Salona, and interment was made in the Cedar Hill cemetery.

What is the use of your calling yourself a Democrat, if you don't vote, when that vote will make your party a winner. A full Democratic vote means a Democratic victory.

DREIBLEB.—The death of Daniel Dreibleb at his home in Ferguson township, on Friday morning of last week, was very sudden and quite a shock to his many friends all over the county. About three weeks ago he had a bad fall but sustained no serious injury and had apparently recovered therefrom. Friday morning he went out to the barn to assist in feeding and caring for the stock and not falling to respond to the summons for breakfast his wife went out to see what was the matter and found him dead at the barn. Heart disease was evidently the cause of his death.

Deceased was of German descent and was born in Union county almost seventy-five years ago. He came to Centre county when a young man and had lived since in Pennsylvania and later in Ferguson township. He followed farming all his life and proved unusually successful. He was a good citizen in every way and a kind neighbor.

In 1859 he was married to Miss Maude Julia Grenoble, of Spring Mills, who survives with the following children: Martin A., John D., Walter, Mrs. George Lutz, Mrs. Harry Bowersox, Mrs. Jacob Krumrine and Newton D., all of State College; William, of Greensburg; Mrs. Paul Wrigley, of Fort Washington, and Misses Mary and Maude at home. He also leaves three brothers and sisters. John, Joseph and William Dreibleb in Wisconsin; Mrs. William Mosser, Mrs. Daniel Mosser, Mrs. Steese and Mrs. Kleobner, all of Kansas.

He was a consistent member of the Reformed church all his life and Rev. A. A. Black officiated at the funeral which was held at ten o'clock on Tuesday morning, burial being made at Pine Hill.

YEARICK.—Mrs. Catharine Yearick, widow of the late Charles E. Yearick, died at her home at Salona last Friday morning after a lingering illness with cancer. She was fifty-six years old and was born in Pennsylvania, this county, her maiden name being Catharine Decker. For many years the Yearick family lived at State College but about four years ago, after the death of her husband, Mrs. Yearick moved to Salona.

She is survived by the following children: William and George Young, of Salona; Mrs. Alfred Boston, of State College; Mrs. Newton Weaver, of Scottdale; Miss Maggie Young, of Altoona, and Mrs. Sarah Graham, of Jacksonville. She also leaves one sister, Mrs. Christ Peterson, and six brothers, Thomas Decker, of State College; West, of Altoona; Jonas, of Larry's Creek; William and John, of New York city.

The funeral was held from her late home in Salona at 1:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Rev. J. M. Reardon, of the Lutheran church, had charge of the services and burial was made in the Donstown cemetery.

MOYER.—Mrs. Lucy Wilson Moyer, widow of Dr. Frederick Moyer, died at her home in the Harris house on North Allegheny street on Monday morning after two weeks illness with heart trouble. She was seventy-nine years of age and was born in Bellefonte, being a daughter of Dr. William I. Wilson, in his day one of the most celebrated physicians in Bellefonte. Most of her life was spent in this place and only a month or so ago she and her sisters went to housekeeping in part of the Harris house. She was a faithful member of the Presbyterian church and was a woman of rare culture and attainments.

She had two sons, Witmer and Curtis, both of whom are dead, but she is survived by three sisters, Misses Alice and Mary Wilson and Mrs. Laura Elliott. Mrs. A. G. Curtis and Mrs. Elizabeth Elliott, deceased, were also sisters. The funeral was held from her late home at 2:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. Dr. J. Allison Platte officiated at the services and interment was made in the Wilson lot in the Union cemetery.

WARD.—Dr. Claude Ward, a native of Centre county and a brother of Dr. J. E. Ward, of this place, died in the asylum at Danville on Wednesday evening. He had been undergoing treatment in that institution for a number of years owing to a general breaking down occasioned by overwork and his death was the result of a general decline. He was born at Pine Grove Mills and was about forty-two years of age. He studied dentistry and after graduating from college located in Chicago where he practiced a number of years. From there he went to Shamokin and it was over work in that place which caused a break down in his health and his removal to Danville. He is survived by his wife, three brothers and four sisters. Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed at this writing but the remains will likely be taken to Pine Grove Mills for burial.

MYERS.—Mrs. Edith Gregg Myers, a daughter of Gen. J. Irvin Gregg and a niece of the late county commissioner Andrew Gregg, of this county, died at Hudson, Wis., last Thursday after a long illness. Centre county is well represented at the sittings of the Superior court in Philadelphia this week, having three cases on the list. They are those of Brew vs. Shearer, represented by C. P. Hewes and H. C. Quigley respectively; Grove, Barnhart and Woods vs. the Spring township school district, represented by J. C. Meyer and Clement Dale respectively, and Rosie Pearce vs. Theodore Bullock, represented by Mr. McCormick, of Look Haven, and N. R. Spangler, of this place.

Contractor John Noll and his force of workmen have the foundation walls for the new addition to the court house almost completed and most of the steel beams and girders for holding the first floor put in place. The laying of the wall for the first and second stories of the building can be done more expeditiously than that of the basement, as in the latter there are a large number of interior walls, dividing the room for the heating plant from the main room and providing various vault spaces in the latter. Brick areways will be built at each side of the basement story to provide proper light and ventilation. The men putting on the new copper roof are getting along with their work very well while the other improvements and remodeling of the interior of the court house are progressing as fast as possible.

SECOND ANNUAL STATE COLLEGE HORSE SHOW.—Last Saturday's very inclement weather interfered to a great extent with the second annual horse show at State College but at that out of one hundred and sixty-four horses entered over half that number were present and on exhibition. Considering the fact that it rained all day this was a remarkable showing and is conclusive evidence that the farmers and horse owners of Centre county are not only interested in the show but have pride in the quality and breed of stock they grow and appreciate the opportunity given by the people in charge of the show to put their stock on exhibition. Had the weather been as all nice there is hardly any question but that every horse entered, and probably a number of others, would have been on exhibition.

When Prof. T. I. Marie conceived the idea of holding a horse show he hit on a project that will do as much as anything else to foster the improvement in the strain of horses in the county and there is little doubt but that the show will grow bigger and more interesting with each succeeding year. The judge for Saturday's show was Prof. M. W. Harper and the prizes—a blue ribbon for first, red ribbon for second and white ribbon for third—were awarded as follows:

You don't want a Judge on the Supreme court bench who is the creature of the gang that has debauched and disgraced Philadelphia for so long a time. Unless you turn out and vote for MUNSON, a man of that kind will be elected.

Mr. L. T. Munson and J. C. Meyer Esq., who are interested in the movement for the building of the trolley road from Bellefonte to State College have been busy the past two weeks securing the right of way for the line. So far they have met with very good success, as everybody along the route of the proposed road appears anxious to have it built and have been considerable and fair in giving the necessary right of way. In fact, so far as now known, the projectors will not in a single instance be compelled to exercise their rights of eminent domain in order to secure a route through any property.

Under the new condition of affairs business is picking up considerably at the Bellefonte Foundry and Machine works. While they as yet have not put on a full force of employees they have been very busy the past ten days with the force now employed, and it has all been on local work. They have in view several nice contracts for parties away from here and if these are secured it will mean putting on a number more men and the operating of the plant on the same healthy basis it was during the palmy days of 1906 and 1907.

The autumn meeting of the Williamsport archdeaconry held in St. John's Episcopal church, this place, on Monday evening and Tuesday, proved a most interesting and profitable gathering. The reports received from the various churches in the district indicated a very healthy condition, financially and spiritually, and the several addresses and sermons delivered by the visiting ministers were intensely interesting and uplifting.

If ever there is to be a time that Democrats can make their work count it will be next Tuesday. A full Democratic vote at the polls is certain to bring Democratic success. Go out and vote and see that your Democratic neighbor does the same.

Owing to the fact that his position as mail carrier at State College will not permit him giving his time to the office John H. Beek has resigned as county auditor and C. U. Hoffer, of Philadelphia, has been appointed by the court to serve out the unexpired term.

The new Bellefonte hospital building is now up and the roof being put on. In order to make the proper interior arrangement the large ward in the old building is all torn up which naturally leaves the institution in a very much crowded condition. Among the new patients admitted this week were William Resides, suffering with a fracture of the skull sustained in a fall of thirty feet at the Armor Gap plant of the American Lime and Stone company, while working at his trade as a carpenter; and Mrs. William Wisner, of Buffalo Run, operated upon for appendicitis.

Another Bellefonte young man gives promise of winning considerable notoriety by his pencil and brush in the person of Cameron McGarvey. During the past year he has devoted his time to making landscape drawings and paintings, in pastel, water-color and oil. He recently put a number of his pictures on exhibition in some of the neighboring towns and so favorable has been the comment that he has had a number of requests for exhibits for the holiday trade. While as yet he has made no effort to place his pictures on exhibition in any of the large cities he is contemplating doing so in the near future.

The bricklayers have practically completed their work on the new High school building and the carpenters are fast getting the roof in readiness for the slaters. Col. H. S. Taylor has men at work getting things in readiness for the installation of the heating and ventilating system. The plant will consist of two twenty-four foot boilers, one of which will be ample for heating purposes, the other to be kept in reserve in the event one gets out of order. They have already been received and as soon as the foundations can be put down in the sub-basement will be put in position and the system installed throughout the building.

A Plea for the Salvation Army.

In every community there are men, women and children who cannot be reached by the churches. They do not come to the services; often have not proper clothing and usually little desire after better things. Often there is drink that keeps them poor and discouraged; most often it is the main cause of the trouble. But to leave them as they are is to foster a condition of things that threatens the community; for out of these homes come the ignorant and vicious who grow up to fill jails and reform.

Now comes the Salvation Army, a society formed for the very purpose of getting hold of this class, and by Christlike methods drawing them to good and wholesome ways. Even those who do not sympathize with all of these methods must admit that good has been done; and there are homes that could witness it. It is self denying work; no money or ease for the workers, and little encouragement from those whom they benefit.

Work like this cannot be carried on without money. What good thing can be? To pay rent for a dwelling and ball costs money and the workers must live. Our community is not giving them support; very little money is supplied and the present worker, who seems to be a faithful, conscientious man, is breaking down under the burden of debt and discouragement; seeing the lack of response and sympathy from the people, he will certainly lose heart and give up. It is for our people to say whether this shall be allowed. If so, are we ready to take up the work they have been doing for?

Hallowe'en on 31st inst., of course the young girls will amuse themselves by throwing corn at windows and doors, and then collect together at one of their homes to tell ghost stories, while the boys will remove gates, wagons, etc., to remote places, and all will look so innocent.

On her opening day I called into the millinery parlors of Mrs. G. N. Wolfe to take a glance at the fall and winter styles of ladies hats. The creations are simply marvelous. The parlors were thronged with anxious and delighted sightseers. The fall and winter styles are beautiful. Mrs. Wolfe remarked that the draped turban would be greatly worn this fall and winter.

W. O. Gramley has made great improvements to his residence and the surroundings. He has built a concrete walk from the cellar way, above the side entrance of the
