

dwelling to the barn. Also a walk in front from the portico to the road. The road here being somewhat elevated he did considerable filling up on the three sides of the house to be on a level. After filling up the width of ten or fifteen feet on the east, he made a gradual slope to the wagon road leading to the barn. Into his residence he has introduced several conveniences, one being water drawn from the well into the kitchen by a force pump. This is certainly a great convenience. Mr. Gramly has a home which for comfort and attractiveness is second to none in our town.

Next Tuesday will be election day. Get out the vote.
Joe Johnson is open for congratulations. It is a girl.

W. S. Bailey spent last week sight-seeing in greater New York.
Daniel Irvin moved to his new possessions at Baileyville last Thursday.

The venerable George Dale and Mrs. W. S. Bailey are among the sick.

Claude Hess, of Charleston, S. C. visited his uncle, Claude Hess, last week.

Mr. Ferree, the huckster, is shipping three car loads of apples west this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bell, of Eden Hill, visited friends in town over Sunday.

Mr. George Dale with his son Horace, of Nebraska, are visiting friends in town.

Baileyville has a new basketball team, nicely uniformed and ready for games.

Miss Anna Gummo is teaching the Rishel school while the regular teacher is sick.

Miss Ruth Boret is making a prolonged stay among her friends at Spruce Creek.

Hugh Burchfield and wife are down from Altoona, visiting Centre county friends.

David Reed last week purchased the J. B. Ard vacant lot on Church street for $200.

I. J. Dreese, of Lemont, was in town Friday on business pertaining to the Ard estate.

Master Edward Wiltmer, son of Albert Wiltmer, while at school had his leg broken.

James Kustaborder has rented the Wiltmer farm at Shiloh to take possession April 1st, 1910.

Alvin Nearhood and wife, of Altoona, have been visiting relatives at White Hall the past week.

George Mateer and lady friend were visitors at the Warren Bailey home at Johnstown over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair Miller, of Hollidaysburg, came down last week for their share of the frisky tribe.

Misses Tillie Keller and Elsie Moore, of Centre Hall, were visitors at the E. S. Tressler home last week.

Miss Bertha Hoover came over from Clearfield to visit friends here. She reports Frank Smith as being very ill.

Rev. John Houseman and wife, of Altoona, are visiting their many friends here and at State College, this week.

John Watt, after a six week's visit in Central Pennsylvania, departed for his home in the Sucker State last week.

Mrs. Joshua Williams, of Tyrone, and Mrs. Elmer Campbell, of Linden Hill, spent last week among friends in this section.

Last Wednesday Grandmother Margaret Dannelly celebrated her eightieth birthday. She has spent her entire life in town.

Daniel Moser Felty and wife with a party of friends, from Altoona, are visiting friends in this section with headquarters at Harry Shugerts.

Griffith Lytle, an old battle scarred veteran of the Civil war, after a month's visit here, left for his home in the Sunflower State last Friday.

Charley Moore is home from a three month's visit through Missouri. He says Centre county is good enough for him to round out his years in.

Wm. Keichline, of Bellefonte, was in Altoona and tarried awhile on his home stretch to have a chat with his uncle George, who is in bed with a broken leg.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Williams, who have been visiting friends in Centre and Clearfield counties the past two weeks, returned to their home in Altoona yesterday.

Harry Shugert, one of the big farmers on the branch, is fitting to Blair county where he has rented a farm near Altoona and will combine dairying with farming next season.

J. Calvin Neidigh, a brakeman on the C. & C. railroad, met with an accident Monday. He fell between two cars, cutting several ugly gashes in his head and injuring his back and legs. He was taken to the Altoona hospital for treatment.

Yesterday Grandmother Keech celebrated her eighty-eighth birthday. Two weeks ago no one thought she would see her natal day, as she was at death's door, suffering with a fractured hip, but there was a change for the better and she expects to be able to be around soon.

State College Items.

Tomorrow (Saturday) will occur the older sorority between the classes of 1912 and 1913.

The apple crop is about all gathered. New cider sells for eight cents per gallon by the barrel.

John H. Beck, of Snydertown, and Jonas Stover, of Jacksonville, were business visitors in State College, Monday.

Corn husking has already been begun here but the crop is not a good one. The price asked is seventy cents per bushel out of the field. Wheat is selling for $1.05 per bushel, and eggs at 34 cents per dozen.

The latest report is that Mr. Orwig is going to build five more houses on south Atherton street. If this rumor is correct he will have nine houses on that street, or eighteen dwellings, as he has eight dwellings which have just been completed. Let others do likewise.

Judge Benjamin B. Lindsay, the kid's judge of Denver, Colorado, gave an interesting lecture on the "Misfortune of Micky," on Saturday, to a large audience. On Sunday at 10 o'clock he spoke to the Freshman class and at 11 o'clock to a full house in the auditorium.

George Corman spent last week in Nittany valley at work, returning home Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. Israel Haugh are at present at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Mayne Bierley, at Dents Run, Elk county, and will return home early in November.

Hunting season has opened and thus far no one in this town has overdone himself in carrying home the game. It is reported as very scarce, all but rabbits, which seem to be plentiful.

The corn crop is being harvested and this year little is heard from the one hundred bushel a day huskers. This year they do good if they can husk about twenty five or thirty bushels per day.

Elias Lambert and C. C. Small bought the Harvey Lambert homestead and land a mile west of town, and will divide the land. Mr. Lambert will leave in the spring but at the present he does not know where he will move.

Rev. J. Max Lantz, who had arranged for revival services to begin on Tuesday evening has withdrawn his announcement on account of the success he is having at his meeting at Spring Mills. He will fulfill this engagement after the present meeting comes to a close.

Monday a week ago there left for Illinois from this place and Rebersburg the following persons who expect, for a while at least, to make their home in the west: Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Ocker and daughter; Roy Greeninger, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller. Trust they may like their new home.

Harry Brungart, who is teaching school at Farmers Mills, makes the trip to and from his home on his wheel. He says a wheel is all right when it is all right, but when it is not it is not. That was proven a week or two ago when the tire slipped on the front wheel and he was obliged to take a walk to Coburn and make the rest of his trip by train.

W. H. Small, who had been in our midst for about four weeks, left last Monday for Dakota, Ill., where he is farming. While here he bought a car load of apples to ship to the western market. He intends bringing east a few car loads of corn, as he says the west has a fine corn crop this year. He is a splendid fellow and we hope to see him soon again.

A post card was sent the correspondent by the Rev. H. C. Bixler, formerly pastor of the Lutheran church of Rebersburg, but now of Bruning, Nebraska, showing a view of Fairview, the home of William Jennings Bryan, which is at Lincoln, Neb. We were glad to hear from this gentleman, for while here our associations were both pleasant and profitable. He tells us that he and family like the west and that is the place for young men to go. We hope he may have abundant success in his new field of labor.

Lemont

The walnut crop is a large one but the nuts are small.

Bruce Houts and wife came down from Altoona for a few days visit in town.

Charles Johnstonbaugh and family spent Sunday at the home of Jacob Shuey.

Corn husking is moving along very slowly, as the corn is not dry enough to crit.

The past week has been freeze, rain, sleet, hail and to wind up the week, a heavy rain with lots of wind.

The directors of College township are having a new iron roof put on the Center Furnace school house.

The wild geese are wending their way from the northern lakes to warmer climes, so we can prepare for winter.

George Baker returned to his Kansas home, Thursday, of last week, after a pleasant visit in and around town.

Clarence Houtz is busy taking down one of the old landmarks, that is, a house that was built by Daniel Mulbarger more than seventy-five years ago.

Ira Lyle returned home, Thursday, after taking an extended trip through old Virginia, visiting the old battle fields which he helped to fight over during the Civil war.

Football at Lewisburg.

The Booknell and State College eleven are making their final preparations for the big game between these two old-time rivals at Lewisburg, on Saturday, November 6th.

Neither college plays tomorrow as both colleges have gone through heavy schedules, and need the rest as a number of the men are suffering from bruises, but none of the regulars will be out of this game.

State team is made up of veterans and while their record this year is somewhat better than Booknell's, the latter's team has very few of last year's men in the line-up, and consequently is just beginning to show their true form.

Comparative scores tell but little, but Booknell's 6 to 6 score with Virginia at Morgantown last Saturday was very good after West Virginia had held Penn to 12 to 0, and the fact that University of Pittsburgh defeated the Indians by 11 points and Booknell by 12 points, and the Indians tied State, makes it look as if Booknell and State are evenly matched.

Lewisburg is making arrangements to handle a record breaking crowd of from 8,000 to 10,000 people, and the college authorities intend to look after the comfort of the spectators by erecting stands along both sides of the field. These seats will be reserved, and State will occupy the north stand, and Booknell the south stand. Sale of seats starts Monday, November 1st, and anyone wishing seats can get same by addressing T. D. Baker, or J. F. Prowant, Lewisburg, Pa. General admission 50 cents. Reserved seats, 75 cents and $1.00.

"Uncle Joe" and Aldrich to be Heard From.

From the Pittsburg Sun.

It is announced that not only will Senator Aldrich beard the lion of Western insurgent Republicanism in its lair, but that Uncle Joe Cannon will also take the stump and defend his record in the revolting provinces. Whether these leaders of the reactionaries do this from the courage of their convictions or from desperations does not matter, their tactics are to be welcomed. There are differences as vast as the poles between the two wings of the party, and the principles at stake are vital to the welfare of the country. The sooner they are fought out to a finish of compromise or triumph for one side or the other, the sooner the country will be able to progress.

UNEQUAL APPORTIONMENT OF JUDGES

The Vast Part of Pennsylvania is Misrepresented on the Supreme Court Bench—For Just Representation in That Court Vote For Munson.

Heavy black dots in map show location of Supreme Court Justices, TWO in Philadelphia. Dark line shows 48 Counties unrepresented in Supreme Court. By VonMoeskater's election more than two-thirds of Pennsylvania; the Valley of the Lehigh, Schuylkill, Susquehanna and Allegheny Rivers, all of the Antietam and much of the Susquehanna Coal Region, the Oil Fields, Lehigh District, three-fourths of the Agricultural Section and three-fourths of Manufacturing Companies would be UNREPRESENTED IN THE SUPREME COURT.

HE WAS A BIGAMIST

Declares When He Told Her He Was Married She "Screamed and Kissed Me and Wanted Me Back, and I Shot Her."

New York, Oct. 26.—Otto Mueller, who, under the name of Fred Gebhardt, was arrested at Astoria, L. I., for the murder of Anna Luther, whose skeleton was found in the woods near Ielp, L. I., was brought over to the Manhattan police headquarters from Brooklyn, and had a long talk with Inspector McCafferty. Mueller, white and trembling, told little to the policemen on this side of the river, but later, after he had been brought back to Brooklyn again, he confessed that he shot Anna Luther in the woods near Bayshore on April 9, 1908.

Mueller's Confession.

Mueller's signed confession follows: "About December, 1907, I first met Anna Luther. We were married in February, 1908, and went to Europe to live. We returned April 6, 1908. She went to Henry Wertupps in Newark, N. J., to spend a day or two. On the pretense that I was going to rent an apartment for us to live in, I returned to my home and wife in Astoria.

"I met Anna again on April 8 in Newark, and we were in an address in Thirty-fourth street, New York, and then to Jamaica.

"April 9 we went to Bayshore and I walked about, and I showed her some property. I got into an argument with her about some money matters and I turned away and wanted to go back. She followed me up, screaming, and I shot her in the head. I didn't look at her, and don't remember whether I shot her more than once.

"Immediately after I went to the Ielp depot and took a train for home. It was nearly dark. On the way home on the train I threw the revolver out of the car window.

"I want to state that I didn't kill Anna Luther for her money, as the newspapers have stated. My original reason for marrying Anna was that I didn't care to live with my first wife any longer, but as she—my first wife—had given me a child, my desire to see again my child caused me to want to get rid of Anna Luther and return to my first wife's child.

"This is the reason why I shot Anna Luther, and I told her in Bayshore that I was married and had a wife and child and must leave her.

"She screamed and ran after me, and I kissed me and wanted me back, and I shot her."

Seemed to Be "Money Mad."

For just a little more than a year and a half from the Sunday that Mueller shot Annie Luther, he and his wife, Annie Merger, and their two children, Annie, three years old, and Fred, who is about a year old, have lived in the story and a half frame house in Astoria. Nothing seemed to bother Mueller—or Gebhardt, as his wife knew him—except that he seemed to be "money mad," and he showed much concern about his two Aldrade terriers, which were his undoing, for it was a Jersey express driver's story about the two dogs that led to Mueller's arrest.

All this time Mrs. Mueller—or Gebhardt—was wearing well made clothes with the initials "A. L." embroidered on them, and the same initials were on the bedclothing and table linen.

The same "A. L." was engraved upon the watch which lay beside the skeleton down on Long Island all this time. Mueller had got all this stock of wearing apparel and bed linen, he told his wife, at an auction sale of trunks and other baggage in Hamburg. The explanation seemed to satisfy the wife. She asked no more questions. She did admit, however, that she had been afraid of Mueller of late, or since a woman friend from Manhattan came to her recently and told her stories about her husband's former wives. The friend told Mrs. Gebhardt that her husband's real name was Mueller and that he had had seven wives, who are all now dead. The friend added a warning to the effect that present wives of the man might expect sudden death also.

Gets 12 Years For Killing Husband.

York, Pa., Oct. 26.—Judge Bittenger sentenced Mrs. William Tracey to twelve years in the penitentiary, which is the maximum penalty for manslaughter, of which she was found guilty. The verdict of manslaughter came not only as a surprise to the jury, but the public in general, as Mrs. Tracey had confessed to the killing of her husband.

Coat of Skunk Skins For Mrs. Taft.

Boston, Oct. 26.—As a tribute to the mistress of the White House, John Goff, a trapper, will present to Mrs. Taft a coat made entirely of skunk skins. More than 180 skins were used and these were specially selected for the purpose.

March From School Fire.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Five hundred children promptly formed in drill order and marched out when fire started in the Jefferson high school.

Girl Swore Falsely Against Man.

Three weeks ago John Worthington, a well-to-do planter, residing near Rome, Ga., was convicted of ravishing Rosa Elrod, the seventeen-year-old daughter of a neighbor, and sentenced to the penitentiary for twenty years. Rosa Elrod was practically the only witness against Worthington. She related in detail the story of the outrage, and the jury at once convicted. Worthington stoutly denied the crime and said there was a plot to ruin him.

Two days ago Rosa Elrod made an affidavit that she had perjured herself. She said she loved Worthington, but he refused to marry her, and she swore he had outraged her for revenge.

Her confession has caused a great sensation and caused so much bitterness against the Elrods that they have left the county.

Ten-Year-Old Boy Kills Big Bear.

Dorman Long, a ten-year-old boy, of Sweet Valley, near Wilkes-Barre, Pa., while out hunting with his father, shot and killed a large black bear under circumstances that would have shaken the nerve of an experienced hunter.

The bear, which was wounded by two charges of light birdshot from the father's shotgun, ran into heavy underbrush, and there the boy, running ahead of his father, bravely followed it and shot it again. It fell and, believing it was dead, he rushed upon it, only to find it springing up and turning upon him, whereupon he gave it the second barrel at the distance of a few feet and killed it.

Murdered Man's Body Found in Bushes.

Murdered in his lonely hut, near Egg Harbor, N. J., and carted for almost a mile on a wheelbarrow, the body of John Gavron, a recluse, was found in a clump of bushes. Gavron came here from New York several months ago and built a small hut in the wilderness. His neighbors saw him working daily until a few weeks ago. Just before his disappearance a man named Borzay came to the settlement and also built a hut.

Gavron and Borzay were seen together frequently. When the old man was missed, it is alleged, Borzay said he had gone to a Philadelphia hospital for treatment.

Girl Killed by Brother.

Sixteen-year-old Margaret Keeler, of near Nordmont, Pa., was accidentally shot and killed by her twelve-year-old brother. The girl was busy getting breakfast for her sick mother, when the boy, believing that he heard a wild turkey in the woods outside, rushed for his rifle. The weapon was discharged, and the bullet pierced the girl's forehead. She fell dead within sight of her mother.

To Speak on Missionary Work.

The reformed church is making preparations to have ex-President Theodore Roosevelt upon his return from Africa to speak upon the subject of Christian missionary progress on that continent. It is understood that officials of some of the reformed church missionary organizations have received assurance from Mr. Roosevelt that he is not only willing but eager to speak.

Found $10,000 Ruby in Yard.

While Ira M. Young was digging for a sewer, ten feet below the surface, in his back yard at Butler, Pa., his attention was attracted to an unusual pebble. Examination of it by New York specialists in precious stones show it to be a ruby, worth from $7000 to $10,000. The find of Young, who is a poor man, has caused immense excitement among neighboring property owners.

Had $3000; Died of Starvation.

Relatives of Mrs. Henry Christie, a recluse, who died at Pateron, N. J., from exposure and the lack of food, claimed the body and will give it proper burial. Although the woman had $3000 on deposit in a bank she denied herself the necessities of life. Mrs. Christie, who was seventy-seven years old, was the widow of a Civil War veteran and owned the house in which she died.
