James I. McClure recently resigned his position in Schofield's harness factory and has gone into business for himself in a room on Bishop street.

The First National bank of State College is so far along toward completion that it will be ready for the painters and paper hangers next week.

Since the death of her father, the late Robert Cori, of Pleasant Gap, the family have decided to go to Boalsburg to live and moved there this week.

Adaline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Koelsch, is ill with a slight attack of appendicitis, though it is possible she can be cured without undergoing an operation.

J. A. B. Miller Esq., who has been undergoing treatment in the Bellefonte hospital the past two weeks, expects to leave that institution tomorrow and go to Pittsburg.

Rev. Dr. Schmidt will preach a sermon for young men, Sunday evening in the Reformed church. Sunday marks the opening of "the week of prayer for young men."

The Burlingame-Barnet wedding will take place at the home of Miss Barnes' grandmother in Syracuse, New York, on Tuesday, November sixteenth. Only the immediate families will be present.

Home Mission day services will be held in St. John's Reformed church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The congregation and Sunday school will use the service entitled, "The Call of the Homeland."

The union Thanksgiving services will be held in the Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, instead of 10:30 in the morning. Rev. J. F. Hower, of the United Evangelical church, will preach the sermon.

A portion of the frame work of the roof on the new building being erected by the Pennsylvania Match company fell on Monday but fortunately, aside from a few scratches and bruises none of the workmen were injured.

Col. W. Fred Reynolds last week sold his big Franklin touring car to Dr. Edwin Erle Sparks, president of The Pennsylvania State College, and the latter has engaged Norman Thompson, of this place, as his chauffeur.

On Wednesday Frank H. Clemson, of Buffalo Run, bought George A. Bezer's Franklin automobile and hereafter he will be able to come and go on short notice; that is, after he becomes fully acquainted with the machine.

The Bellefonte Academy football team met their first defeat last Saturday when they were downed by the Lock Haven Normal eleven by the score of 24 to 6. The Normal team was the heaviest by odds but with that the Bellefonte boys put up a good, plucky game.

The price of meat of all kinds in Bellefonte has advanced from one to three cents a pound, and with butter and eggs, vegetables and the other necessities of life at the high prices they now are it is a serious question for the ordinary family to secure enough to eat.

William Hookenbury, a son of Mrs. Alice Hookenbury, of this place, and Miss Carrie Spiober, of Centre Hall, will be married at the Reformed parsonage in Centre Hall next Thursday evening, November 18th, by the pastor, Rev. Daniel W. Green. The wedding will be a very quiet affair.

The declamatory contest for the W. S. First prizes will take place at the Bellefonte Academy on Friday afternoon, December 10th. These prizes are six and five dollars respectively and are worth competing for from a cash standpoint, as well as for the educational advantage afforded the contestants.

About two dozen Bellefonters and over five hundred students accompanied the State football team to Lewisburg last Saturday for their annual game with Bucknell. The Centre county boys had a walk-over of the contest, winning by the score of 33 to 0. Bucknell fought stubbornly all through the game but she was outclassed at every point.

CONTINUED INCREASE IN BUSINESS AT BELLEFONTE INDUSTRIES.—At a meeting of officials of the American Lime and Stone company in this place on Tuesday it was decided to start the plant on the pike north of town just as soon as it can be gotten in shape. This will mean the firing up of all the kilns there and also operating the crusher. Instead of moles to pl the cars of stone, as were used there when the plant was operated before, a dinky engine will be placed there. The company is also getting things in shape to put in operation every plant they have in this section so that it will not be very long until they will be conducting operations here on a larger scale than they ever did before.

What this will mean can be conjectured when the fact is taken into consideration that as they are now running they are shipping an average of fifty carloads of lime and crushed stone per day, and when running full capacity at all their plants this shipment will be increased one half at least, if not doubled. The company recently placed an order for fifty all steel dump cars to be used in their quarries and the slowness in delivering of these is one reason that they are being detained in starting up others of their plants.

The Pennsylvania railroad company now has everything running smoothly in their operation of shipping the mountain slag from the Bellefonte furnace to Northumberland. The daily shipment is now up to the maximum of twenty-five cars a day, and with their big steam shovel and other complete equipment it takes them just about five hours to load that number.

The above big shipments from the American Lime and Stone company and for the railroad company, including the daily shipments from the other industries hereabouts as well as the regular local freight traffic naturally makes business quite brisk in the Bellefonte yards. In fact the one shifting engine and crew now here are being pushed to the utmost to do the work, and at that it takes them over regular working hours every day. Under this condition of affairs it is just possible that a second shifting engine and crew will be placed here in the near future.

Of course the above freight traffic does not include any from the Nittany furnace or contemplate the traffic from the Bellefonte furnace when it is put in blast. All of that is being shipped over the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania and the Nittany Valley roads, and naturally makes traffic over these roads better than it has been in several years. Taking with the above the increase of business at other industries hereabouts Bellefonte should have a more prosperous winter than it has had since the good times of 1907.

STATE COLLEGE BUILDING BOOM CONTINUES.—Within the past few days ground has been broken at State College for eight new houses which will be built during the winter. When it is considered that during the year 1908 over thirty new houses were built and that up to this time this year over forty houses have been completed, all of which are occupied with an ever increasing demand for more, easily accounts for the very high rents existing at that place. Most any kind of a house at State College rents for thirty-five and forty dollars a month while the best of them rent for from sixty to seventy-five dollars. With such rents as that it is not to be wondered that so many people are investing in real estate and building houses there. How long that condition of affairs will continue is, of course, to a certain extent uncertain. It depends entirely upon the continued growth of the college and consequent demand for room by students and workmen, and also as to whether the building boom outgrows the demand. But either of these conditions is not anticipated for some time to come by investors at that place and in the meantime they will go right along erecting new buildings.

COMING SOON.—"The Isle of Spio," the next attraction at the opera house, comes along with all the momentum of its popularity, originality and position as a standard American musical comedy. This season "Isle of Spio" has been rejuvenated throughout. Not only new scenery, new costumes, new song and dance numbers but a cast of representative operatic entertainers has been added to make the jubilee complete. That rollicking, irresistible, old king, "Bampaka," this season, is being played by a comedian who has established himself in the front rank of American musical fun-makers. This is the inimitable Charles Pusey himself. With him is allied, as the songful and dashing "Lieutenant" Walter Coupe. The prima donna is no other than Alice Clark and the sprightly and slightly Helen Gould is playing the role of "Kamoria." That side-splitting sailor, the butt of all jokes, the maker of complications and the joy of the youngsters is Sack Collins. The "Isle of Spio" was written by Kirk Alexander, now a writer on the Detroit Journal, and is being presented under the B. C. Whitney management.

WHO'LL COMPOSE THE WILLING COUPLE?—In order to afford an unusual attraction at the "County Fair," the charity and hospital benefit entertainment to be given by the Bellefonte Lodge of Elks in the opera house Friday and Saturday evenings, December 3rd and 4th, furniture dealer Frank E. Naginsy offers a good plush covered parlor suit to the young man and woman who will consent to having the marriage ceremony performed on the stage during the fair. Now here is a chance where two of you young people who are already courting at connubial bliss can profit thereby and at the same time save the expense of a big home wedding.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Bellefonte hospital recently contributed five hundred dollars of an old fund they had on hand towards the expense for the erection of the new building.

Lewis Kohlbecker, of Milesburg, has purchased the furniture and equipment of the Pennsylvania house in Lock Haven and will take possession of same as landlord in the near future.

The repairs and improvements at the Bellefonte furnace are about completed and the fires will be started next week, probably Tuesday or Wednesday. With both the furnaces again running times around Bellefonte will be much like they were in 1907.

On Monday afternoon and evening a very interesting meeting of the Associated Council of the Royal Arcanum for the Saquebanna valley was held in this place, which was attended by quite a number of prominent members of the order from over the State. Following the evening meeting the Bellefonte Council entertained the visiting Arcanumites at a banquet at Sumner's cafe.

A meeting of the men interested in the reorganization of the Yeager Swing company was to have been held on Tuesday evening but owing to the fact that Claude Cook was out of town the meeting was not held. The stockholders, however, will endeavor to get together at an early date and perfect an organization so that the plant can be operated in a way that it is hoped will make it a profitable investment.

Father O'Hanlon will entertain the State College students with whom he comes in contact in his work at that institution in the Knights of Columbus rooms in this place next Wednesday evening. A large number of Bellefonte ladies have been invited to be hostesses for that evening and there will be dancing and bridge. Refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake and coffee will be served by the ladies of St. John's Catholic church.

The roof of the new High school building is now ready for the slaters and they will start on the work very soon. Workmen have also begun putting down the concrete steps at the main entrance and will follow this up with putting down the concrete at all the entrances and then putting in the concrete floors in the halls and sub-basement and the concrete stairways. In the meantime the carpenters will have enough work putting down the floors and doing the other inside finishing to keep them busy a number of weeks after they get the cornice in place.

The Pennsylvania State College this year has a Freshman class of upwards of five hundred with a total attendance in the neighborhood of twelve hundred, and so far there has been less hazing and general rowdiness than ever before. While the fact is considered by some as a flattering valor on the part of the students it should not generally be so regarded by any means, but rather something to be commended. Hazing has always been an abomination in the mind of every right thinking person and the time has come when broadminded students themselves should unite in condemning the practice. And because State students did very little of it this year is a fact over which they can feel considerable justifiable pride.

Deer hunting season opening next Monday there will as usual be scores of Centre countyans out on the mountains in quest of the fleet-footed animals. Of course all deer hunters are fully acquainted with the law governing the killing of the animals so that it is not necessary to dwell thereon at this time. As a matter of record and comparison, however, as well as a matter of news to its readers and hunters generally the WATCHMAN would like to have as accurate a report as possible of the number of deer killed in the county, and by Centre countyans anywhere; and would therefore ask all those who are fortunate enough to kill a deer, or those having knowledge of one or more being killed to drop us a card stating the facts.

Oleomargarine is now being sold in Bellefonte, and sold as oleomargarine. It is not to be wondered at that such is the case with the price of butter anywhere from 38 to 45 cents a pound, away beyond the reach of a bonny family. Oleomargarine is sold for 25 cents a pound and it is claimed by those who have used it to be a good substitute for butter. In fact there are several families who have been using oleomargarine for quite a while past, receiving it themselves direct from Chicago, and they aver that they would just as soon have it as butter; and especially when the difference in the price is taken into consideration. Now if only some person would concoct something to take the place of eggs a poor man might have a chance for a good counterfeited existence.

Samuel B. Miller is in hard luck this fall. Several weeks ago he fell off of a load of straw and hurt himself pretty badly, so that it was all he could do to get around in time to officiate as judge of the election in the North ward; and now he is minus four fat hogs, which died quite suddenly and mysteriously for him the past week. And the mystery is what caused the death of the animals. Mr. Miller already had them well fattened and was contemplating a good stock of pork for next year. Last Friday, without any apparent show of sickness, one hog dropped dead and since that three more, so that he has been left without any hogs to butcher. With the price of pork and all other meat as high as it is this season Mr. Miller's loss is considerable.

CENTRE COUNTYAN APPOINTED STATE VETERINARIAN.—On Friday of last week Governor Stewart appointed Dr. Samuel H. Gilliland, of Marietta, Lancaster county, State Veterinarian to succeed the late Dr. Leonard Pearson, deceased. Centre countyans are especially interested in this appointment because Dr. Gilliland is a native of Centre county, a son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Gilliland, of Oak Hall.

He was born on a farm in Harris township a little over thirty years ago and before his father was appointed agent on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad at Oak Hall. His early life was spent on the farm and in attending the public schools. Later he took a course in the Bellefonte Academy following which he attended the Millersville State Normal. He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania veterinary department in 1901 and from the medical department in 1904. On three different occasions he has journeyed to Europe to make advance studies in comparative pathology in the veterinary departments of leading old world colleges. For eight years he was assistant bacteriologist to the State Livestock Sanitary Board, and upon the resignation of Dr. M. P. Ravenel he succeeded him as bacteriologist. For two years he was demonstrator of bacteriology in the veterinary department of the University of Pennsylvania and for the past two or three years he has successfully managed two large farms in Lancaster county. During the past few years he has written a number of articles which have been considered authority on the subjects handled. Dr. Gilliland is a member of the following societies:

American Veterinary Medical Association, Pennsylvania State Veterinary Medical Association, Keystone Veterinary Medical Association, American Medical Association, American Public Health Association, Philadelphia Pathological Society, Philadelphia Pediatric Society, National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, International Congress on Tuberculosis, Lancaster County Medical Society and other smaller medical organizations.

COULDN'T MAKE THIS WOMAN.—Mrs. Amanda Shearer, a comely widow of about forty years, who until recently was housekeeper for John P. DeHaas, at the Bellefonte house, Beech Creek, is willing to take a second husband but she will not take him on his good looks alone. Mrs. Shearer has relatives residing in Iowa and they frequently spoke of her to a neighbor of theirs, a German between fifty and sixty years of age. The man finally decided that if Mrs. Shearer was all her relatives said he would like to have her for a wife so several weeks ago he came east to see her.

In the meantime Mrs. Shearer had left the Bellefonte house and gone to live in Mill Hill. Thither the gentleman wended his way and sought out the buxom widow and through the means of being intimately acquainted with her western relatives had little trouble in establishing himself in that lady's good graces. He told her of his home in Iowa, a nice farm and of being the owner of another fine farm in southern Kansas, and finally proposed marriage.

Mrs. Shearer was not reluctant to wed and was rather pleased with the western gentleman but she did not propose binding herself in a bargain she might rue at a later day. So she proposed she join the gentleman on a trip west and if she found everything as he said and was satisfied she would like the place as a home she would marry him. The westerner readily acquiesced and on Monday the two left Mill Hill for Iowa and their trial trip as life companions.

THE WELSH SINGERS.—The Cambria Glee society of Welsh singers won the admiration of music loving people of Bellefonte on their appearances here during the past week. There was no disappointment in their concert in Petriken hall last Friday evening under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. So widely heralded had been their musical ability that there was a crowded house to greet them and everybody was greatly pleased with the entertainment. The singing of Master Trevor Watkins, the wonderful boy soprano, and of Barry London, the noted basso profundo, of London, elicited unusual applause. Owen Trehan, the leading tenor, also came in for his share of special commendation.

Not having a regularly scheduled date for Saturday night the singers drove over to Millheim where they gave a concert, returning to Bellefonte early Sunday morning. On Sunday forenoon some of the members were to sing in the various churches but their late return from Millheim made that impossible so in the afternoon they gave a sacred concert in Petriken hall. So well were they received on every occasion that they gave an hour's sacred concert in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, after the regular services were over.

BURNED TO DEATH.—On Tuesday night ex-sheriff William A. Ishler received a telegram conveying the sad intelligence that his sister, Mrs. Adam Swartz, had been burned to death that afternoon at her home in Kansas City, Kan. She was out in an alley burning waste paper when the wind blew her clothing into the fire. She was quickly enveloped in flames and another woman employed at the house ran to her assistance but too late to save her from being terribly burned. The accident happened about 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and she lingered until six o'clock in the evening when death relieved her suffering. She was sixty-two years of age and before going west twenty-nine years ago the family lived at Centre Hall. Surviving her are her husband and nine children, all in the west, and three brothers, Emanuel, of Altoona, William and John, of Bellefonte.

JURY-LONG.—A quiet wedding was celebrated at the Catholic parsonage at eight o'clock on Monday evening when Russell Jery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Jery, and Miss Agnes Long, of Tyrone, were united in marriage by Rev. Father McArdle. Following the ceremony the young couple were given a reception and wedding supper at the home of the bridegroom's parents on east High street. Fortunately the jugular vein was not severed and he failed in the attempt so far that he was still living yesterday though it is not yet certain whether his life can be saved or not.

Osman is a bricklayer by occupation but during the past few months he has lived with Miss Annie Bible, on the Bible farm east of Centre Hall. At this writing it has not been possible to learn the cause of the man's rash act, but it is assumed to be depondency.
