

Pine Grove Mention.

Saturday J. H. Bailey fired his big lime pit. A. J. Tate had a relapse and is back in bed again. Mrs. Devine was a passenger west Monday morning.

Cal Trostle, an up-to-date farmer at Grayville, was in town Monday. Miss Leona Barwell has gone to take charge of J. I. Reed's domestic affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Corl were entertained at the L. D. Fye home Sunday. Miss Grace Gramley, of Juniata, is visiting at the Ross Louder home at Oak Hall.

Willis Bathgate, of Lemont, spent Sunday at the J. B. Witmer home at White Hall. Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Corl were Sunday visitors at the J. C. Corl home at White Hall.

D. C. Musser, a teacher in the Sheffield High school, is visiting his friends here this week. Paul Bailey, of Alexandria, spent the early part of the week with his mother west of town.

'Squire Musser, of Bellefonte, was here Monday to see his brother John, who is at death's door. Samuel M. Bell was a passenger east to New York Friday to stock up for his large holiday trade.

Frank Reed with a lady friend, Miss Belle Fishburne, were visitors at the Geo. Swabb home Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Reish, of Guyer, spent the Sabbath at the John Klingner home at Shingletown.

Hon. J. W. Kepler has his tenant house re-roofed with galvanized iron. Tanyer and Ward did the job. H. H. Goss and wife and Mr. Fry and wife were Sunday visitors at the W. K. Corl home near State College.

The long looked for and much needed rain came Tuesday, slightly replenishing the cisterns and streams. Harry M. Allison, our obliging miller spent the early part of the week with his family at Spring Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Neidigh are in Hollidaysburg this week attending the Blair county teachers institute. After April 1st, 1910, John Everhart will till the broad and fertile acres of the Judge Dean farm near Bellwood.

Grandmother Bair is quite ill at the home of Samuel Elder. Owing to her advanced age her recovery is doubtful. That popular old drover, J. C. Zen, of Philadelphia, bought some fresh cows in Spruce Creek valley last week.

Walter Weaver is running his steam saw outfit, sawing wood for the people of the town as well as near-by farmers. The ladies hand-bag advertised last week in the WATCHMAN was found by D. W. Port and returned to the owner, Mrs. Isenberg, of Morrisville.

Assistant clerk at the county commissioners office, J. H. Decker was home last week to preside over a delicious butchering dinner prepared by his grandmother. Our threshers pulled in for the winter after a fairly good run. C. H. Meyers tolled up to 48,000 bushels; W. H. Weaver to 44,000, J. A. Cramer 35,000, with Frank Gates to hear from.

Health officer W. H. Roush has concluded his inspection tour of Harris and Ferguson townships. And aside of a few minor recommendations has a very favorable report of the school buildings. Friday Samuel Homan resigned as teacher of the White Hall school to take a short course at State College. Miss Mary Tanyer was elected to fill the vacancy and took charge of the school Tuesday morning.

W. H. Roush and daughter and J. C. Corl were among the early passengers Monday morning en route to the county seat. Constable J. B. Smith also went down to make his quarterly report to the court of quarter sessions. Waldo Corl is nursing a bunch of bruises he got as a broncho rider. Last Friday while riding a vicious colt it bucked and threw him quite a ways and stepping on him, making some ugly gashes on his face and head.

Reed R. Randolph transacted business at the county capital Monday. He is now the sole owner of the furniture business heretofore conducted under the firm name of Tate and Randolph. Owing to Mr. Tate's ill health he was obliged to quit the business. Carpenter Barwell is nursing a mashed finger and M. E. Roeman, while butchering, almost severed his middle finger with a sharp knife, leaving only two fingers on that hand. Fred Roush, while feeding a sausage grinder on Wednesday had his middle finger torn off at the first joint.

On Monday night Herman Evert was passing the furniture store of Tate and Randolph and on glancing in through the window he discovered a small fire on the floor near the stove. He forced an entrance to the room and smothered the blaze before it had time to gain any headway.

State College Items.

Charles Kerstetter is at present on the sick list. Oscar Gray was a State College visitor last week. The college singing girls entertainment here was fine. William Hoy is attending court this week as a grand juror.

Butchering is pretty nearly over for this season. There were a number of fine hogs killed hereabouts. The hunting party from this place brought home a bear and a deer. The Royal Neighbors initiated about twenty new members on Friday night.

On Tuesday we had the first appearance of winter. It rained, snowed and blowed. The stores are now putting in the X-mas decorations and showing many nice things. Memorial services were held in the auditorium on Sunday for W. C. Paterson, deceased. William Beck, who was laid up for several days with neuralgia in the jaw, is out at his work again. County superintendent D. O. Eiters has sent out the programs to the teachers of the different districts for the coming institute.

Mrs. Mary E. Beck boarded the 5 o'clock train for Bellefonte, Howard and Lock Haven, on a short visit among friends and relatives. J. W. Baumgartner is running day and part of the nights to get out the laundry for his trade. He is a little short handed for the amount of patronage he has.

Christ Pletcher and Joseph Schenck, two of Howard's carpenters, returned to State College on Monday to finish the interior of Joseph Harvey's new house.

Spring Mills

Some of our farmers did considerable plowing last week. The members of the M. E. Sunday school are making extensive preparations for their usual Christmas entertainment.

J. L. Blair and S. M. Hart, of Altoona; H. B. Henry, of Columbia; C. E. From, of Tyrone, and B. R. Slack, of Lock Haven, were registered at the Spring Mills hotel last week.

The I. O. O. F. of our town have recently fitted up their hall with several improvements, and have placed very handsome shades at the windows. The lodge is in a highly prosperous condition.

O. T. Corman evidently deals quite extensively in beef hides, as a day or two since I heard him in the postoffice tell a farmer that he could use a ton or more of good hides, and if he or any one he knew had any to sell, would bring them to him, his prices would satisfy them at once. Mr. Corman is quite a heavy shipper at our station.

Andrew Corman has just enclosed one of his fields—the one on the road to the railroad station—with heavy wire fencing of a new design and it is quite attractive. It is a very decided improvement on the old palings which were becoming rickety and in a dilapidated condition. Mr. Corman is our present able road master and our roads were never in a better condition.

Some of our hunters returned from their trips thoroughly disgusted with hunting. They want to know what has become of all the deer and bears reported as being so numerous on the mountains previous to the opening of the season. They saw nothing of the kind, occasionally they saw a lonely bird, a few bats and owls. The fact is, hunting was a little off this season.

Penns and Sinking creeks are remarkably low, lower than they have been for years. No trouble to cross either stream without wetting the soles of your shoes. Sinking creek is surely a long crooked lane adorned with here and there a mud puddle. Our wells too are beginning to show a lack of water. Should freezing weather set in previous to any rain, it would be a puzzling question where to obtain any.

Smalltown.

Merchant J. F. Myers was in Millheim on Saturday. Chas. H. Bierley has been housed up again with inflammatory rheumatism. Butchering is now over and sausage will be the menu at most tables for the next few weeks.

A little photographer arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Stover on the morning of the 29th of November. Forest Emerick, of Birmingham, Pa., son of J. S. Emerick, has been spending some time at his father's place here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bierley have returned home again after spending a week or more with friends and acquaintances here. Stover, the photographer, has installed in his studio a room in which to enlarge pictures, and also has on hand a lot of all kinds of picture frames and a lot of moulding from which he is prepared to make frames to fit any picture given him. He is also making a specialty of picture taking for the next 15 days.

The Christmas Dinner.

In spite of the fact that the word dyspepsia means literally bad cook, it will not be fair for many to lay the blame on the cook if they begin the Christmas Dinner with little appetite and end it with distress or nausea. It may not be fair for any to do that—let us hope so for the sake of the cook! The disease dyspepsia indicates a bad stomach, that is a weak stomach rather than a bad cook, and for a weak stomach there is nothing else equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla. It gives the stomach vigor and tone, cures dyspepsia, creates appetite, and makes eating the pleasure it should be.
