

UNIVERSITY COURSE LECTURES.—The members of the class in the American University Course will hold their first meeting in the parish house at St. John's Episcopal church on Monday, January 10th, at 8 o'clock. The subject for that evening will be "Shakespeare and his Art," and the Rev. John Hewitt will give the lecture. Each member of the class is privileged to invite a member of his or her family or a friend. Subjects have been arranged for as follows:

English and European History, Prof. Espenshade, State College. English and European Literature, Prof. Crockett, State College. Art, Col. J. L. Spangler, Bellefonte. Natural History, Rev. Dr. Schmidt, Bellefonte. Plans for the remainder of this season's course are well in hand.

FAUST.—It is scarcely necessary to say that the acknowledged master piece of German poetry has been made known to English readers by at least a dozen translations, which, with more or less success, have reflected its vast inclusions of the real and ideal, its profound insight into the character and the affluence, force and variety of its humor, pathos and imagination. Faust as a drama is one of the great works of art presented on the stage. It will be presented at the opera house, tomorrow, (Saturday) January 8th. Matinee in the afternoon and regular performance at night. Seats on sale at Parrish's drug store.

—The many Centre county friends of Harry F. McManaway, of Millheim, will regret to hear of his serious illness in the National sanitorium at Martinsville, Ind., although the past few days there has been a slight change for the better and unless other complications set in there is now hope of his recovery.

PINE GROVE MENTION.

Mrs. J. N. Everts is visiting friends at Oak Hill. Miss Lizzie Watt, who has been ill many months, is on a fair way to recovery.

James Hess, of Williamsport, was greeting his old chums in town last week.

Dr. E. E. Sparks, of State College, was here last week inspecting his possessions.

Hon. J. W. Kepler is in Pittsburgh where he expects to remain a month or more.

Arthur Miller is a sick man with bronchial trouble at his home at Baileyville.

John and Earl Ross went to Philadelphia Monday to learn the art of automobilizing.

Miss Eliza Moore, of Centre Hall, is visiting relatives in and about State College.

Miss Annie Gummo spent several days last week among friends in Spring township.

Miss Bertha Dale, of Milton, spent the holidays among friends at Lemont and Houserville.

After a month's visit with friends at Millheim Mrs. Sallie Bloom returned home Monday.

J. J. Dreese was in town last Friday looking after the Ard estate and took time to greet some of his friends.

John Reynolds is handling the ribbons over a splendid stepper he recently bought of Mr. Hoover, of Tyrone.

The stork left a New Year's present, a nice boy, at Arthur Peters and a little daughter at Rev. Ralph Bergstresser's.

W. E. McCormick left Monday morning for Conneville, where he will hold a good job with the telephone company.

Morrison Ewing, of Newport, spent last week in this section as administrator of his mother's estate here and at State College.

Tuesday G. E. Harper was obliged to kill his best horse which sustained a fractured hip by a fall on the ice while going to water.

Will Mayes, wife and children came up from Howard to share the big gobbler at the well known Mayes' home at Lemont on Christmas day.

J. H. Bailey and mother, W. H. Glenn and wife and W. E. McWilliams and wife were among the mourners at the Gohsen funeral at Tyrone Monday.

Frank Hess, one of Phillipsburg's representative citizens, spent Sunday with relatives in town. He had been in attendance at the farmers meeting at State College.

David Behrer was in hard luck last year, having lost four cows and last week was obliged to kill a good horse which fell on the ice and broke its leg in two places.

Among the home comers over Christmas were Harold McWilliams, John and Randall Duntap, L. C. Gates, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Collins, W. P. Ard and John Reish.

Pennsylvania Lodge I. O. O. F. No. 276 with their friends will celebrate their sixty second anniversary in the style of a banquet in their beautiful hall on Friday evening, the 28th.

John Bowersox and Mr. Armstrong sleighed from Milroy, Saturday. Blaine Brown and wife came from Tyrone but the rain Saturday night barred the roads and they were obliged to hire buggies to make the home trip.

STATE COLLEGE.

Look out for another wedding in the near future from this town.

The Presbyterians are holding a series of meetings here this week.

Scott Bailey made several sales of new sleighs during the short stay of snow.

Reuben Glosner and wife, of Nittany, visited relatives and friends over Sunday here.

The Grangers and farmers kept State College lived up during the students vacation.

The laundry has again opened up for work after being shut down for a two week's vacation.

Sunday was a fine spring day and took away all the snow, but since then we have had real winter.

Mrs. John W. Stuart has been on the sick list for several days. At this writing she is some better.

The Automobile Transportation company's drivers all have their licensed badges for the year 1910.

The Pennsylvania Telephone company placed phones in the residences of Prof. Jackson and John W. Beck last week.

H. B. Pontius, of Bellefonte, was looking up fruit tree orders last week. This week he is auditing the county records.

The First National bank is now settled in its new building which makes a fine appearance from the interior as well as from the outside.

The boys began to arrive on Monday and Tuesday. A bunch of forty students came up from Bellefonte on Tuesday night on a special train.

The skating rink has opened up once more. The first was on Christmas day and every night since. The company is well patronized by the young people of the town and now the students will help increase the number.

SPRING MILLS.

All our merchants report a very satisfactory holiday trade.

According to the adage "as the days lengthen the cold strengthens"—perhaps.

Benjamin Donachy, after an absence of several weeks, returned home on Thursday of last week.

We missed the WATCHMAN with its new cover last week. In fact, a single omission of the regular edition is like losing an old friend.

A shirt factory will be established here early in the spring, in the store building now occupied by E. C. Finkle, who will move to Sobert to engage in lumbering and farming.

Good sleighing all last week. Of course the beaux took advantage of it. The roads were quite lively with merry parties from early morn till dewy eve—particularly after dewy eve.

New Year's day, of course, was the time to form new resolutions and turn over a new leaf, to abandon little vices and big ones too, but unfortunately in turning over the new leaf many of us turn over cover and all, and so continue in the old ruts and pitfalls—too bad.

Christmas and New Year's day were observed here about as usual. Presents were exchanged, dinner parties were quite numerous and a number of families entertained visitors from a distance. All the little folks enjoyed themselves with toys and candies, and everybody seemed merry and happy. On New Year's day the mummies were out in full force in costumes about as wild and ridiculous as usual. Their teams, however, were decidedly superior to last year, they had fairly good horses and good sleighs. Last year their animals were only villainous skeletons, and the vehicles looked as if they had been out of commission before America was discovered. Of course their appearance in driving around town caused considerable merriment.

A day or two since I stepped into the salesroom of the Spring Mills carriage works. S. L. Condo, proprietor, to see the latest novelties in sleighs and sleds. The salesroom is lined with about all the styles from the elegant spring sleigh to the ordinary cutter, besides a complete line of superior harness and a sample of the Crescent ball bearing axle. This axle requires greasing but once a year, with many other advantages. The high grade sleighs are marvels of beauty and comfort, substantially built, elegantly upholstered, beautifully finished and polished like a mirror. Since the snow storm of Christmas day Mr. Condo has disposed of quite a large number of sleighs, both of the spring and ordinary styles. The works are doing a large business.

LEMONT.

The teachers are all back at work again.

Mary Baker returned to Kansas last week.

Many of the children have the chickenpox.

The first sleighing of the season was on Christmas.

Philip Bradford and family spent Sunday in the Loop.

The G. A. R. Post will meet Saturday to initiate a few new recruits.

Louis Frazier and family spent Christmas at the home of John Brown.

William Sarson and wife are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter on Friday.

Levi F. Roun's son George has been shut in with rheumatism this last week.

There has been more ice put up, up to this date, than was put up all last winter.

Edward Lingle and family visited at the home of Mrs. Cornelius Dale over Christmas.

Darius White and wife went to Lock Haven last week where he has a good position.

Prof. Thomas C. Houtz came up from Selinsgrove and spent a few days in town during the holidays.

Saturday and Sunday were warmer and the snow slowly disappeared, but Monday night was windy and cold.

Mrs. Laura Williams and Mrs. Minnie Williams and children spent a few days among friends at Hannah this last week.

There was a very interesting family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Baughman on Christmas day. Their oldest son, Earl, recently returned home from the Philippines, where he spent four years as a nurse in the United States army medical corps. On his way home he visited different parts of the West, spending several months there. He gives a very intelligent and interesting account of his trip, also of his service, especially as a nurse in San Francisco after the earthquake. Mrs. Eva Roan also was home to spend the Christmas with her parents and to assist in getting up the feast which consisted of everything that is good, including two turkeys.

There are nine children in the family, all being present but Mrs. Copeland, who expects to be home in the near future. There were also with them George C. Williams and family who did their part at the feast of good things.

First Wedding in 1910.

At a watch night entertainment in St. Stephen's Reformed church, Perkasie, Pa., Friday night, the lights were turned out and the bell began to ring. Before the audience of 1000 had time to move the lights were flashed on, the bell ceased, and William H. Texter led Miss Mabel Trumbore to the pulpit, where Rev. E. S. Noll united them in marriage.

Then the bell rang in earnest to celebrate this first wedding of the New Year in the United States.

Changed by Apron String.

Lizzie E. Crenshaw, twenty-eight years old, severely wounded John M. Jennings, a bookkeeper with whom she lived at Nashville, Tenn., by cutting his throat.

Later she hanged herself in a cell at the police station, using her apron strings as a rope. She was dead when discovered by the turnkey. Jennings may recover. Death was the cause of the woman's actions.

Cabbage Kills 200 Hens.

When Rev. J. N. Blatt, of Shimersville, Pa., the pastor of the Zion'sville Reformed church, came to feed his chickens he found nearly 200 of them dead, having been poisoned by paris green in the cabbage leaves he had fed them. The cabbages had been sprayed with the poison, to kill worms, last summer.

Blow to Live Stock Trust.

Judge True, of the district court, Kansas City, Kan., declared the Traders' Live Stock Exchange association a trust and ordered the association dissolved. His decision was rendered in a suit brought against the association by the attorney general of Kansas. The association operates at the Kansas City stock yards.

Shower Bath For Mules.

A unique novelty in anthracite coal mining was announced by the Lehigh Valley Coal company at Wilkes-Barre, Pa. A bath, with shower attached, has been built in the Henry colliery for the mules working there. It is of concrete, forty feet long and four and a half feet deep, with a shower over the full length.
