The Pennsylvania Railroad company has just published two exceedingly neat little booklets for distribution to agriculturists and others interested in the fertility of soils and their crops. One is on "Alfalfa;" the other is on "Use of Lime on Land." Both are edited by the School of Agriculture and Experiment Station of The Pennsylvania State College and contain helpful hints in growing alfalfa and in the use of lime on the soils. They are most gratifying in that they show the interest which the world's greatest railroad corporation is taking in the work done at Centre county's great institution of learning. While we realize that this interest is not wholly charitable, in truth it is probably wholly selfish, nevertheless it will make for much good for the farmers of Pennsylvania. For if The Pennsylvania State College can tell them how to make their farms grow greater crops the Pennsylvania railroad is going to have greater business in carrying these crops to market. That is exactly what it is after. The moral of it all is this: If this great railroad corporation has enough faith to believe that college information will help the farmers then the farmers should have even greater faith and should seek with avidity all the information to be disseminated by this most recent plan.

In these days when the high price of all kinds of food products is being discussed the country over Dr. H. P. ARMSBY, of State College, has come to the front with a statement that the proper solution to the question will be to conserve the grain food products for the use of humanity and feed the horses, cattle and hogs on the coarser food products not suitable for man. He claims that forty-five per cent. of the grain raised in the country is now fed to animals, whereas if this was conserved for the use of man it would so increase the supply that a decrease in the price would be sure to follow. He is now attempting to solve the question of the coarse food products for animals in his work with the respiration calorimeter, at State College, but has not yet reached that stage where he can safely prescribe a fit substitute for grain for the animal kingdom.

Emperor WILLIAM was fifty-one years old last week and celebrated the event in a quiet way with his family. He has mellowed a good deal since he assumed the crown thirty years or so ago and has achieved much for his country since he stopped ranting about the importance of great armies and navies.

Attorney General WICKERSHAM says he inherited that les majestie suit against the New York World from his predecessor in office. But any man who is fool enough to accept an inheritance from such a stupid source must not expect popular sympathy.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS.

The ice crop has all been harvested in this community and everybody has a liberal supply on hand.

Just because their wives were out for the evening Dr. J. Allison Platts, Hon. J. C. Meyer, Dr. J. E. Ward, W. B. Rankin, M. L. Gardner, James K. Barnhart, H. B. Pontius and Claude Cook went up to Unionville on the 4:44 train Tuesday afternoon and partook of a chicken and waffle supper at the hotel there, returning on the 8:16 train.

A TRIBUTE TO THE LATE MRS. KEPHART.—Last week the WATCHMAN contained an account of the death of Mrs. Amanda Gray Kephart, of Filmore, and this week we give the following tribute to her memory contributed by a friend:

Mrs. Amanda Gray Kephart, daughter of Samuel P. and Sarah Gray, was born in Halfmoon valley, September 28th, 1828. Her parents were of the sturdy Methodist pioneer type, who cared for the souls of their children and spared no effort in their early christian training. She was converted in early youth and at once united with the Gray's Methodist Episcopal church. After her marriage to Caleb H. Kephart, who was a faithful member of the church of his wife's choice, and lately deceased, she transferred her membership to the M. E. church at Filmore, where in her christian activities she most signally honored her Master and glorified her creator. The married life of this devoted wife and husband was pleasant to behold and in no home could a minister of the gospel of any communion find a more cordial welcome than in theirs.

For fifty-seven years there was an unbroken family record until November 30th, 1909, when the husband and father laid by the implements of toil to receive the crown of life.

Mrs. Kephart was a sister of Rev. George Tarring Gray, for thirty-two years an honored member of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the M. E. church, and a skillful workman in the Master's vineyard, of whom it was said, "God's finger touched him and he slept;" of S. Durbin Gray, who was a prominent lawyer in Centre county and a very useful member of the M. E. church in Bellefonte, where he served with honor in many official positions, and of Harriet S. Gray, a sweet, spirited christian who passed to her reward long since.

The loss of her devoted husband seemed too much for her to bear and almost from that very day her friends could see that her sorrow was fast hastening the day of her demise which occurred January 24th, 1910. She was conscious, clear, self-possessed and triumphant until angels beckoned her away and Jesus bade her come, surrounded by her family of five children who sang as she looked out and passed on to the side of her companion in the Heavenly land.

Funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. A. L. Frank, assisted by Rev. C. C. Shuey, on Friday morning at 10 a. m. at her late home at Filmore. Interment was made in the family plot in Gray's cemetery. She awaits the dawn of the morn eternal.

A FRIEND.

FISHBURN.—Following an illness of six weeks with a complication of diseases Mrs. Esther Fishburn, wife of Henry Fishburn, died at her home on Willowbank street at six o'clock last Friday evening. She had been in failing health the past three years, and of late had been a great though patient sufferer.

Deceased was a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. David E. Klopp and was born at Lebanon. She was 67 years, 5 months and 17 days old. She was a consistent member of the Reformed church since girlhood and was a good christian woman. After her marriage to Mr. Fishburn she lived on the farm in Benner township until a few years ago when they retired and moved to Bellefonte.

Mrs. Fishburn was the mother of sixteen children, ten of whom are living, as follows: Jacob P., of Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. Minnie M. Martin, of Harrisburg; George K., of Amboy, Ill.; William N., of Bellefonte; Mrs. Agnes M. Tate, of Quickside; Charles H., of Freeport, Ill.; John S., of Wilkesburg; Frederick S., of Swissvale; Oscar W., of Quickside, and Paul S., of Wilkesburg. She is also survived by her husband, who is eighty-five years old and feels her death very keenly.

The funeral was held from St. John's Reformed church at ten o'clock on Wednesday morning. Dr. Ambrose M. Schmidt officiated at the services and burial was made in the Union cemetery.

DUSLING.—At three o'clock on Tuesday morning Anthony Dusling died at his home in Bush Addition as the result of cancer. The disease affected his mouth and throat so that for some weeks it was almost impossible for him to take nourishment, though he was not confined to the house longer than about a month before his death.

He was about seventy-seven years of age and was born in Germany though he came to this country when a young man. During his life he followed farming, worked as a stone mason or did most anything in the way of labor, being an unusually industrious man. He acquired considerable property and a competence sufficient to keep him comfortably when ill health kept him from work. He was a member of the Catholic church and a man who was respected by all who knew him.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Miss Rose O. Dusling. The funeral was held from the Catholic church at ten o'clock yesterday morning, burial being made in the Catholic cemetery.

WRIGHT.—Rev. Robert Erskine Wright, who was rector of St. John's Episcopal church in this place from 1893 to 1897, but who of late was rector of All-Saints church, at Fallsington, Bucks county, died at the Wright homestead in Philadelphia last Friday night. He was a man of great culture and wide popularity and his death is a source of deep regret among the clergy as well as laity of the church wherever he was known.

SLEPPY.—After twelve days' illness with typhoid pneumonia W. E. Carroll Sleppy, one of the brightest and most popular students at the Bellefonte Academy, died in the Bellefonte hospital on Sunday morning and his death has cast a gloom over the Academy for two reasons. First, because young Sleppy was such a favorite with all that every member of the faculty and student body feel that they have lost a personal friend; and second, because this is the first death of a boarding student at the Academy that has taken place since Rev. Hughes took charge of the institution in 1868, or almost forty-two years ago.

Sleppy was taken sick over two weeks ago and was at once removed to the hospital and from the first the nature of the disease was so serious that his parents and several of his brothers and sisters were summoned, and during his entire illness his brother, Dr. R. E. Sleppy, was almost constantly at his bedside. But the disease became too deep-seated and his death followed.

He was a son of Rev. and Mrs. M. J. Sleppy, of Pittsburg, and was nineteen years of age. He came to the Bellefonte Academy from the Allegheny High school and this would have been his last year here as he was preparing to enter State College next year. In addition to being a good student he was a thorough athlete, being a member of the Academy baseball, football and basketball teams. His record as pitcher for the baseball team last season was a very good one and he was elected captain of the team for next year. In addition to his parents he is survived by five brothers and three sisters.

The remains were taken to the fraternity house on the hill where they lay in state until Monday evening when brief funeral services were held by Dr. J. Allison Platts, a close friend of the family. Tuesday morning the body was taken to Pittsburg to the residence of his brother, Dr. R. E. Sleppy, on the North Side, from where the funeral was held at 2:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon.

HORNER.—Residents of Pleasant Gap were shocked last Saturday afternoon to learn of the sudden death of Ellis Horner, of that place. At half past three o'clock he left Noll's store for home in usual good health and spoke to several people on the way. Reaching home he sat down and was talking with members of his family when just on the stroke of four his head dropped to one side and he died instantly; heart failure evidently being the cause. A fatality of sudden deaths seems to follow that family. It will be remembered that deceased's father a number of years ago was stung on the nose by a yellow jacket and died within twenty-four hours from blood poison, while a brother of the deceased also died quite suddenly.

Deceased was a son of the late John Horner and was about fifty-four years of age. He was a laborer by occupation and of late had been engaged in cutting prop timber on an operation on Nittany mountain. He is survived by his wife and nine children, five of whom are quite small; he also leaves one brother, George Horner, who lives on the old homestead on Nittany mountain. The funeral was held on Tuesday morning, burial being made in the Lutheran church cemetery.

SHUGERT.—William Finley Shugert, only brother of the late J. Dunlop Shugert, died at his home in Washington on Tuesday afternoon. When comparatively young he suffered a stroke of paralysis which left him more or less crippled and it is presumed that his death was caused by another stroke. He was sixty-eight years of age and was well known in this community, where he spent the early part of his life. In 1866 he went to Washington and secured a position in the patent office in which he had been employed ever since. He was a man of superior education and well informed on all the leading questions of the day. His only immediate survivor is his wife. The remains were brought to Bellefonte on the 4.10 train last evening and taken direct to the Episcopal church where brief funeral services were held after which interment was made in the Shugert plot in the Union cemetery.

GEHRET.—Charles Gehret, an old soldier and well known citizen of Bellefonte, died at his home on Burnside street at three o'clock on Sunday afternoon of pneumonia. He had been in feeble health for some time but his last illness was only of a few days duration.

He was born in this place and was past eighty-one years of age. He served during the Civil war and was a member of Gregg Post, No. 95. A number of years ago he was street commissioner of Bellefonte and was always an honest, industrious man. He is survived by his wife and the following children: Frank, Charles, Boyd, and Mrs. Anna McQuillan. He also leaves three brothers, William, Solomon and Frank; also one sister, Mrs. Lavina Wyland. The funeral was held from the house at two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, burial being made in the Sunnyside cemetery.

RAYMOND.—Edward, the six month's old son of Harry Raymond, of Beaver street, died on Saturday noon. He had been delicate since birth and his death was the result of a general decline. Mrs. Raymond died early in December, thus the father and four surviving children are doubly afflicted. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, burial being made in the Union cemetery.

IRVIN.—Joseph Greene Irvin, one of the oldest and best known men of College township, died at his home at Oak Hall about ten o'clock last Saturday night. He had been up and around as usual until about ten days before his death when he became ill and was compelled to take his bed. From that time on his decline was gradual until the end.

Deceased was a member of one of the most prominent families in Centre county. His grandfather came to this country from Scotland in the eighteenth century and located at Linden Hall where they made their home for half a century. It was there Mr. Irvin was born on January 23rd, 1830, thus being at the time of his death eighty years and six days old. His parents were John and Hannah Greene Irvin. His early education was received in the public schools after which he took a course in the Lawrenceville Academy. Returning from there he entered the woolen mill at Oak Hall and shortly afterwards was made a partner in the business and finally became sole owner. He also conducted the Oak Hall foundry for a number of years until advancing age compelled his retirement.

He was married in 1854 to Miss Jane Riley, a daughter of Daniel Riley, of Boalsburg, and a sister of the late Judge Riley. They took up their residence at Oak Hall in the house in which they have lived ever since. Three children were the result of that union, two of whom survive, namely: Mrs. William F. Mitchell, of Washington, Pa., and Mrs. Thomas F. Johnson, of Philadelphia, but who has been at home most of the time during the past year. Mrs. Irvin also survives, although she has been quite ill since the night of her husband's death. He also leaves two half-sisters in the west.

Mr. Irvin was a Republican in politics and for thirty-five years was a prominent member of the Presbyterian church. The funeral was held from his late home at 10:30 o'clock on Monday morning. Rev. W. K. Harsh officiated at the services and interment was made in the Branch cemetery.

FEARON.—Sidney John Fearon died quite unexpectedly at his home in Beech Creek on Tuesday afternoon. He was one of the rural mail carriers from that borough and about September first he was stricken with typhoid fever. He had just recovered therefrom and about ten days ago decided he would go back on his route on Tuesday when he contracted a cold which developed into pleurisy. At no time, however, was his condition considered ever serious, even up until within a few minutes of his death.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Fearon and was born in Beech Creek. He is survived by his wife, two brothers and two sisters. Dr. J. Allison Platts, of this place, officiated at the funeral which was held at one o'clock yesterday afternoon, interment being made in the Beech Creek cemetery.

ROUSH.—After being practically an invalid for almost a year Henry Roush died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John H. Detwiler, near Old Fort, on January 20th. His illness was the result of his advanced age, he being 71 years, 2 months and 15 days old. He was a farmer by occupation and for many years lived on a farm near Penn Hall, in Gregg township. Surviving him are his wife and the following children: Mrs. Perry W. Breen, Potters Mills; Mrs. Ephraim Shook, Spring Mills; James, of Aaronsburg; Mrs. John H. Detwiler, of Potter township; Miss Dora Roush, Mrs. Dallas Duck and John Roush, all of Salona. The funeral was held on the Sunday following his death. Rev. H. A. Snook, of Spring Mills, officiating and burial being made in the Heckman cemetery.

LIMBERT.—Aaronsburg lost one of its oldest and best known citizens last week in the death on Friday afternoon of Frederick Limbert after a short illness with pneumonia. He was seventy-one years of age and a veteran of the Civil war, having served as a private in the 148th regiment Pennsylvania volunteers. His wife, three sons and three daughters survive, as follows: Elmer, of Penn township; Charles, of Haines township; Frederick, of Altoona; Mrs. Annie Swann, of Olean, N. Y.; Mrs. Kate Keller, of Lock Haven, and Mrs. Carrie Musser, of Haines township. Rev. W. D. Donat officiated at the funeral which was held on Tuesday morning, burial being made in the Aaronsburg cemetery.

OSTRANDER.—Samuel Ostrander died in the asylum at Danville last Saturday, where he had been for some time undergoing treatment. He was about twenty-three years of age and was a son of Mrs. Amanda Ostrander, who survives with two sisters, Minnie and Bessie, and one brother, Oscar. The remains were brought to Bellefonte on Monday and taken to the home of his aunt, Mrs. James Woods, from where the funeral was held at one o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, the remains being taken to the Messiah cemetery in Boggs township, for burial.

PALMER.—Noah Palmer, a native of New York State but who for several years past has lived with his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Casselbury, in Howard township, died quite suddenly on Monday morning. He was eighty years and five months old. The funeral was held from the Howard Methodist church at ten o'clock on Wednesday morning, interment being made in the Schenck cemetery.

MORENO.—The many friends of Mrs. John Moreno, who prior to her marriage was Miss Mary Brown, daughter of Mrs. Lena Brown, were pained to learn of her death at her home in New York, early Sunday morning. She became the mother of a little baby about ten days previous to her death and the result. She was born in Bellefonte and was about twenty-four years of age. She was an accomplished musician and for some time previous to leaving Bellefonte played the organ in the Catholic church, of which she was a devout member. About two years ago she with her mother moved to New York where her two brothers, Arthur and Anthony were located. There she met the man, John Moreno, a Cuban, who afterwards became her husband, they having been married a few days less than a year ago, or February 15th, 1909. The funeral was held on Tuesday morning, from the parish of St. Thomas Aquinas, the Bronx, New York city. The services were conducted by Rev. Father Barry assisted by Rev. Father David Kennedy, of the Church of St. Paul the Apostle. Interment was made in St. Raymond's Catholic cemetery, at Westchester, N. Y.

Announcement was made in Tyrone, on Saturday evening, of the engagement of Miss Jane Witter, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Witter, of that place, and W. H. Agnew, a prominent photographer of Tyrone, the wedding to take place in the very near future. Miss Witter has frequently visited in Bellefonte and has many friends among the younger set here.

The "Lincoln Day" address at State College, (Saturday morning, February 12th), this year will be delivered by Hon. Clark E. Carr, of Illinois, an associate and friend of both Lincoln and Douglas, while they lived. He was one of the committee on arrangements for the Lincoln-Douglas debate in Galesburg, in 1858, and is provided with a store of reminiscences of those bygone days, that will be deeply interesting to those who can participate in the exercises of the occasion.

Dr. P. Hoffer Dale, of Centre Hall, has bought the office and good will of Dr. John Robinson, of State College, and will move there for the practice of his profession on or before April first. The delay in the change is made for the purpose of giving him an opportunity to dispose of his practice at Centre Hall. Dr. Robinson expects to leave State College but just where he will locate is not yet known. He will probably take a course in one of the German Universities before he seeks a new location.

As an art lecturer Col. J. L. Spangler yet has his opportunity to make good. As a pilot of sleighing parties he is a dismal failure, as was demonstrated the other night when he headed a crowd that drove to Hubersburg for supper. Their driver couldn't see and the Colonel took the reins only to freeze his hands, then he floundered in snow drifts up to his neck for an hour or more before finding a country boy who was willing to drive them home. They reached here shortly before daylight and the Colonel had his own troubles getting the boy back to Nittany valley.

Last week we mentioned the fact of Mrs. Charlotte W. Elliott, of New York, being in Bellefonte a few hours on Wednesday. Mrs. Elliott is the woman who last summer enticed about thirty-five Bellefonters into an American University course at $29.50 per member and then failed to carry out the promises made. The result was a general kick and a number of the subscribers quit paying their monthly installments while Mrs. Elliott was written up in the newspapers. When she was here last week she threw out hints which rather intimated that she contemplated proceedings for damages but that was not her mission at all. She came here to see if she couldn't compel the delinquent subscribers to resume their payments but she talked to the wrong man first and he advised her to drop the matter and get out of town, which she did on the next train.

Two mad bulls in a china shop would be about a correct comparison to the swoop of about two hundred State College students into Bellefonte last Friday afternoon and evening. Having successfully passed their mid-winter examinations they were hunting an outlet for a big dose of surcharged energy and they selected Bellefonte as the place to shoot it off. The first shot was made shortly after the arrival of the noon train when one of a bunch of three threw a suit case through one of the big windows in the Pennsylvania railroad passenger depot. The next shot was fired by the Bellefonte police when the offenders were arrested and the third shot was a good sized wad of greenbacks to pay damages and costs. The fourth shot was when another bunch made a football rush in the Brockerhoff house office and mistaking the cigar case for the goal posts pushed one of their number through the glass front. Fifth shot, more greenbacks to pay damages. By that time a good many of them were half shot and it was a regular broadside they fired off in the opera house during the Buster Brown show, much to the discomfort of both the players and the audience. Before they left for home that night some one or more of them stole several hundred cigars from the broken cigar case in the Brockerhoff house office but three boxes were recovered.

CLEAN THE PAVEMENTS.—Not in years have the pavements of Bellefonte been in such a dangerous condition with ice and snow as they have been this winter and it is only a matter of good luck that pedestrians have not been injured from falling thereon. Business men and property owners have shown a marked degree of negligence or carelessness in even trying to keep the pavements in front of their properties clean. Even two weeks ago when the hard rain and thaw softened the ice so that it all could have been cleaned off the pavements with little or no trouble very few took advantage of it with the result that it again froze and left the pavements in a worse condition than ever. There is an ordinance in Bellefonte requiring property owners and business men to remove all the snow and ice from the pavements within forty-eight hours but it is utterly disregarded. It is also a well known law that property owners are liable for damages for any injury sustained by an individual in a fall on an icy pavement, and this fact alone ought to be enough to induce all to at least make an attempt to keep their pavements clean and in a safe condition. Some of the worst pavements in Bellefonte are in front of properties the owners of which are the best able to keep them clean, and some day they may be compelled to pay for their negligence by being the defendant in a suit for damages.

Since the scaffolding has been removed from the court room the public can appreciate just how beautiful and artistic the room will look when it is all finished and the furnishings in place. And if the entire court house, old part and new addition, corresponds when completed with the court room it will be a job that will more than likely meet with the approval of a large percentage of the public. The work on the remainder of the building is not progressing very rapidly, and it will take some tall hustling to get the room in readiness for holding the February term of court, which is only a few days over three weeks off. In that time the new stairways will have to be put in place and the glass partition in the rear of the room put up. The benches will all have to be varnished and arranged in place and accommodations made for both the grand and traverse juries. Workmen have begun on rearranging the vaults so as to install the new steel book-racks and filing cases, most of which are now here. The plasterers are working on the new building and it will not be long until it will be ready for the interior woodwork finish.

THE GIRL FROM THE U. S. A.—"The Girl from the U. S. A.," the attraction at the opera house on Tuesday evening, February 8th, is a joyous creation, and something new in stage-land. The girl goes tantalizingly light-hearted into delicious entanglements that keep the action of the play splendidly melo-dramatic. The clean, fine atmosphere of the production is most wholesome and welcome. The heart-interest is deep and natural. There is a triangle love-affair and the story of the play contains several social astonishments that are delightfully artful yet genuine episodes of real life.

Robert Sechler, mail agent on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad, has leased the house owned by Mrs. James Harris, on Spring street, and will move there the first of April. Mrs. S. A. Bell and Miss Alice Tate will move from the Curtin house on the corner of Allegheny and Howard streets to the one side of the Kline house on Spring street. Jacob Smith has leased the Jared Harper house on the corner of High and Thomas streets and will go there when moving day comes around.

The Bellefonte Tent, Ladies of the Macabees, had quite a social time last Thursday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon the new officers for the ensuing year were installed by Mrs. Belle M. Doughty, state organizer, of Corydon, Pa. In the evening they had a banquet and euchre in the Macabees hall in the McClain block at which about fifty members and guests were present.

The North Wales Choir, one of the famous Welsh musical organizations now touring in this country, will give a concert in the auditorium at State College next Thursday evening, February 10th. The Welsh singers have a world-wide reputation and their entertainment at the college will be of a high class order and one that should draw a large audience.

Both the Boston and New York National league baseball clubs are after Bud Sharpe, the former State College and Bellefonte Academy baseball player. He played at Newark last season and was re-served by Pittsburg.

Only a week from next Tuesday will be election day but up to date there is not much evidence of unusual activity among the various candidates in the electioneering line.
