FARM NOTES.

-The chaff and straw get in the wool and injure it.

-Do not let sheep run around or eat from straw stacks.

-There is more profit in a grunting pig than in a squealing one. -In some cases it may be necessary to dissolve some Epsom salts in the feed for pigs.

-Be sure the sows are not constipated. Give roots, fruits and oil-meal in the -Sheep that have been chased by dogs never do quite so well afterward. Work

-Clean and thorough level cultivation is the great essential in growing peas. The soil must be kept loose, mellow and free from weeds during the life of the

-Beyond shallow cultivation and brushing little attention is needed. By planting every two or three weeks and by using early, medium and late varieties a succession of peas can be had the entire sea-

—Any one will find that potatoes lying in a pile three or more days after being cut will not produce much more than half the amount of potatoes per acre as those that are planted as fast as being this cut will.

-If the horse's teet are brittle and the hoof breaks and does not hold the shoe gcod, wet the hoof often. This may be done by driving through a stream of water. If there is none convenient use a vessel for this purpose. Some horsemen use oil on brittle hoofs.

-Potatoes ted raw are not so valuable a feed, but cooked, boiled-by no means a difficult or expensive process-they make a good feed for either growing or fattening hogs. If the potatoes be mash-ed after boiling, and mixed with chopped corn or crushed grain of any sort, an excellent feed is provided.

-"Undoubtedly if the farms were raising more meat the price would be re-duced," said secretary Wilson, of the Department of Argiculture, in commenting upon the widespread boycott against meat products. "There are not enough people on the farms raising food, and too many people are going to the towns to be fed."

-A sick animal should be placed in a well.disinfected and dry box stall, with plenty of bedding and sunlight; avoid drafts. In cold weather place a blank-et on the animal, feeds paringly with stible food, such as bran mashes made of linseed tea; keep the manger sweet and clean. Water should be pure and clean and warmed when necsssary.

There are chantecler novelties without one number. Some of them are sightly and practical, while others are freakish in the extreme. Here are just a few of them : Chantecler neck ruffles—The flat, pleated low collars which are considered a very chic finish to the smart Parisienne's gown.

-There is a great shortage in the hog crop throughout the whole country, and it can only be replaced by keeping the best brood sows and growing more pigs. Chantecler veils-Flimy meshes, like

A New York shop is showing some of the extreme novelties. It is a hand bag of deep black velvet, with a fancy metal frame. A large hand-painted rooster, in the natural colors, done on one side, puts it in the "chantecler" class. Some smaller purses of leather have metal chickens placed on the outside, with an idea of decoration. But don't let your chantecler enthusi-asm walk off with your good taste.

It frequently happens that a fashion or a preference is projected into another sea-son. The vogue enjoyed by Irish lace is to continue, and women gasp at the lav-ish hand with which this elegance is being used.

WHAT IS CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

A Roman dinner at the house of a wealthy man consisted chiefly of three courses. All sorts of stimulants to the appetite were first served up, and eggs were indispensable to the first course Among the various dishes we may instance the guinea hen, pheasant, night ingale and the thrush as birds most in repute. The Roman gormands held eacocks in great estimation, especial ly their tongues. Macrobius states that they were first eaten by Hortensius. the orator, and acquired such repute that a single peacock was sold for 50 denarii, the denarius being equal to about eightpence halfpenny of English money.-Chambers' Journal.

-At a recent meeting of the Western New York Horticultural Society, held at Rochester, one of the questions up for discussion was the extraordinary demand for young apple trees for planting. It is stated that nurserymen will not be able to supply over 20 per cent., or one-fifth, of the appletrees demanded by orchardists for this spring's planting. It is claimed that other kinds of fruit trees are apt to be scarce and high in the years to come, owing to the scarcity of seedling stocks in France, where nearly all of the supply of American nurseries come from.

-Seeding oats and peas: As a soiling crop for stock, use one and one-half bushels of each per acre. The peas need to be covered much deeper than oats, hence it is necessary to seed them separately. Seed the pease first, weighting the drill hoes in order to put them in four or five inches deep. The oats are sown broadcast and harrowed, or else drilled shallow. Make the first seeding as early as it is possible to work the ground, following with two later seedings at intervals of two weeks each. Canadian field peas are the kind to sow for this purpose.

-The highest record ever made in trade between Canady and the United States was that of the last calendar year, according to official figures of the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor. During the last 10 years this trade has been more than doubled. In no former year have either imports from or exports to Canada equaled the record of 1909. Imports from Canada in 1909 ag-gregated $35,500,000. Canadian official statistics show that in 1909 60.4 per cent. of all Canadian exports were from the United States, compared with 46.08 per cent. in 1889.

Table peas should be picked from the vines when about two-thirds developed, as then they are tender and luscious. There is the hat turned up at the back, showing the hair and tilting over the brow in a protecting manner. Rather trying is this style, requiring features that can be overshadowed by the front brim. your attention. The end is not yet. A brim may be turned straight up at the front with Napoleonic severity. Not every woman can wear this shape, but to the fortunate one there is a great joy in store. With a military suit, this is the best model for an all-conquered success. The main point is to twist and turn the brim until the proper line for you be at-tained. The hat must be disassociated from the case or window and considered in its relationship to the wearer. When you select the upturned brim, insist upon looking in the very necessary mirror.
